BUSINESS IN DISTRICT COURT

Six Divorce Suits Heard by Judge Howell—Other Cases.

FOR CIVIC IMPROVEMENT.

League Receives Favorable Reports of Local Enterprises—Frenchman Saves His Life by Swimming Ogden River.

Ogden, March 23.—In the district court Judge J. A. Howell heard six divorce suits yesterday afternoon. In all of the suits the wife was the plaintiff and failure to provide and desert were the grounds on which a majority of them were granted.

The first suit tried was that of Melissa L. Mowrey, the well known dressmaker, against Archibald V. Mowrey, the horse dealer. The defendant permitted the case to go by default. The testimony of plaintiff, Ida May and Mrs. Todd showed that defendant has failed to provide for his family for a considerable time. The testimony was all right but when it came to asking the state to pay the costs the court entered an objection, notwithstanding the fact that the plaintiff had filed an affidavit of "poverty," and he ordered the decree entered providing she pay the costs.

The suit of Marie M. Martin against George L. Martin was heard and a divorce granted.

In the action brought by Ada Brown against Charles W. Brown, the hearing was continued until some future date. The bonds of matrimony existing between May Farr and Leon Farr were ordered dissolved. Defendant is a bartender here in town.

On the testimony of plaintiff and Nancy Griffin, showing the failure of defendant to provide for his family, a decree of divorce was granted Clara M. Lape from John E. Lape.

The court heard the testimony of Camilla Gelsler and others concerning the differences that have arisen between her and Charles G. Gelsler, her husband, mostly because their children, numbering 11, by former marriages, cannot agree with each other and quarrel, thus causing a family jar. In the testimony it was brought out that plaintiff and her husband had mutually agreed on a divorce, defendant to pay costs. The court, however, was not willing to grant a divorce on such grounds and denied the application.

OTHER SUITS.

Mark Murphy has commenced suit in the district court against J. H. Farr, administrator of the estate of Nancy J. Kussick, to recover $232.60. The complaint sets forth that after the death of Mrs. Kussick, plaintiff, who was partner in her husband, assumed the responsibility of caring for the deceased's children, and in doing so incurred bills amounting to $232.60 which he asked Farr, the regularly appointed administrator and guardian, to pay, but he has refused to do so.

In this matter of the estate of Ambrose Shaw deceased, the administrator filed her final account and petition for discharge and distribution, which was heard by the court. The estate consisted of real and personal property worth over $10,000, of which amount there remained after paying all debts and costs of court and administration $11,484.41, which was ordered distributed to the wife and four children in keeping with the deceased's last will.

In the matter of the guardianship of George H. Snaker, a minor, a decree was filed by his guardian, praying for the partition of the estate.

The National Fire Insurance Company and Colonial Insurance company have filed demurrers to the complaint of the Ogden Sewer Pipe & Clay company, in which judgment was asked on insurance policies.

FOR CIVIC IMPROVEMENTS.

League Working for the Bettering of Junction City.

Ogden, March 23.—At a meeting of the Civic Improvement league, held last evening at the Weber club, a number of matters pertaining to Ogden's welfare were considered. A communication was received from Gen. Manager W. H. Bancroft of the Oregon Short Line, in which he stated that the railroad company is ready to erect the new freight depot for the Harbison line in Ogden just as soon as material and labor can be obtained; that it is only these two drawbacks that have prevented the making of this improvement in Ogden before this.

Supt. E. C. Manson of the Salt Lake division of the Southern Pacific in a letter to the league stated that no bureau of information will be established at the Union depot at this time, as was requested by the league. The parking of the grounds in front of the Union depot, he said, will be pushed out every possible haste just as soon as the weather will permit.

The league decided to hold its annual election next Tuesday night at the Weber club. The chairman will name a nominating committee. The public is invited to take part in the selection of the officers.

PRENCEMAN'S NARROW ESCAPE

Thrown Into Ogden River and Had to Swim to Save His Life.

