The Cabinet Council—The Army Reorganization Board.

WASHINGTON, 21.—The cabinet considered only the routine business. Two members say that the subject of ordering troops to Washington had never been discussed in the cabinet.

The army reorganization board continues its sessions at the War department. Discussions of the board refer particularly to providing for the speedy and efficient enlargement of the army in time of necessity. Among the propositions is that of making seventy-five men the quota of each company, to be kept at this standard in time of peace, but in time of war the maximum is to be 250 men. No definite plan of reorganization will be suggested hereafter, until Banning, chairman of the military committee, returns to Washington.

From South Carolina

COLUMBIA, 21. — The board of canvassers reported to the supreme court, to-day, on the electors and state officers. The court now permits the board of canvassers to decide only on congressmen and legislators, as indicated by the returns. This action will decide the question of governor. The court will act to-morrow regarding the report of the board in the electors and State officers. Ex-United States Attorney General Ackerman, United States District Attorney Corbin and ex-Congressman Elliott, colored, appeared as attorneys for the republican candidates.

Will Not Parade.

CHICAGO, 21. — The Tribune's Washington special says the Jackson democratic association to-night resolved, under the circumstances of the presence of the military here, that they would not participate in Tilden and Hendrick's parade on the 29th inst.

Chief Justice Carter, just returned from South Carolina, reports that the State has gone Hayes and Hampton beyond a possible reversal. The democrats are perfectly satisfied.

Gov. Stearns Restrained from Canvassing.

TALLAHASSEE, 21.—The Circuit Court issued injunction restraining Governor Stearns from canvassing the returns of the electoral vote, and a mandamus requiring the board of canvassers to begin the count.

The injunction was applied for by the democratic managers, and was temporarily granted by the Circuit Court. It orders Governer Stearns to show cause, on Thursday next, why the injunction should not be made permanent. The mandamus commands the returning board to show cause why, on Thursday next, it should not be made permanent.

The Billiard Tournament.

NEW YORK, 21.—At the billiard tournament, to-night, Garrier beat Slosson, 300 to 284; the former's best run was 181, unfinished; the latter's best 104. Jacob Schaffer defeated Maurice Daly, 300 to 217; the former's best run was 155.

The Contest Depends on Louisiana.

The Times New Orleans special says the situation here remains unchanged. Both parties are actively preparing for the contest which is to come, and the people are anxiously but quietly awaiting the result. It seems to be definitely understood by both parties that the vote of Louisiana must decide the presidential election.

Destroyed by Fire.

Wm. H. Payne's flour, grain mills, and elevator were destroyed by fire to-night; loss not stated.

The Board of Canvassers Proceeding with their Work.

NEW ORLEANS, 21.—The returning board met at 11.35 this morning. Governor Wells advocated the admitting of the crowd, which was done.

Zacharie filed a protest, which he foreshadowed on Monday, on behalf of the democratic candidates for Congress. After a brief conference the board went into executive session, and the hall was cleared.

The northern republican committee now consists of Beardsley, Ills.; Eugene Hale, Maine; VanAllen, N. Y., and Garfield, Ohio.

During the executive session the parish returns are placed on the table where sit the republican and democratic committees, and they are invited to examine and see whether or no they have been disturbed or tampered with. The returns are then opened and consolidated for each elector called off. The clerks then verify the additions then made by the commissioners of elections. If these are correct the members of the board sign and approve them.

Judge Spafford, in behalf of certain candidates, filed a protest against being excluded from the room during the canvass of the returns, and against secret sessions.

Counsel for the United States supervisors filed a protest against the exclusion of the supervisors, basing the protest on the action of Congress directing them to remain where the ballot boxes are from the close of the polls till the ballots are counted. They also quoted from the opinion of United States District Attorney Beckwith, of October 13th, 1872, in support of their position.

