WILL USE CANNON TO DISLODGE ICE IN CANYON

OGDEN, Dec. 28.—Three blizzards were used to loosen the ice on the cliffs at the mouth of Ogden canyon on Tuesday. But little impression was made upon the dangerous mass of ice which stands a menace to all who travel over the road below. A temporary work bridge is being constructed and the Rapid Transit company is doing all it can to get its line into operating shape again. The county commissioners have taken no formal action to repair the county bridge at this point until the responsibility for the damage has been fixed. As the blizzards made little impression on the ice mass it was decided to be made today with artillery to dislodge the ice.

DIVORCE CASES.

OGDEN, Dec. 28.—In the divorce case of Phillip J. Nelling against Minnie Nelling, plaintiff has been granted an interlocutory decree on the ground of desertion.
 In the divorce case of Mary Rice against Joseph L. Rice, defendant has filed a demurrer stating that plaintiff is not a suitable person to have charge of two minor children, and sets forth alleged instances of brutality on the part of plaintiff. Defendant also asks that the stipulated alimony of $10 each month be stricken out of the decree of divorce and that he be given the custody of the children, whom he promises to rear in a proper manner.

OGDEN POLICE COURT.

OGDEN, Dec. 28.—John Doe and Richard Roe, Italians, forfeited bail in the sum of $5 each for their non-appearance in police court Tuesday morning to answer to the charge of stealing coal from the railroad yards.
 The bail of Bell Love, a negro, charged with vagrancy, amounting to $10, was declared forfeited because of her failure to appear on the charge. W. H. Westphal and Charles Burns were arraigned on the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. Testimony showed that the men had purchased a meal ticket at a Japanese restaurant and that before it had been used, Westphal exchanged it with the proprietor for $2.50. The testimony also showed that Burns had paid the balance of the money to the Japanese. The court took the matter under advisement.

FIRST SHUTS DOWN FACTORY.

OGDEN, Dec. 28.—The Ogden factory of the Amalgamated Sugar company was temporarily closed down on Tuesday owing to the freezing of the water in the canal which turns the great turbine wheels at the plant. The ice became clogged in the wheels in such a manner that for a short time it was thought that the plant would be closed all day. About 2 o'clock the large force of men at work on the canal succeeded in starting the wheels and work was resumed as usual.

IRON FOR NEW DEPOT.

OGDEN, Dec. 28.—It was learned in railroad circles that another large shipment of structural steel for the new Ogden freight depot has been sent out from Dayton and will arrive here within the next 15 days. Very little work is being done on the structure at present because of the extreme weather conditions.

FORESTRY CONVENTION.

OGDEN, Dec. 28.—The large force of employees at the forestry service office in Ogden are preparing data for the coming national convention to be held here beginning Jan. 10. As soon as the electric power house now under construction at Lagoon is completed, the entire line will be operated with electricity and the headquarters at Lincoln and Twenty-fifth street will be remodeled and every convenience known to the railroad business will be adopted and installed.

SUDDEN DEATH OF DANIEL KNIGHTON

Stricken With Apoplexy He Dies on Train Shortly After Leaving Home.

(Special Correspondence.)
 BOULDER, Colo., Dec. 28.—Daniel Knighton, 61 years old and very highly esteemed citizen of this place, died suddenly about 10 o'clock yesterday morning of apoplexy, while on the Salt Lake & Ogden train going to Salt Lake City. He was apparently well and hearty when he left his home a few minutes before his death, but was overcome with a fainting spell at the depot while waiting for the train. From this he soon revived and got on the train for Salt Lake, dying before the train had made the intervening 10 miles.
 Mr. Knighton was born about 38 years ago in England, where he joined the Latter-day Saints and came to Utah at an early date. He is survived by his wife and eight children.

LEHI.

