TWELFTH EAST STREET GRADE.

The city engineer reported the cost of bringing the intersection of Second South and Twelfth East streets to the permanent grade. The estimate was as follows:

Second South street.....	$19,033 05
Twelfth East street.....	14,263 50

This estimate does not include the cost of masonry for railroad crossings, which would cost about $20,000, and which should be paid by the railroads. Referred to the committee on streets.

Superintendent of Sewers Shelton called attention to the request for an extension of sewers on West Temple street from its present terminus near the center of the block, between North and South Temple streets, the tax having been paid. Committee on sewers with power to act.

BOULEVARD ROUTE.

A communication from a committee of the business men's association, signed by George Y. Wallace, A. G. Bas, H. C. Goodspeed, Wm. Burke, Le Grande Young and E. F. Colburn, was submitted, outlining the route of the proposed boulevard, which is as follows:

Commencing at the accepted center of the city, the southeast corner of the Temple block, thence northwesterly, passing the Deseret University square, to the Warm Springs park, thence in a southeasterly direction to a point near the northwest corner of the Capitol grounds to a point near City creek canyon, thence northeasterly, following the course of the watermain connecting Capitol Hill reservoir with Capitol Hill tank on the west side of City Creek canyon; a distance of about 5,000 feet, to Capitol Hill tank; the tank is about 45 feet higher than the reservoir. Then follow down the road at the bottom of the canyon to a brick tank house, thence southeasterly along the east side of City Creek canyon to the tower built by Mr. Anderson, the same being at or near the intersection of A and Seventh streets—the tower is but twenty-one feet higher than the brick tank house—thence east to the western boundary of the city cemetery, thence south and east to the Fort Douglas military reservation, thence southeasterly to and through Fort Douglas, thence southwesterly by way of Mount Olivet cemetery, to or near the intersection of Sixth South and Thirteenth East streets, thence west passing the Exposition square, thence south to Liberty park; returning pass the county and city building to the center of the city.

Committee on streets.

ANOTHER VETO SET ASIDE.

The Mayor's veto of the appropriation bill, to which reference was made in the NEWS of Tuesday, was made void by a vote of 11 to 2 and one excused.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Adjourned until Friday evening ext, at 7:30.

The City Council held an adjourned session last night. It was 8 o'clock when the president's gavel fell and the recorder ordered to call the roll. The members present were Rich, Simondi, Karrick, Hardy, Horn, Bell, Lawson, Kelly, Evans, Beardsley, Heiss, Wantland, Folland, Moran—14.

Absent—None.

The Proceedings.

The committee on streets reported favorably upon the extension of the franchise of the Salt Lake and Ogden Gas and Electric Light company.

A lengthy discussion then ensued as to whether or not the ordinance submitted in connection with the report had been read in full or by title at a previous meeting.

Folland said he did not understand why so much haste was manifested in the passage of the ordinance. It was an important measure and should be given careful consideration. When members pressed the passage of a measure as they were endeavoring to do in this instance, even before the ink with which it had been written had time to get cold it looked a little suspicious. Besides there was other business which should be disposed of. Petitions had been presented to the council three or four months ago and they were constantly ignored. Business should be transacted in a business-like manner; everything should come up in its turn.

Horn called Mr. Folland to order saying petitions had not been ignored as insinuated.

Folland retaliated spiritedly by saying that Wendell Benson fully four months ago had asked for a gas franchise and proffered to furnish gas at $1.75 per 1000 cubic feet, and that Mr. Horn was well aware of it.

The president rapped order, after which the ordinance was read the first time, and by reason of certain interpolations having been made, further action was postponed until one week from Tuesday next.

ASSESSMENTS CONFIRMED.

An ordinance was passed confirming the assessments on the land and lots on First South street, between East Temple and State street, from the west line of State street to the east line of East Temple street, and on both sides of First South street, between Eighth East and Twelfth East streets, from the east line of Eighth East street to the west line of Twelfth East street, all in sidewalk district No. 2, for the purpose of paving the sidewalks on said First South street.

An ordinance confirming the assessment upon the land and lots on both sides of Second South street, be-