Protests were also filed by the counsel of candidates for office against a secret council. The democratic candidates also protested on behalf of the democratic electors not named on the tickets used in the 14th senatorial district. The ticket contained the names of W. P. Kellog, J. H. Burch, Oscar Jaffrion, and no others. Counsel protested against, first, the counting of said ballots which have not been cast in favor of said Joseph and others named, for any other electors, except those specially named upon said tickets or ballots; second, the permitting of the returns from said parishes to stand, specially of Iberia and St. Martin's, showing all such ballots to have been cast for said Joseph and others, they being in said respect false and fraudulent, or to be considered before this body, and said votes to be counted for any electors, except Kellogg, Burch and Jaffrion, whose names only are on said ballots. The protest first is based upon grounds as follows: That the title to the position of elector can be derived only by the vote of the people, and no vote can be given and counted except when placed in the ballot box; that electors were chosen under the election laws of the State, which requires the names of the persons voted for and the office shall be accurately specified on the ticket. The committee asked for an investigation into the facts. A similar protest was filed against the counting of 2,200 ballots cast in the parishes of Concordia and Nachitouchez for any electors except those named on the ticket, Kellogg, Burch and Brewster. The parishes in the 14th senatorial district are Iberia, St. Martin, Iberville, and West Baton Rouge.

The board was in executive session about three hours, and examined the returns of a number of parishes. It is found that there are contests in nearly all.

GREAT BRITAIN.

The Eastern Question—What the Czar Does Not Want.

LONDON, 21.—The foreign office publishes a despatch in which Lord Loftus, the British ambassador to Russia, reports the details of an audience he had with the Czar on Nov. 2nd. The Czar said he had sent an ultimatum to the Porte because he feared the discomfiture of the Servian army might be followed by atrocities. The Porte had, by a series of manœuvres, frustrated all attempts at pacification. The present state of things was intolerable. Unless Europe was prepared to act firmly and energetically, he would be obliged to act alone. He regretted to see that inveterate suspicion and continual fear of Russia's aggression still exists in England. The Czar reminded Lord Loftus that he had, on several occasions, given the most solemn assurance that he desired no conquests; that he had not the smallest wish or intention to acquire Constantinople. Such acquisition would be a misfortune for Russia. The following are the exact words of that portion of the dispatch referring to Constantinople: The Czar pledged his sacred word of honor, in the most earnest and solemn manner, that he had no intention of acquiring Constantinople, and that if necessity should force him to occupy a portion of Bulgaria, it would only be provisionally, until the peace and safety of the Christian population were secured. The Czar could not understand, when both countries had a common object, namely, the amelioration of the condition of the Christians, and when he had given every proof that he had no desire for conquest, why there should not be a perfect understanding between England and Russia, based upon the policy of peace, which would be equally beneficial to their mutual interests and the interests of Europe generally. The Czar said nothing could be more absurd than the intentions, attributed to Russia, of the future conquest of India, which was a perfect impossibility. He deeply deplored the distrust manifested in England, and earnestly requested me to do my utmost to dispel it, and charged me to convey to her Majesty's Government the solemn assurances that he had given me.

The dispatch also states, in regard to the rumors that Servia and Roumania demanded they should be erected into independent kingdoms, the Czar said their was no intention of establishing any such kingdoms, and such a course would be folly. He had permitted officers to go to Servia, provided they left the Russian service, in the hope of calming the agitation in Russia.

The foregoing dispatch was verified by Prince Gortschakoff before its transmission to Lord Derby, and approved as correctly representing the views expressed by the Czar. Lord Derby replied, instructing Lord Loftus to inform the Czar and Prince Gortschakoff that the Queen and her government received the Czar's assurances with the greatest satisfaction. The Russian Government having requested the publication of this correspondence, as it contained assurances of a nature to tranquilize public feeling. Lord Derby informs Lord Loftus that he granted this request, considering the publication opportune, in view of the mobilization of the Russian forces.

Prince Bismark arrived in this city to-day.

The Porte Disposed to Give Satisfaction.

A correspondent of the Times states that, according to positive information from Constantinople, the Porte not only appears to be convinced of the necessity of the reforms proposed, but is even disposed to offer Europe satisfactory guarantees for their execution.

The Austrian and Hungarian Mobilization Explained.

A correspondent explains the origin of the rumor of the mobilization in Austria and Hungary. He says the Austrian and Hungarian Government issued instructions to the authorities throughout the country, informing them how to proceed in the event of mobilization being ordered. The authorities are enjoined to have notices ordering the mobilization ready for distribution, and to have messengers ready to distribute such notices. Upwards of 100,000 messengers will be wanted for this business in the capitols alone. The railways, also, have been ordered to furnish returns of the number of trucks and wagons available for transport service.

A New Clause to the Treaty.

The Vienna New Free Press reports that the Marquis of Salisbury bears a draft of a clause to be added to the treaty of Paris, binding the Porte to effect reforms within a certain period, under pain of intervention of the guaranteeing powers.
