

fervent and pitched in a key of deep patriotism.

He thanked the Father for the wisdom, the faithfulness, and the long and service of the human nation, and from the office of chief executive, and prayed for his blessings upon the new governor who assumed today the robes of state.

RECEIVED WITH APPLAUSE.

Governor Cutler was then introduced by Chairman Spry and was received with vociferous applause. At frequent intervals he was interrupted by hearty applause. In his inaugural address he said:

CUTLER'S ADDRESS.

Extends Compliments of Season And Promises Good Government.

The new governor delivered the following inaugural address: "My fellow citizens:—I have a deep sense of the great responsibility now facing me upon assuming the duties of the high office with which I have been entrusted by the people of Utah; which office has been so ably filled by Governor Heber M. Wells. And at the outset I earnestly request your co-operation to enable me to discharge those duties satisfactorily to you and to myself.

"The prosperity and contentment of the American people at the present time augurs well for the progress of our nation in the immediate future. Throughout all the land the people have expressed their keen satisfaction at existing conditions, and their confidence in the hopeful outlook. With a record unparalleled among the nations in the closing years of the nineteenth century, our beloved America has made a still more gratifying record for the first four years of the twentieth century. Our relations with other world powers, and our prosperity at home, have given better reason than now for honest pride in the American heart at the achievements and advancement of a nation controlled and directed by the sovereign will of the people.

"In our own state there is no less cause for gratitude and praise to the benign Ruler of the Universe for the hopeful and happy feelings of our citizens, than there is in the nation at large. We have partaken of the general prosperity; we have been sharers in the work which has added to our national prestige and growth; we are in harmonious accord with the forces that administer our national affairs in energy, wisdom, beneficence and justice; we are recipients of benefits from similar administration in matters within our own commonwealth. In agriculture we have material results of a most pleasing character, and the application of a wise irrigation policy is opening a newer and brighter era to the tiller of the soil. In the mining division of our material wealth both production and development are making steady increase. Our live stock interests present a good showing, and the diversified industries are extending in scope and profitable results. Our high educational status places us in the front rank of the states which have the most thoroughly equipped and best equipped school systems in the country. In every direction there is an encouragement which inspires an abiding faith in the future good of our state.

"With this situation before us, I am pleased to pledge myself to earnest, careful efforts for a continuation of the policies that have brought success. I see no advantage in radical and revolutionary changes. I discern a need for judicious administration of state finances that, while it continues to give us modern improvements and conveniences, will not unduly burden the taxpayer. In this particular, I deem it my duty as an official and a citizen to lighten the burden, so far as practicable, consistent with the necessities of the honest and efficient administration of public affairs, and to maintain a prudent and conservative financial policy in the hands of similar qualities in other departments of executive work.

"It is my hope, supported by a firm determination to bring it to tangible fruition, that every institution, every organization, every person having relations with the state's administration of public affairs, shall be met with fairness, cordiality and kindness, to the full extent that God shall give me light. As your chief executive there is no person so humble, and no interest so great, but shall receive the prompt consideration in matters affecting the state; and to the end that an honest, faithful persistent effort on my part to give a beneficial administration of affairs shall be crowned with success, I ask your co-operation. I deem every good citizen a friend, and on the basis of this friendship I urge this invitation upon you.

"Once more I assure you that I approach the duties of governor of the great State of Utah with a keen sense of the responsibility attaching to the position, and with a determination to discharge that duty in justice, fairness and kindness.

I extend to you on this occasion the compliments of the season, with the further wish that to the present Happy New Year shall be added a happier one to Utah as each first of January shall come in the ever moving cycle of years.

"Now, Mr. Chief Justice, by your leave, I am ready to take the oath of office as prescribed by law."

TAKES OATH OF OFFICE.

Turning to Chief Justice Bascom, Gov. Cutler said: "I am now ready, Mr. Chief Justice, to take the oath of office as prescribed by law." This statement was met with great applause, at the conclusion of which Chief Justice Bascom arose and with uplifted hand administered the following oath: "Do you solemnly swear that you will support, obey and defend the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of the state of Utah and perform with fidelity the duties of the office of governor, to which you have been elected, so help you God."

