

SALAMIS SCENE OF NAVAL BATTLE

Was Between Grecian Warships
And Band of Mutinous Officers
With Torpedoboots.

MORE SMOKE THAN DAMAGE

Premier Says Result Will Be Suppressed by Force but Government
Mysteriously Hesitates.

Athens, Oct. 29.—After almost 2,000 years when Thermopylae gained a memorable victory over the Persians, Salamis again today was the scene of a naval battle.

The fight lasted 20 minutes, and was between field batteries and big warships on the one side and a mutinous band of naval officers, which quitted the capital Wednesday, with torpedoboots, on the other.

A sharp exchange of shells followed the first shots. Some projectiles struck the arsenal building, but only one shell hit a torpedoboot, the Sphenodon, which immediately was enveloped in a cloud of smoke.

The torpedoboots gradually retired until they obtained shelter of the headland when firing ceased. The rebel warships returned the fire of the warships and field batteries, but apparently little damage was done on either side. The rebels were led by Lieut. Tsaloumis and are reported to have numbered 300 men.

Athens remained quiet tonight, but much excitement prevailed. A statement was issued, stating that the arsenal, which was in the hands of the rebels, had been recaptured and that the mutinous torpedoboots were expected to surrender.

TIBALDO'S MOTIVES.

Lieut. Tibaldo appeared to have been actuated by his despair over the juncture of the military league and the juncture of naval officers in consenting to negotiate a compromise of the ultimatum recently issued by the military league for an ordinance suspending all promotion for five years and abolition of the rank of rear admiral, vice admiral and places of lesser rank.

Tibaldo took a prominent part in the military movement last August. He was the first officer to go to the camp at Gouli, outside the city, after the premier's refusal to receive a deputation of officers, and he subsequently was appointed commander of the rebel camp.

A meeting of the military league yesterday, Tibaldo said: "I led the last revolt, and without me it would have failed. Now, you abandon me, but I will carry out a second revolt single-handed."

The military league's proclamation denouncing Tibaldo, who was in command of a flotilla of torpedoboots and submarines, and demanded the portfolio of minister of marine, ascribes his pretensions to madness and the influence of women and threatens to have him court-martialed for treason. The league met tonight to discuss its attitude toward naval officers who took part in the fight. It is believed the league is inclined to show them indulgence.

Notwithstanding the position of the mutinous rebels, Tibaldo's reputation as a naval officer is not impaired. He was in command of the battleship Kiliaz Potemkin, which mutinied in 1905 and fled to Odesa and then roamed the Black Sea for several weeks, and the government is apprehensive as to where it will end up of them. It is rumored they have gone toward the island of Crete.

WILL SUPPRESS REVOLT.

In the chamber of deputies today Premier Mavromichalis said the government was determined to suppress the outbreak by force. Happily, the government was very limited. "The ministers," he said, were completely in the rear in all branches of administration and would not neglect the navy. Therefore, the officers' impatience was justified. The premier added, however, that the naval officers had been misled by stray still had time to re-establish themselves.

Regarding the origin of the revolt: the government in response to the demands of the naval officers for the suppression of promotions for five years and the abolition of certain high naval ranks had consented to introduce a law for demeritization; but it insisted that the bill must be amended in regard to the naval officers and had been amended, and declared that it would not reject any proposals aimed at individual officers.

The military league accepted this proposition, but Lieut. Tibaldo pursued a policy of indecision and secretly continued a meeting of naval officers, who signed a document laying down their minimum demands.

This document, Lieut. Tibaldo presented Thursday night to Col. Tzouvas, head of the military league, and at the same time appealed to the league to make him minister of marine. Col. Tzouvas declined to enter into the proposals and an angry scene ensued. Lieut. Tibaldo retiring to prepare for the result which followed today and to make him minister of marine.

The government, however, displayed curious hesitation. It took no steps to arrest Lieut. Tibaldo and permitted him to carry out his plans before any measures in opposition were taken. Even this morning, in order to prevent the shedding of blood, the government dispatched a friendly officer to endeavor to dissuade Lieut. Tibaldo from his ill design.

Troops that had been sent to occupy strategic points were able to prevent a number of Lieut. Tibaldo's comrades from joining him, and as he had but few officers to man his torpedoboots he commanded the loyal fleet for attack.

It was not a very serious affair. The admiral Bauria, who had command of the arsenal, was without means of defense and was compelled to surrender when Lieut. Tibaldo threatened to employ force.

PELLAGRA DECREASING IN INSANE HOSPITALS

Chicago, Oct. 29.—Pellagra, the new disease, in the corn belt, is beginning to disappear in the insane hospitals at Joliet and Elgin, where it flourished during the summer months. Only a few cases are being treated at these institutions.

During the summer four patients now afflicted with pellagra, a total of 26 cases, were treated there since the disease was first discovered. 14 of whom died. In the other 12 cases the malady has subsided. At Elgin only two cases remain.

