

BOMB OUTRAGE IN ST. PETER'S CHURCH

While Thousands Were Present to Celebrate Anniversary of Dedication of Basilica It Occurred.

FORTUNATELY NO ONE INJURED

Famous Edifice Not Damaged—People Seized With Panic—All Rome Very Nervous.

Rome, Nov. 18.—A bomb was exploded in St. Peter's today. The edifice was crowded, and an indescribable scene of confusion followed. There were no fatalities.

As soon as the echoes of the tremulous roar had ceased a canon sought by reassuring words to quiet the people, but in vain. They fled in all directions, and a number of women fainted. Women and children screaming and tried to protect their families in the crush. The church was empty, however, that there was ample room for the crowd to scatter, and no one was injured. No trace of the perpetrator of the deed has been found.

Since St. Anacleto, who was ordained in 90 A. D., on the site of the present basilica to mark the spot where the remains of St. Peter are buried, no such dastardly occurrence is noted in the annals of the church.

Today was the anniversary of the dedication of the basilica, and the occasion was beautifully decorated for the occasion. Holy relics were exposed and a large number of the faithful attended the services. Cardinal Merry del Val, the papal secretary of state, was among those present. He took part in the service in the choir. The last mass had just been celebrated when the explosion occurred, and only one canon, who had not quite finished, remained at the altar of St. Peter. This altar is at the end of right aisle, and is near here the bomb had been placed.

As the canon turned to bless the communicants there was a tremendous roar, which echoed through the city. A dense smoke spread throughout the portion of the basilica and a strong odor of gun powder filled the air. Confusion and panic at once seized the people. The canon at the altar tried to calm the tide of fear. He shouted out: "Do not be afraid! It is nothing, merely the noonday gun." His words had little effect. They were rebuffed by the smoke and pungent smell of powder, and the people continued their headlong flight. Cries were uttered, making the confusion more serious. Men and women fled, stumbling in all directions, and screams of children and cries of anguish were heard on all sides, and for a few minutes it seemed as though nothing could obliterate a grave disaster. The vast size of the church, however, gave room for the crowd to scatter, and at the end of a few moments the people were surging toward the doors, excited and nervous but orderly.

As soon as the smoke cleared away a hasty examination showed that nobody had been hurt in the crush, and furthermore, that no one had been wounded by the explosion. Calm was gradually restored, and some of the people returned to view the extent of the damage.

It was discovered that the bomb had been placed under a scaffolding that had been erected to facilitate repairs to the roof, exactly over the celebrated tomb of Clement XIII by Canova, which consists of a figure of the pope and two lions, and which is the most remarkable piece of sculpture in the basilica. This tomb ranks among the finest efforts of modern sculpture, and by its execution Canova established his reputation.

When the first rendements reached the spot the scaffolding was found to be smoldering, but this fire was easily extinguished. The tomb was found to be uninjured, and even the pavement shows scarcely any signs of the explosion. An examination for the remains of the bomb was made, but it was found that the bomb was a very long fuse in order to enable the criminal to gain the exit. It has been impossible to trace him, and no one has any recollection of seeing a man who by his movements might have aroused suspicion.

The pope was engaged in his regular noon hour devotions when the bomb went off. He heard a murmur, which surprised but did not alarm him. Monsignor Misciatelli, sub-prefect of the apostolic palace, and Monsignor Biletti, major domo of the Vatican, at once hurriedly entered the pontiff's chamber.

They were so pale that the pope immediately asked "What has happened?"

"Do not be alarmed, holy father," was the answer. "A bomb has exploded in the basilica, but the pope is unhurt, and no one has been wounded."

The pontiff asked anxiously if the church had been damaged. Upon being reassured, he fell upon his knees, saying he must implore mercy for the misguided perpetrator of the deed.

Soon after this announcement was made to him the pope went to the throne room, where he admitted to private audience Monsignor Kennedy, rector of the American college, who presented to his holiness Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. McCloskey of Philadelphia and Mr. Paul S. King of New York, who noticed that the pope was pale and labored under some emotion. After the reception the pope proceeded to the hall of the consistory, where he received about 20 persons, including 25 students of South American college, to whom he delivered a short address. None of the persons knew anything about the explosion.

Signor Massimini, Italian minister of finance, was eating lunch at the Cafe Amaro when he heard the news. He immediately took a cab and drove to St. Peter's where he met a number of

The papal authorities, including Count Camillo Pecci, a nephew of Leo XIII, and commandant of the Palatine guard. The explosion produced an alarm outside the basilica, the sound being taken by every one for the noonday gun, but by afternoon the news was known all over the city and a stream of people went through the church to view the result of the explosion.

There is a certain nervousness in the city, and people are apt to magnify the event. This was shown when the afternoon when the explosion of a firecracker in the new tunnel, above which stands the quinal, caused considerable excitement and alarm, people fearing another bomb outrage. It was soon discovered, however, that the cracker had been set off by a boy as a joke.

