

COAL MINE FIRE HAS SOME EFFECT

Now Up to Utah Properties to Contribute Towards Meeting Deficiency.

U. P. SUPPLIED RAILROADS

Rio Grande Officials Return from Fields Satisfied With Conditions And Company's Position.

The fire at the Union Pacific coal mine has added still another development to the general coal situation. It was from this property that the Southern Pacific derived a considerable portion of fuel for motive purposes. The mine was producing in the neighborhood of 1,500 tons per day and the sudden shutting off of this supply is an item creating some worry. Utah mines will contribute towards covering the deficiency as the Wyoming mines, which also supply the Harpman lines with fuel, will not be caught up with local demands. The Wyoming mines were shut down for a period stretching over three weeks and while they are now operating in good shape, the districts within the state and surrounding the various camps have empty bins and these must be filled without delay. Everything taken into consideration, it can be seen the Union Pacific mine's burning down has added to the load being carried by properties in this state.

RIO GRANDE BURNED

C. H. Schlacks, vice president and general manager of the Rio Grande, accompanied by S. V. Derrah, assistant general freight agent, and other local officials visited Sunnyside yesterday and spent the day inspecting coal branches and investigating fuel conditions generally. These officials gave out the good news today that the Rio Grande is in a position to handle all shipments in better shape than in the past. The number of "dead" or "out-of-repair" cars is decreasing rapidly and new engines added to the rolling stock during the summer are handling business in a satisfactory manner. In the neighborhood of a dozen big engines have been sent west for use in the local divisions of the Rio Grande and should arrive within a few days. The Western Pacific "hog-backs" will be fired up and put into commission. Early this fall the Rio Grande prepared for cold weather and all its demands upon railroads by notifying mines and smelters that all cars must be kept moving without needless idleness at any time or at any place. The result of this protective step the company has its rolling stock at its fingers' ends and no matter what variety of car or engine is needed, the officials explain the desired equipment can be supplied without first searching all over the system for what is needed. The officials were willing to discuss the beginning of work on the Grand depot and reiterate the announcements made in yesterday's "News" that work started yesterday forenoon and will see no interruption of the terminals are ready for service. Vice President Schlacks returns to Denver in a day or so.

OBJECT TO CHARGE

Coast Jobbers Protest to Paying for Switching to Private Sidings.

Los Angeles, Sept. 20.—Unable to secure an answer to their letters to the Southern Pacific, Santa Fe, and Salt Lake railroads, complaining against the charges of $2.50 per car assessed by these roads for delivering cars to private sidings, the Associated Jobbers of Los Angeles have laid their case before the interstate commerce commission at Washington. The jobbers' complaint is that the charges are against further payment of these assessments, which are said to amount to $250,000 a year in this city. Replies to the allegations made by the jobbers have been forwarded by the three roads to the commission and the law firm of Coffey, Lee, Lott, and Lott, attorneys for the jobbers, is awaiting notification of the date of hearing. It is understood that the commission will meet in Los Angeles to decide this question. In no other city in the United States, with the exception of San Francisco, is this extra charge made by the railroads.

RAILROADERS VISIT CITY

Gordon, C. Noble, southeastern passenger agent for the Lehigh Valley at Philadelphia, E. A. Cousino, traveling passenger agent for the West Shore at Chicago, and J. W. Gorman, general passenger agent for the West Shore, also of Chicago and Robert Bushby, eastern passenger agent of the Grand Trunk system at Portland, New York, constituted a party of railroaders who passed through the city yesterday en route to their homes from Seattle, where they attended the passenger officials' convention. In charge of K. J. Keyes, local representative of the New York Central lines, the visitors saw Salt Lake and went away full of praise for the city and its people.

TARIFF IS HERE

Copies of the new joint coal tariff prepared for movement of fuel from Utah points to points in Utah and Idaho, and Oregon, and Wyoming show a higher rate on the Utah exportation than the Wyoming shipments to the same points. This advance is from 25 to 50 cents that Utah coal will be carried heavily despite this rate for it is believed the Wyoming mines can come nowhere near meeting the demand of the northwest. This will leave a demand for the coal mined in this state, even with a high-

AMUSEMENTS.

THEATRE—All music lovers, and especially those interested in the musical world, ought not to forget that the Denver chorus, which will take part in the contest for the $1,000 prize, is to be heard in a special concert at the Salt Lake theatre tomorrow night. Dr. Housley will conduct and some of his famous compositions will be rendered, while the soloists will consist of leading voices from the various Denver church choirs. It promises to be a rare musical treat.

