

OVER 100 BODIES ON BOLIVAR BEACH

Estimates of the Dead Range from 5,000 to 10,000—Bodies Must be Moved Quickly to Prevent Pestilence.

Houston, Texas, Sept. 12.—R. E. Cameron, a lumber dealer of Stowell, Chambers county, says that the relief party who went from Stowell to Bolivar reported to him that there was over 1,000 dead bodies on the beach at Bolivar, in East Bay and in sight of the salt marshes which line the bay. The party succeeded in burying only forty of these bodies. The others are lying in the sand and on land decomposing and blowing forth a horrible stench. The carcasses of animals are mixed in with them. Many of these bodies were evidently swept across the bay from Galveston. Others are of people who lived at Bolivar. It will be necessary to collect and burn these remains to prevent the outbreak of an epidemic which may extend far into the interior of Chambers county.

NOT LESS THAN 3,000. Chicago, Sept. 12.—The following statement was received at 11 o'clock tonight: Galveston, Texas, Sept. 12.—To Charles S. Ditch, general manager of the Associated Press, Chicago:—A summary of the conditions prevailing at Galveston is more than human intellect can master. Briefly stated, the damage to property is anywhere between fifteen and twenty millions. All possible guesswork. Those buried in the sea and ground will foot up a horrible total of at least 3,000. Many estimates of the loss on the island in the city of Galveston and the immediate surrounding districts are between 4,000 and 5,000 deaths.

IN DEEPEST SADNESS. Never were there so many sad hearts, Men bereft of wives and children; women who were widowed; children who were fatherless; and a motley crowd they are. Men bareheaded, barefooted, hatless and coatless, with swollen feet and bruised and blackened bodies and heads, were numerous. Women of wealth and refinement, frequently hatless and shoeless with gowns in shreds, were among the refugees. Sometimes there would be a man, wife and a child or two, but these cases were rare, nearly all of those who came in having survived the loss of one or more members of their family.

"Manager Galveston News." MAY BE 10,000. Galveston, Texas, Sept. 12.—All attempts at burying the dead have been utterly abandoned and bodies are now being disposed of in the swiftest manner possible. Scores of them were buried today and hundreds were taken out to sea and thrown overboard. The safety of the living is now the paramount question and nothing that will tend to prevent the outbreak of pestilence is being neglected. This morning it was found that large numbers of bodies which had been previously thrown into the bay washed back upon the shore and the situation was thus rendered worse than before they were first taken in the barges and thrown into the bay.

EARLY ESTIMATES TOO LOW. Houston, Tex., Sept. 12.—As indicated in dispatches from here, the magnitude of the calamity grows. In their efforts to guard against extravagance or exaggeration, the newspaper men have fallen below the facts in placing the death lists at about one thousand. A list of bodies which has been compiled by a reliable man as saying that 10,000 will be reached before the mortality list of Galveston and vicinity would be closed. He has been on boats in the waters around Galveston day and night since the storm and has his statement on what he has seen.

NEAR ACCURATE AS CAN BE NOW. Houston, Tex., Sept. 12.—Based on reports believed to be accurate, the following statement is probably the most nearly correct as can be arrived at regarding the loss in Texas as the result of last Saturday's storm:

Table with 3 columns: Place, Lives Property Lost, Losses. Rows include Galveston, Houston, Alvin, Hitchcock, etc.

Judge De Haven affirmed the order.

Hall have returned from Honolulu, where they have been for the past three months organizing a postoffice system throughout the islands. They established eighty-one offices and the profits for two months and seventeen days were $17,500.

Winter Whale Catch. San Francisco, Sept. 12.—The first news of the winter catch of the whales has been received. It came from the steam whaler Balena, which had not been heard from since she went into winter quarters. Twenty-five whales were the result of the winter's work. The Balena was frozen in at Bailey Island far above the mouth of the Mackenzie river, and the courier who brought out the news left the steamer on March 11. The whales were all bowheads, the largest of the beviathans and the most productive. It is estimated that the Balena's catch is worth over $100,000.

REBUILDING RUINED CITY.

Talk of Finding a New Location—Opinion of Railway Magnates on What Will be Done.

New York, Sept. 13.—Railroad men in this city have been discussing with great interest the possibility that Galveston may be re-built on a different site, less liable to the onslaughts of the Gulf of Mexico than the sandy island which has twice, been dented by wind and water. It was rumored that the Southern Pacific company will head a movement to build the city on a spot forty miles to the southwest of its present location, at the mouth of the Brazos river.