Every piece of the bomb that could be found was turned up by the police and carefully examined. The bomb evidently consisted of a large tin box, bound tightly together with wire of two sizes. It must have contained more than two pounds of gunpowder and three pounds of nails. The nails were of three sizes, some seven inches long and so heavy that they were thrown some distance. The nails were enveloped in newspapers dated Nov. 16 and 17, proving that the bomb was prepared either yesterday or today.

Cardinal Merry del Val, the papal secretary of state, was in the Borga apartment, busily at work with his private secretary at noon, and did not hear the explosion.

The rumor having spread abroad that the pope intended to visit St. Peter's today to pray before the tomb where the outrage was committed, drew an exceptionally large crowd to the basilica. This rumor was unfounded, for only Cardinal Rampolla entered with the procession.

A three days' service of prayer will be celebrated in all the churches in explanation of the offense to religion. This bomb explosion makes the third anarchist outrage in Italy in four days, the other two being the murder of Prof. Rossi, in Naples yesterday, and the explosion of a bomb in front of the Cate Arango in this city on Nov. 14.

The attempt of today has caused deep-seated and universal horror and indignation, on account of the locality selected for the crime, and the sentiment of the people is very great. St. Peter's is the greatest basilica in Christendom. It took 120 years in the efforts of 43 popes and the genius of Michael Angelo, Bramante and Raphael. The commission of such a crime in such a place has called forth universal condemnation and is characterized as proving that the perpetrator of the crime was a scoundrel and a villain.

The theory is held that this attempt was not directed against the pope, but rather a challenge to society in general by attacking religion, the most sacred institution of the people.

SENATE COMMITTEE VISITS COAL MINES.

South McAlester, Okla., Nov. 18.—The United States senate committee that is investigating conditions in Indian Territory spent this afternoon by visiting the several coal mining towns in the neighborhood of McAlester. The committee will begin hearings here. The chief question under discussion will be the share of the mine owners in the improvements made by squatters on the segregated land, and particularly on coal leases signed by the operators. The committee will also visit the mine of J. Henry Shepherd, who represents the 20,000 citizens on the segregated lands, will contest this and try to secure for the citizens their improvements entire.

On this matter the committee will have only the power of recommendation. Congress will have to pass a bill for legislation for the relief of the settlers. Judge Shepherd will accompany the committee to Washington and will present a new bill for the improvement of the surface of the lands. The disposition of the mineral treasures of the lands, in manganese, iron and coal, is a subject that lies wholly within the power of Congress, and the senatorial committee will try to ascertain the wishes of the people on that question.

EX-GOV. TRITTE DEAD.

Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 18.—Frederick A. Tritte, governor of Arizona from 1882 to 1885, died this morning at the age of 73. He suffered from dropsy and complications of that disease.

Frederick A. Tritte went west from Pennsylvania, where he was born, to Nevada, where he carried on a brokerage business in San Francisco and Virginia City for many years. He was a United States commissioner to receive the Central Pacific railroad when it was completed in 1869, and on behalf of Nevada presented the silver spike which connected the two ends of the road. He was a member of the first Nevada state senate and was later narrowly defeated for governor. He came to Arizona in 1880, serving as governor and in other positions.

SECT. ROO ON TRADE RELATIONS

His Address Will Be Most Significant Event at Transmississippi Congress.

TO DEFINE MONROE DOCTRINE.

Will Tell What the President's Attitude Is—South American Delegates to Speak on It.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 18.—More men of public note will be in Kansas City next week than ever before attended a non-partisan gathering in this city. They come as guests to the annual banquet on Monday night given by the Commercial club of Kansas City, given in commemoration of the signing of the John Jay commercial treaty, or to attend the Trans-Mississippi commercial congress, which will begin a four days' session on Tuesday morning. Upon both occasions the principal topics of discussion will concern plans for trade expansion both in this country and between the United States and the Latin-American republics.

The most significant event in the week's doings is expected on Tuesday when John Edgar Hoover, secretary of state, will make his first official appearance on the trade relations between this country and the South American republics since his return from these countries. Mr. Root will, upon this occasion, it is stated, voice President Roosevelt's attitude on the Monroe doctrine, which is the subject of the commercial treaty.

Among other who have accepted invitations to deliver addresses during the week are: Secy. Root, president of the Union Pacific railway, William J. Bryan, an even dozen United States senators, 14 representatives in Congress, a dozen or more cities, and representatives of various commercial bodies from all parts of the country. Fifteen hundred accredited delegates are expected.

In point of attendance and the scope of subjects considered, this year's congress will be the most important in the history of the organization, taking up, as it will, subjects of an international character. Among the topics to be discussed are: a tariff, harbor improvements, merchant marine, oriental trade, Alaska, the Columbia river, irrigation, forestry, San Francisco, naval construction on the Pacific coast, trusts and their relation to business, government ownership of railroads, telegraph lines and public utilities, levee systems in Texas and Louisiana, pan-American commercial union, drainage of public lands, statehood and deep water from the lakes to the gulf.

Secy. Root and E. H. Harriman will speak both at the Commercial club banquet on Monday and at the commercial congress on Tuesday.

