

ELECTION WEATHER IS REALLY GOOD.

Clear Skies Indicate a Phenomenally Heavy Vote.

VOTERS COME PROMPTLY.

Only a Little in the Northwest Was Threatening of Storm—The Morning Outlook.

Washington, Nov. 6.—Special weather forecast for Tuesday, Nov. 6, 1900: It is seldom that any day passes without a drop of rainfall anywhere within the area of the United States. Such is the remarkable condition this morning.

With the exception of cloudiness over southern Wisconsin, northern Illinois, and eastern Iowa, the sky is clear with pleasant temperatures everywhere. The showery condition which yesterday covered New York and New England has moved away as was expected, and all portions of New York and New England are certain to have the weather during the day.

The cloudiness previously referred to as being in Iowa and contiguous States is the result of a storm forming over western Iowa, which probably will return in the beginning of precipitation tonight or tomorrow in Iowa, the central Mississippi valley and upper Lake region, but the weather doubtless will remain fair until after the close of the polls.

WILLIS L. MOORE,
Chief U. S. Weather Bureau.
NEW YORK.

New York, Nov. 6.—Election day in New York dawned into an ideal autumn morning. The sky was clear, and the air invigorating. A phenomenally heavy vote is assured. The election machinery, however, did not begin moving in the five boroughs until 6 o'clock. The election officers were no more prompt than the voters.

In the over populated districts in the upper west side of the city, there were more voters than there were minutes in the day to receive their votes. As many as fifty men were in line at many places when the election officers arrived.

Chief Devery arrived at police headquarters at 5:45 o'clock. He went at once to his office and had all the stations called up by telephone. Promptly at 6 o'clock the chief summoned the newspaper men to his office.

"The polls are open and the election is on," he said. "The opening of the polls has been effected without disorder. There will be no trouble during the day if this department can help it. I will be here all day with my carriage handy. There will be reserves handy to dispatch to the scene of an outbreak."

"I have nothing to say about McCullagh and his indictment. Sheriff Grell was here early this morning because of a communication with some authority. Was it Governor Roosevelt? I don't care to say. Let the sheriff tell you what he likes about it. I will say that his visit has not interfered with the police plans already formulated."

"They stand as they were first formulated. Nothing has transpired within 24 hours to cause their modification. Our business is to preserve order at the polls and afford the election officials protection in the discharge of their duty."

The polls will remain open until 5 p. m. Within the limits of Greater New York there are 1,522 voting precincts and 69,223 registered voters. Under normal conditions about 94 per cent of the vote is generally cast in a presidential year.

The first returns from New York city may be expected at about 6 o'clock to-night.

The leaders and workers of both political parties were seen early this morning making arrangements for the bringing out of the full vote as soon as possible. Despite the exciting events of the election and evening previous to the election, the police officials and Republican and Democratic leaders appear to be a unit in asserting that the election in this city this year will be quiet and orderly. The indictment of Chief of Police Levy on the charge of interfering with State Superintendent of Elections McCullagh, the notice of Gov. Roosevelt on Mayor Van Wyck telling him he would be held responsible for any violence at the polls, and the recall by Chief Devery of the election officials, orders to his subordinates appear to leave matters about as they were before Sunday last, when Chief Devery notified the police officials that the McCullagh deputies must not be allowed to interfere with men who were willing to swear their votes. The McCullagh claim is that the deputies should prevent the casting of any and all votes which in their judgment are illegal. The courts after the election will undoubtedly be called upon to settle the differences of opinion growing out of the dispute, but in the meantime the assurance that the police will render the deputies every assistance in their power, and that every effort will be made to keep peace at the polls.

Trouble occurs during the day it will undoubtedly grow out of the serving of warrants upon persons alleged to be entitled to vote. Supt. McCullagh alleges that extensive colonization has been planned in the lower sections of the city.

The vote was cast very rapidly in this city. In the fifth assembly district one-third of the total vote had been cast at 6 o'clock. In Brooklyn also the early vote was very heavy. No disorder was reported in the morning hours and in general the voting was carried on quietly.

"I anticipate no trouble whatever," said Supt. of Elections John McCullagh, "I feel confident that it will be about 800 deputies and a number of different polling places and a number of emergency men in the office. I am certain that with these I shall be able to arise, but I expect nothing of the kind."

