Mr. Simmons urged upon the commercial interests of Salt Lake the necessity of lending more. Sait Lake the necessity of lending mor-al support to the movement set on foot at Spokane for the reduction of freight rates to western points. Owing to the desire of the Spokane shippers to present a supplementary schedule includ-ing all commodity rates instead of on only 32, as set forth in the original pe-tition, the date for hearing the case has been postponed until September. The class rates on these articles will be put into effect July 5.

Some of the goods, noticeably the canned products of Utah packing houses, are evidently straight; but this can not be said of "goods" manufactured outside of the state, many of which are rank fakes on their face. Appears as Complainant.

Two "stockade" cases in which pleas of guilty were entered to charges of soliciting for immoral purposes, were heard before Justice Hanks this morning. The defendeants in the action were both Japanese, and designated as Jane Doe, or otherwise Hana Omato and Miki Matsuda. The complaints were sworn to by Leo Hirasawa, a worker of the Japanese Betterment league.

Upon request of the defense, Justice Hanks postponed time for sentence until Monday next, releasing the two Japanese women upon their own recognizance. It is understood they will leave the city.

In the case of Rose Hartman, who pleaded guilty to soliciting in Justice Hanks' court on Friday last, and whose sentence was set for yesterday, the defendant did not appear at the time set, and the justice issued a commitment for her and placed it in the hands of the sheriff. According to the best information obtainable, the Hartman woman is now in Los Angeles.

CASE NOT HEARD | SUGGEED ALDRICH

As An Able Constructive Statesman.

HULANISKI WOMAN'S COUNSEL THE PROMISE OF A DECADE SAYS GOODBYE TO HUSBAND

If He is Retained in His Present Office, Washington Looks Upon Him As Head of Finance Committee.

(Special Correspondence.) Washington, June 12 .- There is probably no man in the senate who has been more of a surprise to the country than Reed Smoot, senior senator from Utah. But a few years ago he was making the fight of his life to retain his seat in the upper branch of Congress because of his connection with the Mormon Church; today he is one of the most valuable members of the finance committee and Senator Addrich's most trusted lieutenant. From a quiet, methodical but tactful business man, Reed Smoot has developed into a constructive statesman of the first magnitude, displaying an inexhaustible fund of knowledge upon the various schedules in the tariff bill second only to the masterful genuls who has the bill in charge, Senator W. Aldrich of Rhode Island.

In the rough and tumble of debata connection with the Mormon Church; charge, senator W. Alarica of Rindes Island.

In the rough and tumble of debate on the wool schedule this week Senator Smoot showed a first hand knowledge of a very complex subject and held his own with the brilliant and satirical Dolliver who brought all his ability and all his finesse to bear on the schedule in an effort to cut down the Dingley rates on wool. But Smoot who learned his lesson in a woollen mill in Utah could not be carried off his feet by cajolery or invective, met Dolliver at every turn in a debate which will go down in history as one of the most illuminating in a generation.

MAY SUCCEED ALDRCH.

MAY SUCCEED ALDRCH.

MAY SUCCEED ALDRCH.

If the Republican party continues to keep Reed Smoot in the senate within 10 years in the judgement of the knowing ones about the capitol, he will be the chairman of the finance committee and one of the leading men of his time. Of course this prediction is predicated upon the statement recently made by Senator Aldrich that he would quit public life on the expiration of his present term March 3, 1911.

Rhode Island however may not be in a humor to permit Senator Aldrich to retain in which event of course he would continue at the head of the finance committee and Smoot's chances of being chairman pushed that much further into the future.

Should Aldrich insist upon his declination to stand again for election, there would be, in all probability, a shake up in the committee of finance Senator Burrows who is the ranking member on the committee it is thought would refuse the chairmanship of finance because he has little or no liking for the intricacies of figures. Then again he is satisfied with priviledges and elections which suits his legal training.

TRANSFER OF POWER.

Senator Penrose of Pa., is next in line but is hardly to be considered in connection with the chairmanship, his known antipathy to debate being a serious drawback to his advance-Senator Hale of Maine has no ambition in the direction of the committee on finance being perfectly satisfied to remain at the head of the appropriation committee, which after all, is the most important committee in Congress.

