Weeding Out of Old Car Men and | Harriman Said to be After Local In-Training of New Ones,

OLDER MEN ARE VALUABLE.

New Hands Put on Only When Absolutely Necessary Rushing the New Cars in the East.

It has been rumored about that for some time past car men on the Consolidated Rallway and Power company's lines have been discharged in platoons, so to speak. With a view to getting some explanation from the parties concerned, a "News" representative interviewed some of the men and also called at the offices of the

Upon being questioned an ex-employe of the street car system said: "So far as we know, most of those who have been discharged have been given no cause for their dismissal; and no rea-son or explanation is advanced by the company when the men are laid off. This latter phase of the matter is where Tals latter phase of the matter is with the greatest injustice is shown to the discharged men, for their friends and the public may draw any conclusion which a lack of proper information may suggest. A man may be discharged for any offense, from 'knocking down' fares which is the worst begins to the discharge to showing up. cause it is dishonest, to showing uplate; but if no reason is assigned for dismissal, the man who is tardy but 'as honest as the day is long' may in ignorance be classed among the few who are let out for dishonesty.

"As to the real reason for these dis-charges, I am not quite sure, but some of the men say that it is on account of compensation. The men discharged are usually from the ranks of those who have served a couple of years or more in the service of the company Some time ago the car men asked for an increase of wages, and it was then arranged that upon entering the employ of the company a man should receive 18 cents an honr; after the first year, 19 cents and after the second year, he should be paid 20 cents an hour. Now, by discharging the old men, who get 20 cents an hour, and employing new men, who get 18 cents, the company saves from 20 to 25 cents per man per day. I think that is the reason; but whatever the cause may be it should be stated so that we would not be left under a cloud."

A DIFFERENT STORY.

An entirely different version is given by the railway people. In the first place, they say, the men are not being discharged by wholesale. "We always have in the neighborhood of 30 new men on our list," said an official this morning, "and they are promoted from extras to be regulars as occasion re quires. That accounts for the presputting more cars into commission all the time and need new men, It is too expensive to the company to be breaking in new men for the purpose of taking the places of old men in the service. We think most of our ex perienced employes because they give us the best service and we are not discharging any of them for the purpose of saving the difference between their wages and those of the new men. I wouldn't pay the company to do it. O course, we dismiss a few of the older hands for the good of the service and for the reason that we find some among the new ones who become more compe tent than they are. You know, it is the same in this business as in all others-some men would never make good car men if they lived to be a thousand is to give the public as good service as possible and the carability of ou men has much to do with this. An other reason why more new men hav been seen on the cars of late is that the resort season is approaching sto increased business of the summer

Supt. Read is in the east and is expected to return about the first of April. When the new big cars may arrive is not known at the office, but they are being burried along as fast

Los Angeles, March 25,-The Times Los Angeles, March 25.—The Times says: A battle of financial glants with Los Angeles as its theater, has become a three-cornered fight of continental interest. The war first broke out between H. E. Huntington and Senator W. A. Clark, but now E. H. Harriman is coming here to take a hand in it. Harriman is much disturbed by the menacing attitude of the Huntington trolley system towards the Southern Pacific's local traffic and by Huntington's success in getting away some of n's success in getting away some of schiefs of staff. He has determine to defeat Huntington if it is possible Senator Clark for an alliance to par-allel Huntington's local and interurban trolley lines.

the construction of a railroad from the Nehalem coal fields in Claisop county, Oregon, to Seaside, the terminus of the Astoria & Columbia River railroad. All engines on the Short Line are being fitted with new flagstaff rigging and sockets for signal lights, both of tank and tender, to accommodate the additional signals required by the new cules that go into effect on April 1. Some of Utah's coal fields are strong attractions to the railways—to those that need them, for the purpose of supplying themselves with fuel; and to those that don't need them, for the purpose of keeping "the other fellow" out. It is promised that within two years he new railway will be running trains etween Sait Lake and Denver and that he Denver and Northwestern and the an Pedro will be transferring, each to the other, transcontinental passengers

Promoters of railway companies and projects for Utah realize that haste is necessary in the organization of their nterprises. The railway situation in July is getting to be such that in order to "get in on the ground floor" no time must be lost.

Running south from this city the Salt Lake & Utah Valley railroad will not only be welcomed in Bingham, but most of the thriving towns down through than county will eventually contribute passengers to the electric system which the promoters have in mind.

