

IN THE WORLD OF WOMEN

The week has been notable chiefly for its delightful home affairs—a number of enjoyable private functions having enlivened its record. Valentine's day lent the idea for the prevailing decorative schemes and pretty and unique effects have figured amongst the features of the entertainments. The banquet given by E. V. McCune at the Alta club on Tuesday in honor of the Democratic members of the Legislature was the only elaborate function of the kind given at the club.

The Opal club spent a very enjoyable evening on Tuesday last at the Ladies' Literary club house. The first prizes at cards were won by Mrs. A. Volz and Dr. E. M. Keyser. The consolation prizes were won by Miss Nichols and Judge Alex. McMaster. After cards the club was favored with two excellently rendered selections by the Opal Club Glee and Mandolin club, which is but recently organized and will become a permanent feature of the Opal club. The performers are Messrs. E. and A. E. Hadley, Sam Donelson and W. P. Fowler. Refreshments were served, and dancing continued during the evening. On Tuesday evening, the 26th, the club has decided that an old-fashioned party shall be the method of entertainment. Everything will favor of the olden time, and the club members are looking forward to an evening of genuine, good fun. Prizes will be awarded for best sustained characters, and the following committee have been appointed to award the prizes: Messrs. Max Brodie, A. N. Rosenbaum, A. F. Angell, Mrs. A. F. Angell, Mrs. C. E. Tanner.

A notable affair takes place this evening at the home of Miss Hester Cannon, when an elaborate kettledrum will be given including a delightful musical program and guessing contest, the latter to be a most unique one. Various instruments will be used in the musical program and the guests will be required to guess the kind of instrument without seeing it beforehand. A lady's and gentleman's first and consolation prizes will be awarded in the contest.

Two selections by the Temple choir, solos by Prof. McClellan, H. S. Ensign, Miss Patten, Miss Wimmer, R. T. Cannon, Tracy Y. Cannon and John Daynes. The invited guests are: Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Cannon, Mr. Ether Davy, Mr. Brigham Cannon, Mr. Eugene Lewis, Mr. H. S. Ensign.

Mrs. W. H. Bird entertained at an elaborate card-party on Thursday afternoon. The rooms were handsomely decorated in red, American Beauty roses and red carnations being used, and the tables were in red hearts. The first prize was won by Mrs. J. T. Har-

SPRING HAT AND WAIST.

The 1901 summer girl is shown here and a charming girl she is in her straw toque nearly covered with a rich tangle of flowers relieved in front by a rosette of pink taffeta, and her white taffeta waist with its elbow sleeves. The entire waist is box-plaited, the plaits seemingly kept in place by strappings of black lace insertion. The yoke of black net over white, has a lace braid design. A black chiffon neck decoration with scarf ends and a shoulder frill of black chiffon give this beautiful waist the needed finish.

Young, Charles Lawrence, Colonel Donnell, E. Ellis Brown and Joseph Richards.

Miss Margaret Donnell entertained at a party card party at her residence on Thursday evening. The score cards were valentines inscribed with the motto: "To my love and the tallies were also valentines. Delicious refreshments were served, a souvenir of heart-shaped boxes of bon-bons being presented to each guest. The prizes, which were heart-shaped boxes of bon-bons, handsomely decorated, were won by Miss Lynn and Miss Olive Gray. Present were Miss Mabel Clark, Miss Ruth, the Misses Lynn, Miss Schied, Miss Lena Meyers, Miss Mary Gray, Messrs. Glendinning, Stringfellow, Ellis Bishop, Davis, Carl Schied, Berk-hoel.

Mrs. T. B. Beatty entertained at two charming parties this week. The first was on Tuesday and about forty-four guests were present to enjoy the afternoon. The decorations and card scheme were in daffodils, the rooms being prettily adorned with a profusion of growing daffodils and the score cards having the inscription, "Little Miss Daffodil came into town in a yellow petticoat and a green gown." The tallies also carried out the pretty idea. The first prize was won by Mrs. George Y. Wallace and the general prize, a bouquet of flowers, by Mrs. McCormick.

Last Saturday afternoon Misses Clara Ellerbeck and Mabel Wallace entertained the College Women's club of the University at the home of Miss Ellerbeck on State street. The rooms were prettily decorated with palms, violets and carnations and a delightful social afternoon was spent, delicious refreshments being served at its close. Present were Misses Hester and Grace Nelson, Miss Moffatt, Miss Mary Moffatt, Miss Dix, Miss Ella Shipp, Miss Ther, Miss Alice Fisher, and the Misses Scholtes.

An Thursday night Miss Hattie Proctor of the "News" bary and Charles Webb were united in marriage, the ceremony being performed by Bishop Spiers. A reception was tendered the young people at the residence of President George Buckle of the city council, about forty friends being present. The bride and groom have many friends who extend cordial good wishes for their future welfare. They will reside on Chester avenue.

Among the prettiest events of the week were the card parties given by Mrs. G. N. Steiner and Mrs. Fred Hale on Wednesday night and yesterday afternoon. The valentine idea was artistically carried out in hearts and arrows, a striking feature being a large electric heart done in red lights with white dart. The score cards and tallies were valentines and red carnations and smiles were used to complete the decorations. Mrs. Vollmer won the first ladies' prize and Mrs. Hoppaugh second. The first gentleman's prize was taken by Mr. Oswald and the second by Dr. Griswold.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Hale and Mrs. Steiner entertained at a second delightful card-party, a large number of guests being present. The decorations and scores were the same.