"I do," was the firm reply of Governor Cutler.

Immediately the first gun of the governor's salute was fired by troop A, National Guard of Utah, which was stationed at the west entrance of the building. The salute consisted in all of 17 guns.

STRAUP SWORN IN.

At the conclusion of the salute, Chief Justice Bascom administered the statutory oath of office to William W. Straup. Mr. Straup was given a hearty round of applause as he stood up to take the oath.

IN THE COUNTY OFFICES.

In the county offices nearly all of the county officials-elect were present at noon and took charge of their offices. A number of the employees in the various offices were also present, and were busy closing up the work preparatory to turning the offices over to the new officials. The board of county commissioners met and organized by electing W. W. Wilson as chairman. On tomorrow Chairman Wilson will make the appointments of his various committees. It was given out today that the committees will be as follows: Roads and bridges, W. W. Wilson, chairman; E. D. Miller and J. C. Mackay; county buildings and grounds, with both county jails included, E. D. Miller, chairman; J. C. Mackay, chairman; W. W. Wilson and E. D. Miller. The new board will meet at noon tomorrow and confirm the appointments made by the county officials.

OTHERS IN LINE.

The final feature of the ceremony was the administration of the oath of office to State Auditor J. A. Edwards, State Treasurer James Christensen, Atty.-Gen. M. A. Breen, State Supt. of Public Instruction A. C. Nelson, and Secy. of State C. S. Tingley.

CEREMONIES OVER.

The announcement was then made that the formal ceremonies were ended, and that an informal reception would be held by the outgoing and incoming governors in which all were invited to participate. The first man to shake the hand of Gov.-elect Cutler was ex-Congressman George Sutherland, and of Gov. Heber M. Wells, Adjt.-Gen. C. S. Burton. The throng then gathered in two long lines and pressed forward for a parting handshake with the first Utah state executive, and to wish a happy new year and a successful career to the second of them.

NEW CREW AT THE HELM.

In half an hour it was over. The music was gone, the chamber was left deserted and bare. Utah had changed hands, and the ship of state was again on its way with a new captain and a new crew.

A FINE LUNCHEON.

Commercial Club Chef Arranges Palatable, Picturesque Display.

The New Year's luncheon at the Commercial club today is probably the most elaborate affair of the kind that has ever been seen in this city. It is set out in the main dining room, on tables in the shape of the letter "U," with the curve facing the dining room entrance. The battlement feature, which proved such a card last New Year's day, is reproduced, but with additional elaborations. There are three big battlement displays. One has two great roasted turkeys representing turrets, while on the opposite "ship" two fine baked sugar hams do the same duty. On a third, two huge legs of mutton carry the metaphorical gun-turret guns, while a "protected cruiser" is anchored close by with 35 pipes of salmon baked whole, on top. The "decks" of the "warships" are flanked by a remarkably varied assortment of jellies, cranfills, canned goods, lemons, fancy prepared potatoes, vegetable, and all kinds, and a miscellaneous collection of the 1001 little knickknacks of cookery that only the trained chef can conjure up.

Then there are pyramids of glaces and macaroons, such as "an your mother used to make," cakes of all sizes and attractions of design, one being a huge, frosted affair, with "Welcome, Commercial Club," lettered thereon in red. There are huge beef tongues, patties, pastry of various kinds, palatable punches, rich in cream, and on the whole, an amazing array of "pictures" from the culinary "art gallery." A "frontpiece" in the shape of "1905" in jelly, set on a background of salads, and is attracting much attention. Chef Sober has done himself proud, and the recipient of many complimentary remarks. The lunch is on until midnight.

JUDGE MERRITT BETTER.

Is Out of Hospital and Friends Are Nursing Him Back to Health.

Judge Samuel A. Merritt, who met with a severe accident a week or so ago, has so much improved as to be able to be moved from the Holy Cross hospital, which institution he left for a private residence Saturday night. The attending physicians thought that his condition would be improved were he moved to a place where he could be surrounded by friends, and acting on this advice he was removed from the hospital at the time stated. The judge's many friends will be pleased to hear of his improvement.

