FROM UTAH'S MOST NORTHERLY TOWN

Brigham A. Hendricks of Lewiston Tells of Wonders of Northern Country.

HIS TOWN HAS LOTS OF ROOM.

People Rejoice Over Completion of West Cache Canal, Which Irrigates 30,000 Acres.

Brigham H. Hendricks of Lewiston. Cache county, is one of the three representatives of the Second legislative district in the state legislature. Mr. Hendricks was born in Sait Lake City 42 years ago, and is a son of W. D. Hendricks, one of the pioneers of the northern country, and a member of the Mormon battallon. The elder Hendricks was also probably the first contractor on public works in this city, and has been successful in railroad contracing been successful in railroad contracing work for more than a generation.

The subject of this sketch moved to Cooke valley with his parents to years ago, and for years has been a resident of Lewiston the northwestern town in the state. For the past two years Mr. Hendricks has been one of the county commissioners of his home county, and during his term of office had the satisfaction of assisting in building a $20,000 addition to the county courthouse, as well as reducing the building a $20,000 addition to the county courthouse, as well as reducing the county debt about $14,000. At the end of his term, expiring Dec. 21, 1906, the bonded indebtedness of Cache county was only 31,000, when there was in the treasury of the county more than $32,000, or more than enough to pay off the county indebtedness, and that with a levy of only 7 mills.

That Mr. Hendricks is a fevel-headed conservative man of affairs was evi-

That Mr. Hendricks is a level-headed, conservative man of affairs was evidently recognized by the speaker in his make-up of the house committees, as Mr. Hendricks was not only given the chairmanship of the claims and public accounts committee, but he was named as vice-chairman of the appropriations committee, and was given assignments on such important committees as those on agriculture and horticulture, and highways and bridges.

"Our county is prospercus," said Mr. Hendricks, today. "Our horses and cattle, as shown by the records of the state board of equalization, are assessed higher than in any other section of the state. Men come to Cache from all over the country, and particularly from California, to buy our pedigreed horses and cattle.

ROOM FOR A MILLION.

"Lewiston, my home town, is a city of magnificent distances and remarkable growth. We have an area laid out for city purposes 2½ miles with by 6 miles long, and we mave room for a million people. Our sugar factory is one of the best in the state. The people in the vicinity of Lewiston last year planted 1.509 acres of sugar neets, and harvested from 14 to 27 bushels per acre of the saccharine tubers.

OTHER INDUSTRIES.

"Then our condensed milk factory is second to none in the west, and is a source of great income to our farmers. In fact, the two sugar factories and the two condensed milk factories, were the main stay of the farmers last year, when a great deal of the grain was spoiled with rust on account of the wet weatherf! But our beets and our cows saved the day, and all went well with us.

"The keeping of our dairy stock is The Reeping of our dairy stock is another feature for which Cache valley people are noted. There is an element of rivalry between the various sections tributary to the different factories which tends to make the entire valley an ideal home for the cow, and the highest grade of milk, cream, butter and cheese is produced.

A BIG CANAL

"Another great thing for our country is the West Cache canal which has just been completed. This canal is 40 miles long and irrigates fully 30,000 acres of splendid sandy soil. The water is taken out of Bear river at the old Battel creek in Idaho and carried down through Trenton in Cache valley and turned back into the Bear at Cache Junction. Land under this canal has greatly enhanced in value the last year, and settlements ar springing up on and settlements ar springing up on every side. The land is first class for fruit raising, and one apple orchard alone of 600 acres is being planted this spring.

atone of eco acres is being planted this spring.

"The people of our county are thrifty and industrious, and there is a great future before them. They are enterprising and public spirited, and their mercantile institutions, their school buildings, their houses of worship and amusement halls are all of a creditable character and indicate the solid and substantial nature of the people who build them. It is a well known fact that Cache is one of the best watered valleys in the west and some of the finest fishing and hunting in the country is provided by its canyons and mountain streams. We are growing up north," said Mr. Hendricks, "We have room and welcome for all who wish to come and make their home with us, and invite you all to come and see us." invite you all to come and see us

CHAMBERLAIT'S COUGH REMEDY IS BOTH AGREEABLE AND EFFECTIVE.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has no superior for coughs, coids and croup, and the fact that it is pleasant to take and contains nothing in any way injurious has made it a favorite with mothers. Mr. W. S. Pelham, a merchant of Kirksville, Iowa, says: "For more than twenty years Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been my leading remedy for all throat troubles it is especially successful in cases of croup. Children like it any my customers who have used it will not take any other." For sale by all druggists.

"FRATERNITY EVANGELIST.

Buffalo Enquirer Hands Mr. John P. Meakin Some Boquets.

The Buffalo Enquirer of March 15 has cut of John P. Meakin, and a writeup of a lecture delivered by him in that city That the address was well received is evidenced by the praise bestawed by the Enquirer. The article reads as follows:

John Phillips Meakin, the elequent western crater, known from the Atlantic to the Pacific as the "Friternity Evangeist," delivered his famous lecture. "On-ward," last night at the Eagle's hall, Main and Tupper streets, before several hundrel membe sof the F. O. E. and help friends. It was one of the greatest lectures of its kind ever heard in Buffalo.

The speaker began his lecture by saying there is today a strong tendency for men and women to dritt into a screlld or material life, a life without any particular alm in view. They did not talink but live a sort of animal existence.

He told of how a few days ago he material life, a life without any particular alm in view. They did not talink but live a sort of animal existence.

He told of how a few days ago he mater a man on the street who shook his heartly.

