

BOARD OF WORKS RECEIVES CHARGE

Taxpayers in Sidewalk District
108 Say Specifications
Are Disregarded.

INSPECTORS HELD BLAMABLE

While Watching Work Done They Have Permitted Inferior Work to Be Done by Contractor.

The entirely unsatisfactory sidewalk paving that is being laid in the south-eastern part of the city has called forth a formal complaint from taxpayers who are called upon to pay for the improvements. Many protests have been voiced against the work, fault being found with the manner in which the ground is being prepared, with the small amount of cement mixed with the gravel and sand, with the poor quality of the cement, and last of all with the way in which the pavement is left unprotected by forces after it is laid. Not only have the contractor and his men been criticised, but the inspectors in the service of the city have come in for a share of the blame attaching to the undertaking.

Yesterday the following complaint was submitted to the board of public works, having been prepared by the committee of citizens appointed to investigate and report upon the conditions pertaining to sidewalk extension No. 108:

"We the undersigned citizens and taxpayers residing within that portion of sidewalk extension No. 108, lying between Lincoln and Seventh East streets, from east to west, and between Ninth South and Tenth South streets, from north to south, do hereby solemnly protest against the utter disregard of the contract specifications by the James Kennedy Construction company in the laying of sidewalks in the above-described district.

"We protest on the following grounds: "The contractor has failed to tamp the fill on sidewalks raised above the natural level, as required by the specifications. (See paragraph 2, section 2, of printed specifications.) "The contractor has failed to finish the wearing surface of the sidewalk in a workmanlike manner as required by the specifications. (See paragraph 3, section 11, page 26, of printed specifications.)

"The contractor has failed to protect the sidewalk against traffic, after its being laid and before it has set firmly, as required by the specifications. (See paragraph 5, section 11, page 26, of printed specifications.)

"The contractor has shamefully disregarded the specifications as to the relative proportion of cement to sand and gravel, placing in the sidewalk first aid, for foundation, one part of cement to 12 parts of sand and gravel, and in the wearing surface, one part of cement to six parts of sand and gravel, whereas the specifications call for one part of cement to eight parts of sand and gravel for the foundation, and one part of cement to six parts of sand and gravel for the wearing surface. In other words, the contractor used one sack of cement in the foundation where he should have used one and one-half sacks, and in the wearing surface one sack of cement where three should have been used.

"In the sidewalk laid after protest by many citizens, the relative proportion of cement used for the foundation was increased by the contractor to one to nine, and for the wearing surface, increased to one to three; whereas it should have been one to eight and one to two respectively.

"In proof of the foregoing charges, four petitioners herewith present the affidavits of numerous citizens.

"All of the foregoing violations of contract by the contractor were made possible by the flagrant misconduct of the inspectors of the city.

"Your petitioners represent that while much of the sidewalk laid in said district is manifestly defective and of poor quality, that a great deal of said sidewalk is covered with sand and its defects hid from view, and that your petitioners cannot, therefore, at this time, set out in detail the particulars and the location of many of the defects in the sidewalk, except as before set forth as to the insufficient proportion of cement.

"In view of the foregoing facts, your petitioners pray that the work done in the district before described by the James Kennedy Construction company be not approved and accepted, and that your petitioners have an opportunity to present to you, in this body, a detailed statement of the particulars in which the work of said contractor is defective and in violation of the terms of his contract, and the particulars of the damage done your petitioners thereby.

"Your petitioners further pray that the inspectors guilty of allowing the foregoing violations of contract by the contractors be forthwith discharged."

LAUNCH PLAN FOR GOOD ROADS

Meeting Called for Friday to Consider
State Highway Movement.

A plan for a main state highway across Utah from Logan to Dixie is one which dates away back to pioneer days, when Brigham Young sent Ezra Snow down to found Washington county and name his principal settlement St. George.

In the early days of settlement, each legislature has had some enthusiasm which has advocated the proposition in a definite form, the last of them being the veteran Senator McKay from Weber county. Now comes the present governor, who has carried the congressional delegation, and members of the Salt Lake Automobile club, will address the same thing and calling for a meeting to talk it over.

