Pinafore Matinee.-The Theatre, this afternoon, was crowded from pit to dome, the occasion being the third and last performance of "Pinafore" and the debut of Miss Emma White as "Josephine." Many, who could not obtain seats, gladly availed themselves of standing room. The company, as a whole, acquitted themselves with usual credit, and with as much care as ever, which is unusual to matinees. Miss White's appearance was the signal for a burst of rapturous applause which was repeated at intervals during her first solo. She was tastefully and appropriately attired as became a sea captain's daughter; had an excellent conception of her character and acted with all the art of a professional Her full, sweet voice captured the emotions of the audience at once, and her modest yet vigorous portrayal of the fair "Josephine" made her the pet of the audience throughout. A Yellow Fever. A Mr. Sneath and several Eng-lish ladies and gentlemen visited the office of the chief of police, last night, and stated that they had just strived on the overland train. At Omaha they found a young girl named Anna Welchsler, aged six years, who had been passed to that point by the conductors on the various trains from Memphis, Tennesee, Around the neck of the little waif was a tag, on which with difficulty was deciphered, "63. Steiner." Little Anna had in her possession $15 and a letter which stated that her parents had died of yellow fever, and requesting all charitable persons to assist her in reaching her destination in San Francisco, and to find a relative rancisco, and to find a relative named Abele Paulucci. Several olice officers were directed by the chief to hunt up this person, but up to a late hour last night their search had proved unsuccessful.
The girl is being kindly cared for by Miss Thimbieby, at the Lick House, who is anxious that Anna's relative should be found, as she proposes to leave for her destination, British Columbia, in a few days.— San Francisco Chronicle, April 9.
