

THE DAY AFTER AT POCAHELLO

Backward Glance at the Kaleidoscopic Scenes of the Republican Convention.

HOW WOMAN SMASHED THINGS

Some Ringing Speeches, Caustic Replies and Flings at Machine Methods—Effective Digs at Dubois.

Special Correspondence.

Pocatello, Aug. 2.—For the first time in the history of the Republican party in the State of Idaho a candidate for the United States senate has been selected in the state convention. W. E. Borah, who only recently entered the race in earnest 60 days ago was the unanimous choice of the convention, while Gov. Frank R. Gooding was renominated. In all a very strong sticker was selected although the original slate received a crack at the hands of some of the hitherto insurgents that it is possible to imagine. At times the convention assembled the proverbial bear garden owing to the tactics of the rebellious minority. It is a safe assertion that there never before was a convention held in Idaho that was just like the one which will pass down the history as the Republican state convention of August 1, 1906.

HORSE PLAY AND WOMAN.

There were times when the chairman was powerless to secure order and the spectators made as much noise as the delegates. Just minutes were made and taken generally a number played horse on every occasion. The real fun started when it came to the nomination of candidates for superintendent of public instruction. Here the state followed E. L. Carpenter of Idaho county would have been successful. There seemed no reason why he should not be for the three previous nominations had been made by acclamation in less than three minutes. When it came to the nomination of a candidate to teach the young idea how to shoot, however, a change came over the scene. All over the convention hall popped up delegates with indignant faces and rounded periods devoted to the theme of lovely woman.

ORATORY AND TUMULT.

All the old stock arguments were hurled at "the machine" cohorts. Was every womanhood to be given the right to vote? The question was asked. The speakers urged the orators on to renewed effort. Finally when the ballot was taken on Miss S. Bell Chamberlain and the ludicrous Carpenter and the howls and roars that went up when the announcement was made were terrifying. Boise and Idaho counties amid cries of "shame," "rat-eat-rat" and other vociferous marks of disapproval were the only other two counties who stood by the slate. The counties voted solidly or in part for Miss Chamberlain amid cheers and the spectacle of straw hats going up among the electric fans.

Thus emboldened at their victory, for the final tally stood 210 to 99 in favor of Miss Chamberlain, the insurgents went out after the state mine superintendent in a fashion that R. W. McBride, who was supposed to be the choice of the wing in power was not even mentioned, much less nominated. The three candidates were S. P. Burr of Idaho county, James McPherson of Blaine, and Robt. M. Bell of Owyhee. The latter carried it down with 150 votes as against 46 for McPherson and 94 for Burr.

BRADY'S ACTION PRAISED.

The convention which started in perfect propriety, threatened to break up in the middle with a rough house and terminated in perfect harmony. It was a distinct endorsement of the administration. Whether or not Mr. Brady was sacrificed, too much in making the concessions he did was a matter of curative debate after it was all over. There are many to believe that such easy sailing for Gov. Gooding had such been the case, Mr. Brady, however, has lost nothing by his disinterested action and has secured for himself a lasting place in the hearts of the party. He can afford to wait. The striking feature about the entire convention was the apparent heat manifested during its sessions and the manner in which one and all lashed out at afterwards and swore long and vigorously to sustain the entire cause. There were moments when the remarks made on the floor were of the breath-taking order; there were other moments when it was impossible to hear anything and the speaker sought a glimpse of a man on the floor wildly waving his arms amid the derision of his fellow delegates.

IDAHO SPELLBINDERS.

The afternoon session opened in a most lively manner, and for two hours while the assembled delegates were waiting for the committee to report, the Idaho's favorite orators rounded the batteries of the Republican party from the rostrum. Aside from Senator Heyburn Idaho certainly has some very good spellbinders. Take Col. Tom Hayer of St. Anthony, for instance. He had that convention hall shrieking with laughter and ringing with applause. He is full of snap and ginger as he is demonstrated when he led the attack against the slate from the floor of the hall.

