FRAGMENTS.

FRED ANDRESSEN was fined $10, in the Police Court today, for drunkenness.

JOHN RYAN, John Boyd and Nicholas Linden were lodged in jail today on a charge of vagrancy.

THE excursion to Cache and Bear Lake leaves this city at 8 a. m. on Wednesday next, Aug. 15.

WALTER WISCOMB was released from the city jail last night, by leaving $2 for security on the charge of having been drunk.

ED. KELLY and John Quinn were placed in the city jail today, to serve ten days for having trespassed upon railway property.

THERE is a message in the Western Union telegraph office for Philip Speckert, Chas. W. Smith, Fred Massa and Frank Vincent.

MEMBERS of the Tabernacle choir will please meet at 8 o'clock to-morrow evening, for practice.

E. BEESLEY, Leader.

EDWIN BIRMINGHAM, a drunken soldier, was lodged in jail last night and kept there until he was sober enough to trust on the streets again.

JAMES FITZSIMMONS, Jas. Kirkham, Fred. Andersen, Robert Marcroft and Frank Simpson got drunk on Saturday night. Their indulgence cost them $5 each.

THE members of Thos. McIntyre's Glee Class are requested to meet in the Twenty-first Ward meeting house on Wednesday evening at 7:30. Important business.

THE Second Quorum of Elders, comprising those living in the First and Tenth wards, will hold their regular monthly meeting tonight, in the Tenth Ward meeting house, at 7:30 o'clock.

THE funeral of Charles Forshay, who died of heart disease on Friday night, was held at Sandy yesterday. His four young orphaned children are at present under the care of a friend. They have no relatives in this part of the country.

ERIC LUDVICSON, of Saupete County has been granted his request for amnesty, by the President of the United States. He makes oath that he has not lived in polygamy since May 20, 1885, that he does not now believe in it, and that he will do all he can "to oppose the Mormon Church."

THE Thirteenth Ward Sunday School and members of the ward intend taking an out to Garfield Beach on Wednesday next, August 15th. Friends are invited to participate in the day's enjoyment. Tickets can be obtained at F. Platt's, Bishop Atwood's, Hardy, Young & Co.'s and Parry & Co.'s.

From Prison.

Today William Williams, of Hyrum, Cache County, and James Hansen, of Brigham City, completed their terms in the penitentiary, whither they were consigned for living with their wives. Not having the means necessary to pay the fines imposed, they were compelled to remain 30 days after the term of imprisonment expired.

Burglary.

Early on Sunday morning Henry Beckand and Dan. O'Brien were arrested on a charge of burglarizing Schade's saloon. They had entered the place by the back door, and robbed the money drawer, getting between $4 and $5 therefrom. Most of the cash was found on them when arrested. They will have a hearing before Justice Pyper.

Committed to Jail.

On Saturday evening Ezra Hale was brought to this city and placed in the penitentiary, having been committed without bail. He is accused of having shot his sister's seducer, and for that is held for murder. Hendry, who was shot, had boasted of having accomplished the ruin of the defendant's sister, and when asked to do so had refused to grant her justice. At the examination before Commissioner Cross, Deputy Steele testified that the defendant told him that under the circumstances he would do the same thing. Hendry had not only boasted in the community of his infamous crime, but had done so to the woman's brother.

Death of Frances F. Reese.

The many friends of Sister Frances Fox Reese will be pained to learn of her death, which took place at 2:30 o'clock this morning, August 13, at her home in the Fourteenth Ward. Though the lady was an invalid her death was a surprise to those most intimately associated with her, and was not anticipated, even by the physician in attendance, until a few minutes before it occurred. For about eight years she has been a great sufferer, and has borne up with remarkable fortitude. For two years she was afflicted with fever and ague, which resulted in a tumor, and subsequent ulceration, which was the cause of death.