AMUSEMENTS. hamman

People who thought the long retirement which Mr. Willard's health forced him to take soon after he appeared here 10 years ago, had in any way impaired his powers, were undeceived last night. If possible, Mr. Willard has matured, broadened and developed in his art since the time he gave us "The Middleman" and "Judah:" we doubt, in fact, whether 10 years ago, he could have given any such performance of "The Cardinal" as that which he rendered last night. His beautiful delineation gives the impression of ripened scholarship and intellectual research such as Lawrence Barrett used to bring to his interpretations; indeed, there was much in the rendition of "The Cardinal" last night, the finish, the richness, the reserve force throughout, we mean, rather than in any actual resemblance of story-to those rare productions of Barretts, "Richelieu," "Francesca" and "Yorick's Love." A strong and beautiful play is "The Cardinal," and beautifully did Mr. Willard and his company renders it. The main idea centers on the inviolability of the confes-sional; a murderer confesses his crime o the cardinal, who shuddering, locks the story in his bosom, only to learn in the next instant that his own broth-er is accused of the murder. The cardinal's lips are sealed, and his brother is brought almost to the edge of the scaffold before he evolves a plan which causes the murderer to convict himself. Mr. Willard had some great reing worked up, but at each recall he merely showed a silent continuation of the story—a departure greatly appreciated by the audience—and not till after the final curtain, when the story was told, did he or any of his players cknowledge the plaudits of the audi-

The supporting company was admirable throughout. Miss O'Malley gave a very touching and graceful delinea-tion of the heroine. Miss Linden was thoroughly effective, if somewhat youthful, as the mother. Last night's audience was a handsom-one but not of the size that was ex pected. The advance in rates and poly week together doubtless combined keep down the attendance. Arthur Shepherd, the new leader of the orchestra, was given a round of applause as he took his seat for the first time last night. While his work was largely laid out for him by Mr. Willard's stage manager, who insisted on all the selections being on rather the sombre order, Mr. Shepherd and his men performed their part artistically and did the Tannhauser overture os-pecially well, considering the number of instruments. The music prescribed for "Tom Pinch," David Garrick" and "The Professor's Love Story" is of a somewhat lighter character.

Lovers of Dickens anticipate a rare reat Thursday evening in the production of "Tom Pinch." This is one of Willard's favorite characters, and will, we believe, be the first time that the story of Martin Chuzzlewit has ever been acted upon our boards though versions of it are often seen in gland, Mr. Willard plays the role be young Martin and Mr. Taylor has the part of old Martin, Mr. H. Barthe part of old Martin, Mr. H. Judge Diehl's courtroom was crowded spectators. The people went there to hear something and they were not disappointed. Quite a lively squabble arose be-tween F. B. Stephens and Attorney J. M. Hamilton, as to what case should be tried first. Attorney Stephens represented Mrs. L. H. Kimball, who is harged with neglecting to report to he board of health a case of scarlet ver, which the lady is alleged to have attended. Hamilton was there to de-lend C. E. Hahn, a saloonman, charged ith violating the Sunday liquor sell Each attorney contended that his ease should be tried first, while the court vainly tried to get in a word. Finally, Hamilton agreed to let the case against Mrs. Kimball be tried first if it would not occupy more than one-half an hour. As they were about to proceed with the examination it was discovered that a material witness was not present. Then Atty. Hamilton withdrew his agreement, and the case against Mrs. Kimball went over until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

The case against Hahn was then takn up, and when this report closed, a Violet De Shazzo, wife of Bert De Shazzo, and Maud Hoyt, women of the town, who were arrested for stealing trunk full of articles belonging to Mrs Hoyt, pleaded guilty to petit larceny, but they were permitted to go with the understanding that they should leave town by Thursday. Isaac Wright drifted back on the same old charge, drunkenness, and was given 15 days at labor. The artificial clay of Mr. Hecht De Huben contains sand, carbonate of lime, liquid give and petrofeum, which FLURRY IN WOOL. J. W. Summerhays Returns from Arizona and Talks on Subject.

J. W. Summerhays remarked today, on his return from Arizona that the flurry in the wool market there had given the market a set back. Arizon wools are valued at about 1954 to H cents, but the representatives of each ern wool-handlers got to competity with each other and forced the price to over 15 cents. This continued $25,000 had been wasted, and then ing fell off and went into a condition innocuous desuctude, in which likely to remain for some time, par apparently abandoned the market f he present. The trust has alwa kept a big reserve on hand for any emergency, and so can pull out of the market at any time, and remain out of the market until prices that suit if

Arizona wools are packed loose, and the good, bad and indifferent is throw n together along with airt, sticks and tone and other staff hardly to be assed as wools. This flare up in the market has demoralized both buyers and seless and is having a bad effect in adjust states and territories. FOR CONFERENCE.