MAKES A GOOD SPEECH.

At first Temporary Chairman Barber was limited to announce a recess for two hours, but the delegates demanded Senator Heyburn. The junior senator from Idaho endeavored to beg off until later, but those present would not listen to such a proposition. Considering the fact that Senator Heyburn has not yet fully recovered from the effects of his recent illness he made a splendid speech. He opened by saying that he did not want to be placed in the position of attempting to make the sentiments of the convention. He asserted that he had no intention of making two speeches so he would devote himself to making one on Republican principles.

AS TO ONE DUBOIS.

Before he got down to tasks, however, he took occasion to pay his respects to Senator Fred T. Dubois. He referred briefly to an interview with Dubois in the Salt Lake Herald, in which he said that there was no party principle involved in the campaign in Idaho which needs separate Republicans and Democrats. He said that perhaps Dubois was competent to speak for the Democrats; that he had perhaps been long enough with them to know, but he denied his right to speak for the Republicans, for Dubois never apparently understood the Republican principles, or he would not have left the party.

AS TO IDAHO INDUSTRIES.

Senator Heyburn then took up the principle of protection as applied to Idaho in particular. He maintained that there was one great issue which must be taken into consideration by the convention—the protection of the industries of Idaho. Dubois, he said, was in accord as far as Idaho was concerned, but was silent when it came to the rest of the country. The speaker then went on to maintain that Idaho was essentially a producer of raw materials and then dwelt in detail upon the lead, wool, timber and other industries.

Referring to the Constitution he said: "You cannot suspend the Constitution of the United States temporarily. Let us not then attempt to evade it or to indulge in any left-handed repeal of it. The Constitution is the ever-living principle of our government. It has stood the test of a century and a quarter, and no party will dare to tamper with it with impunity."

He concluded by saying that whatever the convention did it would be the best judgment of the representative men of the state. "Whatever it is," he said, "I shall bow to the will of the convention and give that support that lies in my power. That is the way of the true Republican, to bow to the will of the majority."

BORAH COMES NEXT.

In response to cries of "Borah," that young lawyer made his appearance on the stage amid the applause of the delegates. He started out by affirming that there was no place so inspiring to him as a convention hall. He affirmed that the political creed of Theodore Roosevelt was wide and deep enough to encompass the interests of the people of the individual. He then went back to the birth of the Republican party and came down to what had been accomplished during the past six years. The beef trust and other corporations that had occupied prominent places in the public eye came in for attention and then he launched out into a glowing tribute to the part taken by Senator Heyburn during the last session of Congress in the direction of the reform of the operation of the trusts and the schemes of the high financiers. He affirmed that the Republican party does not attack wealth because it is wealth but it does attack it when it is gained in a legitimate manner. He then paid his compliments to the combination of law and crime that oppresses the masses and took a fling at those corporations who retain high legal talent to frustrate the action of the courts.

He then went on to say that he had been charged during the past 60 days with trying to inaugurate a new Republican doctrine. This he emphatically denied and asserted that Abraham Lincoln made his successful race for the United States senate on being named by a convention. The matter of the selection of a United States senator by the people had been twice brought into the senate and had been killed by riders attached to it once by Thomas Platt and again by Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania. He argued that it was in Lincoln's footsteps was to inaugurate no new Republican doctrine.

DUBOIS THE STRIFE BREEDER.

Cries for "Hamer" brought forth Col. Thomas Hamer of St. Anthony, who at once commenced to draw comparisons between the work accomplished by the Democrats in the past and the work in the past. Incidentally he referred to Fred T. Dubois, "who like the poor we always have with us; the cool, shrewd Republican leader of the Democratic party" in no uncertain terms of which the foregoing is a sample. He affirmed that it was the desire of Dubois to retire to the rear peace and prosperity and advance bitterness and local strife. "We have had enough of that," he said, "and I prophesy that on March 4 next there will be one vacant chair in the senate at Washington which will be tastefully draped in the habiliments of woe." After a series of word pictures he concluded by saying "and then let us devoutly pray that the Democratic party in Idaho will raise less hell and more sugar beets and alfalfa."

