LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, 6.—Logan introduced a bill directing the Postmaster General to advertise immediately for proposals from citizens of the United States for performing a weekly mail service for fifteen years, between New York and Liverpool, by means of at least six American built, four thousand ton screw steamers, compensation not exceeding six hundred thousand dollars per annum.

Stevenson entered a motion to reconsider the vote by which the specie payment bill was rejected yesterday.

The diplomatic and consular appropriation bill was passed.

The fortification appropriation bill was considered and passed.

The report of the conference committee on the mint and assay office was received, and the bill concurred in.

The Vienna exposition bill was called up and an amendment, providing that not more than $50,000 shall be paid for salaries, and not more than five thousand to one person, was adopted, and the bill passed. Adjourned.

HOUSE.

A resolution to pay Bowen, the contestant for the seat of Delarge, from South Carolina, $1,500 for expenses incurred in the contest, was passed.

A bill to authorize the building of the Wyoming and Montana railroad was reported, and Storm moved to lay it on the table, but the motion was negatived 72 to 98. When the morning hour expired the bill went over.

The special order to consider the bill to revise the consular system was postponed till Thursday the 20th.

The house went into a committee of the whole on the postoffice appropriation bill.

Palmer, from the appropriation committee, offered an amendment reducing the amount to be paid out of the treasury by one and a half millions, agreed to.

An amendment was adopted, 90 to 75, providing letter carriers for all places having a population of twenty thousand within the postoffice delivery. The bill passed. Adjourned.

EASTERN.

WASHINGTON, 6.—The Commissioner of Internal Revenue, to-day, addressed a letter to the House Finance committee, deprecating, in behalf of the Internal Revenue department and all the manufacturers of tobacco in the country, the final passage of the bill in regard to selling leaf tobacco direct to consumers, which passed the House yesterday, and asking a hearing on the subject for the department and manufacturers before the committee. The Commissioner estimates the loss to the revenue by the bill at three millions a year.

The funded loan subscription in the United States and Europe, today, has been so heavy that the Secretary of the Treasury, in order to stop the interest, has issued a call for one hundred millions of five-twenty bonds of '62, closing the books in advance. Additional calls will be issued shortly.

In the Poland committee, to-day, Congressmen Beck, a member of the Conference committee on the interest question of the Union Pacific road, and Voorhees, a member of the Pacific R. R. committee of the forty-first Congress, testified that Brooks never spoke to either of them on the subject of the Pacific R. R., and never appeared before the committee. Brooks stated that he introduced witnesses in view of the charge that he received Mobilier shares for influencing Democratic Congressmen.

Orders have been issued to the commandant of the U. S. forces operating against the Modocs, to make such a disposition of his forces as will tend to protect settlers and their property in the neighborhood, and to suspend further hostile proceedings against the Indians, unless absolutely necessary, until after the commission recently appointed to investigate the causes which led Captain Jack to wage war with the whites, and the result of the investigation was made known.

NEW YORK, 6.—It is reported that Tremaine and his associates have under consideration the advisability of applying for a struck jury for the trial of civil suits against Tweed.

BUFFALO, 6.—Grave doubts have existed for the past forty-eight hours, as to the sanity of John Gaffney, condemned to be hanged to-morrow, in consequence of which Governor Dix has respited him for a week, to enable medical experts to decide regarding his mental condition.

EASTON, Pa., 6.—James Henry Coffin, professor of mathematics and astronomy in Lafayette College, died this evening.

WESTERN.

SACRAMENTO, 6.—The articles of incorporation of the San Joaquin and Tulare narrow gauge railway company were filed in the office of the Secretary of State to-day, capital stock $1,600,000. The road is to be run via Stockton to Visalia.

The C. P. R. R. Company commenced a suit in the Sixth District Court yesterday, against Sheriff Bryte, to restrain him from collecting taxes levied by Sacramento county against the road, and obtained judgment declaring the assessment illegal. The restraining order was granted.

Jacob Conter has been arrested for embezzling $200 belonging to W. T. Wentzell, druggist, by whom he was employed.

There is a large number of counterfeit quarter dollars in circulation here.

PORTLAND, Ore., 6.—The streets were flooded by a heavy rain last evening. Eight and a half inches fell in January. The thermometer averaged 44 for the month.

VOLCANO, CAL., 6.—Butterfield's extensive saw mill, six miles above here, was destroyed yesterday, crushed by the great fall of snow, which is reported to be seven feet deep at the mill.

SAN FRANCISCO.—There is considerable sickness among the horses here at present, and some cases of genuine epizootic. No animals have died, and the sick are getting well.

Charles Hamburger was convicted of burglary in the municipal court to-day.

The police court adjourned to-day out of respect to the memory of Judge Louderback's mother.

There were 301 deaths in the city during the month of January.

EUROPEAN.

BERLIN, 6.—The editor of a Posen newspaper has been sentenced to four months imprisonment for publishing an article on "The Battle with God's Church."

