

ORATORY LACKING AT COUNCIL MEET

Old Members Prolong Their Official Life as Long as They May.

MEET AGAIN NEXT MONDAY.

Morning Session Will Clean Up All Unfinished Business and Start New Body With Clean Slate.

Almost with his last breath as a city servant, Councilman Martin E. Mulvey last night made a vigorous fight against the granting to Le Grand Young a deed for city property in Emigration canyon. The land was purchased as a watershed several years ago at a cost of $5 per acre. Judge Young proposed to take the land off the city's hands for the cost of the land and 8 per cent since it was bought. He proposes using the land, amounting to 42 acres, for a right of way for the Emigration Canyon Railroad company. The land is of no use whatever to the city, the opinion of several members of the council. After declaring that the granting of the deed was a matter of such wide scope that it should go over to the new council, Councilman Mulvey lost his fight. The matter has been before the council for some time and the body and its various committees have thrashed the proposition to a conclusion. Now Mr. Mulvey would have all the work gone over with by the new members. Mulvey's was the only vote against the measure when the roll was called.

SPECIAL SESSION MONDAY.

The council still has a lot of unfinished business ahead of it and to take care of it before its official life is extinct, Councilman W. Mont Perry provided early in the evening that when the body adjourns, it adjourn to next Monday morning at 10 o'clock. The council, to all official intents and purposes, will become a political corpse at noon of the same day. At that hour there will be sworn in the members of the new council. At the Monday morning session the order of business will be taken up by the new council. The council referred to the new council all petitions and communications which were filed with the city recorder to come up at last night's session. They will be taken up next Monday night and referred to new committees.

TO KEEP SPECIAL POLICEMEN.

Upon request of Chief of Police Tom D. Pitt, the 10 special policemen provided for soon after the death of Policeman Charles Ford will be retained in service for not more than 30 days. Chief Pitt represented to the council that the force needs these special men to combat the crime wave that seems to have reached this city in its western course over the country.

Also, upon the request of Chief Pitt, H. F. Yeager and J. H. Hinton were confirmed as regular patrolmen. Yeager succeeds Jim Williams, who resigned to become a guard at the state prison. Hinton succeeds Policeman Charles Ford, who was murdered while on duty.

CITY TO BUILD FENCE.

At Tenth East street and Fifth South street the city will erect two fences to prevent accidents. There are high embankments at these points. The council appropriated $125 for the construction work.

The council made an additional appropriation of $25.56 to pay taxes on city property in Parley's canyon. The petition of A. K. M. Meyer, asking relief from flood waters west of Jordan river, which he expects will visit him again next spring, was read. The council has received two or three tales of such petitions and has under way a plan to prevent the recurrence of the floods.

TO BUY ULMER'S LAND.

The council decided to buy 40 acres of land in Parley's canyon from E. M. Ulmer at a cost of $400. On the 160 acres of land in Parley's canyon, his price was too high, though, and the council authorized the recorder to notify him that it will pay him $1,500 for the watershed. The land adjoins the Youngberg reservoir site.

The committee report on the request of Le Grand Young for a right of way over certain streets in the east part of the city was favorable to the deal. Councilman Mulvey fought the proposition, however, and succeeded in having it go to the city attorney to be reported to the new council. Mr. Mulvey was opposed to granting the requests without a regular franchise.

TO SELL OLD MILLS.

The city is going to sell the old woolen mills east of the state prison to Ben Harries for $100. According to Councilman Martin, there is need of haste in this matter, or else there will be no mills to sell. The mills have remained after the combat the elements have waged against the building. ## Kinetic Energy Kinetic is a good word. It means "power to make things go." A fat bank account, a rock on the edge of a hill, a barrel of gunpowder, and SCOTT'S EMULSION all contain "kinetic energy," so the professor tells us.

Power is stored up in walls, too, are rapidly disappearing in wagons driven to the scene by persons who have slung for the rock. Two years ago, the city could have sold the building for $250, but the council thought it was worth more to hold on to it. Now they are willing to let it go while there is something left of it.

An ordinance providing for city series and a weighmaster was laid to sleep until next Monday night, to come before the new council.

P. S. Richards, special counsel for the city in its big water suit in the district court, was awarded $5,000 as a part payment on his contract with the city to assist the city attorney in fighting the water users in the south-east corner of the canyon. To determine the city's title to the waters used for city purposes for which Utah lake water has been exchanged.

L. D. Martin promised Mr. Fernstrom that the petition of residents in the northwestern portion of the city for additional are lights will be acted upon as soon as the council is officially informed of the action of the Utah Light & Railway company. The franchise recently granted by the council, which is expected to go to the city recorder today.