Richard Croker, who has been in the polling place five minutes after accompanied him, and voted.

The leaders have not changed their estimates in any important particular. Some of them in Kings county claim that on both sides are making claims of at least 35,000 plurality instead. It is probable that the early estimate will prove more nearly correct than these later figures, and that the majority in the borough of Brooklyn will not be pronounced on either side.

ILLINOIS.
Chicago, Nov. 6.—One hour after the polls opened it was estimated that 20 per cent of the registered vote of 401,000 had been cast.

The day began with the sky dull, but with clear, crisp air. The sun did not come out as rapidly as it did four years ago. This may be accounted for by the weather, which, on that day, was sunny, as well as clear. Despite the tardiness in depositing ballots early, party managers expressed the opinion that a full vote would be brought out. The booths were closely watched by men detailed from both Democratic and Republican headquarters, while policemen and deputy sheriffs were scattered throughout the city to preserve order. No trouble was reported early. Business houses generally were closed.

OHIO.
Cleveland, O., Nov. 6.—Election day in this city opened clear and cold. Voting during the early hours of the day was unusually heavy. As a result of the big registration—over 82,000—it will be necessary in some precincts that the ballots be cast at the average rate of one each minute throughout the day in order to permit all qualified persons to vote.

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 6.—The weather is superb—clear, with white frost. Voters were at all the booths at this opening, and voting proceeded rapidly as the day advanced. The interest is intense and will bring out the full vote.

Columbus, O., Nov. 6.—Election day opened bright and crisp this morning, and all indications point to a tremendous vote. In the down-town precincts and in a few remote ones heard from at 7:30 o'clock the ballots were being cast at the rate of one a minute, and in some cases the average for the first hour was one a minute per minute.

Boston, Nov. 6.—The weather is clear and cool. In the State at large, which will aggregate some 20,000 plurality for Bryan, and in the other seven congressional districts, which are regarded as safely Democratic, neither Republicans nor Democrats are likely to poll anything like a full vote.

INDIANA.
Fort Wayne, Ind., Nov. 6.—Voting began with a rush. Interest is intense, and at 6 o'clock a heavy vote had already been polled. The vote promises to be a record-breaking one. The weather is ideal.

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 6.—The day dawned clear and cool. Long lines of voters were standing at all polling places as soon as they opened. Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 6.—Early reports from the State show perfect election weather. The early vote was uniformly heavy.

NEVADA.
Reno, Nev., Nov. 6.—The day opened bright and clear. The weather is ideal. The polls opened early and the voters are going to the polls early. All indications point to a big vote. The Democrats are still confident of carrying the State, but concede that the majority for Bryan is not as large as last election.

REPUBLICANS claim the State will go for McKinley by a small plurality, and expect to elect Farrington for Congress. On the surface it looks like a very close contest.

SOUTH CAROLINA.
Charleston, S. C., Nov. 6.—There is no question as to the fact of today's ballot in South Carolina, the Republicans having no candidates for State or county offices except in Beaufort county. Weather clear and cool.

ALABAMA.
Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 6.—The weather is a little cloudy, but cool with probability of clearing. There is absolutely no interest, and it is not believed that half of the registered vote in this county will be polled.

WISCONSIN.
Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 6.—The weather is partly cloudy and warmer. A very large vote is being polled early, the ballots being cast mostly by factory workers. Much interest is being taken.

KENTUCKY.
Louisville, Ky., Nov. 6.—The weather is cool, crisp and clear, just the kind calculated to bring out an immense vote. There was a long line of voters at every precinct when the polls opened, and it was not until 7 o'clock that there was a rule the better class of citizens. All saloons are supposed to be closed, but many are open. Up to 8 o'clock, however, there was little drinking and no trouble, whatever had been reported. Indications are that a majority of the ballots will be cast before noon, and that the largest vote ever known in Louisville will be cast.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 6.—The weather in central Kentucky is clear and warm. Interest is intense. Very heavy vote will be polled. There is perfect order now.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Nov. 6.—The weather is clear and cool. The polls were filled early.