A second card-luncheon was given by Mrs. Beatty on Wednesday, the decorations being the same, and the score cards also, with the addition of their sword ferns adorning the corner of each room from a collection of pressed ferns gathered by Mrs. Beatty in Switzerland. The first prize in the contest was won by Mrs. A. C. Ewing, the general prize by Mrs. Dale.

Mrs. A. W. McCune, Jr., entertained the Utopia club on Wednesday afternoon. The rooms were decorated with carnations and palms, and the scores and tallies were hand-painted designs. Mrs. Kenneth Kerr won the first prize and Mrs. C. Houghton second. Miss Olive Gray, the talented pianist, played during the afternoon. Following the rules of the club only punch was served for refreshment. The club meets next with Mrs. McGurkin.

INTERIOR GLIMPSES OF SALT LAKE HOMES.

SITTING ROOM IN H. G. McMILLAN'S RESIDENCE.

The home of H. G. McMillan on east South Temple street, is one of the handsomest of the new residences recently erected in Salt Lake. The house is built of brick, and spacious porches adorn the south and east sides of the house—its front being on the south. The entrance opens into a wide hall, and leading from this on the east is the sitting room, a cut of which is shown above. The room is finished in hard wood, and a most artistic feature is the semi-circular window-alcove, with its cushioned seat running its entire length which gives a pretty tower effect from the inside. Opposite this room on the west is the parlor, with mantel, cornices and window-casings done also in rich woods, and with its tapestries and furnishings in delicate green. Adjoining the parlor on the north is the library, a pretty room done in rose pink, and with tempting cases and shelves of books as a distinguishing charm. The dining room adjoins the sitting room on the north with kitchen and pantries at its rear, and the upper floors are devoted to the sleeping apartments, etc.

Holzheimer, at 164 east Second South street.

A successful affair of the week was the luncheon given by the Ladies' Aid society on Thursday and yesterday for the benefit of the building fund of the church.

Another successful and delightful event was the social given Tuesday afternoon by the American Home Finding association of the Y. M. C. A. rooms. An entertaining program was given, refreshments served, and the affair was in all ways successful.

Mrs. Farnsworth reading a paper on Valley Forge, and patriotic sentiments being quoted by each member in response to the roll call.

Chicago club women have begun their work of beautifying right in town. They have adopted and adapted small parks and devoted their energies to making urban sites slightly Massachusettish. Women have started higher, as it were. They are making a raid on sign posts. In the interests of art and utility the arts and crafts committee of the state federation have resolved themselves into animated guides to point the way to esthetic things. The women have begun outside the towns, and the ugly sign-post has not gone. That the women are in earnest is proved by their offering prizes for posts that shall be both beautiful and practical. Index fingers are barred, and it is expressly mentioned that the traveler who prefers joggling along the ditches shall be able to read where he is going to or coming from, as well as the more conventional one. This federation guide board, when the artist venturesome enough to please all club women of Massachusetts gets the commission, is to be bought by clubs of various districts and placed in prominent spots (with permission of the proper authorities, of course) to serve as an object lesson. After this, if the town councils are not appreciative, nothing will be left for the women but to take the men into their clubs and educate them.

The latest helpful step the Chicago Woman's club has inaugurated is the Sunday afternoon open door. This means that the club has begun to welcome women and girls to their quarters interested in club activities. Those who are expected to attend are the women who are too busy during the week to enjoy any social communion with other women.

Wary of wrestling with the problem of domestic help and that other perplexing question of what to get for dinner, members of the woman's club in Portage, Wisconsin, recently hired and furnished a house, employed a manager, cooks and waiters, laid in a stock of provisions, and induced their families to dine in company.

The fact was like that generally served in good American families, which may be taken to mean that it was plain, plentiful, well cooked, and wholesome. At breakfast, toast, a cereal preparation, griddle-cakes and fruit were provided. The noonday dinner consisted of soup, two kinds of meat, with vegetables, and desert. There is always a hot dish for the evening meal.

FEMININE FLOTSAM.

WHEN THE HEART IS HEAVY. Do Not Spread Mental Depression Any More Than a Contagious Disease.

Worry kills. It wears upon the brain as dropping water wears away stone. The habit must be killed by eternal vigilance, resolution and good sense. Worry, like bad air or an obnoxious person, must be driven out, and the best way to drive either out is by the introduction of the good. You can all your mind with comforting, calming thoughts leaving no room for the harassing ones. You can flood out the enemy, just as by pouring a stream of clear water into a tumbler filled with discolored liquid you can soon force out the muddy contents of the glass and leave it filled with liquid crystal. Don't let events depress you. Maintain your equilibrium, and let mind rule matter and good sense judge events. The emotional surge is always watching for a chance to exploit itself. Keep it in reserve, ready for every touch of human feeling, responsive to goodness, human, Christian and all healthy feeling, but do not allow it to tinge your understanding or in any way affect your sane view of business or the affairs of life. Check expression when bitter or somber feeling has the best of you. To say how sad or perplexed you feel when your heart aches for the moment deepens your inward troubles, and at the same time spreads

TYPICAL FEBRUARY GIRL.

This is the February girl, who is rejoicing in the early spring warmth which enables her to cast aside her heavy wraps and don her open fronted bolero jacket with its dainty gold embroidery. These little coats will be worn far into the new season.
