

EXTENSIVE NEW PLANT OF MORRISON, MERRILL & COMPANY

One of the strongest indications that the city is spreading out is the manner in which the big wholesale houses are securing for themselves locations near the railroad tracks, where facilities are best for bringing their imports to their warehouses and where they will be in a position to provide the necessary yards and various buildings connected with the business. Most of the changes are made quietly for many reasons, not the least of which is the fact that it is not desired to give the appearance of spreading out too rapidly, and often the fact of the move to the new location is known for the first time only by the announcement of the opening of a new place of business.

One of the more recent changes of the sort is the move to be made by Morrison, Merrill & Co., in the near future to a new location on Third West, at the corner of First North, two blocks north of the new depot of the Oregon Short Line railroad. A handsome three-story warehouse, with offices, has been erected in that location, which will give the company what is said to be the finest location of any business of the kind between Denver and the coast. The new structure, which was designed by W. H. Lepper, architect, is built of red pressed brick and cut stone and with especial attention to fireproof conditions.

Handsome Offices.

The main building has a frontage of 83 feet and a depth of 110 feet. The basement occupies the entire extent of the building, so as to provide practically four stories of room. The offices are in the front of the building. Here are provided private offices for the heads of the firm, rooms for the traveling salesmen, stenographers, the city sales department, spaces for the desks of the receiving, order and estimating departments, the office manager and the bookkeeping departments.

The rooms are distinguished for their beauty and convenience. Huge plate glass windows give an attractive appearance to the front of the building and provide light for the offices within. The offices are finished in Oregon fir and Wisconsin birch in combination, with an oak finish which gives an especially handsome appearance. The floors are of maple. One of the features of the place is the water, furnished from a flowing spring and which is brought into the building for drinking purposes, and which, even after running through the pipes, retains enough coldness to be enjoyed without the use of ice.

Fireproof Vaults.

There is a large fireproof vault with 25-inch walls on each floor for the protection of valuables, books and the like. The large freight elevator for the raising of stock to the upper floors is of the latest pattern and run by electricity. The lighting is also furnished by electricity, and the wiring is placed in conduits to minimize danger of fire from that source. The windows on the exposed sides of the building are furnished with wire glass. There are two standpipes, with a reel of hose, on each floor.

Among the special arrangements for protection of the building in case of fire are the steel wall hangers, so arranged that if the girders are destroyed they fall from the walls without injury to the brick and stonework. They are also provided with steel post-caps to carry the girders. The ordinary joist construction in the floors has been done away with, and the most improved system of standard slow burning construction installed. The new building, which is perfectly plain in appearance, and without any excess of ornaments, cost $50,000.

The new building stands on the corner occupied for many years by the old Central planing mill. This mill has now become an auxiliary to the business of the company, and has been moved into the adjoining block north, considerably removed from proximity to the lumber yards and consequently all danger of causing fires. A number of old adobe houses were also torn down to make room for the new building and to provide room for the warehouses and shops. The corner has thus been changed from an old, run-down residence section to an up-to-date business corner, giving the impression of prosperity to the entire street in the vicinity. J. L. Eckert and August Rodine are the carpenters and mason contractors. Painting done by Peter Nelson.

Changes in Lumber Yards.

In connection with the erection of the new building, a number of changes have also been made in the lumber yards adjoining. In fact, one end of the new building is to be utilized for the desks of the foreman, superintendent and shipping clerks.

A glance at the many interesting features of the plant only emphasizes the unusual facilities for carrying on a business of this character. The western side of the plant borders the main tracks of the Oregon Short Line railroad. Three parallel tracks run from the main line into the lumber yards and to the big warehouses. There is more than a quarter of a mile of track within the lumber yard alone.

On the rear of the main warehouse, which will be used for the storage of doors and windows, is a huge loading and shipping platform. This structure occupies two sides of the main building and offers all that can be demanded of facilities for caring for stocks being received or sent out. Two trainloads of stock can be handled in the yards at one time and loaded and unloaded without congestion.

Occupies Five Acres.

The big lumber yard occupies five acres in extent. It extends for a distance of 600 feet, the length of an entire block, along the lines of the Oregon Short Line or from First to Second West streets. Near the northwestern corner of the block is the plant of the Salt Lake Glass & Paint works, an auxiliary company. This portion of the plant includes a brick warehouse, which has been built for a number of years, but offers ample room for the glazing rooms of the plant. The other auxiliary company, the Central Planing Mill company, has its plant in the block just north, as has already been mentioned.