MASSACHUSETTS.
Boston, Nov. 6.—Weather conditions on election day were never more perfect than they were this morning. Balloting throughout the city was conducted quietly during the early hours, and the indications were that a very heavy vote would be cast.

COLORADO.
Denver, Nov. 6.—Thronging was gathered at all voting places in this city when the polls opened at 7 o'clock this morning and the voting proceeded rapidly. The weather is fine and the vote will be the heaviest ever cast in Colorado. Trouble is feared in this city as 600 Republicans have been appointed deputy sheriffs by Sheriff Jones, and they insist upon serving at the polls today, although their commissions were revoked by the board of county commissioners. About 1,500 special policemen have been appointed and the police have been instructed to arrest any deputy sheriff or other person who may attempt to interfere with voters.

KANSAS.
Topeka, Kansas, Nov. 6.—Election day dawned clear and pleasant throughout the State. The polls in this city opened at 8 o'clock and close at 6. The registration here is the largest on record and every indication points to a heavy vote being cast. There was about the usual crowd at the voting places when the booths opened. There is no excitement.

WICHITA, Nov. 6.—Weather is perfect and early indications favor a full vote. Roads in the country are somewhat heavy from recent rains. Both sides appear confident.

NEBRASKA.
Omaha, Nov. 6.—The weather throughout Nebraska today could not be improved upon being far above the average of November temperature, with the skies clear throughout the State. In Omaha the polls were open at 8 o'clock and the early voting was unusually heavy with prospects of a third of the November vote being registered by 10 o'clock. The leaders were getting their men in line, and conditions are favorable for the full vote being polled.

DELAWARE.
Wilmington, Del., Nov. 6.—Weather perfect with every indication of a heavy vote in this city and State. The polls opened at sunrise and many men voted before their breakfast hour. The campaign has been conducted without bitterness, speakers on both sides refraining from offensive personalities, and no trouble at the polls is anticipated.

Resides nine presidential electors, there are to be elected in California seven congressmen, twenty State senators, one half of the upper house of the legislature and 80 assemblymen. In many of the counties, including San Francisco, superior judges will be chosen, and in this city justices of the peace are being voted for. Several amendments to the State constitution are also before the people for acceptance or rejection. The State is confidently claimed by both parties, each expecting a plurality of from 12,000 to 15,000.

WASHINGTON.

Tacoma, Wash., Nov. 6.—The weather is favorable for a large vote, although the campaign has been marked by unusual apathy. Republicans claim Pierce county on national and State ticket by small majority. Both sides admit county ticket will be split. Democrats yesterday covered a wagon of a thousand dollars offered by the Republicans on Frink for governor.

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 6.—The weather is cloudy but will probably clear. In the election is keen. The vote in this city is expected to be fifty per cent larger than ever before. Both sides claim Spokane county by 1,000 to 2,000, but betting strongly favors the Republicans. It is conceded Governor Rogers will run ahead of the Democratic ticket and even money is offered on his election. Odds varying from 2 to 1 up to 10 to 1 are given that McKinley carries the State.

OREGON.
Portland, Ore., Nov. 6.—Weather conditions in Portland are favorable for a large vote. Early in the day the workers of all parties were astir. As the election of McKinley is conceded in this State, the interest manifested is not so great as would be the case in a close contest. The Democrats, however, will make a strong effort to bring the Republican plurality down to as low a figure as possible.

PENNSYLVANIA.
Philadelphia, Nov. 6.—The day began with ideal weather, which gave every promise of continuing until the close of the polls. The most active interest is being taken, and in many of the voting precincts in this city a heavy vote is being polled. The number of votes were polled in the first hour.

This was particularly true in the third congressional district, where the present representative, Wm. McClellan, Democrat, is running against a Republican, Wm. B. Ewing. The latter is a former congressman and a big game being made on Congressman Lantz.

FLORIDA.
Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 6.—The weather is clear and cool. Interest in national issues is practically secondary to the question of capital removal.

WEST VIRGINIA.
Parkersburg, W. Va., Nov. 6.—The weather is perfect. Voters were astir early, and the interest is great. A heavy vote is expected.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 6.—The day opened clear, but the thermometer at sixty. But few people were in the streets early, but a large vote is promised.

MINNESOTA.
Minneapolis, Nov. 6.—A light snow is falling, but the weather is clearing. Early voting is heavy, with no excitement.

