BOARD OF EDUCATION.

There Are Eight "Liberals" and Three People's, at Present.

INFAMOUS "LIBERAL" FRAUDS.

A Falling Off of 25 Per Cent From February.

Yesterday's school election is past, and while the result is as generally expected, except in one instance, the record will go down as one in which the most unblushing frauds were perpetrated to bring about a desired result on the part of the organization which has the election machinery in its hands, and which is clamoring and toiling for minority control in this Territory.

FIRST MUNICIPAL WARD.

This ward was carried by the "Liberals" in February, and the same result was anticipated for yesterday. But it would not have been so had the People been allowed to cast their full strength, as shown by the comparative table of election returns published today. Names of People's voters were stricken off from the registry list without stint, some of the men thus treated being old and well known citizens, for the erasure of whose names the registrar cannot find the shadow of an excuse, but his reward is in the fact that it serves his party well. The result in the first municipal ward was the election, by a vote of 338 to 311, of Hiram Johnson and George W. Shaw, "Liberals," as trustees for that district.

SECOND MUNICIPAL WARD.

Here the same tactics were resorted to, though probably not to the same extent, as the People's voters are in the minority there. Except several debates, there was little of a lively nature. Among the People's Party voters who were stricken from the lists were men who have lived there 25 to 30 years, at the same place of residence. They have voted for years past, and were on the old registry lists. They were willing to take the oath, or furnish any proof that was necessary to establish their right to vote, but they were summarily shut off by the "Liberal" judges. The trustees elected in the second ward are Wm. Nelson and T. C. Armstrong, Jr., "Liberals." In the afternoon here, the horde of "Liberals" which were brought up from the R. G. W. depot for any purpose, were shipped to the Twentieth Ward schoolhouse, as their votes were not needed in the ward where they were.

THIRD MUNICIPAL WARD.

In this district, in February the People had a majority of 58. The "Liberal" managers made a bold attempt to steal the ward by cutting off, by wholesale, from the registration lists, the names of People's Party voters. Among them were men born, raised and now living in the ward. They have been registered and have voted for years. They are well known to the deputy registrar, George Lambourne, and have been since boyhood, yet that official erased their names, and that without just cause. Others who were similarly treated were numbered among old settlers here, who have aided in developing the country from the time it was a mud wilderness. It was no wonder then that there was a feeling of anger at the outrage perpetrated upon them. They went to the registrar, C. E. Allen, for redress, and he gave them a note, with a pretense of being fair, but it did no good. His show of fairness was but hypocrisy, and the American citizens thus grossly wronged had to submit, because they were members of the People's Party. The "Liberal" plot, however did not work, from the fact that three of the People's Party whose names still remained turned out in force, and rolled up a majority of one hundred and fourteen for their candidates—a good showing in view of the difficulties they had to encounter. It was discovered here that the registrar had stricken off the name of one of the People's candidates for trustee—Joseph S. Hyde—as the name of Mr. John N. Pike, which was graciously permitted to remain on the list, was substituted, and he received the full vote. Messrs. John N. Pike and Wm. J. Newman, People's candidates, were elected trustees from the third municipal ward.

FOURTH MUNICIPAL WARD.

The most barefaced and impudent attempts at fraud in elections occurred in the Fourth Municipal Ward. When the People's Party committees obtained a copy of the registration list for that Ward it was found that considerably over one hundred names—chiefly Irish—were thereon, and could not be accounted for by residence, occupation, or anything else. At the polls it was soon discovered where these voters came from. A motley crowd of dirty, drunken Irishmen came at intervals to the Twentieth Ward schoolhouse to vote, and gave such names as were then unvoted at the polls. The scenes that took place, while sometimes amusing, ought to have brought a blush of shame to any political party that could condescend to such miserable tactics in order to produce the results they desired. But there is no room for shame among the "Liberals" leaders there.

Some of the incidents are cited. A man giving the name of Ernest Hales presented himself at poll No. 1, and on being challenged and questioned as to his residence he couldn't tell where he lived. Another giving the name of Thomas Collins, was in the same predicament. On being asked where he lived he seemed confused, and muttered something about having no fixed place of abode. He could not inform the judges just where he did live. Another, giving the name of Patrick Dougall, said he worked at the Rio Grande depot, and on being questioned as to where he lived, he replied, "Up City Creek;" — no house, no number, no street, no place in particular, but just up in City Creek. He did not board with anybody, he did not live with anybody; he merely lived "up by the upper waterworks." Such a man was considered fit to exercise the right of franchise and vote the "Liberal" ticket.