The approach of winter is believed to be the cause of the disappearance of the disease. The attending physicians at the two hospitals are unable to state positively whether the disappearance of the disease is temporary or permanent.

NEGRESS GETS VERDICT AGAINST SPRINGFIELD, ILL.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 29.—Mattie Walker, colored, whose household furniture was burned by the mob during the Springfield race riot, August, 1908, was awarded a verdict of $238 against the city in the circuit court yesterday. It was the first verdict for damages against the city on claims growing out of the riot.

ALL STEEL COACHES VERY EASY RIDING

Chicago, Oct. 30.—President A. J. Erling and a party of Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul officials have just completed a novel test and demonstrated the "easy riding" qualities of the all-steel passenger car. Coaches built entirely of steel except for the interior finish are rapidly supplanting the old wooden ones for high class passenger service and have been bought in large numbers by roads attracted by their fire-proof and practically indestructible nature.

In order to settle many mooted questions regarding the kind of service all-steel Pullman cars would give, Mr. Erling made a 24-hour run with a special train in which were four new cars of this type. The result of the trip, it is said, was eminently satisfactory and it caused the St. Paul road to decide to use nothing but all-steel cars in the future. Accordingly as fast as old equipment wears out and new cars are needed, cars which are all-steel, both in frame and superstructure, will be ordered.

HARRY SMOOT ADVOCATES REFORM OF WOMEN'S DRESS

Chicago, Oct. 30.—Reform of woman's dress in the interest of morals was advocated by Harry A. Smoot, general superintendent of the Juvenile Protection association, in his report presented at the annual meeting of the association yesterday.

Declaring that prevailing styles accentuated sex and were responsible for the downfall of many young girls and boys, Mr. Smoot urged that the association use its influence with the source sources of fashions, as well as with the girls themselves, to introduce more modest styles.

"One walking up and down our streets, especially in the downtown district, cannot help but be impressed with a belief that the extreme styles in dress which the young girls are prone to wear must surely be contributing causes to delinquency," said Mr. Smoot. "Frequently every article of dress is designed and so arranged as to accentuate the wearer's sex."

COOK-BARRILL MT. MCKINLEY CASE

G. W. Solleder Swears Barrill
Told Him Great Mountain
Was Ascended.

EXPLORER MAKES AFFIDAVIT

Cordially Welcomed in Missoula—Guide's Statement Got at Instance of Peary Club.

Missoula, Mont., Oct. 29.—Among the developments today in the Cook-Barrill-McKinley controversy is the announcement of the securing of an affidavit from George W. Solleder, a prominent farmer of Ravalli county, living near the homes of Barrill and Prints, in which the affidavit declares that Barrill told him that he and Dr. Cook did reach the top of Mt. McKinley at the time the explorer claims they did.

This affidavit was secured by Atty. Stitt, one of the local counsel for Dr. Cook.

Dr. Cook's confidential agent announced at the time he gave out the affidavit that others had been secured, but he had decided not to make them public at this time. "You may say that although we have several valuable statements from friends and neighbors of Barrill," said the agent, "that owing to the bitterness of the controversy in the Bitter Root valley at the present time and the fact that the statements come from people who have every day business dealings with the guides, they have been promised that their statements would not be given out for publication, but simply submitted to the proper scientific bodies as evidence in the controversy."

Dr. Cook and his party arrived in Missoula late this afternoon, coming from Hamilton in automobiles. When seen, Dr. Cook said that he did not care at this time to discuss the meeting at Hamilton last night further than to say that the matter had now settled itself down to a point where it was the affidavit of himself against the affidavit of Barrill, and the matter could only be settled by an expedition to Mt. McKinley to recover the records, which he says he left on the peak. The doctor reiterated the assertion made in the east recently that he would head a party of unbiased and unquestionable men to the mountain and recover his records.

The affidavit secured from Mr. Solleder is as follows:

SOLLEDER'S AFFIDAVIT.

"I, George W. Solleder, being first duly sworn according to law, depose and say:

"I am 47 years of age, my occupation is farming and fruit growing, and at the present time am a justice of the peace. I live about one-half mile from Darby, Ravalli county, Montana, and have lived there near where Darby now is for 30 years last past. I know Edward N. Barrill, and have known him ever since he came to Darby several years ago; my acquaintance with Mr. Barrill has been intimate during all that time. He has been on hunting trips with him; made a trip into the Clearwater country with him some years ago; have talked with him a great deal about trips he has made both when he was alone and when he was together and at other times. Mr. Barrill has often told me incidents of the trip he made with Dr. Frederick A. Cook, when they climbed Mount McKinley. Almost immediately after Mr. Barrill returned from that trip I had a talk with him; I knew where he had been, and, of course, was anxious to hear what he had to tell about the trip; he told me that he and Dr. Cook went up a stream as far as they could in a launch and then went on foot. Mr. Barrill told me what they carried with them; he told of the trouble they had in climbing the mountain on account of the ice; Mr. Barrill and I are upon friendly terms and I have no interest whatsoever in the controversy between Mr. Barrill and Dr. Cook growing out of the trip to Mount McKinley or any matter connected with it."

