

The man who runs a lung-tester in New York encourages the crowd by crying out: "Try it; it'll show which of yiz'll die first."

An English jury assessed the value of a mouthful taken out of a man's leg by a dog at two hundred and five dollars.

Beecher, Tilton, and Bowen, heretofore known as "Congregationalists," the Louisville Courier Journal says hereafter will be known as "Covenanters."

Many of the streams in Kansas are higher than ever before since the settlement of the State. Much of the bottom lands is flooded.

The young ladies who frequent "Flirtation walk" at West Point are exercised over a threat of Cadet Smith to take a young colored lady to the cadet hops.

A Kansas City mother-in-law lately established a precedent by thrashing her daughter's bridegroom immediately after the marriage ceremony.

Three young men have already died in the West from the excessive exertion they have made in playing base ball.

A Detroit woman, aged twenty-five, was lately married to her fifth husband. They are all alive, and the other four are doing well.

Heavy reading is very fashionable in New York, and many young ladies are said to discuss the writings and theories of Darwin, Huxley and Emerson in a manner which would startle the authors themselves.

A Brooklyn sea-captain, just returned from a tour of the Holy Land, expressed himself disgusted with Jerusalem. "It is the meanest place I ever visited! There is not a drop of liquor in the whole town fit to drink."

The Cincinnati newspapers are still discussing the useless question, "Who killed Tecumseh?" As soon as they are through with that they intend to concentrate all their intellectual force upon "Who struck Wm. Patterson, Esq?"

Two or three school girls here are quite sick from swallowing heartsease flowers. Their romance was, that whenever they swallowed one of these flowers whole, and then expressed a wish, they would have it gratified. Prussic acid in the flowers made them quite sick. The romance was voted a humbug. Athens (Ga.) Telegram.

General Van Buren is a sophomoric sort of person who is capable of any amount of folly, and liable to any amount of deception; but he has not a dishonest hair in his head. He has had hard treatment from a government which might better have sooner begun its inquisition for betrayal of official trusts. New York Tribune.

The autobiography of Matilda Heron, the actress, is said to be full of startling experiences and extraordinary situations. Some of its chapters are very severe upon her late husband, Robert Stoepel, whom she handles without gloves. She also makes, it is reported, other disclosures which must be very unpleasant to many of her professional contemporaries.

A farmer not accustomed to literary composition or letter-writing, having lost a new hat at a meeting, and inquired into its possible mistaking, addressed the following note to its supposed possessor: "Mr. A. presents his compliments to Mr. B.; I have got a hat which is not his; if he has got a hat which is not his; if he has got a hat which is not yours, no doubt they are the missing one."

German women are undoubtedly able to do a man's work, and some of them do more in that line than most men are willing to. The very hardest species of manual labor is spading the ground and turning over the sod. In the park to-day we passed nearly fifty women, all strong and muscular, busily driving their spades into the earth. They worked in gangs of five, side by side, apparently as contented as if they were piercing a cambric handkerchief with a needle. When women can perform this kind of labor they are certainly on an equality with man in some things if not in all, and need no protectors. Only think of marrying a woman who can dig all day with a spade! It would not do for most of the lords of creation to have such wives, or at least to provoke them to a trial of strength. O. G. Fulton in Balt. American.

An orphan, under age, married his female guardian, in Illinois, the other day, and was compelled to get her written consent to the marriage before the wedding could take place.

Queen Victoria's chief physician says that "housework is admirably calculated to preserve a robust woman, and to strengthen one who is weak."

A little boy in Maine entreated his mother to tell him some stories about bad boys, and upon her expressing astonishment, said he "wanted to find out how they got out of scrapes."

Brother Hammond, the revivalist, will spend the summer in his native town of Vernon, Conn., and nobody seems to know what's to become of the country meanwhile.

The New York Stars says that a handsome and dangerous woman, calling herself Ida Graham, has left New York for the West to ply her vocation as a confidence operator, hotel swindler, and shop-lifter.

