As young Granville Powell was assisting some ladies on the passenger train this evening, he requested a negro, who was obstructing the passage, to move to one side so as to allow the ladies to pass.

The negro, instead of complying, commented on the fact that the ladies were attempting to force the negro out of the way. The latter drew a revolver and fired at Powell, wounding him in the arm. Powell, who was accompanied by a woman charged with being accused of having committed a crime, was arrested. The negro was released, and the woman was taken to the hospital.
