has become note serious after year-day afternoon.

At West Temple, some 16 or 18 men were engaged this morning in raising the street car tracks to the old grade to allow the water to pass under without obstruction. The tracks were recently lowered to meet the new grade in West Temple, but it is evident that the tracks will always be too low to meet such an emergency as the present, and it will be a new problem for the city to consider. If the tracks are lowered to the new grade it may make it necessary for the city to deepen the channel to allow the spring waters free escape gang of men complete the raising of the track. When this is done the trouble there will be ended.

At First West thans is a body of water about 25 feet wide, which has torn out the feof bridge, and in backing up, evidently from some impediment in the bottom of the creek at this point, is overflowing nearly all the crossings used for vehicles. A dam has also been put in here, and two men are stationed there to see that it is kept from breaking away. The south half of the street has been flooded between this point and Third West, though practically no demage has been done to the street. liself, and incidentally tons of cobble rocks of all shapes and sizes, on the grating at the entrance to the conduit, the small ones being pushed through the larger openings by the attendant there, to be carried farther on, while the large ones, some of which weigh 50 or 60 pounds, are being lifted out on the bank. A continual stream of rocks, sometimes three and four at a time, are thrown up on the grating. street car tracks much more than was the case yesterday.

The most serious phase of the flood is seen west of Seventh West street. For two whole blocks between Seventh For two whole blocks between seventh and Ninth West streets, North Temple is practically a solid body of water. Here and there the tracks of the street car company are above the water, but they are oftener under the stream, which is making its way slowly west-ward. Bunches of grass and willows mark the line of the banks of the old ditch. Levees are built on the edge of the sidewalks on each side of the street for the whole distance. In places they are about three feet above the sidewalk, and for most of the distance the water is from one to two feet above the sidewalk. sidewalks. A constant scepage of water taking place onto the sidewalks hich are made passable in places by laying down planks. The water is also seeping, and in places flooding over the surface onto the adjacent property, making the erstwhile lawns look decidedly sloughy. Several teams are busly engaged hauling material for damming the water and a number of men are engaged all along these two blocks trying to keep the water off the ideas. ewalks, and from entering the homes

The whole street is covered with water, which ex-tends north on Ninth West in front of tends north on Ninth West in front of the fair grounds. A body of water also lies all along the south side of the fair grounds, though that is due to the overflow east of Ninth west. From that point on the big ditch is able to carry the flood water at the present time.

FOUNDATIONS IN DANGER. The sidewalks on both sides of the street are flooded, but the water is deepest on the north side of the street, where the walks are in places absolutely impassable. On the north side of the street a number of places are also seen where the water is rising and lodging arount the houses, thus jeopardizing the foundations.

The street cars to the fair grounds were running as usual this morning were running as usual this morning.

The street cars to the fair grounds were running as usual this morning, though instead of going right to the fair gates, they stop at the north side of Ninth West, and passengers who are not afraid of a little mud can make their way thence to the fair gates afoot. That which the residents fear most in that district is the possibility of the hanks of the channel for the new conduit, which is open beyond Sixth West, giving way. They are now supported by planking. Should this occur, and the channel become choked in any degree, it is wery unlikely that the water could be kept from covering all the

The flood waters of City creek are making things lively today in North Temple street, for employes of the Utah Light and Railway company and those of the city street department. A force of men is engaged all the way from West Temple to Ninth West in the endeavor to cope with the increasing flood. Viewed at the gatehouse at Main street, where the water is surging out, and thence to was yesterday. That it is doing so however, is evidenced by the fact that part of the road at the intersection of West Temple and North Temple was washed out during the night, The foot bridge at First West was also washed away, and there is a marked increase in the height of the flood water for two blocks west of Seventh West street, showing that the situation has become more serious since yester-

This morning passengers were obliged to transfer from the Warm Springs cars to the Ashton avenue cars, and vice versu, until the gang of men complete the raising of the track. At Third West, the water is hurling itself, and incidentally tons of cobble time, are thrown up on the grating with a velocity that is astonishing.

