

COUNCIL DID NOT ASK BOND ISSUE

Tom Black Pleads Ignorance to Ways and Means and Necessity.

"INNER CIRCLE" FOILED AGAIN

They Had Ordinance All Framed Up To Place on Final Passage But Met An Obstacle.

As had been anticipated, the city council "never touched it." Councilman Black pleaded pious ignorance of its provisions, and declared he wanted more time to consider it in all its phases, and in view of the fact that the "American" contingent of the council have only had the thing under consideration for the last three months, it is not to be wondered at that one of the chiefest of their number should desire more time in which to "think it over." And Mr. Black's request that the bond issue ordinance lay over another week was carried by the council by a vote of 6 to 6.

The "pushers" of the council had it all set and tried to pass the bond ordinance last night, but they reckoned without their Thomas. Councilman Ferry brought the matter to a head by moving that the ordinance authorizing the issue of $500,000 in sewer and water improvement bonds be placed on its third reading preparatory to final passage. The motion was immediately seconded by Councilman Stewart. President Davis left the chair just before the matter came up, calling Councilman Holley to the chair temporarily. With the assistance of Stewart, the ordinance was not before the council, but Mr. Black arose in Councilman Martin's seat (having exchanged for the time being) and asked that the ordinance lay over another week, as he was not prepared to vote on it yet, not understanding all its provisions. Councilman Fernstrom seconded Black's motion that it lay over, and the matter was forced to a vote.

BLACK'S MOTION CARRIES. Meanwhile President Davis was still absent from the chair, over in the mayor's office. The probability is that he would have remained there until the vote had been announced if a sharp debate had not arisen on the question of postponement. President Davis returned to the chair and the matter came to a showdown. Black's motion to lay over carrying by the following vote:

Yeas—Black, Cowburn, Fernstrom, Holley, Hall, Murdock, Ray, Wood—3.
Nays—Ferry, Martin, O'Donnell, Reed, Stewart and Davis—4.

TRANSFER ORDINANCE

Councilman Black introduced an ordinance which, as stated in yesterday's "News," had been prepared by Asst. Atty. P. J. Davis and would be introduced at last night's session of the council. The provisions of the ordinance require the giving of transfers on any street railway operating in Salt Lake City to passengers after their fare had been paid and before they leave the car. In introducing the ordinance Mr. Black said that the ruling governing the issuance of transfers on some car line are very annoying and some action should be taken in the matter at once. Black moved that the ordinance be placed upon its third reading, but Councilman Stewart said he thought the company officials ought to be given an opportunity to adjust the matter before action is taken. The ordinance was then referred to the committee on municipal laws.

The council sustained the veto of the Martin resolution authorizing the board of public works to advertise for bids for paving extension No. 32. The mayor explained that the city's portion of the improvement would amount to $14,700 and no provision for this expenditure had been made, and moreover the city did not have the money.

VETO LAID OVER

The mayor's veto of the resolution instructing the Utah Light & Railway company to move their trolley poles 12 feet to the west along Seventh East street on the east side of Liberty park was on motion of Fernstrom laid over for one week.

At the request of Councilman Hall, the list of expenditures of the city for the first four months of the present year was prepared by Auditor Alf and read in the council last evening. The report shows that the expenditures of the city have exceeded the receipts in the four-month period by $32,855.75. Following is the auditor's report:

Funds—	Receipts.	Expenditures.
Contingent .....	$169,516.89	$174,275.95
Irrigation and waterworks .....	15,396.32	19,328.47

Library fund .....	4,283.12	4,571.53
Bond interest and sinking fund .....	17.85	55,015.32
Sewer bond fund .....	2.97	.....
Bond interest and sinking fund .....	25,905.66	.....
Totals .....	$329,438.35	$583,294.60
Excess of expenditures over receipts, $253,855.75.

TOM'S LITTLE MISSIVE

Chief of Police Tom Pitt submitted a small billet doux to the council, asking that an appropriation of $250 be made to enable him to attend a meeting of all the police chiefs of the country to be held at Detroit June 19. The chief made a right good little "spice" and explained how profitable it would be to the city police department to get next to the latest methods for handling and handling criminals and what a nice trip it would be for Mr. Pitt. The chief said he hated to ask the council for the money, but owing to his own impetuosity at the present, he was just compelled to.

Councilman Black was in an economical mood and opposed the appropriation, saying the committee on estimate and appropriation made no provision for this junket for the chief and the city could not, in his opinion, afford it.

Councilman Cowburn said that seeing the city engineer and fire chief were permitted to take trips at the expense of the city he thought why the chief of police should go, too.

Councilman Murdoch was of the opinion of Councilman Black, and voted against allowing the money. But the proposition carried, Councilman Black saying he didn't want to be mean and voting with the majority, leaving Murdoch the only one opposing the appropriation of the money.

AMUSEMENTS.

Theater—Since Prof. Lund took hold of the music department of the B. Y. U. at Provo, he has furnished many surprises to the music lovers of Salt Lake and the other large cities of the state, but he has given no more complete surprise than that which he furnished last evening in the rendition of "Boccaccio" by the opera company which he organized from the music students of the well known institution. "Boccaccio" is so nearly a classic among comic operas and it is so full of the difficulties with which Suppe always invested his works, that it has been seldom attempted in Salt Lake, and even the best traveling companies usually fight shy of it. But confident in the strength of his resources, Prof. Lund put it in rehearsal some time ago and the hearty reception his efforts have met with everywhere in opera has been presented, showed him he had made no mistake in the selection.