Amusements

Frederick Ward and Kathryn Kidder open their farewell engagement as joint stars at the Theater this afternoon and evening in Shakespeare's "Winter's Tale."

At the Grand this afternoon and evening "The Sidewalks of New York" closes its engagement. "The Fatal Scar" opens tomorrow night.

The Grand theater was crowded last evening by a pleased audience in attendance at the popular weekly concert by Heide's band. The soloists, Miss B. Blanka Masters of Denver, and Charles Stalter, baritone, gave great satisfaction, and were deservedly encored. The band itself seemed to do better even than usual, and performed with marked spirit and with artistic effort.

Peculiar To Itself

In what it is and what it does—containing the best blood-purifying, alterative and tonic substances and effecting the most radical and permanent cures of all humors and all eruptions, relieving weak, tired, languid feelings, and building up the whole system—is true only of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

No other medicine acts like it; no other medicine has done so much real, substantial good, no other medicine has restored health and strength at so little cost.

"I was troubled with scrofula and cancerous sores for eight months. For four months I could not see to do anything. After taking two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla I could see to walk, and when I had taken eight bottles I was as well as ever." ROSE A. HAINES, Withers, N.C.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

JAPS MAKE PLEA TO MAYOR MORRIS

Say That Their Countrywomen Are Not Leading Lives of Honor Here.

WANT BAD ONES EXCLUDED.

Arrest of One Jap and a Young Girl Charged With Immoral Conduct—What Visitor Alleges.

The Japanese residents of Salt Lake want to get rid of the members of their nation living in Victoria alley and Commercial street. They today addressed a communication to the Mayor, requesting him to exclude them from Salt Lake. As one reason for this act they stated that some Japanese wanted to bring their wives here, and would not do so while they would be mistaken by the public at large for immoral women. As another they claim that the presence of the Japanese women hurts the impression of Japan upon the civilized world, and for that reason in addition to others they want them removed.

Action has been taken against John Doe Sugura by the United States marshal's office, who maintains an establishment holding three women on Victoria alley. He, together with one of the women, a little Japanese miss of only 16 years, is in the county jail, she awaiting the decision of the U. S. immigration inspectors as to whether she shall be deported, and he awaits trial before U. S. Commissioner Twomey on the charge of importing aliens for immoral purposes.

As the law provides that it is unlawful to hold in one's possession imported women, the case against Sugura seems to be a good one. The penalty for the crime is not less than one year in the penitentiary, nor more than five, with a maximum fine of $5,000.

The Jap was too sick to appear before Commissioner Twomey for preliminary hearing this morning. It is likely that other arrests will follow.

THE PETITION.

The text of the petition to the mayor is as follows:

Salt Lake City, Jan. 2, 1905. To Mayor of Salt Lake City: Dear Sir:—We beg to request that you will exclude from Salt Lake City the Japanese women doing an immoral business here, in violation of the emigration laws of the United States. The reasons for this request are as follows:

1. By their conduct these women are a disgrace to all Japanese residents of this city.

2. Some Japanese residents desire to bring wives here, but they have refrained for the reason that they would not care to have them mistaken for immoral women by the citizens of Salt Lake.

3. Japan is now fighting with Russia for humanity and justice, and the presence of these women here creates an impression detrimental to the dignity of the Japanese race, and of those in Salt Lake in particular.

4. Not only are these women not allowed by the Japanese government to leave Japan for the purpose of practicing immorality, but they are not allowed to land in America for such purposes, by the United States emigration law.

Very respectfully,
JAPANESE RESIDENTS OF SALT LAKE.

"Gentlemen:—Now that my term of service to Salt Lake county is about to expire, I wish to express my thanks to your honorable body for the kind consideration you have extended to me in the past. I leave the office with grateful feelings and shall ever bear in mind the pleasant business and political associates in my work as county physician.

LICENSE NUMBER ONE.

First Under New County Administration Issued This Afternoon.

To Elford L. Mason of Talladega, Ala., and Miss Mary A. Larson of Salt Lake belongs the distinction of being the first parties to whom a marriage license was issued under the administration of County Clerk J. U. Eldredge, Jr.