CITY WILL BE "DRY" JAN. 1—OTHER IMPROVEMENTS

(Special Correspondence.)
 LEHI, Utah, Dec. 28.—Next Monday at noon the incoming administration will take over the city reins of government. All are Democrats but one councilman and the city recorder, and all are pledged for the strict enforcement of the prohibition ordinance passed by the present city council last fall. In all probability Henry East, the present marshal, will occupy that position under the new administration, as he has been very faithful in carrying out the laws in the past, but there are other applicants in the field. With the closing of the saloons, Mayor-elect Edward Southwick has many betterments and improvements in view.
 It is proposed to build a new city hall on the northeast corner of post-office block as soon as the city funds will allow. A new city jail has already been built on that property. The city waterworks system will be rushed to completion as soon as possible, as most of the big work is now done. It is proposed to move the city pavilion from the City park to a point north of and near main street, or erect a new dance hall and opera house combined. The incoming administration will no doubt not allow any pool hall licenses nor allow any form of amusement which would give a chance to get around the prohibition ordinance. The sanitary condition of the city will also be well looked after.

READING ROOM AT TABERNACLE

LEHI, Dec. 28.—In addition to what may be done by the city in the way of a public library and gymnasium for the betterment especially of the young people, it is proposed by the church to have the assembly room of the new tabernacle used as a reading room which will be kept open during the week nights and kept warm and well lighted, so that any one who wishes may go there and read books, magazines or papers which will be donated. The citizens are beginning to realize that next to the benefit of closing the saloons, some good, clean places must be provided where the people, and especially the young, may go off the streets and spend an enjoyable evening.

LEHI BRIEFS.

Christmas day spent very quietly here, family gatherings being the order of the day.
 Last night the Kirkham family held their first family reunion in the Bank building which was largely attended and much enjoyed in dancing, program and refreshments.
 The body of Miss Blanche Kendall, who committed suicide near Rigby, Idaho, Sunday last, will arrive here tonight for burial, and the funeral will probably be held tomorrow.

Mr. William H. Larson of Blackfoot, until recently a Lehi citizen, is reported very ill.

A number of citizens are putting up ice, it being about 10 inches thick.

CEDAR CITY.

MRS. FLORENCE L. WEBSTER MOURNED BY COMMUNITY

(Special Correspondence.)
 CEDAR CITY, Dec. 28.—In the death of Mrs. Florence L. Webster, which occurred at her home Dec. 14, after an illness of weeks, the community has lost one of its most useful and beloved members. The deceased was possessed of a soprano voice of exceptional power and sweetness, which made her prominent in musical circles and kept her constantly before the public from the early days of her girlhood. Not only was she cherished in the community for her gift, but for her sweet and womanly disposition, her brightness, and her never-failing readiness to render service to the public on all occasions when it was possible to do so.

The funeral services were largely attended, and the speakers, the choir, of which she was a leading member, and the congregation, united to pay a fitting tribute to the worth of the deceased.
 Mrs. Webster was born in Cedar City, Jan. 20, 1871, making her only 39 years of age at the time of her death. She leaves a husband and five children, an aged mother, a number of brothers and sisters and a host of personal friends to cherish her memory.

Ballard of the Northwestern States mission, who is in the remains which were taken from the depot to the Latter-day Saints' church of the Clareholm ward. Funeral services were held at 11 a. m. in the Bishop G. W. Pack of the Star Line ward presiding, of which Elder Funk was a member.

JUDGE W. H. KING TO BE TOASTMASTER

Annual Banquet of the Commercial Club Promises to be the Best Yet.

The eighth annual banquet of the Commercial club will be held Saturday, Jan. 15. This was decided Tuesday afternoon at a meeting of the committee in charge of the affair which promises to be the most notable of its kind ever given by the club. While the complete arrangements have not as yet been made, the general plan has been outlined with only details to fill in. William H. King is to be toastmaster, this selection insuring happy introductions with this general of a witty army of words at the head of table affairs. The toast to the host, Mr. H. L. Culmer, will be responded to by H. L. Culmer, the Wizard of the Wasatch. Secy. Joseph E. Caine will answer to the demand when "The Commercial Club" comes up, and J. E. Dunn will say some things about "The Traffic Bureau."