Francis Ellen Fox Reese was born in the Sixteenth Ward, this city, April 29, 1856. She was the daughter of Jesse W., Sen., and Eliza J. Gibbs Fox, and the wife of John H. Reese. She leaves one child, a boy about nine years of age. She was a lady of most estimable character, and was held in the highest esteem by all her acquaintances.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday, August 15, at 10 a. m., at the residence of her parents, No. 256 w. First South Street. Friends of the family are invited to be present.

Park City Notes.

Joe Elliot died in a fit Tuesday afternoon—the result of alcoholism. He left a family in straitened circumstances.

The roof the Marsac mill caught fire yesterday morning about 7:30, and but for the timely discovery and the quick use of a few buckets of water a disastrous conflagration might have been the result.

Thursday Dr. LeCompte was summoned to the Apex mine to attend the injuries received by timberman Gilbert, who cut four of his toes off with a broadax, while squaring a knotty piece of timber.

Thursday evening Frank Morehouse, who attends to the electric lamps, received a very severe shock at the dynamo. He was taken to his room and medical aid was summoned. Dr. LeCompte says he is a sick man, but he thinks he will soon be all right. The shock completely unnerved Morehouse and the wonder is that the result was not fatal.

Thursday afternoon E. H. Stout, who was engaged in sawing timbers in the bottom of No. 2 Ontario shaft, met with an accident which fortunately did not cost him his life. He supposed the cage was far enough above him and attempted to cross the shaft on a plank. Luckily the cage slowed up near the station, it struck him in the back just above the hip. Dr. Wilson was called to attend Stout's injuries, which are painful though not serious.—Park City Record, Aug 11.

$10,000 FIRE.

The Mackintosh Sampler at Sandy Destroyed.

A few minutes before 12 o'clock on Saturday night R. Mackintosh's sampling works at Sandy, 12 miles south of this city, were discovered to be on fire. Already the flames had gained considerable headway, and the "bucket brigade" were perfectly helpless to save the mill? The ditch contained but little water, and more was turned in from the canal, thereby furnishing enough to save three small houses which were near the fire, and on which wet blankets were placed to ward off the heat. The flames of the burning building lit up the country for a considerable distance, and shot up to a tremendous height. Pieces of burning cinders were thrown fully three quarters of a mile. In about an hour from the time of the first discovery, the fire had burned itself out, and the sampler and ore sheds connected therewith were in ruins. Three freight cars on the Utah Central were also destroyed.

The morning light showed how complete had been the destruction wrought. From what can be learned the fire commenced near the engine. The office, papers, machinery, etc., were a total loss. The heat had been so intense that even the pulleys and shaftings were melted. Outside of the building a carload of coal had been unloaded a day or two before, and this burning mass added to the fierceness of the fire. In addition to the building containing the machinery, about eight rods of ore sheds, thirty feet wide, were burned. The fire was stopped by a break in the line of sheds where the wreck passes through. Fortunately there was no wind, or this small gap would have been crossed, and a terribly destructive conflagration would have followed.

There were five cars standing against the sheds, on the Utah Central switch. Three of these were loaded, but were so close by the fire that the men could not loosen the brake, so they had to be left to burn. The two empty cars were moved away by the men, who were partially sheltered from the heat by the other cars. Some of the ties were also burned so that a considerable portion of the track will have to be laid anew.

The loss to Mr. Mackintosh will probably reach $7,000, covered by insurance. The Utah Central damage will exceed $3,000, for track and cars, the latter belonging to an eastern road. There is no definite idea as to the origin of the fire, some supposing it to be incendiary, while others think it must have been communicated from the engine room.

The flames were seen in this city, and the fire department got the hand engines ready in case a call was made, but none came. There was no telegraphic communication owing to the burning of the wires, which ran close to the sheds. Mr. Mackintosh will probably erect new works immediately.

UTAH FRUIT.

Mr. Teasdel Offers Inducements to Gruwers.

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 13, 1888.