Access to the big yard is gained through a wide main driveway leading into the block from Third West, with seven alleys leading off from this north and south, each alley being three-fourths of a block in length. Near the entrance to the block and just north of the new building is the stock room, where are stored samples of moldings, doors and windows and the like. In this building one wonders at the care exercised in providing room for the proper storage of stock. No where the dust collects, but everything is placed perpendicularly. This takes more room, it is said, and is more expensive, but the additional expense and loss in time is more than made up, the officers of the company claim, in the better condition of the stock and the greater ease of taking it from general storage.

Interesting Landmarks. Midway up the block, on Third West, is shown the little old wholesale office which was placed in that location nineteen years ago, and has done duty ever since. It will be removed, together with a number of other old buildings, to make room for the big new lumber warehouse, which is to be erected there in the near future. The new building will be 200 feet long on Third West and will extend back into the block a distance of 80 feet. The new building will accommodate more lumber and stock than was used in the entire outfit ten years ago.

Much has been done, therefore, and more will be accomplished in the near future. The plant itself is interesting because of its size and because of its unusual facilities. What is even more interesting, however, is the indication that it has become necessary in order to carry on business in the proper manner to place the plant near the railroads, in a section of the city heretofore little used for business purposes. The movement is another indication of the manner in which the city is progressing and shows how, in a quiet way, many of the prominent concerns are taking advantage of the opportunities here and bringing about permanent developments along strictly business lines.

"UNCLE JOE" ON TARIFF IGNORANCE

Played Upon to Boost Prices When Has Been No Increase in Rates of Duty.

ULTIMATE CONSUMER WORKED

Whip Dwight Says Bill Will be Passed That Is Not Objectionable to the President.

Washington, July 19.—Speaker Cannon and Representative Dwight of New York, Republican "whip" of the house, had a conference with President Taft today regarding the votes the president has undertaken to deliver to the conferees on the tariff bill in support of the sort of the measure the president desires—downward revision on nearly every schedule of the Dingley law, and but a small duty, if any, on raw materials.

"It's funny," said Speaker Cannon, "how much ignorance there is about the tariff. I bought this old gray suit three years ago—a homespun, from a big importing house in Chicago. Now, this labor employed in this country at full time, and higher wages than ever before, and with the tariff on woollens not changed an iota, we get a circular saying that 'owing to an increase in the tariff the price of clothes will have to be advanced 25 per cent.'"

The speaker intimated that trading on the lack of exact information about the tariff on the part of the public, certain dealers and manufacturers were going to raise prices regardless of anything Congress could do. The fact that there has been a long and involved discussion of the tariff and much general talk about "increases all along the line," he suggested will give the opportunity to put up the price to "the ultimate consumer."

A bill will be reported by the conferees and passed by Republican votes. It will not be objectionable to the president, either," said Mr. Dwight, who more than anyone else knows where the votes in the house to pass the bill are to be delivered.

The president admits no doubts of votes in the house to pass such a measure as the conferees have promised in practice, proving that he will see to the passage of the bill. The attitude of the senate still gives him concern, it is said, but he is hopeful that even there the members will be willing to put matters to a vote without long filibustering or debate. Free hides seem the principal subject of worry at the White House, but even this difficulty is expected to be smoothed over by some sort of a compromise, or perhaps the imposition of a nominal duty.

ITALIAN BOY CONFESSES TO MURDER

Chicago, July 19.—Tony Baffo, an 18-year-old Italian boy, who has been in this country three years, confessed here today to killing Giuseppe Filippelli, a grocer, at the same time laying bare the inner workings of the Black Hand. The organization to which young Baffo belonged was called the "Society of Justice." Its other members were named. The murder was committed on April 12. Baffo said:

"I came to this country three years ago and worked as a laborer on a railroad. I met Antonio Nudo, Rafaela Nudo and Pasquale Nudo, Joseph Cara and a man of the name of Ernesto. They wanted me to belong to the organization and they promised to give me a sister of the Nudos to marry. They said they would get money out of people who were supposed to be well off by sending letters and telling the person to bring the money to a certain place."

"We were laying for Filippelli for three months, but we had no chance to get him because he always had his wife with him or a baby in his arms. On the night he was killed we waited until he came out of the store carrying his baby. Pasquale and I walked toward a vacant lot and when Filippelli passed Pasquale hit him with a club, but missed him. Filippelli turned around and grabbed me and I pulled a revolver and shot two times. The others cut him."

"These men wrote Filippelli letters demanding money, and because he did not pay it, they were angry. The police later arrested Antonio Nudo, Ernesto Ferres and Giuseppe Carro, and expect to apprehend others."

WANT WHITE AND NEGRO POSTAL CLERKS SEGREGATED

Lockhart, Texas, July 19.—That the white and negro postal clerks be segregated is asked in a petition being circulated among the white clerks in this district, and which will be presented to the postmaster general. It is urged that the colored clerks be assigned to one section of the country and the whites to another, or to separate lines of work.

