SPRINGTOWN .- By letter from Elder Brough o Springtown, we learn that on Christmas night the shoir there gave a party, which was well as tended, to raise funds for purchasing music, and lights to practice by during the winter. Those lights to practice by during the winter. Those present enjoyed themselves exceedingly, danc-ing being carried on with much spirit, inter-mixed with sentimental and comic singing, recitations, &c. Among those present were President O: Hyde and Bishop Larsen. Up to date of writing, the weather had been extremely wet and stormy, with an unlimited amount of mud. The mail from Salt Creek was making good time, though that from this-city had been behind time for two weeks. Pre-sident Hyde had just returned from Fillmore, bringing with him some choice varieties of fruit. trees to plant out. His example will doubtless be followed by many others.

THEATRICAL .- To-night Miss Couldock takes her Benefit and the bill of fare provided is most interesting and varied. What with two fine pleces, in which Mr. and Miss Couldock appear, supported by a strong cast; a fancy dance by little Miss Clive; and another fancy dance by Miss Alexander and Miss Louisa; there should be attraction for every one. To-morrow evening, "New Year's Night," the "Willow Copse" will be repeated for the last time, very many having solicited its performance once more before Mr. Couldock leaves. All who wish to see one of the most excellent of all excellent impersonations in his Luke Fielding should not fail to attend. The play is a very superior one, as is well known; it abounds in good characters; but Mr. Couldock's Luke Fielding is alone worth wading through snow and mud and paying a high price to witness. Miss Couldock plays Rose with great feeling and power. The cast embraces a number of public favorites.

The very laughable ballet-de-action the "Four Lovers," concludes the entertainment,

FROM EUROPE.-Elder Franklin D. Richards in a letter to President B. Young, bearing date Liverpool, Dec. 4th, says:-

All those Elders (American) who were sick are again engaged in their labors with tolerably good or improved hearth.

The Saints in these Islands are inspired with such a joy at the prospect of their emigration next year, as they have never before known. It is indeed an endowment of courage which seems to strengthen their whole natures, adding vigor to both their faith and their works. We have not been without encouragement in our labors. In different places lately we hear of several being baptized at a time. Even hardened Liver-pool gave up six last week, and will have increased the number to almost twenty by the end of the month; while an unusual degree of in-

American Method" for the Plano, is already well established here, though she has been but a short time in the city. Not only should those desiring an acquaintance with music seek her instruction, for the quickness with which a knowledge of the art is imparted, but musicians who desire to perfect themselves in Thorough Base, or Harmony, should immediately call at the Townsond Horse and second for instructhe Townsend House and arrange for instruction.

To the Inhabitants and purchasing Community of this Territory :--

Owing to the great decline in the prices of goods in the Eastern Markets (being determined to keep IN RATIO with them,) I have made a further reduction in the prices of goods, which upon examination will speak for themselves. I have also on hand a great many articles that have laid over for one and two years-which I will sell, REGARDLESS OF COST, even lower than the present rates in the Eastern Markets will permit of; viz : Table and Pocket Cutlery, Spades, Shovels, Scythes and Snaths, Bake Skillets, Locks and Latches, Tea and Table Spoons, Carriage Bolts, Cast, Blister and Plough Steel, Soap, Lye, Tobacco, and an immense variety of other goods, which are necessities for every day use. Farmers and Country Merchants would do well to call and examine the stock and prices, and as Greenbacks are scarce in the country, I will take for pay, Cattle, Wheat, Flour Barley, Oats, Pork, &c., for which I will give a price that will guarantee satisfaction.

PENITENTIARY SCHOOL .- Schools are but seldom, if ever, associated, in thought, with penitentiaries; and it is probable that they are about as seldom associated in fact. Still it is gratifying to record the existence of one inside our penitentiary, of which the teacher is a convict, and the pupils are likewise convicts.

We accepted an invitation from Warden Rockwood to visit the prison, and "inspect" the school. He has at present twelve "boarders," two having been added to the number on Satur-day, who are to reside with him for three months. They appeared tolerably contented, and were engaged in various kinds of work to relieve the Territory, as much as possible, of the expense of keeping them. But the "school" ap-peared to be the most interesting feature, being something most unusual in convict life. In the workshop where several are employed, we found a hinge-desk for writing at, that could be dropped down when the exercise was through; and beside it a box for books, slates, paper. writing materials and an atlas. The books comprised primary works, McGuffey's Eclectic Fifth Beader, McCullough's Geography and Ray's Arith-metic. The convicts furnished about one third of the money required to purchase the books, paper, slates, etc., the balance being supplied by Warden Rockwood. The teacher seems to take much pride in his labors of tuitton, and in the progress of his pupils. When the usual hour ar-rives for suspending their convict labor in the evening, the class is formed, and the studies are entered upon, the guards giving their time, and the Warden furnishing light and fire. One young man warmly expressed his appreciation of the advantages he thus enjoyed; and all seem pleased with the opportunity thus offered to them of advancing in knowledge them of advancing in knowledge.

The penitentiary seems to be conducted with much wisdom and a regard for the interests of the Territory, and the object for which the con-victs are there incarcerated. Great vigilance is exercised in watching the prisoners; and a good deal of thought must be used to keep them as busily and as usefully employed as they evi-dently are kept. Painful as it is to think of a penitentiary under the most favorable circumstances, there are some things connected with the institution under Warden Rockwood which the institution under Warden Rockwood which decreases the force of such painfulness. The number of convicts, though larger than usual, is exceedingly small for the population of the Territory, much smaller than the prison records of any other Territory, or any State in the Uni-on will show, population equalized. The men are kindly and humanely treated, while habits of active industry are enforced. And the com-mencement and progress of the school noticed, will be a source of benefit to those who partici-pate in it, which they will be able to look back to in the future as a bright spot in a dark period of their lives. of their lives.
