Last Night Constantinople Was Like a City in a State of Siege.

Albanian Soldiers Persistently Refuse to Surrender Their Quarters and Are Closely Watched.

Constantinople, April 26.—The city is quiet this morning and is gradually resuming its normal aspect.

The question of what is to be done to the sultan in all probability will be determined by parliament.

Scheket Pasha, commander of the constitutional army, is the man of the hour.

The leading civil members of the committee of union and progress desire him to be grand vizier in succession to Yildiz Pasha.

A court-martial today sentenced five to death and they will be shot this afternoon.

A major of the guard of the imperial palace of Yildiz has confessed he was paid $5,000 to act with the palace conspirators.

The parliamentary leaders have decided to act as if there had been no interruption of the cabinet.

LIKE STATE OF SIEGE.

Constantinople experienced last night the effects of the state of siege declared yesterday.

The streets were dark at 8 o'clock in the evening and the carrying of arms by civilians as well as the publication of news likely to create disturbance were strictly prohibited.

The committee of the Union and Progress has issued a statement denying the allegations attributing the recent occurrences to conspiracies between the sultan and the army.

The arrest of reactionaries and religious students continue and is estimated that up to last night 4,000 such persons had been apprehended.

NUMBER OF DEAD.

The last burials of the men who fell in the fighting of Saturday took place last night.

One body of prisoners marched past Scheket Pasha's headquarters this morning on its way to camp in the country.

The men were in no wise demoralized, but were smoking cigarettes and chatting with animation.

ALBANIAN SOLDIERS.

Two hundred of the sultan's Albanian soldiers stationed at the imperial palace at Yildiz Kiosk persistently refused today to surrender their quarters.

EMMA LUCY GATES SCORES A BIG HIT

Utah Nightingale Signs Up for Five Years at Royal Opera House, Berlin.

CURTAIN CALLS IN "MIGNON."

Some of the Trials and Tribulations of An "Anslander" Seeking Recognition in Germany.

Berlin, Germany, April 26.—Emma Lucy Gates of Salt Lake appeared at the Royal Opera House here in "Fral-schuetz" on Saturday, April 17, she was a pronounced success and very favorable criticisms appeared in the morning papers.

She accomplished the difficult feat triumphantly on Saturday night. She received two curtain calls. The Royal Opera House signed with her for a five years' engagement.

Miss Gates was to have sung Saturday in "Don Juan." The fact that "Mignon" was selected and she emerged from the ordeal triumphant is a source of satisfaction and gratification for those in Utah who have been watching the career of this young singer.

Just a few hours before the Desert News called up the parents of Miss Gates and broke the news to them that the Utah nightingale had made a great success in Berlin.

The letter is reproduced in part: "There is one big thing I have to tell you, and I have not the time to go into preliminaries, that is that I have signed a five year contract with the Royal Opera House of Berlin."

"Now, of course, this all depends on my making good on the two trial performances, 'Don Juan,' I have never received and I am at work like a beaver on it now.

"When I went to the Royal last time I proved so earnestly that if it was the Lord's will, that I might be engaged there, and if not, He would lead me where He would have me. I really felt so non-partial about it that it took away my fright.

"Now because of the way they dragged things out last winter and of my promised gappel put off then we finally talked it all over and thought I had better accept the best engagement I could get out of Berlin. I had tried twice to sing for the Opera Comique here and they didn't answer my letters, nor let me sing when I went there. It is said that all one need do is to go to the bureau and register for Probe singing, but I did that twice and was refused admittance.

"I didn't write you that I had 'tremendous success' at Beethoven's that Sunday noon concert. I haven't time to go into detail. But let me tell you never since Hepple made his public concert has there been such a furore. I was called out five times, people yelled 'bravo' and most of them stood up. Prof. Hellerer shook my hand on the platform, and he never does on principle, and which he hasn't done since Hepple, either. There were critics and a manager there. I got the enclosed form from the manager saying I had pleased him immensely and that he had first class engagements to offer me.

"Mr. Spannuth, the critic, who was for years New York's leading critic, a German, and an intimate friend of Parsifal, had me come and sing several things at his home and then he took me to Salter, a concert and opera manager, and agent. Immediately after I had sung for him he wanted me to sign a contract for Frankfurt-on-Maine. I could hardly get away, but I had promised Correll to sign nothing else. It was for three years at 4,000, 5,000 and 6,000 marks. We thought this fine, as the one Harler had offered me in Bremen was but 3,000 to 5,000. Both places I would have to furnish my own costumes. Then I had nearly every big town in Germany offered me as the second coloratura singer, not first, because of my being a beginner, not having sung all my roles on the stage, but at Bremen and the smaller towns I was to be prima donna.

