EDITORIAL NOTES.

We are pleased to see the name of our old and esteemed friend, Daniel Tyler, at the head of the new, enlarged and improved Beaver Chronicle.

It has been storming up in the mountains all day, and judging from the lowering clouds that have repeatedly hugged the high hills for several weeks past, we may safely conclude that a considerable deposit of snow has already been made for the farmers' use next summer. How are you, prognosticators of "only two inches of snow this winter?"

The Bradford (England) Advertiser, of December 28th, 1878, contains an interesting letter from Elder Thomas Child, of Springville, Utah, now on a mission in Great Britain. He gives a brief and succinct history of the rise, travels and persecutions of the Church, shows the cause of the hostility against it with the source of the false reports circulated about the Latter-day Saints, and bears testimony to their honesty, sobriety, virtue and devotion to the gospel. The Advertiser has exhibited more than usual liberality in publishing the letter in full. It is calculated to remove much prejudice.

The New York Tribune Almanac, which is also a political register for 1879, is one of the most valuable publications of the kind issued from the press. In addition to the general almanac information, its political, financial, state and national statistics are of great interest, and furnish a vast fund of reliable data for reference. It can be obtained of James Dwyer, who has the N. Y. Clipper Almanac for 1879, and who received several days ago Harper's, Scribner's, St. Nicholas, Leslie's and other popular monthlies, all of which maintain their position as leading magazines, and which can always be obtained in advance of regular subscription times, at Dwyer's.

Scribner & Co., of New York, have just published a handy volume of "Spiritual Songs," selected and arranged by Dr. Chas. S. Robinson, and designed for use in Christian churches as a Manual of Worship. It is arranged to suit congregational singing directed by a leader as well as choir singing. It gives a number of hymns without the music, leaving the tune to be selected by the leader, and both music and words in other instances, most excellent taste and judgment being shown in the selection. The full indexes of words, tunes and notes, is neatly bound in cloth, can be bought for $1.50, and may be obtained through our local music dealers, who will give a liberal discount to churches purchasing in lots for choir.

The following from the Mission Mirror, a Republican paper published in San Francisco, expresses the views of a great many non-Mormons on the polygamy question as now presented: "The women of the country, Mormon and otherwise, have petitioned Congress to pass an Amnesty Act, providing that the Polygamy Law of 1862, just declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, should not take effect until after the passage of such amnesty act, so as to avoid the making of outcasts of the women and of legitimizing the children born since then. In this the women are right. To enforce the Polygamy Act of 1862 would make outcasts of every Mormon married woman, and render every child born illegitimate, which would be an evil worse than polygamy itself. Let the act take effect from the date of its being declared unconstitutional, and so save the women and children."

REVISION AND REJECTION OF SCRIPTURE.

It is expected that the revised New Testament, the work of a number of English and American scholars and theologians, will shortly be published to the world. Of course no critical opinions can be justly given of the merits or demerits of the work until it is placed before the public. But it is asserted as a positive fact that many changes and omissions occur in the new volume, and that among the latter are the last twelve verses of the Gospel according to St. Mark.

The effect of these alterations of the standard version are much dreaded by many conservative persons, who fear that skepticism will be reinforced, by the fact admission of the fallibility of the Scriptures which have so long been appealed to as the very word of God. The fact that many passages hitherto relied upon as inspired declarations will now be pronounced spurious, and that others will be so changed that their significance will be altogether different from the accepted interpretation, will no doubt prove a heavy blow against the doctrine of the verbal inspiration of holy writ. And it is not likely that the new version will be accepted as absolutely correct any more than the old. The consequence will probably be, greater contention and wider confusion, with less confidence than ever in the sayings of those who wrote "as they were moved upon by the Holy Ghost."

No doubt the learned revisers will offer very plausible reasons for the omission of the twelve verses in Mark. But the Latter-day Saints will be able to discover the true motive without much need of assistance. Those verses contain the promise made by Jesus that certain signs should follow them that believe. The signs not having been among the professed believers in Christ for centuries, the natural conclusion is that either Jesus was not a true prophet or those professing Christians are not true believers. In the scriptural sense. This has been an argument of staples for many years. By declaring these verses spurious, the churches will be saved from this imputation, and the obnoxious texts will no longer stand forth as an indication of something lacking in their man-made systems.

