> Railroad Rates CHICAGO, Feb. 22 .- The adjustmen of such local and through rates as was reached by the general freight agents of the Western Traffic Association lines, was to-day settled by the managers of these roads, who met for this purpose. This much effected, the renainder of the time was given over to the problem of how best to harmonize the interests of the several lines in the different sections so that the Kansas City, St. Paul and Council Bluffs through rates should not clash. There being considerable difference of opinion on this point, its settlement was left for the general conference, to be held when the separate organizations will be arranged Further discussion of the subject will be had to-morrow. The general managers of the trans continental railroads began to-day to Blaine, when excusing himself for not speaking his workingmen's speech any longer, said, "The people do not elect senators and President, and therefore a liberal interpretation, and if so taken would not seriously interfere with the operation of the Pacific roads. After the reading of the paper the meeting agreed that nothing could be done toward regulating tariffs, as under a strict construction of the law, either through or local business would have to be sacrificed. It was decided that a committee be appointed to go before the commission as soon as members are named and ask them to make such exceptions as will allow the roads to carry both classes of traff, without loss, and without division to water or foreign routes. At that hour (local time) the doors were yet closed and not over half a hundred delegates stood on the stairs awaiting admission and within the great hall was silent and tenantless. Placards were placed in the aisles with the names of States on them as guides for seating of delegates. Two United States flags crossed gates. Two United States flags crossed in front of the speakers' desk formed the sole attempt at decoration. Half an hour later two directors appeared with two long strips of muslin with flag designs printed on them, and pro-ceeded in a leisurely manner to stretch them across the stage. Before this was accomplished the doors were epened and the delegates to this first convention of the new party began to take their seats. A NOVEL FEATURE of the delegation is the presence of ten lady delegates. They took seats, not in a bunch, but among the men of their proper States, and appeared to be entirely at home in this new business.

At 1 o'clock B. S. Heath, of Chicago, chairman of the executive committee, called the convention to order. At that time there were about 300 delegates seated and a very sparse attendance of spectators. Heath said it was customary and proper on such occasions as this to begin by invoking divine blessing.

A letter was read from J. B. Weaver, of Iowa, regretting his inability to be present. He suggested that the platform should chiefly relate to land, money and transportation. He favored the election of senators of the United States by direct vote of the people of the States. He begged the convention to not put any new startling principles in the platform.
