Powerful Machines With All the Latest Up-to-Date Improvements--- Will Run to San Francisco.

Four new engines for the Western Pacific are in the D, & R. G. yards. They are of the largest consolidation size, with 22x30 inch cylinders, and 56 inch drivers, four on each side. The engines are $4 Inch boller shells sitting high in their frames, and short straight stacks of a more artistic patstraight stacks of a more artistic par-tern than has generally obtained in this country off the Union Pacific road. The tenders are of 6,000 gallons ca-pacity and ought to carry 13 tons of coal. They are powerful machines with all of the latest, up-to-date improve-ments, and will, no doubt, do excellent service between Salt Lake and San between Salt Lake and San service Francisc

BISHOP WATSON DEAD.

After a Long Illness He Succumbs Diabetes This Morning.

A stalwart and honored citizen of Salt Lake passed to his eternal rest at 10:30 this morning, when Bishop James C. Watson breathed his last. It was known to his friends that he had been a very sick man for many months, but the news of his departure will be a painful surprise to acquaint-ances not in the vicinity of his home. The cause of death was diabetes.

As long ago as last April it became apparent that Mr. Watson's health would not permit him to longer as-sume the duties of bishop of the Sixth ward, and he was honorably released from that position, and was ordained a patriarch. For 25 years he had been connected with the bishopric of the ward mentioned, the last 18 of which had been spent as its head. James C. Watson was born at New-arkhill, Scotland, Sept. 4, 1844. In the fall of 1850 he came with his parents to Utah, and this was his home there-after. He was a man very large to Utah, and this was his home there-after. He was a man very large physically, weighing in his prime not less than 250 pounds, and he was also of large heart and brain. Ever joylal of large heart and brain. Ever joyial and good natured, he was well thought of by all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance. He was particularly popular with the members of his ward, and his death will be regretted by many also who were not members of the church

Church. Bishop Watson is survived by a large family, 20 children and a great many grandchildren and many other rela-tives. The time and place of funeral tives. The time and pr will be announced later.
