FOOD INSPECTOR KENDALL.

His Lightning-Like Velocity and Calculations.

"I Consider That Mr. K. Has Figured Himself Into the Path of the Official Buzz-saw.

Editor Deseret News:

"Six!" These figures represent the number of food inspections made by our nimble movement inspector during the week ending November 25th. Now we can all loosen the strings of our pistache purses and travel unmolested in the good things exhibited in the markets and all owes to our Thanksgiving dinners without fear of any unpleasant consequences to the epigastrium.

But while I contemplate these figures at the beginning of the advent the rule of division will intrude into my meditation and intimate the inefficiency, the inutility of such inspections. Six days of eight hours each would give forty-eight hours in which to make those six inspections—about ten and one-third each hour and less than six minutes to each inspection.

Imagine the weighty work which fish, poultry, game, milk, cabbage, veal, immoderate veal or a tub of electric garrotine revives through the sun under this lightning inspection. The very friction produced assimilates the articles inspected. Saturate with coal oil to render them unfit for use. Why that is but a waste of oil. The incomprehensible velocity with which these things are inspected must instantaneously reduce them to ash and cinders.

I should say that the inspector's dynamo must be about 25,000 horse power and that he is charged with at least 40,000 volts. And if he keeps up this incomprehensible velocity the underwriters will be using our responsibility failures for nonexistent fire bugs. For when he gets charged up in his working capacity he is liable to combustion and explosion and to start a conflagration in every place he inspects. His electric propulsiveness has, it seems, precipitated him against the business center of the official boot now. If he will take the advice of one who sole for him he will patent his inspecting process and exhibit it at the Midwinter Fair.

Seriously, his reports of the number of his inspections made in a given time cause a smile from every one who has any experience in canvassing or inspecting. And the dispatch with which he effects them leaves the lightning fleet, seller distances. And when published, the reports of his inspections, instead of showing any efficacy or thoroughness, unpleasantly give him away, and indicate that the community should have unlimited liberty to appreciate the action of the honorable Mayor in exculpating him.

After all, our system of food inspection does not accomplish the object for which it was intended. The only way to prevent dishonest dealers from dispensing of unwholesome food products to consumers is to publish the names of articles condemned, the quantity, when and what done with, the name of the dealer and the number of the place of barter. This is the only effective food inspection. It is done in eastern cities. Why not adopt this system here?

Relief Society Conference.

The quarterly conference of the Relief society of this Stake of Zion will be held in the Fourteenth ward assembly rooms, in this city, on Friday, Dec. 15th, 1893, meetings commencing at 10 a. m. and at 2 p. m., as usual. As this is an important time and there is much need of relief among the people in the several wards, it is evident, governed by the presiding officers of the society that there should be representatives from each branch present to hear the instruction that is likely to be given in reference to the care of the needy, that there may be no suffering among the people that can be avoided. A cordial invitation is also extended to all interested in this benevolent work, and especially to the Presidency of the Church, the presiding Bishops, the presidency of the Stake of Zion and the Bishops of the several wards.

By order of the president,
M. ISABELLA HORNE.

Medical Testimony.

W. Thornton Parker, M.D., Rosedey, Assistant at Acting Assistant Surgeon at the U. S. Army, writes:

"SALEM, Mass., March 25, 1891.

"While at Stuttgart, Germany, during the winter of 1881-82, I was suffering from a severe attack of bronchitis, which seemed to threaten pneumonia. A mate, at the hotel Marquardt, Commander Hourigan, of the United States Navy, in speaking of my case, came to me and said: 'Doctor, I've a cure that clears trouble of yours by using an Allcock's Porous Plaster.' 'That may be true,' I answered, 'but where can I get the plaster?' 'Anywhere in the civilized world,' said he, 'except here in Stuttgart. Wherever I have a cold I always use one and find relief.' I sent to the drug store for the plaster, and it did all that my friend had promised. Ever since then I have used it whenever suffering from a cold, and I have many times prescribed it for patients.

"The Allcock's Plaster is the best to be had, and has saved many lives, severe illness, and undoubtedly, it acts promptly, will save many valuable lives. Whenever one has a severe cold they should put on an Allcock's Plaster as soon as possible. It should be placed across the chest, the upper margin just below the neck; some hot beef tea or milk will aid in the treatment.

"This is not a patent remedy in the objectionable sense of that term, but a standard preparation of value. The Government supplies for the U. S. Army, and Indian Service, and the foreign Allcock's Porous, and the medical profession throughout the world are well aware of their uniformity and excellence. I shall always recommend it, not only for bronchitis, but as useful salves, applicable to the chest and to the back. It is a preparation worthy of world fame."