ORPHEUM—Things are reversed at the Orpheum this week and with but one exception the first half of the bill is the better entertainment. The program runs the gamut from exceptionally good to mediocre. The highlight of the evening is "Sweethearts," a dramatic contrast in two scenes, and presented by the old Salt Lake favorites, Mr. and Mrs. Brewster. They render a version of their own, of the original little curtain raiser which ran for 130 nights at the Orpheum. The vaudeville act, "The Wives of the World," is exceptionally well staged, costumed and played, the story is a distinct antidote to the headline Janet Melville and Evie Stelson who are modestly billed as "American representatives." Their act causes the auditor involuntarily to glance at the floor and around the house to see whether the audience and tobacco smoke are in evidence. Handsome costumes are a feature, otherwise the turn has spots or coarseness.

DOLECH and Zillbauer, "Viennese Street Musicians," received the biggest hand last night. These two artists draw tone and expression from the plebeian accord in a fashion which arouses enthusiasm. They scorn the usual stage costumes and capture the audience on sheer merit. Maurice B. Cooke, who opens the bill, succeeds through hard work and acrobatic feats in a few pours of beer, gives a play which makes a big hit. Mike Bernard and Blossom Seelye are another example of misdirected genius. The man is essentially the best of the best, and seen on the local boards and his "Battle of San Juan Hill" is calculated to tear the vitals out of the best piano player in the state. A piano and a piano shouter with a big voice and agile feet, the O'Kurras, a Jap and a white woman, are back again with their clever and at times hair-raising pedal stunts. The khindrome we have with us always with its slaps-bang comies and alleged educational features. Wehn's orchestra in a rendition of some Strauss selections is not the least feature of the evening's entertainment.

GRAND—"The Cowboy Ranger," this week's bill at the Grand, is a double "wild west" show, in fact, in nearly everything, (features that "sting" excepted) it was equal to the aggregation of the best of the best. A few weeks ago, persons who were here for a return to the Grand of something in the blood and thunder line certainly realize that the offering of the week, "Shooting Stars" and other dangerous looking weapons are in evidence from start to finish, good Indians and bad Indians, "vying" with white men, good and bad, and a scene which can shoot offest and surest. Several persons in the cast have been here with other companies, and many of them are "first" time in the evening in the audience. These include Miss Jessie Terry, Miss Dorothy Marke and Mr. George W. Scott. The play is well staged and the action was a great deal of enthusiasm displayed. Specialties on the part of the entire cast by Mr. Scott and by the other players, and the program from the audience was a fine return to the melo-dramatic, it would seem that the Grand is to have a patronage entirely satisfactory to the proprietors and management of the house.

LYRIC—The bill at the New Lyric this week is a well balanced one and should draw big patronage. The program of talking pictures and pictures that do not talk, is one of the best seen for many weeks. There are so many good things on the program it is difficult to decide which is really the best, but the speech of Patrick Henry wherein he says: "Give me liberty or give me death," is probably the right to rank as the highlight. The faces are clear and the voices distinct.

"A Night in Bohemia" is well rendered but in spots there is some suggestion of a well rendered sketch. The motion pictures of "The Mechanical Legs" kept the house in an uproar of laughter. A pleasant number in the Australian dances in which is shown in various beautiful colors, the peculiar wearing apparel of the natives. Taylor and Wallace in a singing and dancing specialty are decidedly good, and the athletic feats hold the attention of the audience from beginning to end. The same bill runs throughout the week.

The Brines Recital Tonight—This evening at the Congregational church occurs the concert to be given by the favorite tenor, Mr. M. J. Brines, accompanied by Mrs. Brines. The program has already been printed in the "News" and many of the features that will be attractive to music lovers.

JAILWORTHY OFFENSE.

A demoted man giving the name of John Thomas, and claiming to hail from Duluth, Minn., wandered into the police station last evening and gravely asked to be locked up. "What have you been doing to be locked up?" asked the desk sergeant. "Oh, I have been wiping my false teeth out of my mouth," said John. John was locked up, and will remain in jail until his mind becomes clear.

MOTHER TO WAYWARD GIRLS.

Mrs. Helen Cotton, superintendent of the Denver Cripple Home, is in Salt Lake for a stay of 10 days, visiting at the home of her cousin, Mr. Frank Emerson, on lower Main street. She paid a fraternal call at the juvenile court today, where she was entertained by Mrs. A. L. Young, probation officer for girls.

Mrs. Cotton says that the institution over which she presides has an average of 35 girls under its care, and from 35 to 40 babies of either sex. The institution is five miles west of Denver, close to the line between Jefferson and Denver counties. Very good success is being met with in the care of wayward girls, says Mrs. Cotton. All regular school branches are taught, as is also domestic science and few are needed, the cases of girls leaving the institution unless thoroughly reformed.

STEAM SHOVEL TIPS OVER.

The contractors at the Smith-Bailey Drug warehouse excavation at First and West streets, are employing a steam shovel tipped over the usual horse-scraper proposition. Teams are in line and the wagons are filled from the shovel as they are on the street excavations. The shovel went by the board this morning, as the track under it gave way because of unsubsantial ballasting; but no special harm was done beyond the time lost in setting the machine to rights again.

