That Introduced in the House on the Smoot Case Will be Acted On Today.

That Gov. Cutler is maintaining a close watch over the bills of the Seventh legislature to which he is asked to atpin his official signature, is evidenced from his action yesterday in vetoing the first one presented to him. It is S. B. 14 Hulaniski, and was started on its my through the legislature on Jan. 21. On Feb. 5 it passed the senate, was mended in the house, the amendments tere concurred in by the senate on Feb.

JOINT MEMORIAL.

JOINT MEMORIAL. When the house joint memorial to Courses, celebrating the fact that San-stor Reed Smoot had been found eligi-ble to hold his seat, was presented, it was moved that the rules be suspended and that it be passed at once. The motion was withdrawn by its author after a spirited debate, in which it was found that the motion if put, would have been overwhelmingly defeated. The senators feit that since they had received no official notice that the vote had been taken, if was premature to rush forward congratulations to the national Congress, and since the resolupassed.

national Congress, and since the resolu-tion had not been given careful con-sideration by each senator, it was un-sideration by each senator, it was un-wise to "railroad" it through. Lawrence led the objections, and he was backed up by Benner X. Simith, Johnson of Plute, Hulaniski of Weber, and Miller of Washington. In opening the debate Senator Lawrence said: "I opposed the election of Senator Smoot originally and stated the reasons for my attitude at that time and I see no reason that I should change my he-hief. I have always contended that the dual offices of apostic of the Mormon (burch and United States senator from that, should not be held by one man and I still am of that opinion. I am pot prepared to say that the action of and I still am of that opinion. I am not prepared to say that the action of the United States senate was not a just one. The vote in that body cer-tainly shows, however, that the sub-ject is still one for legitimate contro-versy and difference of opinion. I am not prepared to vote on this measure at present and I would suggest that it take its regular course."

take its regular course." Senator Hulanisk's opinion was that it is poor policy to memorialize Con-gress. He thought it was had taste, since the senate had acted as a court, and therefore it would be just as ap-propriate to send congratulations to the supreme bench after a decision. Senators Johnson and Miller also spoke along the line that it was wise to let the resolution take its course, and when ubout is call for a vote, President

On third reading came up Tolton's H. B. 54, known as the Sunday closing bill. Mr. Tolton took the floor and ad-vocated the passage of the measure, saying it was approved by the Salt Lake Ministerial association, and had been recommended in the message of the measure the governor.

the governor. During the consideration of this bill, the message was announced that Smoot had been retained in his seat by the senate of the United States. Thompson of Millard thereupon offered H. J. R. 5, congratulating the senate on its action, which was measured by unpurpose stard. which was passed by unanimous standing vote. The Sunday closing bill was taken up again, and after a great deal of discus-sion was recommitted to the judiclary committee for certain corrections.

PASSES EIGHT BILLS.

Yesterday was the house record for the passage of bills. Eight measures were made into law as far as the lower body is concerned, and one joint memorial and one joint resolution were recorded passed. The first bill sent through was Hol-lingsworth's S. B. 71, changing the name of the state school for the desi-and dumb to the state school for the deaf. Joseph's amendment changing the location of the school from Ogden to Richfield was lost, after which the bill was passed by a vote of 43 ayes and two noes

REV. EDDY CALLS MR. JOSEPH.

He Assails the Speaker During the Lively Discussion Before the House Committee.

The Galveston plan of city government was the subject of a lively discussion before the house committee on municipal corporations last night. Besides discussing the bills the citizens assembled took occasion to discuss Speaker Harry Joseph, and one man, Rev. Frank Fay Eddy, charged him directly with coming there as a supposed representative of the people, but really as the counsel of the city council. Rev. Mr. Eddy's chief objection was to what he called the "browbeating" tactics of Mr. Joseph. His speech was applauded by the advocates of the bill, and later when Representative Kuchler, who shares honors with Harry Robinson of Bingham as the speaker's chief lieutenants in the house, tried to defend Mr. Speaker, he was hissed by the same

ARGUMENTS PRO AND CON.

With the exception of these per-sonalities the evening was given up to hearing arguments for and against the measures. Ed Callister spoke against them, as did also Councilman Fernstrom, Col. E. A. Wall, W. S. Mc-Cornick and A. Richter. In favor of the bills talks were made by Senator Benner X. Smith, who in-troduced them, Everett Bieror, an at-torney, Frank B. Stephens, O. H. The operation of the plan, he said, in general would resemble that of the county governments as they now ex-ist in the state. Everard Bierer, Jr., referred to Washington, D. C., as a place where the plan has worked out to a full ex-tent. Frank B. Stephens reviewed the interest in the plan in Salt Lake City, and told how sentiment in its favor had worked up during many months and years. He told of the presenta-tion of the plan followed at Washing-ton, D. C., to the Civic Improvement league, by Judge W. H. King who had come in contact with it while a member of the congressional commit-tee dealing with Washington City. This had been followed by an in-vestigation by a committee consisting of Judge King, M. H. Walker, R. I. Prichard, H. W. Lawrence and others, and from this investigation grew a favorable report on the Galveston plan, which Mr. Stephens declared had made Galveston the best governed American city in existence. The bills, nessid, would expedite business, bring economy and reform, and be in all respects a business form of govern-ment. Mr. Joseph asked how much could be saved own the member of the member of the sentence. Mr. Joseph asked how much could be

CONSUMPTION OF ALCOHOL INCREASING IN FRANCE.

