IN A CHLOROFORM SLEEP

Orpheum Singer Had Narrow Escape From Death This Morning.

Miss Linden Beckwith, the beautiful singer who is appearing as "The Singing Portrait" at the Orpheum, met with a mishap this morning that for a while looked as though it would turn out to be pretty serious. But for the fortunate arrival of Mrs. Bolby, the wife of the kinodrome operator, there might have been another sequel.

It appears that Miss Beckwith left word with her maid last night to be at the theater early this morning to lean the white velvet facing on one of her gowns. Miss Beckwith, after breakfast, left the Knutsford to see how the girl was getting along. On arrival at her dressing room the maid had not put in an appeaarnce, so after waiting half an hour the actre. s proseeded to brighten up the dress hermerely with the departure, in which it was explained that Bell stayed on the train till it was going at a high rate of speed, offering the victims "fatherly

The return to the city was detailed, including a trip to the Sanitarium roominghouse, where Bell and Davis were encountered, while McWhirter was looking over the register trying to locate their names, and a trip to the chief of police afterwards, in which he was upbraided by Sheets for not telephoning him at once when he located the men, so they could have been attentions of the state of the could have been attentions. restet. McWhirter's reply was that he had lost all faith in the police department after his experience with it. In reply to a question if there were any developments, Sheets replied that THERE WERE NONE. The final evidence was taken, when photographs of the O'Briens and Donaldson were produced and identified by the witness. DEFENSE HAS AN INNING.

As it was 12 o'clock when the nar-rative was finished, the court decided not to take up the matter of cross-ex-amination, and adjourned the court till this afternoon, when McWhirter will go into the hands of the friends of Chief Sheets for a fire of cross ques-

THE CAPTURE OF DONALDSON. How the Trail of Sprething Man Was Followed-The Woman in the Case.

The chase engaged in by Sheriff Emery and Deputy Joe Sharp in quest of the men who robbed the McWhirters, and which has been entirely successful so far as the capture of Jim Donaldson is concerned, was a sort of up hill and down dale steeple. The officers decided at an early stage of the game that the robbers were nowhere west of Utah, so in the opposite direction the sheriff hied himself, to be followed later by Sharp. In Denver Emery found by Sharp. In Denver Emery found traces of the delusive Donaldson. The latter remained in the Colorado city long enough to send for and be joined by Effle Fay, a Salt Lake sporting wo-man, who had been residing at 243 south

Main street.
From the minute that the woman left here the chances for Donaldson's cap-ture grew bright. To keep track of the woman meant the finding of the man. The pair went to Omaha from Denver, and there also went Sheriff Emery and he was joined by Deputy Sharp. The Salt Lake officers and the police of Omaha were at times pretty close to the fugitives, but did not land their game. Emery went to Chicago and game. Emery went to Chicago and Sharp proceeded to St. Louis, whither it was supposed Donaldson and the woman had gone, but instead of going o the Missouri metropolis, the gambler pooster and his "sweetheart" landed in Hot Springs, Ark., rented a cosy co tage, and were quietly enjoying life as Dr. and Mrs. Billy James, when Sharp appeared upon the scene and the game

REPORTED CONFESSION.

It is said that Donaldson made a full confession to the deputy sheriff, not only as to his part in the $10,000 robbery, but as to his relations to the Salt Lake chief of police. Donaldson also consented to return to Utah without requisition papers. Sheriff Emery, however, at once obtained the necessary authority and is now on his way to Arkansas, and any fight that Donaldson nay choose to make against returning here to stand trial for his misdolings will prove futile. Effle Fay will be brought along with him.

That Denaldson intended to follow the same line of "grafting" that has proved so lucrative to him here is eviproved so lucrative to him here is evidenced by the fact that he at once assumed the title of "Dr.," doubtless done to give an impression of respectability. Then he had sent for two roulette wheels, of the kind that are "fixed" to win for the manipulator, but after he was placed under arrest he countermanded the order. The surething machines are an invention of Donald. machines are an invention of Donald-son, and Chief of Police Sheets has one of them at police headquarters, taken from the Gladstone house in this city some time ago.

Efforts are still being made to capture the O'Briens' and it is thought that the brothers will soon be in the tolls. It is known that they were with Donaldson in Denver, and as they are being looked for in every city of the country, it is not likely that they will be at large for any great length of time. Mrs. O'Brien has left Salt Lake, probably to join her husband, but May Davis, the sweetheart of Larry O'Brien, is still here, and will doubtless be one of the principal witnesses against the gang and also in the case pending against Chief of Police Sheets.

"STOCKING LEG GAMBLER." ome time ago.

"STOCKING LEG GAMBLER."

"He is also said to have stated that the entire matter of taking him back to Sait Lake City is a plot to ruin him in politics in that city, where he has figured prominently for years as a pol-itician." The above is part of a dispatch from Hot Springs, Ark, giving an account of the arrest there of Jim Donaldson, the notorious gamblinghouse booster, prize fight promoter, etc. When Don-aldson made the above statement, if he aldson made the above statement, if he made it, he may not have intended it, but he perpetrated one of the best jokes sprung in the year of 1906.

In politics and in gambling he has cut about as much figure as a cipher with the rim removed. It is decidedly amusing to hear the politicians and the gamblers comment on Donaldson's absurd claim. The former admit that Donaldson is a politician, but of the Commercial street variety. And as to Commercial street variety. And as to being a gambler, or a king of gamblers, that also is admitted. Said one prominent gambler this morning:

"Yes, Donaldson is certainly a politician and a gambler, but you should explain to the public of what breed. He is a Commercial street politician and a 'stockingleg' gambler."

AS TO JAMES E. CLINTON.

Republicans Look Upon Him as Happy Choice for County Commissioner.

Chairman Eldredge and his fellow Republicans are congratulating themselves on what they deem a wise choice in the selection of a man to take the place on the county ticket for the fouryear commissionership, made vacant by the withdrawal of August W. Carlson. As was stated in last evening's "News," Mr. Clinton was chosen for that position. Mr. Clinton is a subthat position. Mr. Clinton is a sub-stantial man of affairs and is regarded as a safe, successful and conservative business man. He has been for many years identified with stockraising, wool and other industrial interests, besides being associated with banking and oth-er financial affairs. The Republican committee looks upon Mr. Clinton as being altogether the happiest selection that could possibly be made under the circumstances, and declares that there is little doubt of his making a good show of strength at the polls.