The Latter-day Saints know that these rejected texts are true. The same promise contained therein has been renewed in this dispensation. The signs did follow believers in the early Christian Church; they do follow believers now. So the learned revisers may expunge as much as they please, but the promise is still good, and the inference, which may be legitimately based upon the absence of the signs will be just as strong as ever. It is a matter of great congratulation that the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints is not dependent upon the letter of ancient Scripture, in any version, old or new, but is in possession of the truth as revealed direct from the Father of Lights, and that when further knowledge is needed on things that pertain to the salvation of mankind, the living oracles are in our midst, and the Spirit by which Scripture was written is restored to the Saints, so that they may be guided, not by the enticings of man's wisdom, but by the living word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God.

BAL MASQUE.

We understand that the Hebrew Benevolent Society of this city have obtained the use of the Theatre for a bal masque on the 21st prox. It has been rumored that the committee could not obtain the use of the building for this purpose; and the occasion is one of historical and semi-religious interest to the Hebrews, being commemorative of providential interferences for their race in the days of Queen Esther, the supposed refusal was attributed by those who are ever ready to misrepresent the people of Utah, as an intended slight to the Jewish race.

We take this opportunity to present the matter in its true light. There had been some feeling in regard to the bal masque in general, and to one in particular, at which certain matters, which are held sacred by the bulk of the people here, were publicly burlesqued by inconsiderate or vulgar makers. But the committee of the Benevolent Association have pledged themselves that nothing of this character shall be permitted at their entertainment, and as the object is a charitable one, the building will be allowed for this purpose on the day above mentioned. If it had been refused, the refusal would not have been from any disrespect to the Hebrew members of them, but for the reasons named. But this does not affect the main question, which is, as we view it, the general effects of this kind of amusement. We must say that we, with many others, view them in general as evil and non-conducive to public morals. We do not think such entertainments suitable for the Latter-day Saints, and while we would in no way interfere with the enjoyment of others or lay a straw in the way of our Hebrew friends, for many of whom we entertain great respect and the destiny of whose race we consider connected in some degree with our own, we must express our firm conviction that the Latter-day Saints will do well to exempt from among their recreations, one that is open to so many avenues to evil as the bal masque.

IDAHO LEGISLATURE.

The following dispatch to the San Francisco Chronicle shows that the legislative affairs of our northern neighbors were still in the condition described as a deadlock, up to the 19th inst: "Boise City, January 19.—The legislative assembly is still unbroken, and the prospects for a compromise between the two wings of lower house are as remote as ever. The Democrats having assumed to effect an organization before the hour set by law and without having a legal quorum present, is now asked by the Republicans that this organization be abandoned as illegal, and that they start anew and organize according to law, and they claim that it should be so recognized, not only by the Council but also by the Governor. Conference committees having been appointed by the two wings of the body, Leonard Meyer, chairman of the Republican committee, submitted a proposition to solve the question of the legality of their organization with two leading Democrats and one non-partisan, but even this fair proposal was rejected by the Democrats, who have thus placed themselves in a very bad light before the public and their constituents. The session has been discharged, and the deadlock is likely to last to the end of the session."

EASTERN STOCK EXCHANGE.
The Stock Exchange of New York, 24.—The examining committee of the stock exchange has voted to place mining stocks upon their list. They require $50 for expenses and a sworn statement of its financial condition, the company making application to take the stock placed on the list at its expense, an expert named by the exchange, to examine the mine and other property of the company. The first stock placed on the list is the Homestake Mining Co., of California; also ten millions of stock of the Homestake Mining Co., of Dakota.

Practice Malfeasance.
Practice Malfeasance delivered an interesting lecture last evening, before the Bullion Club, on California mining experiences, and offered a suggestion, which the club adopted, to have weekly meetings, at which practical geologists, engineers, miners and experts shall be invited to give free talks, with a view to eliciting general and popular information relative to the precious metal mining in various localities.

The Kid glove case.
After the recent decision in the kid glove case, fixing the rate of value at 40 francs, the samples of gloves upon which the decision was arrived at were sent to the largest dealers in kid gloves in England, and all of them expressed the opinion that they should be properly valued at 52 francs.