Ogden, March 23.—C. Polo, a Frenchman, had a narrow escape from drowning in the Ogden river yesterday afternoon. He was employed by Alex Topevich with other men to place the foot bridge across the river near the mouth of Ogden canyon, on which is to be laid the Sanitarium company's pipe line. In some way one of the stringers of the bridge struck him on the neck and knocked him into the river, which at this point is a raging torrent. Polo, however, is an excellent swimmer, and succeeded in keeping his head above the water until he reached a point south of the Sanitarium, where he struck for the bank and was pulled out by Thomas Kuriz and another man.

Spring Humors

It is important to you from every standpoint that you should thoroughly cleanse your blood of all those impure, poisonous and effete matters that have accumulated in it during the winter. Do this by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

You will feel better, look better, eat and sleep better, do your work more easily and satisfactorily, and be in good condition to resist prevalent diseases and to withstand the hot waves of summer which have such a depressing and prostrating effect on the weak, debilitated and run-down.

The secret of the unequalled success of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a remedy for Spring humors is the fact, proven annually by thousands of grateful people, that it thoroughly cleanses the blood, gives strength and tone to every organ and function and builds up the whole system.

"I speak from experience of 25 years with Hood's Sarsaparilla in giving my recommendation. For spring humors and as a general blood purifier this medicine most fails. It always does all that is claimed for it, and more. I know it to be good for scurfia, salt rheum, and all similar troubles, and as a general spring medicine I can positively say it has no equal. It gives me genuine satisfaction to say these few words in favor of the medicine I have found so reliable in our family." Mrs. J. F. Gier, 50 Gould street, Stenchem, Mass.

FUNERAL OF MISS WIGHT.

Impressive Obsequies Over Remains of Esteemed Young Woman.

Special Correspondence.

Brigham City, Boxelder Co., March 21.—Miss Hattie Wight, who for the past six years has been the president of the Y. L. M. I. A. of the Boxelder stake, was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Wight, who was born in Brigham City.

MISS HATTIE WIGHT.

Death came to Mrs. Mabel Derrick Rigby on her twenty-eighth birthday, the 15th of March, almost the same minute of the day as that in which she was born. She was married to W. L. Rigby of Centerville June 27th of last year. She became ill Aug. 8th and was brought from her home back to her parents' home in Salt Lake, where she was then taken to the hospital and went under an operation for kidney trouble, of which she had been a sufferer for several years.

Mrs. Rigby was the beloved daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Z. T. Derrick, and had lived in Salt Lake all her life until she moved to Centerville with her husband, where she gained many friends during her very short stay there. She was prominent in Church work of the Twelfth ward, where the family lived, and had been an officer of the Mutual Improvement association and a teacher of the Sunday school and primary there. She leaves her loving husband, father, mother, two sisters and three brothers, and many friends to mourn her loss. Everything was done that skill and loving hands could do, as her loving husband and dear mother were by her bedside day and night all through her sickness.

The funeral services took place in the Twelfth ward chapel Wednesday, March 20th, which were conducted by Bishop T. A. Williams. Many comforting remarks were made by Bishop T. A. Williams, Patriarch Joshua Midgley and Brother J. E. Hall. Singing was furnished by the Twelfth ward quartet and a solo entitled, "Resignation," was rendered by Brother S. Winters. A large cortege followed her to the cemetery where she was laid to rest next a bed of roses. A blanket of flowers was spread over her grave.

THE SEVEN TROUBLES OF WOMAN.

At first the cold, tender little thing! And then the teeth that come to make her sad And keep her nervous mother wondering And spoil the temper of her weary dad.

Next the long and trying days in school And then the teeth that come to make her sad And keep her nervous mother wondering And spoil the temper of her weary dad.

Forever practising by rote and rule, No matter how her tender fingers ache.

And then the sorrow which she has to bear Because her legs beneath her skirts must show; Because in braids she has to wear her hair When she is old enough to have a beau.

Next the heartaches and the cheerless nights When he and she have quarreled, and she wonders if the world still has delights—He comes! And so that woe evaporates.

