THE PARK CITY FIRE.

The subjoined circular to the presiding authorities and members of the Church explains itself:

"Salt Lake City, Utah,
July 5, 1898.

"Dear Brethren and Sisters:—On Sunday, June 19th, 1898, Park City was visited by a scourge of fire and all the business and much of the residence portion of the town destroyed.

"The Latter-day Saints' meeting house, a substantial rock and timber structure, just erected at a cost of $3,000, was entirely destroyed. It was a well built and conveniently arranged house, with accommodations in the basement for the Sabbath school and similar organizations, and a large assembly room above with a seating capacity of 500. In addition to the building the silver sacramental service, the Sunday school books and a considerable amount of property belonging to the Relief society was also destroyed.

"This loss falls very heavily upon the Saints of Park City at this time when many of the mines are shut down and every effort is necessary to redress the hitherto suffering consequent upon the calamity which has visited the city.

"The leading brethren of Summit Stake are making an earnest effort to rebuild and place the people there in a position to continue the most excellent work which has been done in Park City during the past few years. But the task is greater than the Saints in that place and Summit Stake can accomplish alone, after having so recently raised such a large amount to build the structure now destroyed.

"They need assistance and we think the members of the Church generally will gladly render it and we commend the matter to the favorable attention of the Latter-day Saints.

Your brethren,
WILFORD WOODRUFF,
GEO. Q. CANNON,
JOS. F. SMITH,

The Saints in Park City have for some years past been doing excellent missionary work in the city. At present through the courtesy of the school board, they are permitted to use a school house for their services, but when the school term commences they are without a public place of worship. They contemplate the erection of another building, if possible this fall, and need assistance for this work. Contributions can be sent to Elder James H. Glade, Park City.

UTAH'S APPROACHING ELECTION.

No absorbing of public and even of private interest have been the war dispatches that but little thought has been given to matters more strictly local. Now, however, there is a lull in the storm and the nearness of our approaching political campaign has an importance for a hearing. This is proper and timely. The election that occurs in November will be one of the most important ever held in Utah, involving grave consequences and the filling of many important offices.

Perhaps the most vital point of general interest is the senatorial question. The term of Senator Frank J. Cannon expires on the 4th of March next and his successor will be chosen during the coming winter. The people will not directly choose this officer, but they can if they see fit do so in an indirect way by making their preferences known and voting for members of the Legislature who will act in accordance therewith. This is seldom, however, done directly as a general way. Each third is at her first State election, when the Democrats in convention formally nominated Hons. Joseph L. Rawlins and Moses Thatcher and instructed the members of that party in the Legislature to vote for them, which was done, but as the Democrats were in the minority the proceeding was effective in anything. The statute is to be filled being as explicit and workable as well as existing one, requiring a high standard of character and judgment to prevail very ill it, should receive the strong care and consideration at the hands of the people. As the Legislature makes the choice, it behooves the electors in their individual capacity to nominate and elect good men who will work and faithfully reflect the wishes of their constituents and make such choice as will most likely be a source of good to the commonwealth as a whole.

We are by no means short of good material for two or any other positions, and it would be a rare exhibition of party fealty to have to go outside of something chiefly Revolutionary and intelligent.

The next question in point of capability and desirability is that of representation in Congress. Here again we find ourselves in the midst of a host of men of the right kind of mold and not of those of so one sided quality as to cause other to wonder. This is the matter in the minds of a few thousand more men to be found right in the ranks of the Democracy, and there will be no trouble to find a man or for such who are sufficiently honest in the views, and very able exponents of every great question. We want a good Democrat, and in accordance with the Democratic rule he is held up to the greatest political standard by association with our State and Territory have stood, and in the halls of national legislation. It is probable the next Congress will be an unusually important one, and to deal with, by allowing the matters growing out of the war and otherwise, and that of currency, experience and probity are needed at such and in fact at all times.

A Judge of the Supreme Court and of course to be the people, to succeed Hon. C. S. Zane, whose term expires on the 1st of next January. That has an importance of first-class import and it would doubtless be most difficult to make a decision and that an appointment would selection. Only those are particularly to others and as in the other cases named, so also the best men are to be had.

The Legislature has already been spoken of in an intelligent way. All of this body but a small number of the best men from the people, very well to choose this means that fifty-four members will be chosen altogether. This county is entitled to seven, all told, but has three hold-overs, making the full number to be voted for at twelve, two senators and ten representatives. Some important matters are to come before that body in addition to the election of a United States Senator, and it is very desirable that the votes cast for members of the Legislature be representative citizens.

Each county in the State will elect a full set of officers, and in most of them, probably two and the other as to opposite ones, the interests involved are very great. In no case should a party nominate a ticket that is not of commendations, though at all of sufficient importance to justify the closest scrutiny and most judicious consideration.