Last night a good sized audience assembled to witness the presentation in Salt Lake. The night was a succession of hits, and in spite of the length of the performance—for Mr. Lund evidently favors making few or no cuts from the original score—there was a succession of encores and curtain calls. The big feature is the chorus of something like 50 voices which sang with a volume, snap, precision and vigor most gratifying to listen to. The orchestra was increased to 24 by Prof. Lund's Provo forces, and when chorus, orchestra and principal soloists were rendered one of the big finales, the effect was truly immense.

Among the soloists, Mr. Reese, the tenor, takes first laurels. He has a sweet voice, of high range and excellent quality, and ought to give a strong account of himself in the future among the singing voices of the state. Not second was the charming work of Mattie Clark as Fiametta, whose sweet voice and winning manner made her many friends. The duet of Mr. and Mrs. Reese was a gem and her fine voice told to beautiful advantage in the finales. Good work was also done by Miss Camp as Beatrice, Miss Bean as Isabella and Miss Ellerton as Porcella and they led the ensembles in strong fashion. The comedy work and singing of Messrs. Johnson, Alfred, Driggs, Hansberry, Harry, were good, even though the opera does not give the best of chances to its fun makers. Messrs. Nelson, John Reese, Johnston and Miss Ellerton filled in the lesser roles acceptably.

Mr. Lund conducted both singers and orchestra with a skill and taste that showed he was master of what he was made to bow his acknowledgments after one of the big numbers.

The company next time ought to endeavor to visit us before the season is nearly run out. They have certainly established themselves in strong fashion in Salt Lake, and are sure of a warm welcome whenever they choose to pay us a visit.

Orpheum—At the Orpheum this week there are five good acts and one that is not in that list, James B. Cunningham and Orma Raymond, with Ogden Crane, offer "The Impulse of the Moment." The society playlet affords good opportunity for each member of the little company, and every advantage is seized by them to present a well written act in pleasing style.

Taking issue with the Cunningham-Raymond company for first honors is the Develin-Elwood pair. Both are well fitted for the parts they play, especially Miss Elwood, who, being under a cloak of rural bashfulness, does clever work as a pickpocket—much to the discomfort of Develin, who is won by the charm of the country girl who is to find that she has robbed him of everything that wasn't permanently secured behind her door of his apartment.

Zeno, Jordan and Zeno, the headliners, offer an exciting aerial act. They perform nothing that they do not do better, but what they do do is done exceptionally well.

Cogan and Bancroft with a roller skate act, are a little better than other skaters have been with, but they do their graceful skating a bit of acceptable comedy that brings the laughs.

John and Mae Burke offer a messenger boy and lady act that is not wholly bad, but it is so much that is not pleasing that it spoils their entire act. They evidently think more of their own power to please than did their audience.

Bert Levy, one of the popular artists of the New York Morning Telegraph staff, is here again. His clever sketches of well known people drawn with record breaking speed, his whistling and his keen wit are all entertaining in high degree.

The orchestra plays Rossini's "William Tell" overture. This in itself is a very pleasing part of the bill. Orpheum patrons have one thing to learn, however, and that is that the orchestra begins to play at 8:15, and late comers must wait to hear the music. The orchestra is well equipped with the selection being played, or even later.

By the way, this is the last chance but one to see vaudeville at the Orpheum this season.

Grand—"Chinatown Charlie," the bill at the Grand this week, is unusually large audience for the beginning of the week witnessed its presentation last evening. The play is a melodramatic in character, and is beginning to end, and each act has its climax or series of climaxes. All the leading members of the cast show to good advantage, Mr. Noble, Miss Marks, Miss Lorraine, Mr. Earle and Harry Bewley, each appearing stronger than in any previous efforts. Mr. Bewley is demonstrating more and more each week that he is a comedian of high order. The only just criticism that can be directed against the play is that there is too much swearing altogether, something that could as well as not be eliminated. The Grand is a family playhouse, and under the present management, especially, has been held strictly clean. Any tendency to the opposite should be, and doubtless will be, stopped. Aside from this the play is an interesting one and is well rendered.

PUSHING WESTERN GOODS.

At a meeting of the Manufacturers and Merchants' association last night it was decided to put classified lists of all home manufactured products in city and country stores so that store keepers might know just what is made here and how to reach the makers. The fight against the mail order business was also taken up, and it was decided to continue it at every opportunity. A representative will visit all country merchants urging upon them the use of Utah goods for Utah trade.

UNDERWRITERS MEET.

The necessity of life insurance as an aid to proper protection of the home was the subject of a talk last night by Rev. E. I. Goshen to the Life Underwriters of Utah at their monthly meeting. John D. Spencer also spoke on a similar theme, and a number of musical selections were rendered to complete the evening. Mr. Goshen declared that the need of the insurance business is intelligent underwriters who would shun to make false promises and yet could act as agents of education in impressing upon the people the economic need to carry insurance.

FIRE IN HAT STORE.

A fire, caused it is believed, by spontaneous combustion, was discovered in the McCarty hat store, 326 Main street last night and before it was extinguished $500 damage was done.