The meeting will be held in the office of Gov. Cutler Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. It will discuss a practical way to organize the good roads movement so that energies will be spent in the right direction and to the best purpose. The congressional delegation will urge national assistance to good roads activity in Utah, while Gov.-elect Smith, who is in favor of a good roads commission, to serve without pay, and to support the construction of the same.

Announcement is made in the invitation that at a feature of the occasion will be a pronouncement, which has been prepared by President Theodore Roosevelt. Addresses by various distinguished persons are scheduled.

AMUSEMENTS.

Theater—Tonight winds up the engagement of "Parsifal" and tomorrow night comes one of the biggest New York successes of recent years, Rose Stahl in "The Chorus Lady." The advance sale has been very large.

Orpheum—Standing room was at a premium last night and without doubt the strength of the bill will keep the record up all the week.

Grand—"Bunco in Arizona" closes this afternoon and evening, and tomorrow night the "Chorus Lady" comes to the Orpheum, its engagement for three nights with a Saturday matinee.

New Lyric—The several features this week, which are undoubtedly headed by "Rafferty's Raffles," cause a great amount of merriment. The bill will be continued throughout the week.

The Hartmann Concert—The Choral Society and the Festival Chorus will go in a body to hear Arthur Hartmann, the famous Hungarian violinist, at the First Methodist church, Saturday, the 21st. This is the second concert of Mr. Graham's series, and all indications there will be a big audience to greet the celebrated musician.

Nordica's Sale—The advance sale for the opening of the Colonial Theater on the 18th, when Madame Nordica will be the attraction, opens tomorrow morning. The program and her full company will arrive from the east, Tuesday or Wednesday next.

SALT LAKE AND COUNTRY TOWNS TO PRESENT LAWS

Gov. Elect Spry Says the Feeling
Between Them Should Improve.

VOTE ON THE AMENDMENTS

If Adverse He Says It Will Stir Resentment and Will Work Against Development of Fellowship.

"A thing that Salt Lake needs to do is to understand the other cities of the state better. There is a feeling that is bad for both Salt Lake and the other cities existing in some quarters."

This was the significant declaration of Governor-elect William Spry this morning when informed by a "News" reporter that there was a possibility that the constitutional amendment had been defeated in Salt Lake which was intended to provide for the expansion of the high school system by devoting the proceeds of a half mill tax to high schools.

The count of the canvassing board through the eleven districts that had been tallied by noon, shows a heavier vote against the amendments than for them, and a general feeling of gloom. Governor-elect Spry was asked what he thought of this condition, and whether, in the event that the districts counted proved the samples of the general situation, any serious results would follow.

WOULD BE UNFORTUNATE.

"The situation would be most unfortunate," he replied. "There is already a bad feeling out in the state about Salt Lake, and if the amendments are defeated, it will make it worse. It is feeling better, would by defeating this amendment, make it decidedly worse. The amendment called for spending a good deal of money over the state. If the people of Salt Lake worked against it, perhaps they did so because they must pay a large proportion of this money in taxes, while they must see other communities spend it.

"The apparent justification here for opposing the amendment has other conditions that must be figured in. One of them is that the people outside see almost all of their earnings drift towards Salt Lake. They pay a big tribute to the city. Take only the two conference periods with their crowds, and you will get some idea of the way that country-made money comes into city trade.

"Then when they get their hearts set upon advancing their educational interests, and get back to the legislature, and back of the legislature, professors of the universities, and the authorities on school organization, and then the people of Salt Lake go forward refusing them the amendment they have asked for, you can readily see the feeling that is created.

HOPES THEY CARRY.

"It is a feeling that may set expression in mail orders, in words of opposition, and in a general feeling to the fellowship that ought to exist over the state. Personally I hope the count of the votes for the amendments, for the one and the other, in doubt as to how to vote on amendments should always remember that the legislature has given the question over to the people. The people have a sentiment in mind against amending the constitution except for a serious cause. Therefore a citizen in doubt about how to vote for the amendment cannot do better than to vote for it, unless he has information or belief in a theory of government that would make him definitely opposed to it.