"Before I signed Frankfurt I tried the third time to sing for the Royal here in Utah. I seemed to do quite well in it. I signed, so then I signed the contract and next morning the Royal telephoned Correll that they wanted me. Things had to be done quick for after 24 hours one cannot countermand or draw back the signature. I was away at the time and Olga and Correll said they were sure I would take it, as it was the biggest offer offered me and no one else could furnish. So they told the opera that I would accept. Then she telegraphed Frankfurt, which has just arrived in Germany. Oh, I was sorry, but on no account, sir, I withdrew my contract. Then you should have seen the hellam which broke loose. It appeared first thing in the

CHICAGO GIRLS WANT HUSBANDS

They Themselves Are Pretty and Vivacious, and the Men Must Be Kind and Affectionate.

Chicago, April 26.—More than 1,100 Chicago girls, pretty, vivacious and fairly well to do, want husbands—that is, if they can find the right ones.

The responses of these young women, describing their ideal man were read last night at the Holstead Institute church by the Rev. D. D. Vaughan, during the course of a sermon on "The Model Husband."

A majority of the young women writers surprised both the pastor and audience by stating positively that they wanted their husband to be "the real boss."

They also declared it was not necessary to be handsome, wealthy, talented or a "swell dresser," but it was insisted in every case that he be a man who was capable of real love.

"Do you want him to be the head of the house?" "Do you want him to always follow your bidding?" "Do you want him to give his time to succeed in business or to his home?"

"Do you care whether he loves you or do you merely want a home?" "Do you prefer a business or a professional man?" "Must he be wealthy?" "Must he be handsome?" "Must he be a swell dresser?" "Must he be educated or talented?"

"Next Sunday night will be devoted to the model wife. The following questions have been sent out: "Must she be pretty?" "Must she be a good cook and a good housekeeper?" "Must she be vivacious or quiet?" "Must she be stylish?" "Must she be a society or a home girl?" "Must she be a college graduate?" "Must she be talented?" "Do you prefer a 'new woman' or the old-fashioned kind?" "Must she have a good disposition?" "Must she be a club woman, reformer or interested in politics?" "Do you want a clinging ivy or a sturdy oak?"

WILL INVESTIGATE WESTERN ROADS

Salt Lake Traffic Bureau's Appeal to President Bearing Fruit.

SEARCHING INQUIRY ORDERED

Atty. Gen. Wickersham in Sympathy With Movement, to Probe Into Alleged Discriminatory Tariffs.

As a direct result of the work of the Salt Lake Commercial club traffic bureau, one of the most sweeping investigations of railroads and railroad methods in rate making ever undertaken is to be made by the attorney general of the United States, under the direction of President Taft.

The order for the investigation is directly attributable to the appeal to President Taft made by the Salt Lake Commercial club traffic bureau.

In the dispatch referred to, the railroad bureau addressed petitions to each of the railroads named in the dispatch, by their presidents, asking that the arbitrary rates alleged to exist in and out of Utah both east and west be adjusted on a basis of justice and equality.

The petition was gotten out in book form, neatly bound in colored leather and forwarded to each of the presidents of roads named in the body of the petition.

PEITITIONS FRUITLESS.

In some instances letters from the railroad officials acknowledging the receipt of the petitions were received, but further than that, no result seemed to follow the prayers of the petitioners.

INVESTIGATION ORDERED.

Chicago, April 26.—The Tribune today prints the following special dispatch from Washington:

"The administration soon is to engage in some months of waiting the officials of the traffic bureau, desiring of any further result following the appeal, decided to take the matter up to President Taft, which was done.

"The investigation will be of the charges of combinations between railroads, alleged to be arbitrary and unlawful, of the enforcement of unjust and despotic rates for both freight and passenger service and of gross discrimination in rates.

President Taft himself has directed that the investigation be made. Atty.-Gen. Wickersham is in full sympathy with the order of his chief.

The walls of Yildiz palace to be razed; the barracks at Yildiz, quartering the thousand men under immediate orders of the sultan, also are to be razed.

In the future there will be stationed at the palace a guard of 100 men only, to be changed daily and supplied by the different regiments of the garrison alternately. In order to make it impossible for the sultan to bribe them; the sultan must pay the expenses of the expedition from Saloniki from his private fortune, and furthermore, the sultan, whose property is largely invested abroad, must make a gift to the nation of $250,000,000 as the basis of financial regeneration of the empire.

The correspondent also sends an interview with Enver Bey, one of the military leaders of the Constitutionalists, who said:

"Our satisfaction with our victory is unclouded by the news that has been obtained. About 100 men have fallen, including eight officers.

"After fighting 48 hours we reached the long desired goal. The Yildiz garrison gave up its arms voluntarily. We have decided to leave these troops at the palace, but they are now to be harmless. There will be no further disturbances, as we are masters of the situation."

"What that would be done with the sultan, Enver Bey replied: "That does not concern us soldiers, but now that our work is done the government must conduct negotiations with him. We are wholly in accord with his directions. I am convinced everything will be done normally within two or three weeks."