A New Hotel.

It is reported that a splendid marble building on Broadway, corner of Chambers, long known as Stewart's marble palace, and which has just been vacated, will be turned into an hotel and operated by the Stewart estate.

Comments on the conduct in the House.

The family quarrel in the House, yesterday, is evidently not concluded, according to the World's comment on the conduct of Mr. Elihu, "I am very sorry this discussion came up, and especially that Elihu should have been led into saying what he did. I myself am a sympathizer with the people of my section. What Elihu said is true enough, but the effect of such things may be disastrous. The democracy of the South must, at all hazards, maintain friendly relations with those of the north, and this is comparatively easy, although if beaten in the North, considered locally, but defeat in the South means the utter ruin of the white race. It is the South that is solid only in self-defense. We are democrats, not always from choice, but from necessity. Where republicanism means caste, for or negro rule, and democracy means the supremacy of our own race, no intelligent man need long hesitate as to which party he will follow." A debate, like that of yesterday, cannot do us any good.

The Herald's correspondent does not think the debate will be reopened. He says it is the fashion to speak of Bragg as a "crochety man" with an infirm temper. But he expressed the sense and will of the northern democrats yesterday. The republicans hope for success in a solid North, and this debate is likely to forestall the South.

The Times correspondent says: Further efforts will be made by southerners to resume the quarrel. Chambers and others are already proposed speeches calculated to bind up the wounds of southern honor. The writer, though, thinks yesterday's debate has spoiled the democratic set of relations between the south and west against the east.

Professor Newberry of the School of Mines of Columbia College, lectured at Steiway Hall, last night, on "Gold and Silver in the Past and Future." He traced the history of the precious metals, and to the present times and gave an account of the earliest discoveries on this continent. He thought that the greatest production of silver had been reached by the immense yield of the Comstock lode. This mine had been a disturbing element in the country's financial affairs, and he thought it once gave of causing a glut of that metal. He believed, however, that nature had come to the rescue, and that silver from that source would be only moderate in quantity.

Probably Fatal Quarrel.
Angustus Phillips, "Oafy Goofer," and his mistress, Mary Hooper, quarrelled this morning at their residence 127 West 10th Street, and she shot him in the side. It is thought fatally. About four hours later Phillips attacked the woman and beat and kicked her so severely that her life is said to be in danger. Both are in danger and were taken to the hospital.

The Mercantile and Shipping Association.

WASHINGTON, 24.—The Senate subcommittee on commerce, consisting of Spencer, McMillan and Dennis, heard arguments on the House bill regulating interstate commerce and prohibiting unfair discrimination by common carriers. A large number of gentlemen from various parts of the country, interested in the measure, were present. M. L. Woods said he appeared here to represent some of the merchants of New York, interested in transportation. He said that the bill, if not undertaken to regulate charges, except in so far that they may be uniform. He read a memorial, humbly signed by merchants, shippers, and shipowners, saying that the passage of the bill would destroy the arbitrary rates of transportation now exacted and would result in ruin to the country. He read letters from California and New York merchants showing they had been overcharged by the Pacific coast railroads, while others had been favored by rebate or drawback. He also read a letter from Chapman Phillips, of New York, complaining of the unjust discriminations of the Pacific Railroad, who are striving to drive the merchants from the clipper ships to the railroads. He said that about 400 merchants had been forced to bow to these exorbitant rates. The letter said that they ask for no protection further than that the railroads shall not unjustly discriminate against commerce, and compel it to use only one mode of transportation, namely, railroads.

Ambrose Snow said he appeared in private capacity as a shipowner, and as a delegate of the New York board of trade and transportation, to show that the present effect of the bill would be ruinous to business. Ship owners had heretofore felt but little interest in railroading, but now they found one of the most important branches of commerce threatened with extinction by the Union Pacific Railroad, which discriminates against merchants who carry their goods by water. He said that the bill would be a betrayal to a foreign power of the most important military secrets, including all the important plans of moving the army. The sum of money which grants the privilege of artillery. He is already under arrest.

GERMANY.

Revealing Military Secrets.