At 1:30 o'clock this afternoon the young couple appeared at the county clerk's office, where they were met by Deputy County Clerk David A. Smith. He had just left the office and was standing at the south front of the building waiting for a car. Some of the ladies in the office raised a window and attracted his attention and beckoned for him to return. He came back and issued the license for the couple and they departed in jubilant spirits. Had they not caught Mr. Smith they would have had to wait until tomorrow for the license for the reason that he was the only deputy clerk in the building at the time.

A new town named Moffatt is being laid out near the Utah reservation by Maj. L. P. Myron, U. S. Marshal Heywood and Denver parties. It will be on the line of the new Moffatt road, the Dakota narrow gauge. The townsite was formerly a part of the Utah reservation, but a mistake was made in the survey, and this land was ordered sold. The new town has every prospect of becoming a success.

A broken insulator on the high tension line near Farmington resulted in the pole being set on fire from direct contact with the wire yesterday noon. The line was at once immediately short circuited, and the power cut off from Salt City. Some of the street cars were laid out for 45 minutes, and other lines were hardly inconvenienced. But the local steam plant was immediately got into working shape, and after that there was no more trouble. The line was repaired later.

KING ALFONSO.

Rumored That He Will Marry a Protestant Princess.

Rome, Jan. 1.—Rumors of the contemplated marriage of King Alfonso to Princess Victoria, daughter of the Duke of Connaught, and niece of King Edward VIII., are discussed from a religious point of view at the Vatican.

It is contended there that the British constitution, which is most positive on the point of a change of religion by any member of the royal house, would render necessary the celebration of a mixed marriage, after which the Princess Victoria being no longer a member of the British royal family, would become a Catholic.

The Vatican, however, is most exacting regarding the marriage of Catholic sovereigns, and does not like the idea of marriage and conversion afterwards, and admitting that a marriage between King Alfonso and Princess Victoria is contemplated, that a solution of the question, so far as the Vatican is concerned, may be found in the decision of the Vatican rendered when negotiations were opened looking to a marriage between the present king of Italy and Princess Victoria, daughter of Edward VIII.

SENATOR J. H. MITCHELL

UNDER INDICTMENT

Portland, Or., Jan. 1.—The indictment of Senator J. H. Mitchell and Congressman Binger Hermann by the federal grand jury does not mark the end of the investigation by the body, but rather is the beginning of a work that will be far reaching in its importance and its effect throughout the entire United States.

Senator Mitchell and Mr. Hermann, so far as is now judged by the evidence which is known to be against them, are believed to be implicated in frauds and conspiracies, small and unimportant in themselves, but with far reaching results that will be brought to light and punished by the government.

The work that has been done during the past two years under the supervision and direction of Col. A. R. Greene, has led not alone to Hermann and Mitchell, but to many of those who are prominent in the state, and to those who are operating through agents from distant parts of the nation, all to the common end of securing control of the timber and other lands of the state for their own use.

The evidence gathered will show that the law has been stolen from the government through fraudulent means and methods. The mass of evidence gathered is said to be widespread in its application and will result in many startling developments before this end is reached.

EMPEROR WILLIAM.

Sends Greeting to President and People of United States.

Berlin, Jan. 1.—Ambassador Tower called at the palace today to present his New Year's congratulations to the emperor, and to express his personal sentiments. He said: "The nation and the people of the United States wish for a fortunate and happy new year. President Roosevelt is leading the American people to an advanced position of power and influence in the world. Germany looks to the increasing greatness of the United States without concern because Germany has nothing but friendly feelings toward the people of the United States."

The emperor alluded to the recent unveiling of the statue of Fredrick the Great at Washington. "Frederick von Loenfeld," he said, "has told me with what kindness he was treated. His account of what he saw and how he was received gratified me very much. I appreciate it."

During the conversation, which continued some time, the emperor said: "I wish that an arrangement could be made under which American professors could come to Germany to deliver courses of lectures each year, and for German professors to go to American universities and deliver lectures there."

Mr. Tower replied that he felt confident the suggestion would be welcomed in America and he assured the emperor that he would be happy to help to carry it out.

Mr. Luke:

Kind Sir—I will write you a few lines to thank you for collecting that sum of money for me, and I have told others about it and they are intending to place some of their claims in your hands.