WINONA, Minn., Nov. 6.—The sky was overcast and the air chilly this morning, but voters were out early. Indications are for a full vote.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 6.—There was a light snow falling this morning, and the outlook was gloomy, but the vote was more than ordinarily heavy. In many precincts over 25 per cent of the vote had been cast before 8 o'clock.

DULUTH, Minn., Nov. 6.—Weather cold and cloudy. Indications are for a heavy vote.

IOWA.
Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 6.—The day opened with threatening weather, while the air was ampy. The laboring vote was polled early. Every indication points to a full vote if the weather does not become inclement. Interest in Iowa is centered generally on the only doubtful district, the Second congressional.

ARKANSAS.
Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 6.—Favorable weather throughout Arkansas guarantees a large vote and Democratic leaders are increasing their previous estimates of record breaking Democratic majorities. The Republicans are making energetic efforts to get out their full vote. Quiet prevails.

MONTANA.
Helena, Mont., Nov. 6.—Election day opened cloudy in Helena but at an early hour many men and boys were on the streets. More interest will undoubtedly be taken in the election today than in any previous one in Helena. The saloons are all closed and perfect order is expected. Indications are that Lewis and Clark county will go Democratic for the most part.

RHODE ISLAND.
Providence, R. I., Nov. 6.—Through-out Rhode Island the weather was perfect. The Republicans expect a slight increase in plurality for McKinley over four years ago.

NORTH DAKOTA.
Fargo, N. D., Nov. 6.—Weather perfect and a large vote will be polled. It is likely the full State vote of 55,000 will be cast in the State.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.
Concord, N. H., Nov. 6.—The day in New Hampshire opened with perfect weather, which is expected to bring out the largest vote cast since '92. The voting early was heavy, and judging from past years this was taken to mean a proportionately increased Republican plurality for President, governor and congressmen.

MICHIGAN.
Detroit, Nov. 6.—Clear weather brought voters to the polls early. In some precincts almost half of the vote was cast before 9 o'clock.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.
Washington, Nov. 6.—Although the people of the District of Columbia are without the right of suffrage, interest in the result of the national election is most intense. Perhaps never before have so many government employees gone home to vote. There are but two cabinet officers here, Secretary Hay, who resides in the District, and has no vote, and Secretary Gage. Every government employee who applied and could be spared was allowed to go home, irrespective of party affiliations.

The Republican and Democratic congressional quarters were almost deserted, but elaborate preparations have been made to receive the returns to-night.

WYOMING'S POPULATION.
It is Officially Announced as 92,531—Increase 72.4 Per Cent.

Washington, Nov. 6.—The population of the State of Wyoming, as officially announced by the census bureau today, is 92,531, as compared with 65,705 in 1890. This is an increase of 51,826, or 72.4 per cent.

TRANSPORT OVERDUE.
San Francisco, Nov. 6.—No word has been received here from the British steamer Samoa, which sailed from this port for Taku on September 26.

The Samoa was under charter to the German government and has on board 800 horses for the troops in China. Two days after leaving here she returned to port, having had trouble with her machinery, and shipped a new crew for the engine room. Three other German transports which left here some time after Samoa, have already reached China.

OFFICER KILLED AT ELECTION ROW

Battle Between Deputy Sheriffs and Policemen in Denver.

ONE DEAD, FOUR WOUNDED.

Colorado Makes the Record of the First Bloody Election of the Day.

Denver, Nov. 6.—A fight between deputy sheriffs and policemen occurred at 7 o'clock this morning at the polls at Twenty-second and Larimer, in which one deputy sheriff, whose name has not yet been learned, was killed, and four officers were injured. The wounded are:

Special Deputy Stewart Harvey, shot in the body and one arm.

When Sheriff Jones' deputies went to district 11, precinct four, this morning, special policemen ordered them to leave the polling place. The deputies refused to do so, and the special police rushed them with clubs and pistols. An unknown deputy drew a gun, when a policeman clubbed him. He fired in self-defense, wounding Patrolman Carpenter, who returned the fire. Special Policeman Green began to club a negro in the crowd, supposedly Jackson, and was shot in the back. The melee became general, and bullets flew thick. The injured officers were taken to police headquarters, and afterwards sent to the hospital. The dead man was taken in charge by the coroner.