Last trouble of them all, and this, alas, It is that gives her the world-weary look, And lingers with her as the season's pass—The trouble that she has to keep a cook.

The Pleasure of a Gunless Hunt.

For much as one may love the exercise of skill, and strong as that love remains even in the oldest shot, it is certain that one can enjoy the field even more by reaching that point where one can look at game flying or running with all the old love, yet care not a cent whether he shoots any of it or not.

The number of those who have reached that stage is greater than many may suppose, and many have reached it quite easily. Not that they would purposely leave the gun at home if it were the proper season for hunting. After almost fifty years' play with the gun, I can make no claim to any such lofty virtue. But the mere act of killing, though it may call for the highest skill, is really an inferior matter in the pleasure of those who really love the woods and hills. Of all my hunting companions I know few who would walk half a mile to shoot birds as they are shot in the battles of Europe, and for myself, I would as soon go down to the slaughter-house and knock down an ox with the sledge as go hunting with a rifle in the Royal Forest or hunt game that would stand still long enough to be pointed out by a clumsy "gillie." I always tired very quickly of shooting that was easy, such as pinated grouse shooting, and for several years before leaving Minnesota I used to leave the gun at home or in the wagon when we went for the day, finding myself with working the dogs and leaving the shooting to my younger brothers or visiting friends.—T. S. Van Dyke, in Outing Magazine.

CITIZENS WANT CITY PLATTED

And Petition Council for Same—Spencer Golden Wedding.

Murray, March 23.—Mr. John P. Cahoon directed a communication to the city council, calling attention to the urgent necessity of platting the land within the limits of Murray city, setting forth that the people are desirous of having a beautiful city which can only be accomplished by starting out with a good plan. Mr. Cahoon calls attention to the broad regular streets and systematically arranged blocks of Salt Lake City, which are the admiration of all visitors, especially from those of eastern towns and cities where little attention was paid to the regularity of streets and the uniformity of blocks, but rather made streets of by-paths and blocks of 15-acre farms. The opportunities for Murray are great, located as she is in the best part of Salt Lake valley, and is attracting the attention of both homeseeker and investor, and he thinks that the city should be covered by a regular plat, acknowledging, of course, the streets which were well established before Murray was an incorporated city. He urged the city council to give this matter their serious attention, and suggested, if favorably considered, that a meeting of the property owners be called for the purpose of getting an expression from them as to the best method to be adopted by the city.

The communication was referred back to Mr. Cahoon to first see the property owners, ascertaining what they are willing to do and then present the results.

Marshall Mauss reported in the case of Mr. Birch, who has frequently violated the liquor law by selling his goods on Sunday, and recommended that Mr. Birch's license be revoked, which was sustained.

The street committee, whose attention was called to the necessity of placing are lights and flag men at railroad crossings, after an investigation recommended that the railway companies be compelled to install lights and flagmen at such points as the city council may deem necessary.

The valiant fire department, by communication, asked for an appropriation of $300, half of the cost of the uniforms they are endeavoring to secure.

City Atty. Moffat asked the city to supply him with such works as furnish an exhaustive treatment of the subjects involved in treating of matters applicable to city affairs. His request was granted and the books will be supplied and will become the property of the city.

SPENCER GOLDEN WEDDING.

Friends and relatives about 90 in number assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Spencer of Mill Creek Monday evening, March 18, to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the wedding day. The aged couple whose hair is whitened by the snows of over 50 winters were made to feel by their children and friends that their many deeds of kindness had not been forgotten. Tables were set to accommodate all present. All the children and grandchildren living were in attendance except one grandson who is filling a mission in Europe. The aged couple, better known as Aunt Margaret and Uncle Charles, were in their usual health.

Mr. and Mrs. Spencer came to Utah with the first pioneers in '47, and have experienced all the hardships that were so prevalent in those days. Their home has been near the Jordan river, and though an unpretentious one, hundreds of people have participated in their home.

They have written their names in the memory of all who have known them, and all who were present upon this occasion joined in wishing them a pleasant journey to the end.