As for Senator Cullom of Illinois, he suggests a pawn in chess as much as anything with this difference, a pawn on a chess board can never move backward while Mr. Cullom is already seriously considering resigning from the committee on finance just as soon as the present tariff bill is off the ways, and rumor has it that he will be succeeded by Senator Cumin of Iowa who will be appointed over Dolliver because of the latter's change of heart regarding the tariff and his savage attacks on the finance committee. As for Senator Cullom of committee.

Lodge of Mass., is out of consideration as is McCumber of North Dakota for the chairmanship, McCumber having a flerce fight on his hands for re-election, with the chances very greatly againt him.

This brings Smoot to the front and the power now lodged in New England with its 12 senators may in a decade be transferred to the great Intermountain country, with Smoot at the head of finance, Warren of Wyoming at the head of militay affairs and Clarke of Wyoming chairman of the judiciary. And very many strange things have happend. Keep your eyes on Smoot.

It revealed an attempt of sulcide by a young mother, a pretty, dark-hued Mexican, made last Friday and which is expected to result in her death by tonight, and the abandonment of both the woman and the child by the man who styles himself her husband.

It was about 2 o'clock this morning that the baby was taken to the police station by roomers inhabiting 16½ Commercial street. It was said that the mother had been taken to St Marks' hospital yesterday after sickness of a few days, during which the baby had been cared for by people about the house. After the removal of the mother to the hospital, however, the father had abandoned the child.

A strong endeavor was made to hush the matter, but from what could be ascertained this morning, Schwartzman had entered room 34, just after the woman had taken the poison. It is said that as he entered, she was writhing in convulsive pain, and gasped out "Good-bye Charlie, I've done it."

Physicians were called in, but de-

This afternoon it was reported that her condition was such that there is but little hope for her recovery. This morning, in company with another man, Schwartzman called at the police station and took away the little boy, saying he would find a home for it. Schwartzman was the principal witness against John Morgan in a recent battery case arising from a disturbance in the same roominghouse.

Ogden Man Criticizes Judges And Starter in Monday's Races

To the Sporting Editor:

The first day of the week started rather ominously at the race track Monday, both for jockeys, horse owners and the public. The first race apparently was pulled in good shape, although Lee Harrison, the favorite, lost the race. The second race was also on the square, although Orelio started a favorite, lost to Rather Royal, who with a good pair of shoes on, won easily. This race was marred by the bad spill of Jockey H. Smith, who was seriously injured. The substitution of another jockey on Altenberg, who was left at the post and who was to be ridden by H. Smith, probably deprived him of a chance to win. In the fourth race real bad trouble occurred. Strike Out was made favorite, but the wise one couldn't see anything in the race but Hereafter, and the latter was heavily played at the close. At the post and before the start Hereafter threw Jockey Sullivan down and started to sale alone for about a Jockey Sullivan being unable to ride, the judges made the extraordinary de-cision to substitute another jockey and race the horse just the same, notwith-standing it had no chance to win and that it is a direct violation of accepted rules in respectable tracks.

At this time the owner of Hereafter, or trainer, who had played his horse to win quite heavy, went to the judges to have his horse taken out of the race and have the bet declared off on account of the substitution of the lockey count of the substitution of the lockey count of the substitution of the jockey, for many people play a horse according to the rider and when such accident happens before the horses are started, exactly as it did at that race, it is the usual course to take the horse from the race and give back the money, but the judges were obdurate, claiming they had no such rules. The owner, thoroughly disgusted, then instructed the lockey to pull the horse. fockey to pull the horse.

Rule or no rule, common decency ought to have compelled the judges to take out the horse and declare the bets off. I dare say, many cases have and will occur that are not covered by rules. It is an undeniable fact that many people bet upon the jockey as much as upon the horse, and it is inimical to deprive the people of a fair run on which they have placed their money. The fifth race was fair and square, and La Chata, one of the two favorites, won easily.

La Chata, one of the two favorites, won easily.

The sixth race was another stunner and caused a unanimous protest from the people and rather uncomplimentary remarks were hurled at the starter.

Platoon, a second favorite at the close, and Free Knight the Bear, the favorite, were turning into position when the horses were started, thus taken by surprise with no chance whatever the horses were started, thus taken by surprise with no chance whatever they were left at the post looking the opposite way and as if thye had not been in the race. Such occurrence is unparalleled in the memory of old timers. Ontario Oregon, a 30 to 1 horse, was started like a shot and won easily.
