DOUBLE-HEADING.

Union Pacific and Santa Fe Enter An Agreement.

Through agreement with their trainmen and engineers the Union Pacific and the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe roads have abolished double-heading except in certain extraordinary cases, says the Railway and Engineering Review. The agreement entered into is as follows: "With trains of over 36 cars, exclusive of cabooses, the practise of double-heading will be discontinued ex-cept as hereinafter provided. (1) Helpers may be used between the following points. (Here follows a list of points on the mountain division.) (2) Helpers may be run on any district when nec-essary because of storms, engine failures, to avoid running engines light, in moving engines to and from shops or from one district or division to another, providing the rating of the heaviest en-gine is not exceeded. (2) In case of ac-cident to any engine consolidation may be effected with another train and the consolidated trains brought into terminal as a double-header if practica-ble. (4) When by reason of the acquirement of additional lines, changes in grade, etc., it becomes necessary, helper service may be established where the conditions are similar to those cov-erer by helper limits as above provided.

Interstate Commerce Commission to Meet at Los Angeles Tuesday.

San Francisco, April 2 .- The interstate commerce commission is coming to this state and on next Tuesday will begin its sessions in Los Angeles. The main matter to be investigated in the alleged pooling arrangement between the Southern Pacific and SantaFe rallroad companies, which it is charged, divided the California traffic to the disadvantage of shippers. The Southern California fruit exchange and certain other big shippers of citrus fruits, who are represented in a company known as the Consolidated Forwarding company, are the plaintiffs in the action, and both in Southern California will have on the are made defendants.