To the Deseret Agricultural and Manufacturing Society, Heber M. Wells, Secretary:

Dear Sir: The fruit of our Territory it is freely admitted, far surpasses in flavor that of any other part of the United States.

To encourage citizens to give some attention and care to the drying of fruit, said fruit to be exhibited at the coming Territorial Fair, which I understand is to be held in October, I will purchase at 25 cents per pound the best fifty pounds each of the following dried fruits:

Apples, to be peeled and cored, halves.
Peaches, unpeeled, pitted, halves.
Peaches, peeled, pitted, halves.
Apricots, pitted halves.
Nectarines, pitted, halves.
Green Gages, pitted, halves.
Blue Plums, pitted, halves.

Quality to be judged on the ground of the merchantable condition of the fruit, which is preferred to be halves and brightest in color.

To add to the saleable condition, the fruit should be slightly flattened or spread, which can be done readily by a slight pressure of the hand without breaking the grain of the fruit when drying.

The above offer is for fruit of Utah growth, dried in the Territory, and crop of 1888.

I will also give cash premiums as follows: $5 for the best display of bottled fresh fruit; $5 for the best display of jams; $5 for the best display of cut flowers; dahlias preferred.

Sincerely wishing you success in your efforts to benefit our Territory.

Yours most respectfully,
S. P. TEASDEL.

Cache County.

Yesterday morning Mr. C. D. W. Fullmer and a party of friends were riding in a buggy just south of town, when the spokes of one of the wheels was thrown out of the hub, upsetting the inmates of the buggy. No one was hurt.

Albert, a nine-year-old son of John Comish, of Coveville, was thrown from a horse yesterday, receiving a severe double fracture of the arm at the elbow joint. He was brought to Logan for treatment, and now doing as well as possible.

On Tuesday evening three boys in Hyde Park were arrested for disturbing the peace in a priesthood meeting. They were taken before the precinct justice on Wednesday, and two of them were fined, while the other were discharged.

Mrs. W. H. Apperley, who had been ailing for some time, suffered intensely with pain on Tuesday evening. Obtaining some medicine for the relief of pain, she took of it freely, not knowing its nature. It proved to be morphine, and the result was that on Wednesday she was very low, having to be constantly watched to prevent her from going into the sleep of death. By skilful management and the blessings of God, the critical period of the drug's power was passed over, and Mrs. Apperley is now considerably better.—Logan Journal, Aug. 11.

At Beaver.

A week ago last Thursday, a little twelve-year old daughter of Frederick Limb of this city, while playing around the yard, was tripped by a neighbor playmate, breaking her right arm, between the elbow and wrist.

On Monday evening, the residence of Marshal Hutchings narrowly escaped being burned to the ground. It appears that Mrs. Hutchings sent her little daughter, Ella, up stairs to get a lighted lamp. Coming to the top of the stairs she let the lamp slip from her hand. It rolled about half way down and then broke. The little girl seized a bucket of water and threw on to the flames which burst up to the ceiling, setting fire to some clothes which were hanging upon the banister. The oldest daughter, Sarah, had jumped from the second floor out on to the lawn in front, but luckily had not hurt herself. By this time the mother had rushed to the scene and extinguished the flames.—Utonian, Aug. 10.

News Notes.

At Montrose, Col., on Friday, George Simmons was killed by the accidental explosion of a keg of blasting powder.

At Leadville, Col., on Friday last, a five-year-old boy was in a wagon, when the team ran away. The little fellow was thrown out and a hook of the brace caught in his left leg below the knee. He was dragged about fifty feet, and in that space the hook tore down through the muscles, to the bone, clear to the ankle. He then fell off. He is not fatally injured.

THOMAS F. CLARK is in custody, awaiting trial on the charges of drunkenness and profanity.

EARLY REMINISCENCES.

A Quaint Description of Pioneer Days in Utah.

SPRINGVILLE, Utah,
August 10, 1888.

