Cashler's Cage-

A companion of the robber, who had driven him to the bank in an automoble, was captured immediately following the robbery, forcing the principal perpetrator in the during duylight crime to flex on foot. He was engaged in a running duel with Town Marshal John Sheehun After running several blocks, the robber dashed into a shed, blocks, the robber dashed into a shed, closely followed by Sheehan. When the fugitive saw he was caught, he cluded arrest by taking his own life. The man arrested, who appeared in the guise of a chauffeur, rerused to disclose anything concerning his own or his companion's identity.

ROBBERY WAS SPECTACULAR.

The robbery was spectacular. The bandlit obtained about $500 after he had forced Capiter Duffy, Miss Nellie Filagerald, the bookkeeper, and Joseph F. Richards, the reacting teller, into the cashier's gage, just after the clos-ing of business for the day. In the morning the automobile bear-ing the robber and his chauffeur drove up to the bank. The man who is now dead entered the bank and inquired of Cashier Duffy whether a "Mr. Wil-liams" was in the bank. Duffy said be knew of a Mr. Williams at Liberty-yille, Hi., some miles west of Highland ville, iii., some miles west of Highland Park. The visitor thanked him and left the bank. He drove away and re-turned a little after 2 p. m. He en-tered the bank, while his companion remained outside in the automobile. "Did you find Williams?" asked Duf-fy, when his visitor re-entered. "No, he was not there," the stranger readied replied. Cashier Duffy then became suspicious and his visitor wont to the street and conversed with the chauffeur, returning again to the bank, while Duffy closed the front door. The side door he left open for the stranger to depart. Fear-ing something was wrong Duffy hur-riedly took a large amount of money and locked it in the vault. Neveral hundred dollars still were in his cage. As he entered the care,

"Call everyone in here into that rage," said the handlit, "or I'l blow your head off. Hurry up!"

THREATS TO KILL.

THREATS TO KILL Duffy cooplied. Miss Fitzgerald and Richards came into the cage, while the intruder helped himself to all the money is sight. He carefully tucked the gold and bills into his peckets and then exclaimed: "If any of you at-tempt to follow me fit kill you!" He started for the door and Duffy immediately telephoned the marshal's office across the street. By the time the robber reached the automobils.

COLD WEATHER ADVICE

NATURE'S • PERFECT

Something more than an ordinary tonic is required to restore health to a weakened, run-Jown system; the medicine must possess blood-purifying properties as well, because the weakness and impurity of the circulation is responsible for the poor physical condition. The blood does not contain the necessary quantity of rich, red corpuscles, and is therefore a weak, watery stream which cannot afford sufficient nourishment to sustain the system in ordinary health. A poorly nourished body cannot resist disease, and this explains why so many persons are attacked by a spell of sickness when the use of a good tonic would have prevented the trouble. In S. S. S. will be found both blood-cleansing and tonic qualities combined. It builds up weak constitutions by removing all impurities and germs from the blood, thus supplying a certain means for restoring strength and inrigonating the system. The healthful, vegetable ingredients of which S. S. S. is composed make it splendidly fitted to the needs of those systems which are delicate from any cause. It is Nature's Perfect Tonic, free from all harmful minerals, a safe and pleasant acting medicine for persons of every age. S. S. S. rids the body of that tired, worn-out feelings o common at this season, improves the appetite and digestion, tones up the stomach.