Paris, Feb. 21 .- The rapidly increasing consumption of alcohol in France is attracting the serious attention of statesmen, who, following the example of Belgian and Swiss legislators, are devoting earnest efforts to arrest the spread of the evil. In both chambers important groups have been formed, whose members are endeavor-ing to secure the enforcement of ex-isting enactments and the promoting of fresh legislation with the view of limiting the number of saloons, of strengthening the hands of the au-thorities so as to improve their su-pervision and eventually to forbid the sale of absinthe as being the most de-leterious of alcoholic liquors. It is argued that the enormous augmenta-tion in the perecentage of lumatics among the population of recent years is for the most part due to drink and that the habit is, besides, having a general deteriorating effect on the mation. formed, whose members are endeavor-

The senators taking part in the agita-tion are headed by M. Charles Dupuy and the deputies by M. Ribot, and these two distinguished statesmen have obtained an assurance from M. Clem-enceau that the cabinet will strongly support the movement. In the course of an interview with the premier, a deputation of the two groups secured a promise that a cir-cular would be addressed to the mayors of the 40,000 communes, instructing them to enforce more strictly the law of January, 1873, which has virtually fallen into abeyance and which deals with the punishment of drunkenness. graduated penalties. The deputation pointed out to M. Clemenceau that a later enactment, pased in 1880, although it did not re-peal the act of 1873, was probably the principal cause of the alarming develop-ment of the drinking habit. This act permitted the indiscriminate opening of saloons, the only restriction relating to hours of business. It, however, con-tained a salutary proviso giving the tained a solutary proviso giving the mayors power to limit the number of saloons in the vicinity of schools and educational institutions, so as not to place temptation in the way of young people. This clause, which has fallen into desuetude except in a very few in-stances, is in future to be strictly applied plied. The premier promised to procure statistics from all the mathemases of France, of the number of inmates whose lunacy is directly or indirectly due to alcoholism and more particular-ly to the absorption of absinthe. These figures, which are likely to be formid-able, are to be utilized in the course of the debates on the new bills of the debates on the new bills,

Session of City Council After considering the Ferry resolution in

City Councilman F. S. Fernstrom op-posed the Galveston plan in a strong speech. He said if the measure be-carrie law and the city were placed in the hands of three men, they will have the power to build up the biggest poli-tical machine that is possible to con-struct, and one that it would be impos-sible to beat down. He said the plan was largely theoretical, and would not bring about the reforms claimed for it, and was un-American in its idea. Ha special session last night for about an our, the city council would not take final action on it but laid it over until the action on it but into the order into the regular meeting on Monday night. The resolution provides for a petition to the legislature asking it to pass a bill au-thorizing the dity council to levy a tax of not more than three mills for the pay-ment of interest and for a sinking fund for the redemption of the city's bonds. Mr. Ferry made a talk in favor of his resolution in which he said that the law requires the city to provide a sinking fund for the redemption of bonds but so far Sait Lake City has avoided it. Un-less some action is taken soon to provide such a fund. Mr. Ferry said, that the city would have to adopt one of three radical alternatives. It would have to increase the assessed valuation of properity the fault in the payment of interest on the bonds. Either one of these he contended, would not be desirable hence he urged the adoption of his resolution so that the matter could be passed up to the state legislature. It was deemed advisable by a majority egular meeting on Monday night. The oring about the reforms claimed for it, and was un-American in its idea. Ha compared the Galveston idea to the se-cret council of Venice, and said the American plan of municipal govern-ment was the best in the world, and could not be approached in efficiency by the plan now proposed. Margaine La Croix for European nobility and the women of Ameri-ca's smartest set, were the precursors of this most artistic product. Working together they seemed "to snatch a grace beyond the reach of art." Unfettered by narrow precedents, approaching a labor of love with spirits unhampered and freed from set rules by their art training, with no wrong principles learned to follow, and with only NOW and their great art as a foundation, they evolved and builded a new corset—a corset essentially different from any hitherto known —a corset with all the qualities of true elegance, symmetrical beauty, refined taste and poetic attraction.

Mme. Foulde de Gras, understanding to a nicety the value of art and its lines, contributed this knowledge and invented the pat-entable features of the corset. Mme. Margaine La Croix, as the artis-tic dressmaker, understood to perfection the construction of a cor-rectly fitting garment. The combination was ideal. It had been the province of one to paint, the other to gown, the world's most charming examples of femininity. Their two arts blended and their achievement was ideal too. achievement was ideal, too, to placing the power in the hands of one man. W. S. McCornick responded with a few words after repeated calls. He claimed the present plan of govern-ment was good enough for him. Mr. Richter, the real estate man, de-clared as a taxpayer he was emphatic-ally opposed to the change, and hoped the legislature would not burden the statute books with a law of this kind. Rev. Frank Fay Eddy favored sim-plifying the machinery of the city gov-ernment, and thought the adoption of the Galveston plan would accomplish the result. Three men could represent the people as well as 15 men. Representuative Kuchler announced that, with his present light on the sub-ject, he would oppose the adoption of the bill.
