

SOCIETY

SOCIAL CHAT

The week has been a surprisingly quiet one in social circles, only a few events having taken place, and these with the exception of the musical recital at the Commercial club on Monday night, being comparatively small. The club recital took place with that of Mrs. Martha E. Jones and Miss Oliver were distinctly delightful in a social as well as a musical way.

On Tuesday, Mrs. Frank Mills entertained at a pretty pointed luncheon covers being laid for eight. The house was decorated throughout with spring blossoms, and in the dining room white carnations with ferns were used, the table being most attractive. The guests were Mrs. Hoyt Sherman, Mrs. William Bayly, Jr., Mrs. Alice Alderson, Mrs. Treganza, Mrs. Stephens, Mrs. Smith of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Frederick W. Little.

Mrs. James Read entertained at an informal tea on Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Kate Wells entertained at a delightful Kensington on Wednesday in honor of Miss Catherine Culmer, whose wedding takes place next month. The rooms were transformed into bowers with wreaths, boughs and sprays of apple blossoms and a delightful afternoon was spent with sewing, the guests hemming table napkins which were afterwards presented to the guest of honor. A prize was awarded for the finest sewing, Mrs. George Culmer being the winner. About 25 guests were present.

The last dance given by the Strollers' club was in every way a great success, and the members have decided to give a final ball on the evening of May 9 at Christensen's. Five hundred dainty programs and invitations have been issued, and it is expected that a large number will enjoy themselves at the season's final ball. The club is composed of some popular young people and promises to be one of the most successful social clubs in the city. The colors are pink and green, and these will be used profusely in the decorations. George Ryser, Norman Davis, Ole Erickson, J. R. Whittemore, H. P. Cummock and Harry Madsen constitute the committee on arrangements.

Thursday witnessed the thirtieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. James Dunning, and the occasion was celebrated in an elaborate dinner, followed later by informal dancing by the young people. Fifty guests sat at the table, which was prettily decorated in carnations and ferns. Music was furnished by Messrs. Sneddon and Simms.

Dr. and Mrs. Hosmer entertained at a charmingly appointed dinner on Thursday night, their guests numbering 14. The decorations were in apple blossoms, a bank of them being heaped on a centerpiece of ivory lace, while candelabra with pink and white shades and place-cards with painted apple blossoms, completed the decorations.

Next Wednesday evening will occur the last of the Christensen soirees for this season. These affairs have been a great success this season and were thoroughly enjoyed by the dancing public as an informal affair.

TRIG FROCK OF WHITE LINEN.

Medallions and insertion of ebony in a design wrought in white and the natural linen color trim this pretty gown of white linen. The blouse has a deep bertha bordered with the medallions and insertion which falls in deep points at the front and over the arms. Yoke and skirt are of the lace. The skirt has a hip yoke effect produced by the insertion and shirring. Tucks and lace elaborate the bottom of the skirt.