INDIAN DAYS.

The report of the committee on credentials, already published in the "News," was then handed in and then Permanent Chairman Adam Aubach of Shoshone county was escorted to the

"NO TROUBLE"

To Change from Coffee to Postum.

"Postum has done a world of good for me," writes an Illinois man. "I have had indigestion nearly all my life but ever since I drank Postum the cause of my trouble until last Spring I got so bad I was in misery all the time. A coffee drinker for 20 years, it irritated my stomach and nerves, yet I was just crazy for it. After drinking with my meals, I would leave the table go out and lose my meal and the coffee too. Then I'd be as hungry as ever. A friend advised me to quit coffee and try Postum. I tried it and found it good and get all the good out of it and don't have those awful hungry spells. I changed from coffee to Postum without a break whatever, felt better from the first day I drank it. I am well now and give the credit to Postum." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. platform, and proceeded to indulge in reminiscences of the time when he chased Indians under Gen. O'Connor across the sagebrush where now stands Pocatello.

FIRST ON THE FLOOR.

C. C. Caravan, Borah's manager, was the first man upon the floor to gain recognition. He nominated Judge George H. Stewart of Ada county for supreme judge. Prominent delegates from Boise and Kootenai counties and the next minute the popular jurist was nominated by acclamation.

While it had been apparently arranged that Burton L. French was to be nominated for the third term, there was another candidate, C. O. Webb of Shoshone, respectively, nominated and seconded Col. T. R. Hamer.

C. J. Munson of Latah then nominated Mr. French, Canyon, Elmore, Kootenai, Idaho and Nez Perce bobbing up with second.

After the roll call it developed that French had a walkover with all counties save Lemhi, Lincoln and Shoshone, voting for French. The result was: French, 252; Hamer, 45.

On the motion of Col. Hamer, the nomination was made unanimous. Congressman French was then called upon and spoke for half an hour on Republican principle.

GOODING GETS THERE.

The nomination for governor developed Gooding versus Dr. Hugh France, Gov. Gooding was placed in nomination by C. J. Helman of Kootenai. The proponent of a second term was endorsed by Major Fred Reed. "The empire builder of Cassia," Blaine, Lincoln and Canyon counties also furnished orators to second the nomination.

Hugh France was nominated by C. W. Beale of Shoshone county. He was seconded by C. C. Moore of Fremont and Dr. Numbers of Washington. The roll was called with the following result:

For Gooding—Gooding, Ada, 27; Bannock, 35; Bear Lake, 11; Bingham, 20; Blaine, 8; Boise, 8; Canyon, 13; Cassia, 5; Custer, for France, 5; Elmore, Gooding, 4; France, 1; Fremont, for Gooding, 6; for France, 20; Idaho, 16; Kootenai, 25; Latah, 10; Lemhi, 6; Lincoln, 1; Nez Perce, 25; Owyhee, 1; Shoshone, for Gooding, 8; France, 1; Washington, for Gooding, 11; France, 1. Total: For Gooding, 252; France, 45.

TALE OF THE "SLATE."

After this announcement was made the trouble started. Rossi of Shoshone opened the ball by proposing that the slate be put through in a bunch. Col. Hamer, in and, waving a copy of the "Pocatello Tribune," which he designated as "the official organ of the machine," asked that the ticket printed therein be nominated by acclamation. This created somewhat of a stir, and everybody yelled. As an American citizen, he said, he persisted in his rights to have the motion placed before the house.

When a breathing spell was reached, Frank Hunter, former speaker in the house of representatives in the legislature, announced that as the name of the lieutenant governor was not included in the alleged slate, such a motion was out of order. For fully fifteen minutes the convention hall was in an uproar and above the din, Monte H. Gwin was heard to shout the chairman frantically to get on with the business and put a stop to the fuss.

