

EMPEROR WILLIAM FAVORS SWEDEN.

It is Understood That He is Not Unwilling to Interfere in Behalf of That Dynasty.

DENMARK QUIETLY APPROACHED

Norway Will Hold a New Flag—Prayerbook Modified, Prayers for Royal Family Being Omitted.

Copenhagen, June 8.—The Associated Press learns that Crown Prince Gustave had a long interview on the crisis with Emperor William before he left Berlin, and that it is understood that the emperor is not unwilling to interfere in favor of the Swedish dynasty.

An authority intimately connected with the emperor confirms a rumor that he abandoned his trip to Norway at the request of Crown Prince Gustave. The general opinion is that the crown prince is more reconcilable to Norway's dissolution than was his father and there is no doubt that he induced King Oscar to veto the consular bill.

Men, English and American tourists, who arrived here on their way to Norway, have abandoned the trip owing to the revolution.

According to reports from Stockholm, King Oscar may be induced to reverse his decision and to favorably regard the offer of the throne for a member of his house.

Leading Swedish politicians are much divided over the question, which, it is understood, will not be definitely decided prior to the extraordinary session of the riksdag.

Authoritative information received from Norwegian circles represents the majority of Norwegians as opposed to giving the throne to a prince of the house of Bernadotte. It is stated that if King Oscar should definitely refuse the throne for a member of his family and that if the Danish royal family should likewise refuse to place one of its princes on it, Norway will become a republic, and that this is favored by the mass of the population.

The storthing, however, believes that the offer of the throne to a prince of the house of Bernadotte would facilitate future negotiations with Sweden over the common interests of both countries. It is understood that the negotiations will be begun as soon as possible after special envoys have been sent to the powers requesting the recognition of the independence of Norway.

Dr. Hagerup, former premier and now minister at Stockholm; Sigurd Ingebrigtsen and Pritof Nansen, the Arctic explorer, are now mentioned as envoys to the powers.

All those in the civil service of Norway have announced their adhesion to the new government, and all the generals have taken the oath of allegiance. No excitement is reported either in Norway or Sweden. Ovation in honor of King Oscar continue at Stockholm, where there is a firm determination not to recognize the action of the storthing as definitely achieving the dissolution of the union.

Crown Prince Gustave passed through Copenhagen tonight on his journey from Berlin. He was received by Crown Prince Frederik of Denmark and appears to be much concerned over the situation. The crown prince conversed at length with the storthing before the train left for Stockholm.

NEW FLAG FOR NORWAY. Christiania, June 8.—The new Norwegian flag will be hoisted throughout the country at 10 a. m. tomorrow. The council of defense has ordered the flags over all the fortresses and warships of Norway to be saluted with 21 guns. The substitution of the new for the old flag of Christiania will take place at Akershus fort in the presence of thearrison of the capital.

It is announced that Mr. Duda, minister at Copenhagen, who is a Norwegian, has decided to resign, and it is assumed that Mr. Grip, minister at Washington, Mr. Von Ditten, minister at Rome, and Baron von Wedel-Jarlsborg, minister at Madrid, who are also Norwegians, will tender their resignations.

Mr. Paulsen, Premier Michelson's secretary, has returned to Stockholm.

WORLD OF GOOD MADE A HAPPY MAN OUT OF A MOST WRETCHED DYSPYPTIC.

The Tonic Treatment Cured Mr. Miller of Stomach Disorder, Heart Pains, Dizzy Spells, Weakness.

Easy to get, hard to get rid of, that is what most sufferers think of dyspepsia. They are astonished when their stomach begins to trouble them seriously. They can't think of any adequate cause. Everything was going all right, when suddenly it began to go all wrong.

They had been eating hurriedly and irregularly for a long time, to be sure, but they supposed their stomachs quite used to that. Why should it give out all at once and make them restless and sleepless and faint and dizzy?

The situation is simply this: They have used up the strength of their stomach just as a man may use up his capital in the bank. Everything goes on just the same until the money is all gone, then, miserably, he is in trouble if he does not know how to find more cash right away.

Some people know that the strength which the weak stomach needs, and for the lack of which the whole body is suffering, can be found surely and quickly in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a pleasant, health-giving tonic, which is the greatest blood and nerve tonic.

"My indigestion," said Mr. Miller, "came in the first place from the fact that, a few years ago, I worked a great deal at night, and ate at any odd hour whenever the chance came, and always very hurriedly. One day I found myself a victim of terrible dyspepsia. It kept me miserably ill in bed for several years. Sometimes the doctor's medicines would help me for a little while, but they were never able to conquer my ailments."

"What was your chief trouble?" "I always had a great deal of distress after eating, and when I got up from my meals, my stomach would be so weak that it would hardly take any food. I had very uncomfortable feelings about my heart, and was dizzy whenever I stopped over and then straightened up, my eyes would be badly blurred."