Another man attempting to vote in the name of James C. Gibson was challenged as to his residence. He claimed to have lived one week in the Ward, but could not tell when or where. On being requested to take the oath he refused to do so, and rather than be bothered and hampered with further questions, he snatched his ballot and made for the door. There were seven others to whom it was too much of an ordeal to take the oath, and rather than do so they walked off. The effrontery with which these batches were brought up and put in line to vote threw exceeded anything that has ever taken place in the district before.

Some of those who presented themselves, when questioned as to where they lived, said "In City Creek." "Do you live in City Creek?" was then asked.

"Yes, sir; in City Creek?"

"But do you live in the creek?"

"Well, no; not in the creek, but by the side of it."

Others would frankly acknowledge that they had neither house nor habitation of any kind—not even a tent to cover their heads; and on being interrogated concerning this they replied, "I was hard up and had to sell my tent, and now I am living under some brush. I have a right to vote here."

One man presented himself the second time to vote, and on being recognized and questioned said that "rather than have any bother he would withdraw." He took his ballot and departed.

Several, on being questioned as to their place of residence, appeared to be paralyzed for the moment, and had not the finished idea ohill reply to give. One (pointing) said: "I live three blocks down that way and two over there," but he could neither give the name of the party, nor describe the house and street.

Another said: "I live on Murphy's."

"Well," rejoined the judge, "where is Murphy's?"

"Over there (pointing) but I don't know the street nor the number of the house."

"Well, but while in Murphy's?"

(After a pause) "Sure, I cannot tell;" was the answer.

Another, on being asked where he lived, replied: "Oh, I live at Kelly's."

"Well, where is Kelly's?"

"Oh, I can't tell you where Kelly's is, only I know I live there."

One man admitted that he was registered at the Cliff House, and another that he was registered "in a saloon down town."

"What saloon?" was demanded.

"Well I don't know where it is," replied the would-be voter; "only it's a saloon down town."

Others would answer that they were working at the Rio Grande depot and lived away up City Creek, "at the upper waterworks," where nobody resides.

One individual presented himself and gave the name of "Jarad W. Fletcher." The challenger for the People's Party being a personal friend of Fletcher, and associated with him in business, was astonished on hearing the name given by this individual, and exclaimed, "What! What is your name?" The man then answered, "Jarad Fletcher," and attempted to vote in that name, but not having been sufficiently posted he failed and went out.

Another presented himself under the name of "James T. Gallacher." Gallacher was known to some of those present, and to say that they were amazed at the boldness of men coming up to personate other people but feebly expresses the situation.

The "Liberal" judges seemed disposed to allow every man to vote who said he was in the precinct, provided his appearance bedokened that he was a "Liberal."

E. V. Hampton and William Calder were challenged on the ground of being polygamists. Both had subscribed to the oath and were registered, although they were willing and anxious to remain unheard to the oath they were debarred from doing so, and from exciting their ballot. Quite a number of the People's party were stricken off the lists by the "Liberal" registrar for reasons best known to himself.

One man presented himself and gave the name of Richard H. Cabell. On being challenged it was discovered that he had not resided six months in the territory when he registered. A discussion arose over this point, the "Liberal" judges holding that it was not necessary, while the minority judge reading the oath which says that he had resided six months in the territory and thirty days in the precinct, maintained it was absolutely necessary that it should be so. Mr. Cabell was frank enough to admit that he had not resided the required time, and that the oath had been changed to suit his particular circumstances. Will deputy registrar Kessler explain this fraud?

Another man stood in a similar position as Mr. Cabell; his residence in the Territory had not exceeded three months. Still, his name was placed on the registry list by deputy registrar Kessler.

A herculean was asked to convey four personators from the R. G. W. depot to the Fourth Precinct polling place in the afternoon. He refused, as he did not want to have anything to do with the dead business. He drove to the pen empty and reported about that the "Liberal" knights might be appropriately rewarded. They were brought up in an express wagon. The People's challengers were on them. They could give no intelligible account of residence or other qualification. Their votes were not refused, but, seeing the situation, they withdrew, jumped upon a street car and disappeared.