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

Important provisions of Councilman Carter's amendments to the city ordinances with regard to standards of weights and measures are as follows:

A bushel shall consist of 2,160 cubic inches; a half-bushel, 1,075 cubic inches; a peck, 537 1/2 cubic inches; a quart, 67 1/2 cubic inches; a pint, 33 3/4 cubic inches; a gallon, 134 1/2 cubic inches. ### TO PREVENT THE GRIP.

AMUSEMENTS.

Theater—There were unmistakable signs of the calamity wave around the Salt Lake theater last night. Manager Pyper thought the bottom had been reached with the closing nights of "The Girl Who Has Everything," but that there were new depths to sound was shown by the attendance on "Under Southern Skies" last night.

Not all of the attendance, however, was due to the currency famine. The play was long ago worn threadbare, and even when it was a new and shining thing, it failed to excite the enthusiasm of Salt Lake theatergoers, and now its owners have let it run down so badly at the head, that the marvel is that they should keep it on the road at all. The company is as cheap as the play, and more need not be said. There was considerable laughter in the galleries over the comedy episodes of the negro delineators, but a fog of gloom seemed to have settled upon the parquet which was not lifted until the doors were thrown open at the close.

The bill winds up its engagement this afternoon.

The advance sale of Manager Pyper's next attraction, from which big things are expected, is now in progress. This consists of "George Washington, Jr.," which opens New Year's afternoon.

Orpheum—A good bill will be seen at the Orpheum this week. "Will be seen" is used because the usual Monday night delays and misadventures made the performance drawn out and ill-served last evening. Making the one wait less tiresome, however, was Fred C. Graham, who rendered two solos; the audience tried to bring him back a third time, but as two acts from San Francisco had reached the house while he was singing, he withdrew. There are three acts above the average; the kinodrome is "Paul Revere's Ride," "The" quartet and Marie Remington and her four pickaninies. The latter pictures in the kinodrome work are clever and Carl Bascom's troubles with chinaware and a piece of fly-catcher are most laughable. La Belle Oterita and a dancer suit in the middle of their skimping and sneering disgustedly at the orchestra walked off the stage. This little trick failed to win La Belle and her companion any favors from the audience. Charles Marvel, comedian, has a perfect title to his last name, "The Jelly Widow" and "La Osera Lada" were the orchestra's offerings, and both are treats.

Grand—"The Girl and the Stampede" drew a good Monday evening's audience at the Grand last night, and from the manner in which the place was packed it was evident that it took well with most, if not all, of those present. There is in the story sufficiently stirring character to satisfy lovers of the ultra melodramatic, the kind that usually comes from the mountain and plain, and there is considerable of the humorous. The two leading parts fall to Grace Lambert and V. F. Lambert, as Boss Crabtree and Cal Hair, and both are exceptionally good in their respective roles. The company supporting them is above the average. "The Girl and the Stampede" finishes out the week, to be followed by a half-week's engagement of the funny Swedish character play, "Tilly Olson."

Lyrics—"A Cowboy's Honor" is this week's offering at the Lyric, and as anything about cowboys or their big, broad, free and non-to-nature life is always interesting, the lower Main street house is getting more than ordinary audiences. "A Cowboy's Honor" is in four acts, and being a full fledged melodrama, each act comes to an end in a thrilling climax. There is some clever acting, but to mention any particular performer would be favoritism, as each member of the Moore Stock company shows an earnest desire to put up a good presentation of his or her part. That the company is at work in earnest is evident from the fact that 14 persons have parts in "A Cowboy's Honor." One charm of the bills being put on under the direction of Frederick Moore is that they are clean melodramas and have less to do with love.

THE HUNGARIAN BAND.

At the Cullen there are big preparations for a rush tonight, when the New Year's eve supper will be spread, and the management of the much talked of Hungarian band begins. The organization is said to be strictly unique in its make-up, and the management of the Cullen expect to have their hands full in taking care of their patronage during its stay in Salt Lake.

ROLLER RINK NOTES.

Auditorium—At the Auditorium rink this evening, several hundred enthusiastic roller skating fans will skate out the old year to the music of Heil's band. A number of excellent musical numbers will be on the program, and a new set of moving pictures will be shown. The big building will be handsomely decorated, and at midnight the scene will be a brilliant one when the red fire will be set off and the place is ablaze. The rink usually closes at 10:30, but tonight the skaters will have the rink until 12:30.

Princess—At the Princess rink this evening a race for couples will take place. The contest will be between Miss Kate Fullerton, with Joe Bowen as partner, and Miss Lillian Hart and John Mountford. A masked carnival is also on the program.

