VISIT OF PRESIDENT GRANT.

At the special Meeting of the City Council on Saturday, mentioned in the News of that day, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"Having learned that the Chief Executive of the Nation is en route for this city, and

"Whereas the people of Salt Lake City are desirous to give him a reception worthy of his official position, therefore,

"Resolved, by the city council of Salt Lake City, that the hospitalities of said city be and are hereby tendered to His Excellency Ulysses S. Grant, President of the United States; and that a committee of arrangements be appointed with full power and authority to welcome him; and that they be instructed to invite the federal and other officers, civil and military, to participate in all the ceremonies of the occasion."

Hon. Geo. Q. Cannon and Aldermen A. C. Pyper and A. H. Raleigh were appointed a committee of welcome, and those gentlemen sent the following dispatch to President Grant:

"SALT LAKE CITY, October 2nd, 1875. To His Excellency, U. S. Grant, President of the United States:

"Dear Sir—Upon learning of your intention to visit Utah, the City Council of Salt Lake City passed resolutions, extending the hospitalities of the city to yourself and party.

"A special train will leave here in the morning to meet your Excellency at Ogden.

"The civil and military officers of the Territory and other citizens, are invited from the party.

"GEORGE Q. CANNON, ALEXANDER C. PYPER, A. H. RALEIGH.

"In behalf of the City Council of Salt Lake City."

Invitations were accordingly issued to resident United States and other officials and private citizens, as stated in the foregoing, to constitute a party to go on a special train, chartered for the purpose, to Ogden to meet his Excellency, who was expected to arrive there about noon.

At half past nine yesterday morning all who had accepted the invitation of the Council and Committee were on board the special train, and a few minutes after were on the way to Ogden, arriving there about seven o'clock. The Ogden depot was thronged with an eager crowd, who had assembled to catch a glimpse of the Chief Executive of the Nation.

About half-past twelve the special train on which the President was travelling rolled into the depot, and his Excellency, who was standing upon the rear platform of a Pullman car, was instantly recognized by the populace, who waived their hats as he approached, he saluting them in turn by taking off his hat and bowing. The anxiety on the part of the people to see the President caused some little crowding, but the utmost order and good nature prevailed. The Ogden brass band, which was there, discoursed appropriate music.

When the train stopped, the Salt Lake City Council committee of welcome, headed by Hon. Geo. Q. Cannon, approached the President, when the gentleman named greeted him and informed him that a delegation from the City were desirous to wait upon him. The President and the delegation and some other gentlemen, including Councilors Winder and Dinwoodey and representatives of the press, adjourned to the compartment at one end of the car, where Mr. Cannon presented the members of the committee and the other gentlemen present to President Grant.

Mr. Cannon, as spokesman of the committee, repeated to the President the subject matter of the dispatch forwarded to him, tendering to him the hospitalities of the City. President Grant acknowledged the receipt of the committee's dispatch at Evanston, but said that he had not had time to answer it, and also stated that he regretted that he was unable to accept of the courtesy thus extended to him, having already accepted an invitation from the Governor. Governor Emery and party had met the President at Echo.

Shortly afterwards the committee withdrew, and the special train from Salt Lake City was compelled to the rear of the President's car, and they early proceeded on their way to Salt Lake City.

It may be well to state, that besides the special meeting of the City Council there was another held by individuals who kept the matter within a small radius, whereas, President Grant being a visitor to Salt Lake City, and consequently properly the guest of the municipality, the City Council extended invitations to people of all parties, but none of the gentlemen connected with the other meeting accepted the invitation of the City Council, neither were any of the municipal authorities invited to cooperate with the more restrictive party in the reception arrangements. Some of the representatives of that party took the morning train, went out on the Union Pacific line some distance, boarded the President's car, and accompanied him to the City.

After the train left Ogden for this city, President Brigham Young, Honorable John Taylor, B. Young, Jr., and Joe. F. Smith, and all the other gentlemen and ladies of the special train party from Salt Lake City, were in turn presented to President Grant, who stood upon the platform of his car. The meeting between him and President Young was hearty and cordial. The party were also present to the ladies and gentlemen accompanying his Excellency, among whom were Mrs. Grant, Col. Fred Grant and wife, Gen. O. E. Babcock, Hon. Hamilton Brie, ex-Secretary of the Navy, wife and daughter, ex-Senator Thayer, from Nebraska, and now Governor of Wyoming.

President Young remained about half an hour in President Grant's car, in conversation with Mrs. Grant and other members of the presidential party, and before re-entering his own car he took leave of President Grant, and expressed hope that the latter would enjoy his first visit to Salt Lake City.

The train arrived at the depot shortly before 2 o'clock. There were very few people within the enclosure, which had prudently been cleared by the police, to prevent confusion or accident. There was, however, a very large number of carriages in waiting, provided by the city, and some by the private party already alluded to, for the occasion. The President was met here by a delegation of Federal office-holders and others, who escorted him to the Walker House, the route to which was lined with thousands of people. The Sabbath school children, who had turned out for the occasion, were arranged on each side of South Temple street, from the depot to the Temple block, and the police and the people generally deserve special credit for the excellent order that prevailed.

The President's carriage was followed by a long train of other carriages, and when he reached the Walker House, East Temple street fairly swarmed with vehicles and pedestrians.

During the afternoon, while an exceedingly large concourse of people were assembled, in front of the hotel, the President appeared upon the balcony, accompanied by Governor Emery, who introduced his Excellency, as the first President of the United States that had ever visited Utah. The Governor also said, in effect, that he was certain that he expressed the sentiment of the whole people, when, in their name and behalf, he bade him heartily welcome to the Territory.

This morning President Grant, accompanied by Governor Emery, drove to the Temple block, visited and examined the New Tabernacle, then drove upon the hill north of town, for the purpose of obtaining a full view of the City, and afterwards drove to Camp Douglas.

The other members of the presidential party, accompanied by several citizens of Salt Lake also subsequently visited the New Tabernacle, and appeared much interested in the appearance and dimensions of the building. Brother Joseph J. Daynes played upon the organ, for the pleasure of the party. Other points of interest were also visited by them.

At one o'clock this afternoon his Excellency held a public reception at the Walker House, when a large number of people availed themselves of the opportunity presented of seeing President U. S. Grant and shaking him by the hand.

The President and party will leave this city by special train, at four o'clock this afternoon.

He is honored with a visit from any Chief Magistrate of the nation, and will speak the sentiments of Utah when we express the hope that his visit has been one of mixed pleasure, and that he leaves with just impressions regarding this portion of the Republic, and that a people who are as loyal and true to constitutional principles, and who are, we believe we can say without boasting, as honest and industrious, as any community of the country, their works and the peace and the good order that prevail among them testifying amply that such is the actual condition, peace and good will being their motto.

The people and their representatives have rightly shown a disposition to extend to the President during his brief visit to Salt Lake City, every courtesy that is due to a gentleman of his distinguished position.

As we were going to press we learned that a number of sisters were decorating the President's car, conspicuous among the embellishments being the word "Welcome," neatly executed in flowers.

We understand that President Grant goes from here to Denver directly.