GRADE SCHOOLS IN ATHLETICS

Washingtons Capture Baseball He Must Answer Charge of As-Championship-Lowell Girls And Lafayette Boys Win.

SOME LIVELY CONTESTS.

Fight on the Diamond Lasted Full Nine Innings When Three Bagger Wins the Game.

Baseball champions, grade schools league, 1909, Washington team.

Basketball champions, boys, Lafayette. Rasketball champions, girls, Lowell.

If Wandamere was not the prettiest place in the country this morning, also the noisiest, it was not the fault of nature or the youngsters who assembled there for the field-day exercises of the public schools. One enthusiastic spectator remarked that "there must be nearly a million kids down here," and it certainly looked that way. They were running, jumping, swinging, boatriding, rooting for their favorite teams, drinking soda-pop, laying the foundation for acute cases of indigesetion and doing a hundred and one other things.

Parents and teachers were also there and they had a good time, too. They were proud of the youngsters and well they might be, for a finer collection of boys and girls would be hard to find in any man's country.

For the track and field events scheduled to be run off this afternoon there are entries from every school in near every event and there is no telling when the games will be finished. The day's sports began at 9 this morning, and before that hour there were hundreds in the grounds.

The first event was the champlon-ship baseball game between the Washington team, representing the west side and the Sumner nine representing the east side. And say, it was a game. Better ball may have been played, but Better, ball may have been played, but not between boys' teams. It was nip and tuck all the way and though seven innings has been the length of the grade school learue games, it took full nine innings to decide the question, and then the game, and the pennant to be presented by the athtletic board, went to the Washingtons-by a score of 5 to 4 in the last half of the ninth. It was won by a timely and well placed three won by a timely and well placed three bagger by Yeats; who brought in Berg, the latter going to first on a passed ball after two men were out and three strikes called on him. But for Yeats' three-bagger they might have been playing yet. It was good ball all the way, Fors being few and far between, the fielding good and the pitching all that could be asked for.

Counsel Argues for a Reduction on the Ground That He Cannot Furnish Amount Required.

The preliminary hearing of the case of the state vs. J. T. Malone, charged with assault with intent to murder, occupied the entire forenoon in Judge Bowman's court this morning, and without any defense being presented without any defense being presented the defendant was bound over to the district court for trial.

Three witnesses testified for the prosecution, but Nels Paulson, the victim of the bullet fired by Malone, was not placed on the stand, the defense itself suggesting that in view of the previous evidence his testimony was not necessary and that it would submit to the defendant being bound over. The only argument made by Judre We-The only argument made by Judge Weber and C. B. of the J. P. Paulson company, in their testimony told the events of the night of April 8, when Malone shot Nels Paulson during an altercation that grose in the Paulson store over the payment of a billiard table sold through the agency of Malone to the military post. presesd the willingness to have the defendant bound over.

It is likely that Malone will have to remain in custody until the trial because of his inability to furnish a $5,000 bond. At the time of the arraignment his counsel argued for the bond to be fixed at $2,500 stating to the court that this would not only be a sufficient sum but that it was all that the defendant could provide. Today the amount was asked to be re-duced to $1,000 on almost similar pleading and the refusal of the court destroys Malone's chances for freedom until his trial at least.

DEALERS CAUGHT

New York, June 4 .- In the arrest of two men here last night, the postoffice department believes it has captured the lottery and will be able to effectually stop an illegal business which has collected many thousands of dollars every month from various sections of the west. When Charles O. Backus was at rested in his apartments, the officer found many large packages tickets, fully addressed and stamped ready to be mailed. One of these packages was addressed to Joseph Sanger of 2252 Hickory street, St. Louis, and of 2252 Hickory street, St. Louis, and another to John Smith, 1919 Rutger street, St. Louis. From the addresses on the packages, the postoffice depart-ment inspectors said they obtained the names of many of the representatives throughout the country of the lottery. Chief Postoffice Inspector Mayer said last night that the profits of the busi-ness had been chormous, and that in his several months of investigation he had not been able to find any cyldene, that an actual drawing of numberhad ever taken place. The postoffice inspectors in Cleveland, Cincinnati, In-dianapolis, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansa City, Denver and Sun Francisco has been notified of the development here and are expected to take action.

