EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Chinese are appealing to the Constitution. They wish to know if that venerable document allows California, or any other, sheriffs to cut off the hair of their prisoners to the uniform length of one inch.
The New York Herald terms the present a sleepy campaign, and says everybody is complaining of the apathy of politicians and the dulness of the campaign. Perhaps it is due to the scarcity of cash. Money makes them care to go. It makes politicians live lively.
Tramps have become a terrible nuisance to the farmers of Maryland. They travel in gangs, and when refused food and quarters to their liking, take revenge by burning the offender's house and barns, and destroying his crops. In some cases the outlaws can be driven off only by shooting them in the legs.
Rev. Miss Anne Oliver has been lecturing in Brooklyn upon "Live, Let Live, and Help Live."
Baltimore is so full of tobacco that the warehouses are taxed beyond their capacity, and the article has to be piled upon the streets and covered with sailcloths.
Alexander H. Stephens was recently called to speak in the town where the congressional convention was to meet, and on the same day, and declined on the ground that it would be improper for him to do so, his name having been mentioned as a candidate for the nomination.
A Troy, N. Y., man eloped with two married women at once.
The Chicago Courier says, "It was Zach Chandler who said, 'I would rather see every man, woman and child in the South put to the sword than see the Democratic party restored to power.'"
"Less taxation and more work" is one of the political banner mottoes on the Atlantic slope.
An exchange asks, "Is there not a little danger that we shall degrade instead of elevate our life by incessantly spreading its minor details before the public?"
During the first six months of the present year the immigrants arriving at New York numbered 41,029. During the first six months of 1875 the number was 53,414, making the falling off for the first half of the present year between a fourth and a fifth from that of the previous year.
Hoboken has a girl only six feet two high.
The Milwaukee News calls predestination "a moss-backed, sit-down-and-do-nothing thing, mental anesthesia, paralysis vaccine."
The passenger trains leading into New York are said to be infested with unprincipled fellows who try to flirt with the unsophisticated girls who go to the city shopping.

U. S. MARSHALS AND THEIR DUTIES AND ELECTIONS.

As considerable interest is felt regarding the duties of U. S. marshals and their deputies at the elections for U. S. office or place, we here condense the principal points of Attorney-General Taft's circular of instructions.

1. In elections of members of the U. S. House of Representatives, and in elections of presidential electors, the U. S. marshals are the conservators of the peace, as regards registration of votes, the act of voting, and the personal freedom and security of the voter, and must arrest breakers of the peace.

2. On such registration and election days, the U. S. Marshal, in his district, is held responsible for all preventable breaches of the peace, and for the arrest and securing of the peace breakers, in matters pertaining to election, and for that purpose he must be present, in person or by deputy, at all places of registration and election where there is reason to suspect the peace is threatened.

3. The Marshal's posse as a posse comitatus is to be embodied to enforce the law when deemed necessary.

4. Certain special deputies for these occasions can only be appointed in cities of 20,000 inhabitants or upwards, and such special deputies have special duties of attending registration and polling places, as regards the scrutinizing and verifying lists of voters and the challenging of voters, in addition to the general duties of marshals and their general and special deputies. [These particular special deputies are chosen by the marshal on the application in writing of at least two citizens.]

5. Where local sheriffs can appoint an unlimited number of special deputies, U. S. marshals can also.

6. The Marshal and each of his deputies can summon to his assistance every person, above fifteen years of age, in his district, whether such persons belong to civil, military, militia, or marine life, all are liable to serve in the posse comitatus of the marshal or of any of his deputies.

7. No State law or State official (and consequently no Territorial law or Territorial official) can oppose the Marshal or any of his deputies on these occasions. Any interference of local authority is to be disregarded, ignored.

8. Any officer of the State (or Territory) may be summoned for embodiment in the Marshal's posse, or any State (or Territory) posse, summoned by the sheriff, may become, with the sheriff included, part of the marshal's or deputy marshal's posse, and be obliged to serve.

In view of the wielding of these supreme powers by United States marshals, deputy marshals, and special deputy marshals, some of whom, as experience has proved, enjoy by no means the best reputation, the question naturally arises, "What guarantee has the public, especially those members of it who may not be fellow partisans of the marshals or deputy marshals, against abuses of this extraordinary authority?"

According to the Revised Statutes the public have guarantees provided in several statutes, some of which are embodied in the following extract:

"Sec. 2069. Every officer or other person, having powers or duties of an official character to discharge under any of the provisions of this Title, who by threats, or any unlawful means, hinders, delays, prevents, or obstructs, or combines and confederates with others to hinder, delay, prevent, or obstruct any citizen from doing any act required to be done to qualify him to vote, or from voting at any election in any State, Territory, district, county, city, parish, town, ship, school district, municipality, or other territorial subdivision, shall forfeit the sum of five hundred dollars to the person aggrieved thereby, to be recovered by an action on the case, with cost, and such allowance for counsel fees as the court may deem just."

Section 2,506 provides a like fine and from one month to one year's imprisonment, either or both, for similar offenses.

Section 5,529 provides punishment in a fine of $500 to $5,000, and imprisonment, with or without hard labor, for from six months to six years, either or both, for a conspiracy to prevent a citizen from voting for candidates for federal place.

Section 5,508 provides punishment of not exceeding $5,000, and imprisonment for not more than two years, with ineligibility to future office, for conspiracy to oppress, threaten, hinder, etc., any citizen in the enjoyment of constitutional and legal rights.

So that with a fair minded judiciary it would be a little dangerous for even U. S. marshals or their deputies to grossly exceed their duty on election day.

Republicans Rejoicing.
NEW YORK, 13.—The Times now claims 16,000 majority in Maine. The Republicans are rejoicing in various parts of the country over the Maine and Vermont elections.
Tweed has no Property to Levy On.
SHERIFF CONNER, to-day, returned the execution in the Tweed six million dollar judgment, wholly unsatisfied, being unable to find any property on which to make a levy.
New York Democratic State Convention.
SARATOGA, 13.—The Democratic State Convention is re-assembling. All efforts to unite the delegates in favor of any candidate for Governor have failed. Until late last night everything was at sea. Finally preferences settled on Dewitt C. West on the part of anti-Tildenites, and Comptroller Lucius Robinson of the Tildenites. Robinson temporarily declined to withdraw his refusal to run. This leaves the contest apparently between Robinson and Foster, with no rivals deserving to compete with them. Robinson is objectionable to many delegates because he ran on the Union ticket in 1874, and was endorsed by the Liberals on another occasion. These facts make him a Democracy doubtful to the unadulterated. The objection made to Foster is his speech recognizing the State right of secession. The prospect is for a bitter fight in the convention, unless the efforts now making with the view of cutting off debate are successful. Neither candidate is satisfactory to the party, but all attempts to secure any more available man have failed.