A few minutes before the time for closing the polls two loads of "Liberal" personators were dumped on to the Twentieth Ward square. They were also from the R. G. W. depot. Several persons wearing "Liberal" badges were among them, whispering gently to their ears, giving them, it is presumed, the names of persons they were to personate. Mr. Cabell warned the transients that if they voted they would be arrested, as they had no right to vote. One of the fellows, who was under the influence of liquor, remarked to one of the "Liberal" whippers—"I'll be d—d if I'll vote for that crowd. It isn't enough." Finally the crowd left without voting. At about the same instant Judge Boyle appeared at the door of the building and said: "Gentlemen, the polls are closed."

At poll No. 1 the "Liberal" judges acted much more gentlemanly, though they caused a good deal of unnecessary annoyance. Messrs. Henry Fancy and Charles Sanson were among those challenged for having been polygamists. They offered to take the oath that they were not, but were refused. Afterwards this decision was reconsidered, and they were allowed to vote. Other similar cases were acted on in the same way. Mr. Sanson, Jr.'s, name was spelled with a final a instead of m, and though he was known to be the proper person, he had to go down to the Utah Commission office, to the deputy registrar, and do considerable more running about before he was finally permitted to cast his ballot.

The proceedings ended at poll No. 1, about the method by which Mr. Williams received two votes more than Mr. Young, thus overturning the will of the majority of the legal voters in the fourth municipal ward with respect to him.

As the face of the returns now shows, there are returned for trustees George D. Pyper, People, and P. L. Williams, "Liberal."

FIFTH MUNICIPAL WARD.

At this district matters were quiet, though a good vote was polled. There was no show of frauds here, probably for the reason that the district is three-fourths "Liberal" and the usual adjuncts of that party were unnecessary. The result was the election of L. U. Colbath and C. F. Mitchener, "Liberals," as trustees.

Those elected yesterday, with Mayor Scott, compose the Board of Education. The political complexion is: The mayor and seven trustees, "Liberals;" three trustees, People.

MR. DYER'S RESIGNATION.

He Steps Out as Receiver in the Church Case

E. S. STONE MADE EXAMINER.

The Successor to Mr. Dyer is Not Yet Named.

Yesterday it became known to several people that Frank H. Dyer had formulated his resignation of the office of receiver in the suit of the government for the confiscation of "Mormon" Church property. Mr. Dyer stated that he did not intend filing the document until this morning, and requested that no publicity be made of his action till his letter had been sent to the court. About 3:30 last evening, however, his attorney, Mr. Williams, filed the paper with Clerk Bacho. It reads as follows:

In the Supreme Court of the Territory of Utah.

The United States of America, plaintiff, vs. the Late Corporation of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints et al., defendants.

To the Honorable Supreme Court—I respectfully submit that on November 7, 1887, I was by this court appointed to the position of receiver of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, and required to give a bond for the faithful performance of my duty as such receiver in the sum of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars. Immediately after which I entered actively and vigorously upon the discharge of the duties of that responsible position. This appointment was made in pursuance of an act of Congress approved March 3, 1887, authorizing and directing the Attorney General of the United States to bring suit and to wind up the affairs of the late corporation of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, and to collect the property to the government for the said corporation, and in view of the fact that by the terms of said act, passed in March, 1887, and I was not appointed receiver until over eight months after the passage of the act, not nearly two years after the introduction of the bill in Congress, it will thus be seen that the managers of this late corporation had all this time in which to prepare for what all the time seemed to be the inevitable, the selling or otherwise disposing of all the property belonging to said corporation, and in view of the fact that by these means the immense encumbrance and that they have always been hostile to the enforcement of all United States laws which in any manner affected them or their religion, it was no surprise to the public generally when it was disclosed that they had disposed of all their property—at least had endeavored to do so, and evidently thought they had succeeded, so that after my appointment there was no property to be had except at the cost of litigation, and it was not thought by many that we would ever recover possibly more than some odd words of property, which at the time of my appointment was known to be lurking somewhere in Uncle Sam's Treasury Office. Myself and associates began a vigorous search, however, which was kept up unintermittingly for a time almost night and day, and as a result of this search and long and tedious examinations and investigations, depositions, etc., and the use of every means that we could command, dealing as we were with a people who, as a class, were determined to conceal our assets, I have succeeded in getting nearly to the value of about $600,000 cash, and it is only making a grand total of about $1,000,000 of property recovered to this court, of about $1,000,000 worth of property. Thus it will be seen that from five to eight times as much property has been refused to the possession of this receiver as the expected by him or any one whom he ever consulted, express or opinion upon the subject. I gave at all times given to the business of the situation that I deemed essential, at times devoting everything for it. In cases where I could not give my personal attention to the management of the personal property and holdings, I have hired the most competent and reliable help that I could find, and in no case ever paid more than I should have paid for like men, hiring them privately. I have established the expenditures as closely as it was possible for me so to do under the circumstances, and believe them to be just and reasonable as the surrounding circumstances would permit. That I have incurred never difficulties and disadvantages at times I thank you are fully aware, but under all circumstances and in all cases I have labored honestly for the best interest of all and with which I have been entrusted. The whole thing was without precedent and beset with embarrassments, doubts and many conflicting ideas that I simply ignored all except the judgment of myself and my attorneys, and went on and did the best I knew how, always however, with an eye single to the best interests of the trust. And now, gentlemen, I desire to say that I have recently become the manager for two large corporations in both of which I have large personal interests, this, with my private matters, gives me more business than I can attend to and do justice to the receivership, and as I have no disposition to hold it simply for the salary or to desire to get anything unless I render full value therefor, and after thanking the court as such for the kindnesses and courtesies shown, I beg to resign the position of receiver of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, to which post (as I have served you a little more than two years and a half, and ask that my successor be appointed as early as he can conveniently be by the court. The property will in such condition that it can be turned over in a few hours.