OPERATIONS IN ST. LOUIS. St. Louis, June 4.—Information about the operation in St. Louis of the Mexican National Lottery uncovered by ar-rests in New York last night, was ob-tained today from Jack Lintner, 1520 South Twelfth street. Under the name "John Smith," Lintner received mail at 1019 Rutger street, the home of his sister.

A newspaper reporter, who asked for "Smith" at the Rutger address was directed to a South Twelfth street number. There he was met by Lintner, who agreed to get the reporter numbers for drawing, although he said that he had quit handling the tickets about six months ago. The local postal authorities said that they had not been notified of the case.

NEW YORK TO SEATTLE AUTOMOBILE RACE

Buffalo, N. Y., June 4.-The five automobiles entered in the New York to Seattle race, left-here at 5 o'clock this morning for Toledo, where they will remain over night. The contestants in the ocean-to-ocean automobile race arrived here shortly after 9 o'clock this morning. The lo-cal authorities decided they were run-ning too fast and Fay R. Sheets, one of the drivers, was arrested. He deposited $25 for his appearance in police court this afternoon, and then flew out of town as fast as he came in.

GREAT ACTIVITY IN WALL STREET

Present Outburst of Speculative Enthusiasm Believed to be Due To Financial Interests.

Introduction of American Securities on Paris Bourse is Another One-Trading Very Heavy.

New York, June 4 .- Speculative actiity was again strongly in evidence at the opening of trading on the stock exchange today. Opinion in Wall treet today was that the present outourst of speculative enthusiasm is not due so much to buying of the general public as it is to the operations of important financial interests and a group of heavy operators, some of whom were until recently on the bear side of the market.

The continued ease of money is of course a large factor in the present speculative movement, as are also the most uniform reports of improved in-dustrial conditions and a general belief in the excellence of crop prospects. Another important factor is the introduction of American securities on the Paris bourse. Trading in the first half hour to-200,000 shares with the Harriman and Hill issues, Atchison and the Steel stocks the most conspicuous features. Heavy realization for profits in the steel stocks was reported and this selling was reflected in the pressure upon these particular issues on the tock exchange.

It was rumored that a private settle-ment of some 70,000 shares of United States Steel common was effected for a large short interest at a price hige than the stock has yet sold in the open market.

Trading in the first hour exceeded 500,000 shares. While the market was broad, the great bulk of the business es in the Harriman and Hill stocks Atchison and United States Steel, The banks and other financial institutions are lending freely of their reserves, which have been strengthened by a heavy cash influx from the west. Philadelphia, June 4.-Prospects for a ettlement of the strike of the employes of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company are brighter today than at any time since the strike began. Both sides have agreed to make concessions and predictions are made that there will be a complete resumption of service by tomorrow. This situation has been brought about by the Republican leaders of the city, whose plans for tonorrow's primary elections have been interfered with by the spirit of turbulence that spread over the city in the last three days. After a conference in the city hall, which lasted until early today, Mayor Reyburn made public a letter addressed to John B. Parsons, president of the Transit company, in which he offered terms for a settlement of the strike. He suggested among other things the following:

All former employes shall be restored to their former positions.

COTTON EXPORTS TO CHINA INCREASING

Washington, June 4.-As the result of return toward normal conditions, the American exports of cotton goods to China are again on the increase, ac-cording to the bureau of statistics. Exports of cotton cloth to China averaged in the fiscal year 1905 and 1996, 486,000.

"This large falling off," says the bureau in an official statement, "was due chiefly to the fact that the imports of that country in 1305 and 1906 were abnormally large and far in excess of the actual consuming power of that market as a whole and especially of North as a whole and especially of North China, whose financial condition had been so affected by events during the war as to reduce its purchasing power below the estimates upon which the
