

THE SEMI-WEEKLY NEWS

The Great Country Paper of the West.

Issued Mondays and Thursdays and Contains All the Cream of the Daily and Saturday News.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Committee Meeting.—The Democratic city and county committee will meet this evening, in L. R. Martin's office.

Vice President Coming.—Vice President Fairbanks accepts an invitation to attend the fourteenth National Irrigation congress at Boise, and expresses himself as much interested in irrigation.

Boys' Conference.—The Y. M. C. A. boys' department will have two representatives to the boys' conference at Lake Geneva, Wis., Aug. 1, which is to be attended by 300 boys from different parts of the country.

Fine Business Block.—According to local real estate men, Mr. Judge is making preparations to erect one of the finest business structures in the city on the Burlington block site, at Third South and Main streets.

To Improve Service.—Manager Karl Scheld of the Pacific board of underwriters in this city reports that the Oregon people are preparing to so improve their fire service that the local board will be able to recommend a reduction of insurance rates for that city.

Testimonial Concert.—A largely attended testimonial concert was given last evening, in the Nineteenth ward meetinghouse in honor of Elder B. F. Cummings, Jr., who leaves on a mission to Germany on the 27th inst. The program was successfully carried out, and much enjoyed.

New Gun Club.—Articles of incorporation of the Woods Cross Gun club of this city were filed with the county clerk today. The capital stock is $2,500, divided into shares of the par value of $20 each. L. J. Ellis is president; W. K. Roberts, vice president; G. W. Johnson, secretary and treasurer.

Utah Lake Level.—It is learned from George C. Lambert, secretary of the Utah lake commission, that the level of Utah lake on the 16th inst. was 1.35 below compromise point. The observation taken on the corresponding date in 1905 showed the level to be 2.23, or over 1 foot and 3 hundredths lower than at present.

Articles Filed.—The Dry Creek Irrigation company of Big Cottonwood filed its articles of incorporation in the county clerk's office yesterday. The capital stock of the company is $1,600, divided into shares of the par value of $10 each. J. A. Taylor is president; William Bowthorpe, vice president; Milo R. Andrus, secretary and treasurer.

Off For Washington.—Hon. George W. Barch, chief justice of the supreme court of Utah, has gone to Washington, D. C., on personal business. It is hinted that Judge Barch is a receptive candidate for the position of United States district attorney for Utah, in case the appointment of Hiram E. Booth is not confirmed by the senate.

Band For Elks.—Manager Zimmerman of Held's band has closed the final arrangements with the Elks' committee of arrangements for the band to attend the Elks' excursion to Denver. Mr. Zimmerman will select 25 of the best men to be found to compose the band which is entered for the marching prize; and if possible the band will enter for the concert contest.

Used a Revolver.—A number of Italians engaged in a drunken row yesterday, near the Hurry Back saloon, on West First South street. One of them, P. George, was hit on the head with the butt of a revolver in the hands of Tony C. Filomeno. The man who made the assault was found by officer Olson in a hut occupied by a gang of the sons of Italy, and was arrested on a complaint charging him with assault with a deadly weapon. Besides the revolver, he had in his possession when taken into custody an ugly looking knife.

E. D. Waterman Ill.—A message to N. D. Waterman of this city from Sioux City, Iowa, conveyed the information that his brother, E. D. Waterman, has undergone an operation for appendicitis in that city, and that the condition of the patient was very serious; that the attending physicians gave but faint hope of recovery. Mr. Waterman was formerly engaged in the stock brokerage business in this city; was one of the charter members of the Salt Lake Stock and Mining exchange, and was a most active broker belonging to that body. He has a large circle of friends here who will be pleased to hear of his distressing condition.

Will Pay Aug. 1.—The county commissioners yesterday afternoon adopted a resolution directing the county treasurer to notify the present holders of county bonds that the same will be called in and paid by the treasurer on Aug. 1. This practically closes the deal for the refunding of $350,000 worth of the bonds, bids for the refunding of which were received last week. The successful bidders were E. H. Rollins & Sons of Chicago. The board also directed County Clerk Eldredge to deliver to the treasurer the check for $17,500 which accompanied the bid of Rollins & Sons as evidence of good faith. This amount will be applied on the premium and part payment on the bonds.

Would Be Benedict.—Arthur Bird is very desirous of marrying Miss Ada Smith, although he is but 18 and she about the same tender age. But Arthur is encountering trials and tribulations in getting a license, as his mother, Mrs. T. E. Bird, desires the young man cannot earn enough to keep him in pocket money, to say nothing of earning enough to support a wife, accordingly she has notified the clerks of Davis and Weber counties not under any circumstances to issue the couple a license to get married. The boy is an employee of the board of public works, but finds his salary entirely inadequate to supply his needs. His mother has been in communication with other county clerks, and if the young couple will, they may have to try Wyoming, Idaho or Nevada.

Zion's Saving Bank and Trust Company was organized in 1912; has opened over $2,000,000 savings accounts, and now opens an average of more than 10 new accounts every day. We want YOUR business. Joseph F. Smith, President; George M. Cannon, Cashier.

STORY OF THE SEED TRAVELERS

How Plants Are Carried by Winds. Water, Birds and Animals.

DOES NATURE REASON?

Teachers' Lessons at University of Utah—Russian Tumbleweed and Other Species Discussed.

The main object of the life of plant is to reproduce its species. The most common way is by its seeds. Now, only a few plants can live in close communities, and the seeds must be scattered. As the plants are unable to move about and scatter their seeds, nature has provided many and curious ways in which to accomplish the scattering of the seeds of the various families of plant-life. Consider only typical and warning cases.