PARIS, 6.—Le Bien Public says, in the compromise effected between Thiers and the committee of thirty, the latter agreed to modify the project, extending the veto power of the executive so as to allow the President's veto to suspend the operations of a law for two months after its passage; also giving the President the right to participate, personally, in the debates of the chamber on interpellations and all questions of general policy. The legitimist and clerical journals are indignant at the concession of such uncontrolled powers, as they term them, to the Executive.

The deputies of the conservative and moderate sections of the left in the Assembly refuse to sign the address of sympathy with Garibaldi, adopted at the last meeting of the extreme left.

LONDON.—The Prince of Wales, Duke of Edinburgh and Prince Teck were present at the opening of the session of the Lords to-day. Earl Clarendon moved an address in reply to the Queen's speech. He congratulated the Lords on the removal of the long standing difficulties with the United States, and declared that the government would deal with the eastern question in a prompt and decisive, but at the same time, dignified manner, because England witnesses with regret the encroachments of Russia, whose further movement would tend to the diminution of the harmony which has long prevailed between the two powers.

Lord Monteagle seconded the motion for the address.

Earl Derby then addressed the house, and denied that the government could congratulate itself on the issue of the San Juan and Alabama controversies, and maintained that there was a vast difference between what was contended for in 1864 and the absolute surrender of 1872. The effect of the Geneva decision would be that England, hereafter, would be liable to damages in matters wherein she could make no claims on others.

Granville defended the course of the government in bringing about a settlement of the Alabama claims. The condition of the question concerning Central Asia did not justify the sensational telegrams which had created alarm here and elsewhere, and it was not probable the affair would lead to serious complications.

Lords Salisbury, Ripon and Cairns followed, with a discussion on the Geneva arbitration. The latter argued that the rules adopted were ambiguous and liable to misinterpretation.

The Lord Chancellor deprecated the course of the debate on this subject, especially after the verdict had been rendered. He defended the rules adopted by the Geneva board, and declared that they should be maintained between England and the United States, whether other countries accepted them or not.

The Duke of Richmond objected not to the spirit of the compromise, but to the fact that it was one-sided. He observed that the speech from the throne made no reference to the army—an omission especially to be regretted at a time when desertions from the ranks were more frequent than ever.

The motion for the address was adopted.

In the Commons an address in reply to the Queen's speech was moved by Charles Lyttleton, who congratulated the House and the country on the settlement of disputes with the United States. Although the decision was unfavorable to England there was not the slightest ground for impugning the judgment of the Geneva arbitration or of the German emperor. No nation should be slow to follow England's example.

Wm. Stone seconded the motion.

Disraeli arose, and was loudly cheered. He said he had heard with alarm many things in the royal speech. He would not in the slightest degree criticise the Sovereign and the arbitrators who had given awards adverse to England. He had approved the negotiation at Washington, but could not but condemn the prospective rules adopted. The government pretended that they had followed Palmerston, but that statesman would never have placed England in such a dangerous and undignified position as the Geneva judgment. Referring to the Asiatic question, he said he hoped that the House would receive the fullest information. Should Russia attempt to sieze Constantinople and conquer India, she would and must be resisted.

Horseman severely criticized the government's foreign policy, and declared that the Geneva decision was one-sided and humiliating. He hoped the case was exceptionable, and as such was to be accepted by the force of necessity.

Bernal Osborne condemned the arbitration, but said that any outlay which secured the good will of America was a profitable investment.

Gladstone followed in a general defence of the royal speech. Replying to the criticisms on the manner of the settlement of the disputes with America, he declared that if a similar case should again arise arbitration would again be resorted to. Honor was not sacrificed, and the fearful horrors of war had been averted.

The debate was continued by Gathorne Hardy, Vernon Harcourt and others.

UNION
SAFETY LAMP
IS conceded by all who have seen it to be possessed of great merit, and to be altogether the best thing of the kind ever put in the market.
The lamp is constructed with two tubes, the outside one intended only for the attachment of the burner, and the inside one to contain oil and receive the wick. As there is no connection between these tubes it will be evident that there is no possibility of communicating any heat to the oil, and as long as the oil in a lamp can be kept perfectly cool there is, of course, no chance for an explosion.

The Lamp is strongly and well made, attractive in appearance, and something entirely new and novel. It will burn kerosene adapted to any burner. With all of those advantages it combines cheapness, and from present indications it is destined to become very popular.
In case of accident, the Lamp falling or thrown from it, or there is the cause of the oil rushing to the flame. In this Lamp it is not so it can be thrown over and cannot feed the oil to the flame; it will run from it, so there is no danger of catching fire.
The public may rest assured that the Lamp is all that we claim for it, and we cordially invite the most critical to examine the same, and we feel confident the verdict will be the same as that of the most scientific men of the Eastern States—that it is superior to all LAMPS that have yet come to public notice.
This Lamp can be filled from the fount, on the top of which is a screw.
This Lamp can be attached to any Chandelier or Bracket made.
