If the Court please: Notwithstanding I have able counsel to plead my cause, I am happy to have the privilege of speaking a few words in my own detense. I descended from the old Puritan stock of the New England States-the land of early piety and steady habits. My forefathers prayely fought and bled during the ever memor tole period of the American Revolution ence, and bestowed the rich boon of religious liberty upon their posterity My parents emigrated from Connecticut to the western portion of the State of New York, in the early days and amid great adversity and the almost insurmountable hardships of a new country reared a family of ten children, I being the seventh child. I learned in early childhood to love my country, and her great government and institutions, and revere and render strict obedience to all her laws, which I have done from my youth up to the present time. While absent from my dear home and beloved country, so-journing among strangers in foreign ands, I could look with pride upon the being guilty of committing any crime, downtrodden and oppressed of all na-tions to the land of the free and the Spirit of the Gospel and point it out, I was taught by my parents, and in fess to believe in, and show me any I was taught by my parents, and in the Sunday School, to reverence the holy Bible and receive it as the word nounce it; and if you will present me of God, and to live according to its precepts. IMy parents belonged to the Methodist Episcopal Church, and I was traditionated in their doctrines and reared in their faith, until I was and reared in their faith, until I was the pure Gospel of the Son of God. twenty-one years of age, when I first heard the fullness of the Gospel of Jesus Christ as revealed through the Brigham Young, John Taylor, or any Prophet Joseph Smith. By embracing an unpopular religion I hear me this day were both almost and was belied, and reviled by my relatives altozether such as I am, except my and those who had formerly professed great friendship. In the fall of the same year I gathered with the Saints Court, and all who are engaged in this at Nauvoo, and suffered with them in at Nauvoo, and suffered with them in their expulsion from that place at the hands of a ruthless mob. On the 5th hands of a ruthless mob. On the 5th people. This is all I wish to say at day of June, A. D. 1856, I left Councii Bluffs (where I resided some six years) for Utah and arrived here in September following. On the 2nd day of April, A.D. 1857, I accepted of and entered into the holy order of celestial marriage, as revealed through Joseph Smith, from an honest convic-tion of my heart that it was a pure principle and had emanated from God, and that it was my duty to obey it. Over 40 years of my life have been spent in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, and I have never heard a false doctrine taught during that length of time, or the first wrong counsel given by the leaders of the hurch.