THE RUSSIAN TUMBLEWEED. A little colony of immigrants from Russia came to South Dakota some 20 years ago. They planted some flax-seeds, after the custom of their people. It came up, and with it developed a slender reddish plant, to which the immigrant paid no further attention. But the plant waxed strong and prickly, its branches grew to a diameter of several feet, finally broke off from the stem in a rounded mass of prickly branches, and the wind rolled them away, tumbling and skipping into the plains of North Dakota, Iowa, and Nebraska, and scattering seeds most of the way. It was the dread of the Russian tumbleweed, on account of which the cultivation of crops has been abandoned over large areas in some of the provinces near the Caspian sea. And now this wretched plant has spread into more than half of the United States. In the west it has already caused damage amounting to millions of dollars a year, and its extermination is now a national problem. One of these plants may contain 200,000 seeds, and it crowds out practically all other plants wherever it starts to grow.

ON WINGS OF WIND. But many other plants are likewise transplanted by the agency of the wind. The milkweed pods are filled with seeds, to which a silky down is attached, and when the pods burst, these seeds fly on the wind to find new fields for germination, so the seeds of the dogbane, the willow herb, the poplar, the cottonwood, the thistle, the dandelion, the goldenrod, all ride on the wind by means of the downy appendages which nature has given them for this purpose. So the common cat-tail of the ponds is another object of interesting study, each fine hair containing its seed. Then the maples and boxelders have mingled seeds which a breeze can carry; the hop seed has broad wings, the ash and the pine long ones, and the dock has seeds with wing-like margins. Witch-grass and other species are similarly adapted to air travel.

SLIDING ON SNOW. But when the seeds fall on the snow or on the ice, the wind carries them in wonderful ways, puzling them along to great distances. Seeds drift rapidly with the snow and the edges of ponds are often thus lined with growing plants of many species.

SAILING ON WATER. A simple examination of certain seeds shows that they are made to float. Many are covered by airtight sacs—achenes—and if dropped into water will not only float, but sail. All the sedges, the arrow-leaf plants, and the water lilies are so provided. But the walnut, the cocconut and many other kinds, have coverings to increase the bulk and enable the seed to float.

BOTANY IN SCHOOLS. The hour for nature study is when the object is at hand. When a hail-storm occurs, study hail, etc. Now botany in schools may be studied somewhat as follows: 1. For continuous work the weather record is always in use, the natural history calendar, observations by each pupil of some trees near his own home, and the relation of plant growth to light, heat, moisture and soil.

The professor asked of what use the animal calendar would be to the interest of the child. One use of the animal calendar, said a student, is that it may be made to appeal to the children under such a heading as the "Signs of Spring." This led to a study of the psychology, intellectual feeling, a feeling of the excitement and pleasure usually called "joy" by most people. The children are greatly interested to observe and make record of what plants first appear, what trees first blossom, etc. But no record should be made except for use. This, in planting an acre of tomatoes, the students were given the task of finding out by inquiry how far apart the plants should be placed, how many plants would be required for the acre, and how many bushels of tomatoes might be expected from the field, if each plant should yield a bushel, etc. But the present season was a month late, and a hailstorm destroyed most of the plants, so that the expected crop will not be realized. Thus the children learned that the weather has much to do with plants and finance.

THE FOUR SEASONS. 2. For fall work in botany it was shown that the study of fruits, of seed distribution, of farm crops, of animal and plant preparations for winter, the care and protection of harvested products, and the division of plants into annuals, biennials and perennials. 3. For winter work, the effects of frost on vegetation, how plants pass the winter, and the preparation of deciduous trees, forestry and lumbering. 4. For spring work, germination, gardening, the blossoming (inflorescence) of plants. Munford of Chicago publishes a series of bird, animal and fruit pictures; and a book entitled "Our Common Birds and How to Know Them" will be useful for reference, likewise "Seed Travelers" by Ginn & Co.

ORGAN AND SONG RECITAL.

Two Pleading Affairs Given in the Tabernacle Yesterday Afternoon.

Yesterday afternoon's tabernacle organ recital was in the nature of a musical triumph, and the private and supplementary recital that followed added lustre to an already brilliant performance. The attendance was large as usual, and while the understood rule against entering was strictly observed, the audience could not refrain from applauding "Down on the Swannee River," as the "Old Melody," the "Marche Pittoresque," the first number on yesterday's program, is by Kroeber of St. Louis, the well known chairman of the music committee on the organ, full of bizarre and unique effects.

including the introduction of a pastorate for the obse that is captivating in its character. Another number of special interest is the story of the "Merry Merry" by Nevins, a work rich in charming melody, artistic in the highest degree, and which satisfies the requirements of lyric music in every sense. The volume is a masterpiece in its execution and interpretation, the pedal work being specially noticeable.

In the brief supplementary recital following two vocalists appeared, Miss Lillian R. Hanson, soprano, and Miss Alice Wolf-gang, contralto. These ladies are well known in musical circles, particularly Miss Wolfgang, who ranks as one of the best contraltos here. Miss Ruff sang Johnson's "Face to Face," in clear, sweet tones, and Miss Wolfgang sang Liddle's "Auld Wife Me," which she rendered with such effect and long lines in St. Mark's cathedral. Her rich, sonorous voice showed to excellent advantage, and she was complimented at the close of the song. Prof. J. C. Hanson's "The Merry Merry of Windsor" overture, for the first time, registering and extemporizing the pedal part from the piano score. The performance is scheduled for next Friday afternoon.

UNKNOWN FRIENDS.

There are many people who have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with splendid results, but who are unknown because they have hesitated to give a testimonial of their experience for publication. These people, however, are none the less friends of this remedy. They have done much toward making it a household word by their personal recommendations to friends and neighbors. It is a good medicine to have in the home and is widely known for its cures of diarrhoea and all forms of bowel trouble. For sale by all druggists.