Editor Deseret News:

Reminiscences of early days and pioneer times in this Territory are of interest now, and will be more interesting in the future. It may not be easily determined whether the pioneer events in the settling of these valleys are more engaging to the attention of those who relate them, or those who listen to the recital of events that transpired before they were born. Be that as it may, I am free to confess that I recount from experience events of 1848 and 1849, and history further down the stream of time in this Territory, with a great deal of satisfaction.

If you are willing, I will give to the children who enjoy the very advanced privileges of the schoolhouse and school facilities in this Territory now, an idea, and perhaps an amusing idea, of in this Territory. It was located in the north spring, near the northwest corner of the "Old Fort" in the site of Salt Lake City. The houses were all built as a part of the fort wall, with portholes for defense in case of an attack by Indians, and generally with a six-light window opening to the inside of the fort. The roofs consisted of poles or split logs laid close together and covered with cedarbark of rushes that grew about the marshes. Such was the general makeup of "the first schoolroom," with an immense quantity of dirt piled on the flat roof as a probable protection from the rain. For a floor we had a similar, but more solid material than that of the roof—hardened clay. The one window was just large enough for six panes of 8x10 glass; but we lacked the glass; it was not to be had for there was not a store in all this Territory.

And while I think of that matter we did not need any glass, for we had no sash; and there was to be found anywhere west of the Missouri river. So we were wont to take some thin cotton cloth and oiling it, or rather greasing, we would then, tack it to what primitive window frames we had. Where the cloth or grease came from I can't remember. But our main dependence for light was on fair weather when we could have the door open.

For writing tables some man's wagon box was torn to pieces and laid on trestles. Seats or benches were made in the same way. Our stove was a fireplace, a real spacious, liberal fireplace, in which we burned cedar or sage brush. But we were so healthy and warm blooded then that we needed but little outside fire to keep us warm.

Books then as now were the main objects of interest in the fitting out of a schoolroom. Could students in the B. Y. Academy see our stock of in that first school, it would afford them unlimited amusement. School books were about as useless then as one could imagine, when preparing to leave the civilized world and plunge from persecution into the unexplored regions of the Rocky Mountains, there to find a stopping place where we could be at peace. Then, instead of books, the first great problem to be solved was: "Can we obtain a living there from the products of the ground?" The first interest was to prepare themselves with materials for the solution first of that problem, in providing a necessary outfit to move from Illinois to the Rocky Mountains.

So the Book of Mormon, Bible, Doctrine and Covenants, Voice of Warning, Towne's Reader and Speller, Cob'sb Speller, The English Reader, Ruger's and three other kinds of arithmetics, Kirkham's and Murray's grammars, and in fact any kind of book that escaped the fire to keep from overloading the teams, or the perils of that long journey were used. The room I was to teach in, in size about 30x40, was furnished and fitted up by my brother Dimick, and in the agreement (as mentioned the allowance of his board for the privilege of sending his children, together with the benefit he might prove to others. I commenced the school in November, 1848, closed in Feb. 1849; and had between 30 and 40 scholars.

Judge W. W. Phelps commenced a school in the North Fort in Dec., 1848. In my school room Curtis E. Bolton taught of evenings the French language and for the use of my room I had the liberty of the school and the benefits of his instruction.

Respectfully yours,
OLIVER B. HUNTINGTON.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THE CYCLORAMA.

Everybody should visit the Battle of Gettysburg, in the circular building, erected especially for it on West Temple Street, south of the Temple Block, between South and First South Street. Descending the steps you pass through a dark hall and ascend inside to the center of the building and appear to be on the summit of a hill with a vast expanse of country before you. Dead and dying are all around as well as guns and equipments; canteens, gun-carriage wheels and munitions of war; bodies of troops, artillery duels, bayonet charges, movements of divisions, brigades and regiments are portrayed with wonderful accuracy. At intervals a descriptive lecture is given, and you can spend an hour here to good advantage. d