"Out in the country I am confident that these amendments will overcome opposition in Salt Lake, and that they will pass. My reason for hoping that they pass here is that I would like to see a spirit of liberal friendship between Salt Lake and the other cities that would attract a liberal feeling in return when the country districts are called upon to vote the money of which they pay a considerable tribute to Salt Lake, beautifying the state's chief city with a beautiful capital building."

CORPORATIONS NOTIFIED

They Must Come in and Settle Taxes
Declared Constitutional by Supreme Court.

Following the decision of the supreme court upholding the constitutionality of the corporation tax, notices are being sent out from the office of the secretary of state to the corporations coming under the provisions of the statute. The concerns that must pay the tax number approximately 6,000, and their average for each is about $20, the maximum being $25, the minimum $5.

With the payment of this tax the state will receive a revenue of at least $50,000 per annum. Owing to the fact that the law was protested and at least half of the companies liable withheld payment pending the determination of the matter in the courts, many improvements were held up this year that otherwise would have been carried forward. The notice being sent out by Secy. of State Tingley reads as follows:

"Your attention is respectfully directed to the provisions of chapter 107, laws of Utah, 1907, requiring all corporations organized under the laws of this state or the territory of Utah, and all foreign corporations doing business in this state (except those exempt under the provisions of section 1 of said enactment) to pay an annual tax.

"The license is payable on or before the 15th day of November of each year, at the office of the secretary of state, Salt Lake City, and the amount of the license to be paid is based upon the authorized capital of the corporation, as indicated in section 1 of the act, a reprint of which will be found on the reverse side of this notice.

"You will please fill out, detach and return to this office the blank attached hereto, with a remittance covering the company's license.

"SCRIBBLERS" MEET.

The "Scribblers Club" held its third meeting last night at the A. F. Fraternity house. Dr. John Sundwall delivered a lecture on the relation of literature to the development of the Scribblers. At the next meeting a series of literary papers will be given by some of the members.

NEED AMENDMENTS TO PRESENT LAWS

Juvenile Court Statutes Do Not Provide Desired Remedy,
Say Officials.

DISCUSSION FOR SATURDAY

Governor Cutler, Governor Elect Spry
And Others to Go Over Matter
At Special Meeting.

That there are flaws in the present juvenile court laws through which wrong-doers crawl to freedom and immunity from prosecution is generally conceded by officials and attaches of the court, as well as by others who have kept in touch with its workings. The statutes are particularly ineffective as pertaining to adults who contribute to the delinquency of children and minors coming under the jurisdiction of the court.

In many instances, the wrongdoing of young people is traceable directly to the leeway given them by parents or guardians, or to the evil influences exerted over them and the bad example of older persons. The child's tendencies cannot in many cases be corrected with taking him entirely away from the custody of parents or guardians or from the society of others who, wilfully or unwittingly, are bringing about his ruin. Here is where the difficulty comes in. The court has no jurisdiction over the older persons, not being able to mete out punishment, no matter how flagrant the offense.

While it is true that persons may be held accountable in the juvenile court for contributing to the delinquency of minors, it is seldom that a case can be made against any one thus accused, and the reason therefor is taken to other tribunals and the matter is taken out of the court that is most directly interested in securing conviction. Thus the reputation of the state is child is handicapped or entirely defeated, as to punish a boy or girl or to keep them under surveillance while they are in the hands of their parents, or their waywardness goes free, has none of the elements of right or justice.

With a view of amending and correcting the amendments, the court's scope will be broadened sufficiently to include the handling of persons who in any way encouraged minors in wrongdoing, a meeting is to be held Saturday next to make such amendments as it is believed the next legislature will be willing to pass, as well as new statutes governing juvenile court jurisdiction. Governor-elect William Spry is much interested in the proposition to change the laws indicated and will be present at the meeting. Various juvenile court judges, probation officers and attaches will also be in attendance, and it is believed that such impetus will be given to the movement that the remedial measures so much desired.