World-wide Sympathy is Giving Them Encouragement to Keep Away Despair. Galveston, Texas, Sept. 13.—The following editorial appears in today's News: "At the first meeting of Galveston's citizens Sunday afternoon, after the great hurricane, for the purpose of bringing order out of chaos, the only sentiment expressed was that Galveston had received an awful blow. The loss of life and property is appalling—so great that it required several days to form anything like a correct estimate. With sad and aching hearts but with resolute faces, the sentiment of the meeting was that out of the awful chaos of wrecked homes and wrecked business Galveston must rise again.

"The sentiment was not that of 'bury the dead and give up the ship,' but rather bury the dead, succor the needy, appeal for aid from a charitable world and then start resolutely to work to rebuild the city. At present thousands of cases the work of rebuilding must begin over. In other cases the destruction is only partial. No, the sentiment was Galveston will survive and flourish again, and Galveston shall rise again."

"Galveston having been isolated since the storm of last Saturday night, the stricken citizens of the town have not been informed as to the thrill of horror which swept over the world when the news of the catastrophe was first received. The Associated Press brings the cheery news that in every town and city in the United States commercial, religious and charitable bodies have organized into relief committees. But tears and grief do not make us forget our present duties. The ruin which has desolated Galveston is not beyond repair; we must not for a moment think Galveston is to be abandoned because of one disaster, however horrible the disaster has been. We have our homes here, even if those homes are in ruins, and if we loved Galveston before, how much stronger must that affection be, and how much more sacred must be our duty to think of our loved ones whose dust consecrates not only the land but the very waves which lash its shore.

"It is a time for courage of the highest order. It is a time when men and women show the truest heroism in their devotion to the welfare of their fellow-citizens, and we can make no loftier acknowledgment of the material sympathy which the world is extending to us than to answer back that after we shall have buried our dead, relieved the sufferers of our present distress, we will bravely undertake the vast work of restoration and recuperation which lies before us in a manner which shall convince the world that we have split to overcome misfortune and rebuild our homes. In this we shall prove ourselves worthy of the boundless tenderness which is being showered upon us in the hour of desolation and sorrow."

ROSY TEACHERS. Look Better in the School-room Than the Sallow Sort. Young folks naturally like comely objects and a good looking healthy teacher can do vastly more with pupils than anything else considered, than the skinnier, dyspeptic teacher can. The instructor in Latin and mathematics in a young ladies' seminary at Macon, Ga., had an experience worthy the attention of any teacher. She kept running down a little more each year until finally a genuine case of nervous prostration set in and she was confined to her bed for eight months a perfect wreck, physically and mentally. She and her friends thought it was due to overwork, but she now knows it was due to improper food. Of course the physicians were called in, but there is almost nothing that can be done in such cases, except to rely on well selected food and proper care. She was put upon Grape-Nuts, all medicines, also tea, coffee, and lead drinks were taken away. She had Postum Food Coffee once a day. The larger part of my brain seems as clear and bright for this food is made with special reference to rebuilding the gray matter in the brain and nerve centers.

The lady says: "I had been reduced to 25 pounds in weight when I began using Grape-Nuts. The new food was so delicious and strengthening that I felt new life at once. I have now developed into a perfectly healthy, happy, stout woman weighing 135 pounds, the greatest weight I ever attained, and have a wonderfully clear, fresh, and complexion, instead of the sallow, bilious hue of the past. I never now have a symptom of dyspepsia nor any other ache or ailment. Am strong physically and I particularly notice the strength of mind. I never experience that tired, weary feeling after a hard day's labor that used to oppress my brain. I am now as clear and active at night as I was in the morning and I am doing twice the amount of work I ever did. Don't use my name in public, please, but I will answer inquires." Run on a Brazilian Bank. Rio De Janeiro, Sept. 12.—There is a run on the Banco Republica. The bank has been obliged to use its prerogative and issue checks to the depositors, payable in fifty days. The president and one of the directors have resigned. The government has promised assistance, but has refused to issue a single note or paper money. This has had the effect of calming the apprehensions of creditors, and an early satisfactory arrangement is expected.

Affairs in Havana. Havana, Sept. 12.—A sanitary order went into force yesterday directing and authorizing continuous police inspection of all buildings in Havana, especially residences, for the purpose of sanitation. While the streets of the city are clean, it often happens that private houses and the gardens attached are far from that condition, owing to the accumulation of garbage. The new order is intended to cure this evil. The municipal council has appointed a committee to study the Havana charter and to suggest modifications, which after the municipality has approved them, probably next Friday, will be referred to Governor General Wood. The forthcoming election day, when the delegates to the constitutional convention will be chosen, will be observed as a general holiday.

Blanchard, Captain Courtney, also arrived at Port Stanley in almost a wrecked condition. While rounding Cape Horn she encountered a heavy storm and a succession of seas swayed her decks from stem to stern and her crew, with difficulty the vessel reached port.
