OGDEN NEWS.

OGDEN, UTAH, - JULY 11, 1901.

DEATH FROM LOCKJAW.

Touching Tribute to the Late Harry D. Haines from John P. Meakin.

Funeral of William Van Dyke—Wedding Permits Issued—Want to Administer—Going on Missions.

The funeral services over the remains of William Van Dyke were held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the First ward meeting house, Bishop's Counselor D. W. Stone presiding. The ward choir furnished some sweet music. The speakers were Elders J. W. Denkers, Derrick Raat, I. Sander, J. W. E. Volker and P. L. Lammer. Each spoke very highly of the noble, God-fearing and his religious convictions, both in Utah and his native land, Holland, and of his many kind acts. The services were well attended by sympathizing friends, and many beautiful flowers were strewn on his grave, as tokens of the love and esteem in which the deceased was held in the community. A large funeral cortege followed the remains to the city cemetery, where they were laid to rest in the family burial ground.

WILL BE BURIED IN OGDEN.

DEATH FROM LOCKJAW.

George L. Lamercaux, the nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Lamercaux of Five Points, died yesterday from lockjaw. The boy while playing about two weeks ago ran a rusty nail in his foot, which resulted in lock-jaw, from which he never recovered. The funeral services will be held at the Five Points meeting house Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Friends invited.

TRIBUTE TO HARRY HAINES.

The following touching letter has been received by the mother of the late Harry D. Haines:

Salt Lake City, July 7th, 1901.
Mrs. I. D. Haines: Dear Madam:—I read through your letter of regret and sorrow the notice of the passing away of your son and my friend, Harry D. Haines.

Though words are feeble things when one wishes to express the emotions of the heart, I cannot refrain, however humble my tribute may be, from laying one little flower upon his grave. I have known Harry a number of years. His cheerful smile and genuine hand clasp were as refreshing as the light, and as pleasing as music. Harry and I were both on missions about two years ago in California, teaching love and purity in other words, "Peace on earth and good will toward men," although we were under different auspices. Harry found any amount of prejudice existing, and as an honest fraternal man I was what I could to push back the curtains obscuring the sunlight of American freedom. Since that time many have said to me, "We know each other better now the mists have rolled away." Today many eyes in California as well as in Utah will moisten with tears of sympathy and love at the departure of this sunny soul.

We can all afford to lose such men as Harry D. Haines, for they are the lilies of earth—without his kind, and they are few, the world would be a desert and a barren waste. Harry Haines was not an animal, he was a man; he looked to the light and saw more to live than material things. He recognized the importance of mental and spiritual life. To him was a mission and a duty, and a place was prepared for him in eternity, he knew he must prepare himself for the place.

"Could we but push ajar the gates of life
And stand within and all God's work
We could interpret all this doubt and strife,
And for each mystery find a key."

"But not today; then be content, poor heart,
God's plans like lilies pure and white unfold,
We must not tear the close shut leaves apart,
Time will reveal the calyxes of gold."

"And if through patient toil we reach the land
Where three feet with sandals loosed may rest,
Where we shall know and clearly understand,
I think that we shall say—God knew the best."

Forever my dear friend Harry. May your pillow be soft, your sleep sweet; may violets and birds sing their sweetest lays above your silent home. Brother, rest in peace.

Today I stand in imagination at his grave and head bowed in sorrow at his going and say, Let us hope this passing away is the winter, and that spring will soon be here; another life is ours. We shall meet again someday, sometime.

A friend,
JOHN P. MEAKIN.

SYRUP OF FIGS

NEVER IMITATED IN QUALITY.

An Excellent Combination.

The pleasant method and beneficial effects of the well known remedy, SYRUP OF FIGS, manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO., illustrate the value of obtaining the liquid laxative principles of plants known to be medicinally laxative and presenting them in the form most refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system. It is the one perfect strengthening laxative, cleansing the system effectually, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers gently yet promptly and enabling one to overcome habitual constipation permanently. Its perfect freedom from every objectionable quality and substance, and its acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels, without weakening or irritating them, make it the ideal laxative.

In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but the medicinal qualities of the remedy are obtained from senna and other aromatic plants, by a method known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only. In order to get its beneficial effects and to avoid imitations, please remember the full name of the Company printed on the front of every package.
