HEAD OFF UTAH-

In the event of the above announced project should go through, it is likely to settle the talk of a Utah-Montana league of which so much has been said during the last two weeks. In the opinion of Salt Lake fans, the meeting opinion of Salt Lake fans, the meeting was held to interfere with the one call-ed at Butte to organize the Utah-Mon-tana league. It is well known that Helena, Butte and Great Falls have been exceedingly anxious to break into a Utah-Montana organization but it appears if they could get into the proposed "Pacific Northwest league," they would turn down the other prothey would turn down the other pro-position. The Butte meeting is held today and the outcome will be watched today and the outcome will be watched with profound interest. It is claimed that Butte is the key to the situation and if the "magnates" there decide to crowd out Utah. Hele-na and Great Falls would fall into line and there would be no berth for Utah in the league. It is charged that the "Pacific Northwest" people have been quietly working for some time to defeat the local baseballists who are anxious for a Utah-Montana league. The repfor a Utah-Montana league. The rep-resentative of the Salt Lake club sent to attend the Butte meeting today, will undoubtedly be heard from tomorrow and unfold the situation.

It is wellknown in Montana that Salt Lake and Ogden are two of the very best baseball towns in the west, and it is believed Butte would rather enter a league with this state than any other, and if so, Helena and Great Falls will also come in and the "Pacific" proposition will be dumped into the scrap heap.