SUTTON CASE FULL OF DRAMATIC SENSATIONS

Annapolis, Md., July 19.—The opening session here today of the court of inquiry conducting a second investigation into the death of Lieut. James Nuttle Sutton of the United States marine corps, was replete with dramatic situations. Lieut. Robert E. Adams, Sutton's former classmate at the academy and one of the principal actors in the midnight fight which cost young Sutton his life nearly two years ago, told a graphic story.

With nervous demeanor and yet almost defiant under the severe cross-examination of Henry E. Davis, counsel for Mrs. Sutton, mother of Lieut. Sutton, Adams said during his examination, at one point, Lieut. Adams and an orderly enacted the struggle with Sutton. The witness chair was removed and they both lay prone upon the floor. The witness said some consolation in the fact that one of the prisoners held by the police admits that he was the weapon. Keenan and his wife were driving through Rushing last night when two men on the sidewalk made disparaging remarks concerning Mrs. Keenan. Her husband drew up his horse so suddenly that he was thrown out on the pavement and it was while lying unconscious that he was attacked. The horse started to run and before Mrs. Keenan could alight she was a block away. She ran back and her husband's assailants took to their heels. She pursued them through the streets for more than half a mile, calling for help and gathering policemen and others as she ran. This determined pursuit resulted in the capture of Paul Debro, who admitted that he had used a knife on Keenan. When Keenan reached the hospital it was found that his face and neck had been badly lacerated, and that the loss of blood might cost him his life.

EX-GOV. BUTCHEL ON WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Asserts That in Colorado Only The Dregs of Women Go to The Polls and Vote.

HARD TO GET MOTHERS TO GO

Trouble With Female Legislators Is That They Will Not Listen To Argument.

New York, July 20.—"Only the dregs of woman kind vote in Colorado; the mothers have to be practically clubbed to the polls."

"Power was not intended for woman; influence is more subtle, and it is a woman's greatest power. When woman seeks power it is a great calamity not only for her, but for the men as well."

My wife and daughter shun politics, as do the majority of the women in Colorado. I believe that women want the vote without the responsibility which the privilege entails, and I agree that the franchise should be granted them, but I do not think that the vote is good for them, nor for the policy."

Such was the opinion expressed by the Rev. Dr. Henry A. Buchtel, former governor of Colorado, one of the four states in which women have the right to vote. Dr. Buchtel came here to preach in Calvary Methodist Episcopal church.

Continuing, the former governor said: "Chivalry was the motive that prompted equal franchise in Colorado and the women legislators have been expected to put forth their claims out of deference to their sex. There have been few who did not demand the most abominable and unreasonable laws. The only trouble about the women legislators is that they will not listen to argument—no woman will. Logic does not appeal to them."

ELLA GINGLES NOT GUILTY.

But Jury Also Found Her Charges Against Miss Barrette Untrue.

Chicago, July 19.—Ella Gingles was cleared tonight from the charge of stealing lace, but the story she told on the witness stand of being a "white slave" victim was denounced as untrue by the jury that freed her.

The verdict said: "We, the jury, find that the defendant was not guilty, and we further find that the charges made against Miss Agnes Barrette were unfounded and are untrue."

The basis of the defense made by the Gingles girl, who was on trial for stealing lace from Miss Barrette, was that Miss Barrette and others had attacked and maltreated her twice last winter and that the object was an attempt to sell her to an unnamed man in French Lick, Ind.

"You are a good girl, Ella. Go back to your home in Ireland and be a good girl," was the advice given the defendant by Juror Thomas Mackey as she shook hands with him after the verdict had been read.

MOTOR CAR STRIKES AUTO

POLICE CAPTURE WOULD-BE ASSASSIN

New York, July 20.—Although Edwin H. Keenan, Jr., a prosperous resident of Flushing, L. S.S.S. PURIFIES BAD BLOOD

Bad blood is responsible for most of our ailments, and when from any cause it becomes infected with impurities, humors or poisons, trouble in some form is sure to follow. Muddy, sallow complexions, eruptions, pimples, etc., show that the blood is infected with unhealthy humors which have changed it from a pure, fresh stream to a sour, acrid fluid, which forces out its force of bad blood from the pores and glands of the skin. A very common evidence of a very insignificant bruise, or even scratch or abrasion. If the blood was healthy the place would heal at once, but being infected with impurities up, the fibres and tissues are broken, and the sore continues until the made entirely from roots, herbs and barks. It goes down into the circulation, and steadily tones up the entire system. S.S.S. neutralizes any excess of acid in the blood, making it pure, fresh and healthy, and permanently cures Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Boils, and all other skin eruptions or disease. Book on the blood and any medical advice free.