Very respectfully,
FRANK H. DYER,
Receiver.

SALT LAKE CITY, July 14, 1888.

The Supreme Court held a brief session this morning, but only Judges Zane and Anderson were there. The chief justice announced that the court would appoint a special examiner and commissioner, to examine the accounts of Mr. Dyer, as receiver. Mr. Stone was not in court, but it is presumed that the judges ascertained whether or not he would act, in view of the result that followed the appointment of Mr. Jones.

Who is Mr. Stone? is a question that was many times repeated after the appointment was made. Very little is known about him, as he is comparatively a new comer. He is an attorney, and it was only on Saturday last that he was admitted to the bar of the Territorial Supreme Court. He is from Nevada, and is the law partner of ex-United States Attorney W. H. Dickson. He is said to be a capable attorney.

Nothing was done with Mr. Dyer's resignation, but as the court adjourned to 9:30 a. m. to-morrow, when Judges Henderson and Hiles-horn are expected to be present, there may be some step taken.

WESTERN NEWS NOTES.

Items of Interest Culled From Various Sources.

CALIFORNIA.

Haywards, July 10.—Frank Zimmermann, a German, 62 years old, was found dead yesterday morning near Mount Eden. He had been living in the family of E. Eichler, a wealthy resident near Mount Eden, for the past twenty-five years. On Tuesday Mr. Eichler asked the deceased to do some work. He replied that he was not going to do any more work; that he had lived long enough and that he would hang himself that night. Mr. Eichler thought nothing more of the remark, but yesterday morning the old man was not to be found and he had not been in his bed.

On searching, his body was found hanging in a straw shed near the barn, with his feet about one foot from the ground. The neck was not broken, so that he died from strangulation. He was a sober man, but has not had very good health for some years. He was buried the same day, as decomposition had already set in when the body was found.

St. Helena, July 10.—Burel Rea, a thirteen-year-old lad of this place, while visiting at the farm of Mr. Campbell, near Oakville, fell from a secondary window of the barn, where he was at play with the boys, and struck on a pointed stake of a hay sled, which, entering the rectum, penetrated his body seventeen inches. The unfortunate lad was immediately taken to the house, but he lived only two minutes. He never spoke after the accident. There was not a mark or scratch on his body.

Yesterday Rea was the son of a widow, who of late has resided in St. Helena. Some time ago her home was in Napa, where she pursued the occupation of a nurse. The stricken lady was in San Francisco at the time of the accident. But was hastening his vacation at Mr. Campbell's, where she thought he would be safe from harm.

Chico, July 10.—News was brought to Chico last evening of a fatal accident that had taken place at the ranch of John Fritter, near Dayton, and in which his son, Isaac F. Fritter, was dragged to a terrible death.

Young Fritter was engaged in unharnessing a horse in the stable yard and had just removed the saddle preparatory to putting on the halter when the animal started to run. The bridle was jerked upward and was securely fastened around the young man's legs. He was jerked from his feet and the horse started at a mad pace around the saddle yard, dragging the young man after him.

