Glenwood Springs Avalanche: Inquiry is being made as to the whereabouts of E. M. Smith, who it is feared was lost in the collision below New Castle. It was understood in Glenwood that Colonel Smith got off the train at New Castle and was seen about there after the wreck. The strange thing about it is that no one here has heard from him. He was on his way to Price, Utah. His daughter, Mrs. George Shoemaker of Telluride, is trying to locate his whereabouts. The Rio Grande officials assure her that Smith is still alive.

Ogden, Utah, Oct. 11.—Two burglaries, involving a loss of over $450 worth of goods, have been reported to the police as having been committed Saturday and last night. Lynne Mercantile store at Five Points was the victim on Saturday night, an entrance being effected by forcing the front door, goods amounting in value to over $150 being stolen. Among the articles taken were one hundred pairs of gloves, retailing at $1 per pair.

A. Kuhn & Bro., men's furnisiers, Washington Ave., Ogden, were losers last night to the tune of about $250. There thieves found entrance by forcing a lower sash of the window just above the vault at the rear of the building. The window is twelve feet from ground, and was reached by piling boxes, found in the back yard, one above the other. Then they were scaled by one of the robbers, and upon his getting an entrance he unlocked the rear door, and admitted his accomplices. The swag includes clothing, hats, shoes, silk handkerchiefs, valises and grips. The police are diligently working on the cases. No arrests have been made.

The funeral of the late Patriarch John Druce was held in the Twelfth ward meeting house on Sunday at 11 o'clock. The house was filled, the casket was covered with flowers and the ceremonies were impressive. The singing was furnished by the Twelfth ward choir. The opening prayer was offered by Elder David H. Cannon, and the speakers in the order named were Elders George H. Taylor, H. B. Clawson, Martin Lenzi, T. V. Williams, Joshua Midgley and Angus M. Cannon. All bore testimony of the sterling character and faithfulness of the deceased, and his devotion to the cause of truth. Elder Taylor briefly sketched the life of Brother Druce from his first acquaintance with him, over fifty years ago, and the good work accomplished by him in the Haverstraw, N.Y., branch of the Church. The benediction was pronounced by Elder Seymour B. Young.

A large cortege followed the remains to the cemetery, where the grave was dedicated by Elder Joseph E. Taylor.

The family of Brother Druce express their thanks to the friends who have extended sympathy and assistance in the sad bereavement which has befallen them, also for the kindness exhibited during the long affliction of the deceased.

Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Susan Woodruff Scholes were held in the Twenty-first ward meeting house on Sunday, October 10th. A large concourse of sympathizing friends were in attendance, as the deceased was beloved and esteemed highly by all who knew her.

The stand and pulpit were beautifully decorated with flowers and draped in white, and the casket was completely covered with floral emblems of numerous design.

On the stand were Presidents Woodruff and George Q. Cannon, and Elders Lorenzo Snow, John H. Smith, Angus M. Cannon, Joseph E. Taylor, David H. Cannon, and other leading brethren.

The services were conducted by the Bishopric of the Twenty-first ward, and were opened by the choir singing "Sister, Thou Wast Mild and Lovely." Prayer was offered by Elder David H. Cannon. The choir sang the deceased's favorite hymn, "O, My Father."

Addresses were delivered by President George Q. Cannon, Elders Lorenzo Snow, John H. Smith, Angus M. Cannon and M. S. Woolley, all of whom testified to Sister Scholes's estimable character and loving disposition, and especially her devotion to the Gospel.

Consoling remarks were made to the bereaved children and relatives, and all present were exhorted to emulate the deceased's humility, and her devotion and zeal in every good work.

"Nearer My God to Thee" was feelingly rendered by the choir and prayer was offered by Elder H. J. Foulger. The dedicatory prayer at the grave was offered by President George Q. Cannon.

The funeral services over the remains of Maria Jane, eldest daughter of Richard M. and Mary Carlisle, were held in the Mill Creek ward house at 2 o'clock Oct. 7th, 1897, conducted by Bishop James C. Hamilton. Six young ladies acted as pallbearers, while as many little girls (all dressed in white) carrying beautiful bouquets in their hands, followed. The Y. L. M. I. A., of which the deceased had been a active member, were present, also attired in white, and the manner in which the stand was draped and ornamented with vases of choice flowers was pleasing evidence of their love for the departed one. A select choir, Theodore Best directing, sang Nearer My God to Thee, and Elder James F. Walters offered prayer. An anthem, She is not Dead But Sleeping, was next sung. Bishop Hamilton was the first speaker; he referred to the exemplary life of the deceased, who had chosen to observe counsel and to walk in the path of safety, and had been greatly blessed of the Lord. The meeting was further addressed by Elders Joseph Keddington and William H. Hill, Bishop Daniel McRae and Elder Joseph E. Taylor, counselor in the Salt Lake Stake presidency. The remarks of all were calculated to comfort and console the mourners, and stimulate all to greater diligence and to an increase of faith in the promises of God, through His chosen servant. The hymn, Oh My Father, was sweetly rendered by the choir, after which benediction was pronounced by Elder George Taylor. A long procession followed the remains to the Mill Creek cemetery, where all that was mortal of their beloved daughter and friend was tenderly laid to rest.

FROM TUESDAY'S DAILY, OCTOBER 12.

A letter from J. T. McCarthy of Sonora, Mexico, to Mrs. Fred Farmer of Nephi, Utah, states that her husband, Fred Farmer, who so mysteriously disappeared some time ago and was thought to be dead, is still alive and is working in a town in Sonora, under the name of William Smith. As McCarthy formerly lived in Nephi and knew Fred Farmer, his statements are taken as proof positive that the missing man is where he is said to be.
