The Salt Lake boys studying at The Sait Lake boys studying at Michigan university have not forgotten their old friend, D. A. Cailahan, the well known Sait Lake athletic coach and physical instructor. Mr. Cailahan has just received from them a hand-some streamer flag of the university colors, blue and gold, with a gold University pin fastened thereon. Local Harvard men learn that "Bloody Monday" has been abolished at Cambridge. This event is a purely college function in which the fair sex does not particpate, and consists mainin the sophomores and freshmen cushing each other around until clothing is at a discount and wrestling is at premium, while sneak thleves raid a premium, while sheak theres, and the rooms of absent students, and townsmien mix up in the affray to help things along. The function was abol-ished by the students themselves on features. Salt Lakers returning from St. Louis report a constant and tremendous jam at the Union station in Kansas City. Viewed With Suspicion.

Utah's great political acrobat has turned another summersualt, and this time landed squarely on his head in the new political party. We con-gratulate the Republicans and Demo-crats upon geting rid of him, although we fear some will not appreciate the blessing as they ought. It is refreshing to note how respectfully, not to say approvingly, the great Democratic daily chronicles his reception on the occasion of his new birth. And with what evident gusto it publishes his "contractic," utters made made at that "patriotic" utterances, made at that time. It is edifying to see with what cheerful resignation the Herald bears up under the loss of the great and only chairman of its party at a time when his valuable services are especially re quired by them on the eve of a great election. Ordinarily, a general who would desert his post at such a junc-ture would be execrated by the whole army, and none would be louder in his It was a "great" gathering. In addidenunciations than the public press, but in this instance the opposite appears "Congressman" Hiles, there were many others to be the case. This condition has aroused the suspicions of the Republi has who "cheered to the echo" every word that was spoken. And the ticket! Well, cans to some extent, and they feel that it's simply "invincible," as will be seen from a cursory glance at the names the move was determined upon in the counsels of the Democratic party for given above. That every man has a record there can be no doubt, and that the purpose of drawing votes from the Republicans. Just how the conecord will not be forgotten at the polls nection is to be made they do not ex-plain, but their suspicions were aroused November next. Of course, the star feature was the spell-binding speech of and they feel that some deep laid plot is at the bottom of the move, the de-Senator Cannon. It may be said, too, that the speech of "Hon." Patrick J. that the speech of "Hon." Patrick J. Daly was a gem, yea, one which in pa-thos and deep-seated sympathy for "poor Utah." excelled even the immor-tal uttorances of Marc Antony at the funeral of his friend, Julius Caesar. And when he reached that celebrated climax, "If ye have tears, prepare to shed them now." the yest assemblaze tails of which will be revealed by its operation .- Iron County Record.

ENGRAVING TAUGHT

Evenings by H. O. Jensen, 49 Main St. Awarded gold medal at State Fair, Genuire ROYAL BREAD .. pure and bears our label with the crown. At all

The convention was held at the Salt Lake theater, beginning at 2 o'clock. The first number on the program was a selection by the Utah State band, which struck up the "American Repubevidently referring to the new party. Then came a few words from 'Senator' George L. Nye, who blushparty. ingly thanked the convention for "the honor conferred," as to him had been entrusted the sacred duty of leading the grand march. The speech, as usual, was a "ringer" and at its conclusion that stalwart "Patrick Henry of Amer-icanism," P. J. Daly, was introduced as the steering gear of the convention, and after a few preliminary apologies in a sort of "this-is-so-sudden" frame of mind, he delivered himself of one of the most dearned dissertations on conditions in Utah, that ever rang out within the walls of that historic edifice, Detracting not in the least from the speech of Senator Cannon, which folthe owed, Mr. Daly's effort was one of the most brilliant things on the program, and as the young Demosthenes retired to make way for those who were to follow, he took with him the unstituted applause of all his auditors, and it was plainly to be seen that he had well paved the way for greater heights in a lay not very far distant. Permanent Secretary W. E. Walker then read the call through which the oody was ushered into being, and after the announcement of Judges Street, Dininny, Cahoon, Blackmarr and Borase as a committee on resolutions, Mrs. Lillie Pinkerton Moore sang "The Star Spangled Banner," and for an encore, "The Red, White and Blue," both of which were most charmingly rendered.

FRANK J'S NUMBER

Then "a noted son of Utah, that peeress statesman, Frank J. Cannon,' Was introduced to the great assemblage. Instantly, as if he were "to the manor a thousand throats pealed forth a glad refrain and Mr. Cannon stood before the footlights. Mr. Cannon's fore the footlights. speech was characteristic of the man. He lauded Senator Kearns and condemned all who were not in sympath; with the new movement. He thanke He thanked the Deseret News for its characteriza-tion of his famous effort and endavored reconcile his latest gyrations with his famous "get together, stay gether" telegram, by stating that after he had sent it he learned to his deep regret that the Republican chairman of this state had succeeded in bargain-ing with the Democratic party for the delivery of a sufficient number of votes to overcome the "American" defection the Republcian ranks. The senato closed with a pathetic poem in which he endeavored to show his great love for Utah and her "suffering hosts."

PLATFORM AND RESOLUTIONS.

The convention then adopted a platform and resolutions as follows: Your committee on resolutions and platform beg leave to report as fol-

We recommend the adoption of the platform of the first mass meeting of the American party of Utah, held in the Grand theater, Salt Lake City, Utah, on Sept. 14, 1904. We congratulate the people of Utah upon the organization of the American party of Utah, a party which stands for the regeneration of the politics of the state, for the enfranchisement of all the people for all time, for the elimination of the ecclesiastical from the po-litical field and to compel the recogni-tion and enforcement of the barrier between church and state, by the church

Itself. The American party of Utah assails no man's religion, attacks no man's creed, but invites every qualified elec-tor, regardless of religious belief, or previous political affiliations, to join the general movement which has for its ultimate object that absolute freedom in the exercise of the elective franchise. which can only come when the priesthood shall confine its activity to re-