"When the doctor failed to cure you what did you do?" "I was unable to find a remedy that had actually cured somebody else, and I was lucky enough to stumble on the statements of several persons who had got rid of obstinate stomach troubles by using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I bought some, and they did me a world of good. They acted promptly and did just what was claimed for them."

"Have they rid you of your ailments?" "I have no more distress after meals; the bad feelings have gone from the region of my heart; the alarming dizzy spells have disappeared, and I am strong again. I take the pills occasionally yet as a tonic, and am always ready to give them the highest praise."

The home of Mr. J. R. Miller is at Dayton, Va. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained at any drug store. They can be used with safety for any length of time as they contain no harmful drugs. A diet book of great value to dyspeptics can be had free by writing to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

where he went to hand to King Oscar the letter announcing the decision of the Norwegian government. He says that the king opened the letter, and that the first few lines, which appeared to be deeply moved, and asked his secretary to read it aloud. At the conclusion of the reading he manifested feelings of interest in the situation, but soon became calmer and spoke amiably to the Norwegian gentlemen present, assuring them of his increasing affection for Norway and the Norwegian people.

The Aften Posten's Stockholm correspondent says that last week the Swedish king and queen, together with their children, visited the city of Oslo to inquire as to the attitude of the government to which they were accredited would assume in the event of the secession of Norway.

Storthing this afternoon empowered the president of the house to forward to King Oscar the address adopted yesterday and concerning memorandum. The Norwegian gentlemen who were appointed to attend Prince Gustavus Adolphus, eldest son of the crown prince, at his marriage to Princess Margaret Victoria of Connaught, will, pending instructions, remain here instead of accompanying the prince to London.

The prayer-book of the Norwegian church has been modified in accordance with the change in the political situation, the prayers for the royal family being omitted.

The ecclesiastical authorities have issued a notice calling on the clergy at the first celebration of divine service after the depositing of the king, to utter an appropriate prayer for the fatherland.

ALL-RUSSIAN ZEMSTVO CONGRESS

Adopts Address to the Czar Calling for Immediate Convocation of a National Assembly.

IT IS BOLD ALMOST TO DEFIANCE Throughout the Document the Word "Majesty" is Not Once used.

St. Petersburg, June 9, 1:30 a. m.—The voice of the delegates of the zemstvos and of the municipalities demanding in no uncertain tone the immediate convocation of a national assembly, to pass upon the question of peace or war, to hold internal strife and to unite the people for the rejuvenation of Russia, will be heard in the address adopted by the all-Russian zemstvo congress at Moscow, which a deputation headed by Count Hayden and M. Shipoff is bringing to present to the emperor.

The document bids fair to become historical. The customary phrases of respect at the opening and the closing are omitted, and it is otherwise unceremonious, employing the direct personal pronoun.

The address arraigns the bureaucracy, and reminds the emperor that his pledge to convocate a national assembly is slow of fulfillment. It says the country is on the verge of civil war and even ventures to criticize a royal measure, contrasting the increase of the police power by the decree issued last Sunday with a weakening of the administrative process which the country had been led to expect.

The address urges the summoning of a national assembly that the war may become national or cease, and concludes:

TEA There is finer tea than we get in this country; not much; it is getting to be a good tea country.

Your grocer returns your money if you don't like Bulling's Tea.

There is intense interest to learn whether the emperor will receive the bearer of so bold a message, couched in terms which have never before been used between the emperor and his subjects. The address is buttressed with a stream of petitions from individual zemstvos and municipalities.

The doumas of nearly all the principal cities have addressed the throne, praying that the representatives of the people be summoned at once.

The address is a lengthy document, from which the following are extracts: "Sire, Russia has been drawn into a disastrous war by criminal abuses and the negligence of your counselors."

"Our army is powerless and our fleet has been annihilated, but more menacing than this extreme peril is the prospect of a civil war waged by your people against all the vices of a dangerous and ignorant bureaucracy."

Proceeding, the address declares that the emperor's reform intentions have been distorted and miscarried, while the police have been given unrestricted powers.

Marital law has been declared, the address says, "and the path to enable the truth to reach you is barred by your subjects, and let these elected representatives of a civil war waged by your people against all the vices of a dangerous and ignorant bureaucracy."

"I had been sick several years with indigestion and nervous prostration, which kept me almost constantly under a physician's care, and while I had been treated by four doctors, I received only temporary relief. I was very weak and helpless, and unable to attend to my household duties. After reading about Dr. Miles' Nervine, I concluded to give it a trial. The first few doses brought restful sleep at night, and an appetite for food. Continuing the treatment, I rapidly improved, and now I am well and able to do all my work."