The different primaries and conventions will soon be getting together, and it is sincerely hoped that such will put forth its best work. The "Knox" is not conducive of having any "axes to grind" and only seeks to promote the best welfare of the greatest number of people.

FOR THE GOVERNMENT OF SANTIAGO.

The proclamation of President McKinley transferring the temporary government of the province of Santiago de Cuba is a document of more than common historical interest, being the first of its kind ever issued by a United States President. It sets forth the policy agreed upon at Washington with regard to the conquered territory, and is well calculated to give the United States a clear understanding of the vast difference between life under a free government and previous conditions.

According to the proclamation the Cubans are entitled to protection to the utmost extent known to their civilized rights; the laws, statutes and ordinances, schools in force ostensibly as before the occupation, so far as this is compatible with the new order of things, and they are to be administered by the ordinary judges under the general supervision of the American commander-in-chief. Only in case the native officials, or the people, refuse to acknowledge the supremacy of the United States, the representative of our government will take other steps to the maintenance of law, order and peace. Religious liberty is secured to the people. Taxes are to be paid to the military occupant, who will use the money collected for the purpose of paying the expenses of the government. By this policy an opportunity is given the Cubans to demonstrate to some extent their capacity for government themselves, and our future Cuban policy may depend to the result of this first experiment. It will certainly be watched with much interest by the people of the United States.

There is no provision made for the relief of the people suffering from Spanish cruelties, but undoubtedly sufficient measure of compensation on the war loan would have to be issued to the Cubans for the purpose. Should that have been given from the large sum (about industrial projects to the extension of the country as to the value of the war measures of the President must be encouraged to remove their influence. The experiment will be watched upon for the government of the people of the world, and their ability to make their interests their own affairs. The terms of the proclamation are liberal and generous, and if the people of Cuba do not appreciate them they will have no one to blame but themselves.

THE KINGDOM OF ISRAEL.

According to an American Press dispatch, dated Chicago, July 15, it is pending to be the latest day of the city, the organization of the Kingdom of Israel—hence the name of the Lord our coming, an Anglo-Israel organization is granted. The object of the society is to spread the truth to the children of Israel with the coming people. It will be the duty of the organization to hold meetings at regular intervals, where talks will be given upon the three divisions and theories, questions answered, and literature distributed. The fact that England and the United States, the dispatch says, head of the nations by which the Kingdom of Israel will be established in the near future are and that the people are commandments the special mission of the people has been a source of wonder to many Bible students. A temporary organization was effected with Rev. Mr. Wilkinson of Baltimore and Rev. Kerr as secretary.

To a great many readers of the "Note" that subject is of much interest. They have received reasons for thinking that the discovery of the location of the Two Witnesses will be the signal manifestation of some of the most glorious events in the history of the world. Concerning the means of Israel the earliest dates have short predictions. Seven such seasons and a half have been given, and the "A time, times and half a time" (or 3½ years) will be the last.

"The remnant of Israel shall rule their captive nations, and they shall rule over their oppressors, and we have the promises and testimonies." The U.S. "rod to the possessions, it is pointed out, that since the Declaration of Independence the world was ruled by the power of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, the leading among those nations are designated. Therefore as we are told of conquests for Israel, both actual and spiritual, light has been given to the entirely dark subject.

It is related of Gen. Ward that, at the battle of La Guayra, when Generals Crespo and Joaquin Rivera were pushing forward on opposite sides and began to curse "the insurgent" that Ward straight from their actions quickly to the command: "Don't swear, men! They interpret the order explicitly, and when the battle was won there was no need to swear at anyone.

Hyman opinion is that the executive treaties would in no sense if the money required to be paid to Spain had been contributed to them. Assistance of opinion that the Spanish treaties would have had the glorious referred to when Commissioners put would have entered under Spanish regime even as the Australians have the best to treat them on.

English correspondents are now telling the newspapers that "the American writer was raised in the lowest class of society only by the splendid energy and indomitable intrepidity of the American women." But those English correspondents argue! The Americans could have those notable qualities because?

Admiral Dewey's letter to Admiral Von Diedrichs was a severe official castigation of the meddlesome German, but it was couched in such elegant and expressive English as to show that the American admiral is a master of diplomacy as well as of naval warfare.

Prince Henry of Prussia sympathized to Commodore Dewey for a touch of an old etiquette. Possibly the German admiral thought to excite his superior by making up an opportunity to apologize to Admiral Dewey for a supposed breach of international courtesies.

The scheme to get the people of Santiago de Cuba in the way of using American coin is a good one. The quicker they are weaned of everything Spanish the better and more plentiful it will be for them.