COURT NEWS.

MRS. WHITMAN GETS DIVORCE.

Former Complaint Charging Cruelty Changed to One of Non-Support.

Upon recommendation of Referee Howard King, a divorce was granted yesterday afternoon to Inez Gomez Whitman. Judge Armstrong signed the decree. Desertion and non-support were the grounds upon which the suit was predicated. In a former complaint Mrs. Whitman charged her husband, Caswell Whitman, with extreme cruelty, charging him with giving her a beating, and also having called her a negro. Whitman called an answer, in which he pleaded exemption for strike work, and he said, incidentally, that he was on one occasion when finding her in the company of a man named Lawrence. He had called his wife a negro, he said, because she was a heathen. He said that she had colored blood in her veins and had admitted it. The desertion and non-support charges contained in the original complaint were not resisted by Whitman.

WOMAN IS RELEASED.

On account of a lack of evidence, Dist. Atty. Looftoway yesterday recommended that the case of Jaceyne Whitman, charged with the murder of a woman, be dismissed, and the recommendation was concurred in by Judge Armstrong. The woman was accused of having robbed one Charles Mitchell of the sum of $25 Feb. 1, 1908.

The defendant is a resident of McCombs, Idaho.

SUIT FOR DIVORCE.

Alleging that her husband has failed since May 26, 1908, to provide her with the common necessities of life, Minnie Hotelling has filed suit for divorce from Edward Hotelling, the county married in this city on the day above mentioned, so that if the wife's accusations are based on truth, her husband has neglected to provide for her support at any time since their marriage. Plaintiff merely asks for an annulment of the matrimonial tie.

ANACONDA DECLARES DIVIDEND.

New York, Sept. 23.—The Anaconda Copper Mining company today declared a quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share. This is unchanged from the last previous quarter.

On Aug. 26th, 1908, the Zion's Co-operative Home Building and Real Estate Co. was incorporated with an authorized capital of $250,000, of which $80,429 was paid up. Since then $40,000 of the stock has been sold at par, so the company has $120,000 in assets. $50,000 more stock will be sold at par, or $1 per share. Owning a lumber yard and having expert men in the different departments, the object of the company is to build good houses and make the expense as small as possible to its purchasers, so that the poor, who are the most deserving, may have a home of beauty and comfort. ## DENVER CHORUS DULY WELCOMED

Singers from Queen City of the Plains Arrive to Take Part in Eisteddfod.

LATE TRAIN SPOILS PLANS

Some Features of Reception Program Omitted on Account of Disorganized Condition of Transportation.

The Rio Grande train bearing the Denver excursionists to the Salt Lake Eisteddfod arrived this afternoon, five hours late. Owing to this, some of the features of the reception intended are likely to be omitted. Quite a number of Colorado people including the band went down to the train at 10 o'clock, expecting it to be on time, only to find no train. Judge Armstrong, signing the decree. Desertion and non-support were the grounds upon which the suit was predicated. In a former complaint Mrs. Whitman charged her husband, Caswell Whitman, with extreme cruelty, charging him with giving her a beating, and also having called her a negro. Whitman called an answer, in which he pleaded exemption for strike work, and he said, incidentally, that he was on one occasion when finding her in the company of a man named Lawrence. He had called his wife a negro, he said, because she was a heathen. He said that she had colored blood in her veins and had admitted it. The desertion and non-support charges contained in the original complaint were not resisted by Whitman.

There was handshaking galore on the arrival of the train, and the 125 Denver vocalists were taken aboard the few remaining automobiles in waiting, and are now being whisked about the city, to "see the sights." The general body of excursionists from the Centennial state are finding lodging places about town. One hundred of the singers are quartered in private houses, and 25 at hotels. The vocal delegation from Denver will attend this evening's reception at the Commercial club, to Prof. Protheroe, who is due at 6 p. m., and tomorrow morning, will be taken to Salt Lake where they will have a bath. The afternoon will be given up to rehearsal for the concert in the evening.

The Salt Lake Choral society will rehearse tonight, tomorrow and Thursday nights; tomorrow's rehearsal being held early so that the society can adjourn at 9 o'clock in a body to the Salt Lake Theater in attendance on the Denver chorus concert.

New York, Sept. 23.—A published report that E. H. Harriman is ill was denied at Mr. Harriman's residence here today. Mr. Harriman had gone to Groton to visit his son who is at school there, and on his return to New York was delayed by a short time by a stop at Groton. The occasion to consult Dr. Lovett, who once treated him for rheumatism. The call was purely incidental and he had not a half an hour to spare. Any statement to the effect that he is seriously ill, or that his journey to Boston was for the purpose of seeing the doctor, is entirely untrue. Mr. Harriman was at his office as usual today.