Tickets to Dance Being Counterfeited.—Contribution of $5.

The discovery has been made that some individual has counterfeited the tickets being sold for the dance to be given for the benefit of the widow and family of Policeman Charles S. Ford, who was murdered by highwaymen. Hereafter all the tickets will be stamped with the name of S. N. Randolph.

Yesterday afternoon, while Officer Griffiths was standing at the corner of Main and Second South street, a well dressed man walked up to him, slipped an envelope in the officer's hand and quietly walked away. The officer opened the envelope and found a $5 bill with the following message: "I, as a loyal citizen of Salt Lake City, inclose $5 for the benefit of the bereaved and orphan children of Policeman Charles S. Ford, and sincerely trust that every one will come forth in a liberal way. 'A NEWCOMER'."

HOW THEY DO IT IN ARIZONA.

A trio of blithesome Mexicans created a disturbance near the residence of George H. Birdno one evening last week, and Mrs. Birdno called Officer W. T. Johnson. When the latter gentleman essayed to arrest them, they displayed a belligerent spirit. One of them drew a huge knife and tried to stab the officer, but Mr. Johnson promptly knocked two of them down, after which they quietly submitted to arrest. On the next day they were both fined $10 by Justice Fonda. The third disturber escaped.—Graham Guardian.

HOLIDAY EDITIONS.

Salt Lake Herald and Tribune Issue Big New Year Numbers.

The New Year's editions of the Herald and Tribune just issued are productive of considerable praise both from literary and typographical standpoints.

The Tribune annual contains some of the best half-tone work put out by that newspaper to date, the cover essentially being a splendid three-color effect with the railroad pages show originality and enterprise. The number is crammed with interesting and valuable matter pertaining to Utah and contiguous territory.

The Herald has a H. L. A. Culmer cover design devoted to Black Rock and a view of Salt Lake City. Several brief interviews on "How to Make Salt Lake City a Better Place to Live in," strike a happy keynote. The issue is carried through the entire edition. Taken all in all it is a credit to the state, one that is a credit to Utah.

SHEEP MEN MAY ASSEMBLE HERE

Salt Lake is Out for the Next Wool Growers' Convention.

THE DRY FARMING CONGRESS.

It Will Find Many Flockmasters from Helena Meeting in Attendance To Look Over Ground.

Fisher Harris has another idea for Salt Lake. His foresight in catching opportune moments in which to put in the hook to bring a convention hither, has added him name wool and sheep as a theme on which to "do it now."

On Jan. 14, 15 and 16 there will meet in Helena the forty-fourth annual convention of the National Wool Growers' association. It will have the task of selecting a place to go for 1909, and Mr. Harris promises that enough local wool growers will be there to see that the convention for 1909 is landed for Salt Lake.

DRY FARMING CONGRESS.

The Dry Farming congress which opens here Jan. 22, to continue until Jan. 26, will issue an invitation to the sheepmen to attend, and it is possible that a large delegation will come down from Helena immediately after the convention there closes its doors. Representatives of the department of agriculture have been invited to deliver papers before the Dry Farming congress, and the following is the list of those who will present:

WILL READ PAPERS.

"Drought Resistant Grain Crops," W. M. Jardine, assistant cerealist, office of grain investigations, bureau of plant industry.

"Dry Land Tree Crops," Silas C. Mason, office of plant life history, bureau of plant industry.

SEEING SEATTLE.

A Beautiful Book of Views is Issued By Chamber of Commerce.

Since the San Francisco earthquake the town of Seattle has put a great deal of force into a campaign of publicity, and a little book which has just been received from the Seattle chamber of commerce is perhaps as good a thing as the "booster movement" has produced.

The book is simply a set of views, with scantily worded descriptions printed on the best of paper with an excellent binding in brown. A totem pole, with the words, "What to See in and About Seattle" is the cover design. A frontispiece, showing the great Mount Rainier is so arranged that the snow clad tip of the mountain shows through an opening in the cover. Following this picture there are two dozen more. Fully half of them show the out of doors sports and recreations that may be had in the vicinity—the play grounds nature has provided, that while abundant in Salt Lake's vicinity have been little exploited here, and little used to bait visitors.

The public buildings receive but little notice, and page being given to the library, another to the union passenger station, and another to the sky scraper section of town. Ravenna park, the cedar trees, fishing streams, Puget Sound yachting, and Lake Washington are each started with the best pictures that mechanical processes and the most excellent camera can produce. The book as a whole gives an excellent impression of the town's out of doors environment with the single exception of the rains. They are ignored.