Finally a motion to lay Hamer's motion on the table was carried by 220 to 75.

Rheumatic Pains

"I have suffered terribly with rheumatism. I took Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills and they gave me great relief. I have spells of terrible pains in my ribs, and in the small of my back, and the Anti-Pain Pills help me right away. I am now well of the rheumatism and think Anti-Pain Pills done me more good than all the other medicines. I first heard of them through the following circumstance that happened at our home two years ago. A friend, Mrs. Brown, of Orion, Mich., came to visit us. She had not been able to dress herself or comb her own hair for months. A friend of ours came in and seeing her suffering offered her some Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. She laughed at the idea of relief from such a source after doctoring for so long, but took one of the tablets with the remark that it would at least do her no harm. She took another that evening, and the next morning she was so elated that she went to the druggist's and got a package and took them home with her. Recently she was here again, and told us that she continued taking the pills, and that one box cured her, and she has not had a symptom of rheumatism since."

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER

WILL NOT BE SUBPOENAED.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—John D. Rockefeller will not be served with a subpoena to appear before the grand jury which has been called to convene in this city next Monday, to investigate the relations existing between the Standard Oil company and various railroads entering into Chicago.

This announcement was made here today by government officials, after a conference between Asst. Atty.-Gen. Oliver E. Pagan, Asst. Dist. Atty. Hanchett, T. C. M. Schindler, special agent from Washington and Dist. Atty. J. G. Sullivan of Cleveland.

The government officials declared that should Mr. Rockefeller testify before the grand jury it would be necessary to grant him immunity from future prosecution and this, it was claimed, is what the government wishes to avoid.

Two hundred pounds of evidence this afternoon reached the office of Dist. Atty. C. B. Morrison for use in prosecuting the investigation. The evidence was sent from the office of Commissioner of Corporations James B. Garfield at Washington. A careful study of the mass of evidence is now being made by the government attorneys who have charge of the case. The evidence was gathered by Commissioner Garfield during his recent investigation of the oil business.

THE ILLINOIS AND ALABAMA.

Both Battleships Will Have to Go to Navy-Yard for Repairs.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 2.—The board of inquiry appointed to investigate the collision of the battleships Illinois and Alabama last Monday night off Ilexion's Reef lightship, continued its sessions today on board the Illinois. The president of the board is Capt. Benjamin S. Tulley, commander of the battleship Iowa.

Divers were still at work today examining the hulls of the two battleships, but the extent of the damage is now believed to be practically determined. On the Illinois four of the 6-inch guns on the starboard side forward were damaged, and a portion of the forward gun deck was sprung. The starboard shaft was bent and the starboard propeller cracked. The Alabama sustained severe damage to two of her 6-inch guns, one of them being bent badly. A compartment around a casing on the port side forward is leaking. Both ships will have to go to a navy yard for repairs.

Ordinary Seaman Corbett, who was injured by the fall of a davit holding one of the boats on the Illinois, was more seriously hurt than was at first reported. One of his legs was amputated on the day following the collision and today it was found necessary to amputate an arm also.

GEN. MACARTHUR RETURNS.

San Francisco, Aug. 2.—Maj. Gen. Arthur MacArthur, U. S. A., commander of the Pacific division, returned today on the Pacific Mail liner Manchuria after an absence of 15 months in the Orient.

Gen. MacArthur was sent to Manchuria by the president toward the latter part of the Russo-Japanese war to observe the Japanese military operations. He was attached to the second army under Gen. Oku, now chief of the general staff, and arrived in time to be present at the fall of Mukden.

At the close of the war he entered on an extensive tour of China, India, China, Java, Siam, Burma and India. He speaks in the highest terms of the prize of the military skill of the Japanese and their conduct of the war, but declined to go into details until he had made his report to Washington. Gen. MacArthur expects to soon resume command of the Pacific division, which is now temporarily in charge of Gen. A. W. Greely.