The guests Monday evening at the banquet will include, besides those already mentioned, the foreign representatives from Washington, John Barrett, minister to Colombia; William Jay Scheffelin, a distant relative of John Jay; Louis C. French, the sculptor, both of New York; several high railway officials, army officers from Fort Leavenworth and Fort Riley, and many prominent delegates to the congress.

The commercial congress will convene in Convention hall on Tuesday morning. David R. Francis, of St. Louis will deliver his annual address at the first session, and in the afternoon Mr. Harriman will make an informal talk. Tuesday evening will be given up to Secy. Root and the foreign diplomats, Ignacio Calderon, minister from Bolivia; Felipe Pardo, minister from Peru; Enrique Cornejo, minister from Colombia; Mr. Gurgel, Argentine, charge d'affaires of Brazil, and Alberto Yocum, charge d'affaires of the Chilean legation.

Wednesday afternoon will be given up to the discussion of navigation, led by Representatives J. E. Randall of Lake Providence, La. On Wednesday afternoon Minister Barrett will speak on relations with South America.

On Thursday, at the morning session, Leslie M. Shaw, secretary of the treasury, will speak on the commercial possibilities of the west, and William J. Bryan will address himself to a subject not yet assigned. Thursday afternoon speeches will be made by F. H. Newell, chief engineer of the navigation service; Gifford Pinchot, chief forester of the agricultural department; W. H. Herron, topographer of the geological survey; and a chief engineer in Chicago of the drainage surveys, and others.

The report of the committee on resolutions will be made Friday morning probably on which date the next meeting will be decided.

Several big delegations arrived in the city today, and others on the way are expected to arrive tomorrow.

Julian Portele of the Argentine legation at Washington, and John G. Curiale, former secretary of the treasury, have wired to attend the congress because of indisposition.

TREE SAYS JONES TALKED "ARRANT NONSENSE."

London, Nov. 18.—The Duke of Argyll presided at a dinner at the Hotel Cecil tonight to celebrate the passage of Mr. O'Connor's music playwright act. There was a notable company of more than 200 persons present, including several members of the house of lords and house of commons and representatives of all branches of the musical profession and of literature and drama. All the speakers praised Mr. O'Connor's energy and skill in pushing a measure that will prove beneficial to the musician of all lands whose works so long have been pressed in the United Kingdom.

An interesting incident of the evening was Beethoven's Tree's reference to Henry Arthur Jones' pessimistic utterance on the British drama in New York, Nov. 15. "With all respect to Mr. Jones," said Mr. Tree, "I feel that on this subject he talked arrant nonsense."

But then, he is on the other side of the Atlantic, and there is always a temptation to unfurl the Star-Spangled Banner.

Henry Arthur Jones gave a dinner last Thursday night at the Hotel Cecil in New York City to the dramatists of the United States. In a speech he encouraged American playwrights, declaring that, while their efforts were as yet a trifle crude, there was no doubt of their potentiality and that America was within measurable distance of a great American drama.

KIDNEY TROUBLES

Increasing Among Women, But Sufferers Need Not Despair. THE BEST ADVICE IS FREE.

Of all the diseases known, with which the female organism is afflicted, kidney disease is the most fatal, and statistics show that this disease is on the increase among women.

Unless early and correct treatment is applied the patient seldom survives when once the disease is fastened upon her. We believe Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the most efficient treatment for chronic kidney troubles of women, and is the only medicine especially prepared for this purpose.

When a woman is troubled with pain or weight in loins, backache, frequent, painful or scalding urination, swelling of limbs or feet, swelling under the eyes, an uneasy, tired feeling in the region of the kidneys or notices a sediment in the urine, she should lose no time in commencing treatment with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it may be the means of saving her life.

For proof, read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Sawyer.

"I cannot express the terrible suffering I had endured. A derangement of the female organs developed nervous prostration and a serious kidney trouble. The doctor attended me for a year, but I kept getting worse, until I was unable to do anything, and I made up my mind I could not live. I finally decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a last resort, and I am today a well woman. I cannot praise it too highly, and I tell every suffering woman about my case."—Mrs. Emma Sawyer, Conway, Ga.

Britain as against those in America. Jones said that the American drama was more lusty, healthy and lively than in England. It might be cruder but vitality was better than style. Vitality was the youth of style and the virtue of old age.

WELCOME TO AMUNDSEN.

Christiana, Nov. 18.—Capt. Amundsen and his companion explorers arrived here this afternoon on board the steamer Helge Olaf. They were transferred to the coast defense ironclad Norge. A salute of 15 guns was fired from the fortress and the explorers were welcomed by a number of officials and prominent citizens. A banquet was given this evening in their honor.

MASSED BY BRIGANDS.

Athens, Nov. 18.—Reports are being received here constantly concerning the activity of brigands in the Salodiki district. It is declared that a number of men, women and children have been massacred at Kossio and Ramelli, and that a band killed 15 Greeks in the neighborhood of Nicausta and carried their mutilated bodies into that town.