Paris, Nov. 5.—The municipal council has adopted a motion expressing warm sympathy and admiration for the Boers "in their heroic defense of their independence" and resolving that the president and other officers of the council shall welcome Mr. Kruger at the station upon his arrival in Paris and shall invite him to an official reception at the Hotel de Ville.

The nationalist group in the chamber of deputies today appointed a delegation to meet Mr. Kruger at the station.

OUT OF COMMISSION.
Monitors Monadnock and Monterey May be Laid Up at Cavite.

New York, Nov. 6.—Because of impairment of the health of the officers and men assigned to duty on the monitors Monadnock and Monterey, it is probable, according to a Herald dispatch from Washington, that the navy department will direct that the vessel be laid up at Cavite.

The latest officer ordered before a retiring board as a result of service on the Monadnock is Captain E. T. Strong. Every commanding officer of the monitor since she has been stationed in the Far East has experienced ill effects from serving on such a hot ship.

After six months on board the vessel, Captain H. E. Nichols suddenly died from heart exhaustion. Captain McGowan, who succeeded Captain Nichols, was invalided home last spring, and Captain Strong was sent to command the Monadnock in May.

HEAVY WHALE CATCHES.
San Francisco, Nov. 6.—The whalers California, Andrew Hicks, and Alexander have reached this port, the two former from Okhotsk sea, and the Alexander from the Arctic. Captain Smith of the California reports a catch of 50 sperm and eight right whales, producing 1,580 barrels of oil, valued at over $21,000. The 3,000 pounds of bone furnished by the right whales is worth $15,000.

Captain Shorey of the Andrew Hicks reports a catch of 8,000 pounds of bone, worth in the neighborhood of $40,000, and 480 barrels of oil, worth $11,000 and 480 barrels of oil valued at nearly $6,000. One bowhead whale produced 1,800 pounds. The catch of the Alexander, which was satisfactory to the owners, has already been reported.

Homeward Bound.
San Francisco, Nov. 6.—A cablegram received at military headquarters here announces the departure from Manila on November 2 of the transport Logan. The vessel carries 273 sick soldiers, 39 general prisoners and 8 insane persons.

"I followed Mrs. Pinkham's Advice and Now I am Well."

A woman is sick—some disease peculiar to her sex is fast developing in her system. She goes to her family physician and tells him a story, but not the whole story.

She holds back something, loses her head, becomes agitated, forgets what she wants to say, and finally conceals what she ought to have told, and this completely mystifies the doctor.

Is it a wonder, therefore, that the doctor fails to cure the disease? Still we cannot blame the woman, for it is very embarrassing to detail some of the symptoms of her suffering, even to her family physician. This is the reason why hundreds of thousands of women are now in correspondence with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. To her they can give every symptom, so that when she is ready to advise them she is in possession of more facts from her correspondence with the patient than the physician can possibly obtain through a personal interview.

Following we publish a letter from a woman showing the result of a correspondence with Mrs. Pinkham. All such letters are considered absolutely confidential by Mrs. Pinkham, and are never published in any way or manner without the consent in writing of the patient; but hundreds of women are so grateful for the health which Mrs. Pinkham and her medicine have been able to restore to them that they not only consent to publishing their letters, but write asking that this be done in order that other women who suffer may be benefited by their experience.

Mrs. Ella Rice, Chelsea, Wis., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—For two years I was troubled with falling and inflammation of the womb. I suffered very much with bearing-down pains, headache, backache, and was not able to do anything. What I endured no one knows but those who have suffered as I did. I could hardly drag myself across the floor. I doctored with the physicians of this town for three months and grew worse instead of better. My husband and friends wished me to write to you, but I had no faith in patent medicines. At last I became so bad that I concluded to ask your advice. I received an answer at once advising me to take your Vegetable Compound, and I did so. Before I had taken two bottles I felt better, and after I had taken five bottles there was no happier woman on earth, for I was well again. I know that your Vegetable Compound cured me, and I wish to advise every woman who suffers as I did to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Believe me always grateful for the recovery of my health."—MRS. ELLA RICE, Chelsea, Wis.