COOK'S AFFIDAVIT.

Being advised after his arrival here, that the affidavit which he made on the platform at Hamilton last night, which was lacking in the notarial seal, was not properly drawn, Dr. Cook made a duplicate affidavit in Missoula this afternoon, one which was drawn in legal form, and his signature to it was acknowledged by Floyd J. Logan, a notary public of this city. The duplicate affidavit reiterates the same statement made in the original written on the platform at Hamilton last night. The affidavit is full read:

"I, Frederick A. Cook, being first duly sworn according to law, on my oath depose and say that on Sept. 16,

New York, Oct. 29.—William E. Ivins, former Republican majority nominee, and one of the principal advisers and supporters of Hearst in the present municipal campaign, has issued the following prediction as to the probable result of the majority contest:

"Hearst, 242,000; Gaynor, 185,000; Bannard, 167,000."

Leader Murphy of Tammany hall, issued a statement: "The Gaynor plurality will be 'sweeping' and adds that he was never surer of anything in his life."

Ben F. G. Fritz, Oneonta, N. Y. writes: "My little girl was greatly benefited by taking Foley's Orino Laxative, and I think it is the best remedy for constipation and liver trouble."

Foley's Orino Laxative is mild, pleasant and effective, and cures habitual constipation. J. H. Drug Co., ("The never substitutes.") Salt Lake City.

James I was on the top of Mount McKinley, and on that date I left the record of our climb deposited thereon. 354-ward N. Barrill of Darby, Mont., was present at the time.

"(Signed) "FREDERICK A. COOK."

WELCOMED TO MISSOULA.

In striking contrast to the meeting in Hamilton last night, Dr. Frederick A. Cook's lecture on his polar trip in this city tonight was marked by no demonstration save a most cordial greeting to the explorer when he appeared upon the stage, and applause at intervals throughout his lecture. The theater was packed to the gallery with people and the doctor was given the most respectful and profound attention while he was speaking, and at the close of his address he was greeted with rounds of applause.

Dr. C. A. Dunaway, president of the University of Montana, introduced Dr. Cook as a man with an interesting message to deliver regarding his great achievement, and referred to the controversy which threw the Hamilton meeting into such an uproar as something having no place in a university lecture event. Dr. Cook prefaced his address by the statement that he had said at Hamilton all that he had to say regarding the controversy, and that his statement was as set forth in the written report which he furnished the Associated Press. Facing the controversy with these remarks, the doctor plunged into his lecture, which was illustrated with stereoscopic views, showing scenes in the frozen north.

GEN. ASHTON, PEARY CLUB AGENT, TALKS

Washington, Oct. 29.—"Edward N. Barrill does not fear Dr. Cook, nor does he fear legal trouble with him. He is a public man and he makes any false charges against him."

This was the statement tonight at Gen. James M. Ashton, a prominent lawyer of Tacoma, Wash., who recently examined Barrill and others in connection with their expedition with Dr. Cook to Mt. McKinley. Barrill, who was one of Dr. Cook's guides, testified that Dr. Cook never came within 14 miles of reaching the summit of Mt. McKinley. The deposition of Barrill and others was taken at the request of Gen. Thomas H. Hubbard of the Peary Arctic club. The other guide examined by Gen. Ashton was Fred Prints, whose testimony, as far as it goes, Gen. Ashton declares, corroborates Barrill.

Gen. Ashton admitted tonight that he had paid Dr. Cook and Prints about $250 in compensation for their traveling expenses from their home to Tacoma and back.

Gen. Ashton received a telegram some time ago from Gen. Hubbard requesting him to find the guides and to examine them thoroughly.

"I was told by Gen. Hubbard," said Gen. Ashton, "to get the exact facts about the return of the expedition. I had not the remotest idea of what Gen. Hubbard's relations were with Commander Peary until my arrival in New York City."

After rounding up the two guides, Gen. Ashton said he promised to pay their expenses and a per diem sum for their expenses.

"When they were in my office," said Gen. Ashton, "I put them through a series of questions and a very thorough cross-examination I have ever witnessed."

"I wanted the exact truth, and the affidavits that have been published are the results of those rigorous hours in my private office. As for Barrill, he may be nothing but a mountain guide, but he is a type of our hard-working western men who will fight rather than lie."

"Barrill says any one can go on to the mountain with him, take a photograph of him as Cook, at the same place, and that such party will get the self-same result that Cook got—that it will be apparent that the place is about 20 miles in an air line from the summit."

Gen. Ashton has been here for several days in connection with a suit. He was brigadier-general in command of the national guard of Washington during the Chinese riots in the early days of that state.