"I don't think you remember me but I remember you," said the stranger. "I heard you talk one night in Colorado Springs about four years ago. I waited for you after the meeting and we walked down the street together when you secred me severely."

"Is that so?" Mr. Meakin replied "I didn't talk to you personally, did 1?"

"No." was the answer, "but everything you said hit me mighty hard. Previous to this I had spent my time and money in ciribking and gambling. I tell you, Mr. Meakin, you are a god-That the address was well received father to my higher or thinking self. Now I am married, have a prety little home, a good wire and two bables, and a few good backs on the sheif. Yet I earn no more than I did before."

"You probably did very little think-ing previous to four years ago," Mr. Meakin said to the man.

"Worse than that, sir," said the stranger. "Before I met you I didn't know there was anything to think about."

know there was anything to think about."
This incident narrated by the speaker shows the object he has in traveling over the country delivering these lectures. His purpose is to induce men to think, to lift them above themselves.

Mr. Meakin believes the contolling sin of the world is unkindness and self-shness and the greatest virtue and sweetest blessing is kindness and unselfishness, and in his lecture he succeeded in so impressing these fact upon the mirds of his hearers that they left the hall feeling they would do more in the future to let in the sunlight of fraturnal love.

FEARS THE RESULT.

Detective George Raleigh Asks for a Transfer in His Case.

Fearing that he will not get justice before the magistrate who bound Chief of Police Sheets over to the district court. George Raieigh, captain of detectives, has filed an affidavit in Judge Whitaker's court asking for the transfer of his case to some other judge. Raieigh is charged with conspiracy along with Chief Sheets and others who are alloged to have conspired together and fleeced the McWhirter brothers out of 10,000 in this city last September. In his affidavit he states that he cannot have a fair and impartial trial before Judge Whitaker because of the prejudice and blas of the judge. It has not been determined as yet to whose court the case will be transferred. The affidavit of Raieigh follows:

"George Raieigh, being first duly sworn on his oath deposes and says that he is the defendant in the foregoing action wherein he is charged in connection with others with the crame of conspiracy; that he believes that he cannot have a fair and impartial trial before the judge before whom it is now pending by reason of the interest, prejudice and blas of said judge.

"Wherefore he prays that the case be transferred before some other judge." Police Sheets over to the district court.

G. B. BURHANS TESTIFIES AFTER FOUR YEARS.

G. B. Burhans, of Carlisle Center. N. Y. writes: "About four years ago I wrote you stating that I had been entirely cured of a severe kidney trouble by taking less than two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure. It entirely stopped the brick-dust sediment, and pain and symptoms of kidney disease disappeared. I am glad to say that I have never had a return of any of those symptoms during the four years that have elapsed and I am evidently cured to stay cured, and heartily recommend Foley's Kidney Cure to any one suffering from kidney or bladder trouble," Sold by F. UNIFORM LIGHTING.

Main Street Illumination Discussed at Commercial Club Meeting Yesterday.

A meeting was held at the Commercial club yesterday noon, during which the question of uniform lighting for Main question of uniform lighting for Main street was discussed at length. There was much diversity of opinion as to just what plan to follow, but inally the one that seemed to be most popular and which was incorporated in a resolution was to the effect that lamp posts be placed on either side of the street, is feet apart, and that each post be adorned with a cluster of five lights.

The Utah Light and Railway company will place its trolley poles lik feet apart along each curb, and the intervening poles will be set up an dmaintained either by property holders or by the city. The uniformity was fully determined upon at the meeting, but who should carry out the plans and pay the bills was left to be decided by the proper authorities.

Those present at the meeting yesterday, which partock of the nature of a luncheon, were: A. Fred Wey, chairman; A. J. Davis, president of the city council; L. C. Kelsey, J. E. Dooly, John A. J. SPECIAL TAXES.

Property Owners Are Puzzled Over the Notices for Sidewalk Extensions.

Many property owners who have received notices of special taxes against their property for sidewalks or other improvements are somewhat puzzled over the provision which is printed in red ink across the face of the notice. It reads as follows: "If not paid in full when the first installment becomes due, interest-bearing scrip will be issued which will be a lien against the property."

on nearly all improvements the property owner may have five years in which to pay the tax, the payments being in six installments and when the first installment becomes due the property owner has the privilege of paying the entire amount of the tax and thus save the interest; but if he chooses to save the interest; but if he chooses to pay for it in installments, then the city treasurer issues interest-bearing scrip for the balance due on the tax and his

SONG WRITER'S EARNINGS.

Author of "Under the Old Apple Tree"

Egbert Van Alstyne, the young song writer who is now counting his annual income in four figures owing to his successes being in demand, is numbered among the guests at the Wilson this week. Incidentally he is appearing at the Orpheum in a musical turn with Miss Henry and saving up for a rainy day. Considering that he is not yet 30 he has apparently done well for an erstwhile newspaper man. while newspaper man.

"Six years ago I was playing a plano in an orchestra in Omaha," he said "when Harry Williams, who was working on a Minneapolis paper, and I decided to go to New York. When we landed there we had exactly $4.50 hetween us and a song with a catchy air Together we took this music to a publisher. I played it over and Williams sang it atrociously. However we made good and when we left the office we carried a check for $150 along with us and a request to write another."

Mr. Van Alstyne's income in royaltles from the sangs he and his partner have written during the past four years is now over $10,000. "Our most popular song was "Under The Shade Of The Old Apple Tree," he said. "Already $80,000 copies of it have been sold.