Gov. Spry is expected to be on hand and will tell something on the subject of "Utah," and E. M. Allison will narrate that stirring tale of "How I Broke into the Commercial Club." By one of the 400. This comprises the list up to date, but there will be others added, according to the present plans.
 The following committees were appointed to perfect the arrangements. In charge of the menu are found Charles A. Quigley, J. A. Foley and D. L. Wertheimer; the speakers, F. S. Murphy, Mathoniah Thomas and J. E. Caine; music and decorations, Theodore Nystrom, W. T. Brown, L. M. Bailey and R. J. Evans.

The general plan heretofore current of allowing members to invite friends has been abandoned because of the greatly increased membership. There are to be a number of distinguished guests, including Governor Spry, neighboring states, Col. Walter Scott of Fort Douglas and his staff, and some others. Acceptances of all invitations will be required or places will not be reserved at the tables.

HAPPY AGAIN THE VICTIM.

Latest Paragraph in Chapter of Accidents Involves an Outraged Pup.

Spot don't mind having it rubbed in occasionally by Happy Hooligan, and will stand almost any old thing, but when Happy, together with five of the Hooligan kids, tries to maul him under the runners of a big bob-sled, Spot thinks it's time to assert his mind. The worn turned Tuesday, and of course Happy was the victim.

This Salt Lake Happy, in the arid desert of common language called Ray Penrose, is a 3-year-old hoppedale whose dad is called Edward, and who is a more or less distinguished member of the newspaper fraternity. Tuesday Happy and the kids were having all sorts of a good time coasting on the Second avenue hill. Spot did his best to keep out of the way, but Happy thought it was fun to steer the big sled at the unhappy Spot. Happy has another thought now that beats the original one all to silvers.

Spot forgot all about rewards, past favors, love of humanity, and a number of other things with which he is ordinarily endowed. When the sled nipped off what little tail he had left it was all over. He growled and the Berserker rage came over him. He charged the coasters who fled for their lives along a side street. Passing up the kids Spot selected Happy, of course, as the target of his rage. The consequence is that a four-month-old and a dejected dog are wondering just how a lacerated arm is going to come out. The doctor says there is nothing serious but the parents look into the future and ask themselves "What next?"

Ray Penrose has had a very checkered career in the nine years which he has graced this mundane sphere. When 2 years old he clambered upon a wood shed and then promptly obeyed the law of gravitation, which resulted in a fractured arm. Shortly afterward he got inquisitive in regard to just where the milk came out of a canny cow, which immediately resulted by pushing Ray's nose in with a business hoof. When he emerged from the parental hospital from this attack he sat down upon a crate in which a fire was glowing merrily and was compelled to eat his meals from the mantel piece for several weeks afterward. Later he attempted to climb on to a wagon, subsequently retire from juvenile activity for two months with a compound fracture of the thigh.

The last few years have been comparatively free from major accidents, and the parents were arriving at a blissful conclusion that Happy had wandered from beneath the orbit of his unlucky star. But Happy is going to be very unhappy from the time when he is able to resume his wonted activities. For there is a gleam in his dad's

ESSENCE OF GREATNESS.

Prof. Lee Francis Lybarger Delivers Pleasing Address in Barratt Hall.

The traits necessary to greatness, according to Prof. Lee Francis Lybarger, who lectured at Barratt hall last evening to an appreciative audience, are ambition, self-reliance, courage, will power and intellect.
 "Napoleon Bonaparte, or Psychology of Success," was the subject of the lecture, and it was treated in a masterly manner. He took up Napoleon as a boy, following him through his wonderful career. He said there must be a desire for greatness; there must be independence of action; the opposite of which is "the sheep mind," or blind following; there must be will power, self-control; there must be a vast conception of one's own personality; there must be strong intellectual powers, all combined make success or greatness.
 This evening in Murray Prof. Lybarger will deliver an address on the land question.