Mr. Hamerton, in his "Intellectual Life," has a good word for the "bad memories," which, he says, are often the best, being selecting memories, and not miscellaneous, retaining the impression of all things alike. "A good literary or artistic memory is not like a post office, that takes in everything, but like a very well edited periodical, which prints nothing that does not harmonize with its intellectual life."

A convenient ink for the use of travellers was exhibited at a recent meeting of the Frankfort Polytechnic Association. It consists of sheets of white blotting paper saturated with aniline black, dried, and pasted together so as to form a pad. To prepare it for use, a small piece is torn off and soaked in a little water, thus forming excellent ink.

The Journal of the Franklin Institute says that a French inventor proposes to photograph dispatches to microscopic fineness, and blow them through a tube sunk in the streets of Dover. When at their destination the dispatches could be enlarged again. By this method long dispatches could be sent about as cheaply and expeditiously as short ones.

Mr. Bragg, of Visalia, California, carried a revolver when he took Miss Kemp to ride the other day, and as they were both on the same horse, when the weapon went off, the bullet entered the young lady's knee and came out at the ankle. Her dress was set on fire, and she was seriously injured by falling from the horse; but such incidents are trivial in comparison with the sense of security which an able-bodied man derives from possession of a pistol.

There is a plenty of snow, more than usual at this season, on the mountains and all around them. Immense piles still remain in localities protected from the sun by Mount Washington. Last week there was a drift ten feet deep, twenty feet wide and thirty feet long in rear of the Profile House, and in close proximity to the dining-room. And on Moosilauke there was a drift last week, fifteen feet deep for a half mile along the path. Early visitors to the mountain regions will need winter clothing. Concord (N. H.) Patriot, June 9.

An inquisitive French bishop once caught a Tartar in the Duke de Roquelaure. The latter, passing through Lyons, was halted by the bishop with, "Hi! hi!" The Duke stopped. "Where have you come from?" inquired the prelate, "Paris," said the Duke. "What is there fresh in Paris?" "Green peas," "But what were the people saying when you left?" "Vespers." "Goodness, man," broke out the angry questioner, "who are you? What are you called?" "Ignorant people call me Hi! hi? Gentlemen term me the Duke de Roquelaure. Drive on, postillion."

TO THE LIQUOR TRADE.

I TAKE this method of making myself known to the Liquor Trade in general in Utah. After several years' experience in the business I have learned what wines and liquors are most in demand, and which please the public best.

I get my wines and liquors direct from growers and manufacturers, so that the retailer who buys from me has no three or four profits to pay.

My California wines and brandies come from the best vineyards of California, and are made of choice and carefully selected grapes. They have been kept for several years and are now ready for the market, and I will sell at a less price than California wines were ever before sold in Utah.

I get my Whiskies direct from the distilleries in Kentucky and Ohio, so that I can sell them at Eastern wholesale rates, freight only added.

I DEFY ANY HOUSE IN UTAH.

1st, To sell better or purer wines and liquors.

2nd, To sell cheaper, or with less profit.

3rd, To please customers better or give more satisfaction.

I guarantee all liquors to be as I represent them. I am in company with no one. I am a whole team in myself. I have no profits to divide, no large dividends to make.

I have no other business but that of the liquor trade, and to that I give my whole attention.

I can supply the trade, however small or large the order may be, according to the amount of business or the means of my customers.

All dealers in the trade will do well to send for my terms and prices and compare them with those they are now paying.

Whenever you come to Salt Lake City please call at the California Wine Depot and sample my stock.

Every Liquor Dealer will do me a favor by sending me his address. Address.

What Prof. CHARLES J. THOMAS says:

S. L. CITY, U. T., April 5, '73.

Mr. C. W. Stayner:—Having an experience of 31 years as a musician, a great share of which time I have been leader of Orchestras and Choirs in Europe and America, and being solicited by you to pass my judgment on the "Estey Organs" for which you are agent, and having tried and examined them thoroughly, I confidently recommend them to the citizens of this Territory for their superior tone,—the Vox Jubilante being a fine imitation of the pipe organ—their nice smooth action and delicate touch, excellence of workmanship in their construction and their general reliability, making them all that can be desired in organs either for church or parlor.

Yours respectfully,