Efforts were made to stop the animal, which were only successful after some five or six minutes' running. An examination was made of the boy's wounds, but a glance showed he was past all human aid, and he expired a few minutes afterward.

NEW MEXICO.

Albuquerque (N. M.), July 10.—Jose Concharis shot and killed Jesus Garcia on the Rio Perrenia, in Valencia county, yesterday afternoon. Garcia was the Mayordomo of Arroyito, and the difficulty which culminated in his being killed grew over water rights. Some claim that a feud for some time had existed between the men, and that Concharis took the least provocation to kill his man. Last year at the election for Magistrate both contended for the office and therein was started by a few votes, and it is said that then Concharis made threats that he would kill his opponent before he would serve out his office. Both are prominent Mexicans.

ARIZONA.

Phoenix, Arizona, July 10.—Reports in the Democratic papers indicate that the city of Prescott and today was greeted throughout Biblical and Eastern Arizona. In the San Pedro and Gila valleys, the fall was specially welcomed. Willcox (32 inches). A whirlpool occurred at San Simeon, near the New Mexican line, and the Southern Pacific washouts into it destroyed eleven bents.

IDAHO.

Twin Falls, Idaho, July 12.—The district court opened here on the 9th inst., with C. H. Berry judge. The criminal calendar was called and the case of the Territory against Silas Ellis, for murder, was dismissed on motion of E. S. Symes, district attorney, and for sufficient reasons stated. This case will be remembered in connection with the murder of Annie Gravell at Oxid nearly a year ago.

The case of the Territory against J. Cahill was dismissed also and he was given twenty hours to leave the country. If he did not he was liable to be rearrested. Several civil cases were disposed of, one divorce case was several ways similar to the offense of the United States. No grand jury or trial jury was impaneled for this term. The calendar is now clear and this morning court adjourned. This will be the last term under our territorial government.

Several deputy marshals are here today and several arrests have been reported made on indictments found by the Union States grand jury at Blackfoot for perjury at the last election. It is solely a political move and the republicans want to secure the deniers from the polls this coming election. J. H. Kinnerly, registration agent at Montpelier, was arrested today for attempting J. T. Hart to register at the last election. The political pot is now boiling. A party of republicans will meet Dubois at Green River tonight and will escort him into this State. The republican party will meet in convention at Boise on the 24th, where Delegate Dubois will be tendered a grand reception.

CALIFORNIA.

A resident of White Rock, near the El Dorado county line, writing to the Record Union, under a recent date, of ravages by grasshoppers in that section, says: "They have stripped a good many fruit trees and grape vines of every leaf and peeled the bark from all tender shoots. Vegetable gardens are ruined, and where two weeks ago were lovely flower gardens nothing but stalks remain. The pests undoubtedly intended here, as when they were first noticed they were about the size of common house flies.

The Sacramento Bee of July 9 has the following:

On June 26th last, Robert Smith, a cowboy, was found dead in his cell at San Quentin. A post in his cell told plainly of a case of suicide. A coroner's inquest resulted in nothing. An usual verdict in formally declare that Smith had died by his own hand. He had suffered from asthma, and—as the coroner says that gained currency at the prison—was refused medicine by Dr. Durand, the prison doctor, and shut up in a close cell, which aggravated his ailment. Durant claims, however, that he did prescribe for the convict and that his cell was no worse than others. At the inquest the question was asked, "Where did Smith get the knife with which to cut the artery of his wrist?" but the only reply was that prisoners used knives in the jute mill and sometimes secreted them until carried them to their cells. As to Smith, the impression seems to prevail that he took his life rather than submit to slow death in his cell. Asthmatic patients require abundance of air to avoid great suffering, and it is not impossible that poor Smith, rather than endure the choking, stifling air of his dungeon, took his life in the hope that it would end all.

Fourth of July in Roumania.

Farming and implement men will be interested in the news by cable dispatch July 8th, from Bucharest, that the reaper manufacturer, Walter A. Wood, has captured for our country on its national holiday the first prize, the gold medal, in the important Roumanian wheat binding harvester field trial. Bucharest, with a population of a quarter of a million, is capital of Roumania and beautifully situated in the heart of a great grain-producing part of Europe. Wood's ingenious machine is doing credit to this country by gripping the high prizes and also aiding in improving the conditions of farming everywhere.

We are sole agents for the celebrated Walter A. Wood machines. See the Single Apron Binder, compare it with others and you will soon decide that the "Wood" is the machine to buy. We are headquarters for twine.