Berlin, 24.—Ominous reports are current here to the effect that the German army has betrayed to a foreign power the most important military secrets, including all the important plans of moving the army. The sum of money which grants the privilege of artillery. He is already under arrest.

Pacific could depress or destroy the shipping interests, why might not the New York Central Railroad Company say to the Erie Canal shippers, if you do not altogether send your freight by our road, we will charge you double rates of transportation when the canal is frozen up and so it might be with regard to other railroads in discriminating against the Mississippi River and great lakes.

Other gentlemen appeared, and spoke of the hardships in the oil and coal monopolies built up by railroads in Pennsylvania in the matter of petroleum.

Melbourne International Exhibition.

Vice-Consul General Lord, at Melbourne, informs the department that the royal commission appointed to superintend the international exhibition there in October, 1880, that our manufacturers will do well to send the most complete products of skilled industry.

Subject Discrimination.

Sharon said, on presenting the resolutions of the Nevada legislature, to-day: "The evils complained of have existed for a long time. The people have not been protected. As the government has subsidized this road by their money and lands, Congress should see that the people are not imposed upon by the railroad corporations. In other words the creature should not be allowed to rise above the creator."

$55,000 Fire.

TOLEDO, Ohio, 24.—The Dayton & Michigan Railway Company's elevator, with its contents, consisting of 100,000 bushels of grain, was destroyed by fire to-day. The loss is estimated at $55,000; insured, $60,000.

The Late Bayard Taylor's Will.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., 24.—The will of Bayard Taylor has been admitted to probate in Chester County, it names John J. Pinkerton, and Charles B. Lamborn as executors. He bequeaths "the sword of Schiller, presented to him by William Makepeace Thackeray, to be deposited in Schiller's house in Germany among the other relics of the poet." He leaves his unpublished writings to his wife, and George H. Bakke, president of the Union League of this city.

FOREIGN.

GREAT BRITAIN.

U. S. Four Per Cent Bonds.

LONDON, 24.—The Times, in its financial article says: "On account of the heavy investments made by the people are beginning to look toward United States four per cent bonds. We believe the syndicate history of the precious metals and others have considerable position of the amount just contracted for."

Will He Be Recalled.

A Madrid correspondent hears that Captain General Campos will be recalled from Cuba before the assembling of the new Cortes, he having expressed a willingness to become minister of war after the completion of the Havana elections.

The Bulgarian Constitution.

A dispatch from Tirnova says: The constitution for Bulgaria has been ready for some time, and has arrived. It will be translated into the Bulgarian language and communicated to the foreign consuls and the Bulgarian press. The constitution will be presented to the meeting of February, when it will be approved by the Russian governor of Bulgaria.

The Afghan Trouble.

EDINBURGH, 24.—The Scotsman's London correspondent hears, on the highest authority that government, because of anxiety to avoid mishaps, has decided to postpone the Russian army, sent dispatches to India Tuesday, suggesting that the advance from Candahar and Jelalabad had better be stopped. It is also inquiring in regard to the feasibility of holding Candahar through the winter.

FRANCE.

Senatorial System—Gambetta's Hostility, Etc.

PARIS, 24.—The committee of the chamber of deputies on elementary education has decided to report in favor of a secular system. Articles in the Republique Francaise show Gambetta's continued hostility to the cabinet.

RUSSIA.

The Definitive Treaty Delayed.

ST. PETERSBURG, 24.—The Golos complains of delay in signing the definitive treaty between Russia and Turkey, and advises the Russian government to insist on the evacuation, and says Russia's opponents are intriguing to delay the settlement of the Russo-Turkish war. The article says that the Russian army, it is therefore, advisable, says the Golos, that the troops should remain at Adrianople until the end of the war. The article still feels the influence of the presence when the result of the election of the prince of Bulgaria is declared.

Afghanistan.

The Golos also says that England is defective sovereign in Afghanistan, and has every chance for carrying through her plans in Asiatic Turkey.

The Gazette says: Yakob Khan has fled Afghanistan.

GERMANY.

Revealing Military Secrets.

Berlin, 24.—Ominous reports are current here to the effect that the German army has betrayed to a foreign power the most important military secrets, including all the important plans of moving the army. The sum of money which grants the privilege of artillery. He is already under arrest.
