

PRINCE OF WALES' VISIT TO BERLIN

Reception in German Capital Not Over Cordial. NO ENTHUSIASM WHATSOEVER

Berlin, Jan. 26.—Today passed without any disrespect being shown to the Prince of Wales, who arrived here yesterday evening to represent King Edward at the birthday of Emperor William next Tuesday. German crowds have a too deeply-abiding respect for royal personages and are too thoroughly polite to ever jeer them. But in a city where the lifting of one's hat is as universal a sign of respect as it is in a city where the passing crowds with a hat raised and to hear no murmur of applause.

The last experience abroad of the Prince of Wales was his departure, and the thousands of cheering from the windows of the city, while the Prince, through which he was obliged to be driven today on his way to visit the British ambassador, were without the slightest British flag.

While reviewing the most elaborate questions from the family and from the German officials, the Prince of Wales showed the chilling attitude of the German people. Almost all the newspapers refrain from editorial comment. Emperor William drinks his health.

GOV. TAFT ON PHILIPPINES.

No Concealment of Anything About Their Condition.

THE CONCENTRATION CAMPS

It Was Never Thought of Establishing Them in the Ordinary Acceptance of the Term.

Chicago, Jan. 26.—"The only answer I have to make to the ideas of individual observers who declare that the true condition in the Philippines is being concealed, or that we are hugging delusions of peace that can never be brought about, is that the government is concealing nothing, and that its conclusions are not based on wild theories, but substantial facts."

This was the reply Gov. Taft made here today to a statement published by Stephen Bonsal, declaring that desperate opposition was still being encountered in the field and that the natives are irreconcilable and better organized than before the capture of Aguinaldo.

Gov. Taft said that although there was a time when, for military reasons, it had not been advisable to make public anything occurring in the Philippines, the necessity for such secrecy is over and that no effort is now being made to conceal any part of the truth from the people of this country.

"As a matter of fact," he added, "the embers of distrust are being kept alive by sensationalists who seize upon every petty point and seek to twist it into some horrible and untrue picture of government in the islands. Take, for instance, the talk about concentration camps. Although I am not sufficiently acquainted with the full military plans to speak with absolute authority, I can say that the whole subject is grossly misunderstood by the people."

"As a matter of fact, there has never been any thought of establishing concentration camps, in the ordinary acceptance of the term. All that has been proposed is an insurgent cordoned-off establishment of a dead-end into which will gradually be drawn all the remnants of insurrection that exist."

"The non-combatants on the island have never, even at the hardest period of the war, been treated with the utmost kindness and consideration at our hands, and it is hardly probable that this policy will be reversed now that the opposition is fast drawing to a close."

The governor believes that the only existing opposition to the authority of the United States is being represented by the men who form the Hukong junta, most of whom were formerly residents of the rich coffee-growing province of Benguet.

"It is not difficult to find in the Bible inaccuracies, exaggerations, inconsistencies, errors in text and sentiments and in our public schools and in our pulpits in the English language. It is utterly immaterial to us what the character of the school is. All factors that tend to the work of education are welcome."

Gov. Taft refuses to discuss the future of Aguinaldo. He says that the deposed leader's fate is in the hands of the military branch of the service entirely, and that the civil arm has the responsibility of neither his custody nor his behavior.

Rio Hacha of 500,000 cartridges for rifles. The Castillo report that they hold a post on the Magdalena river, an important one in the highlands of Colombia. That is something we have never before accomplished.

"As to Dr. Marroquin's statement that the revolution is being conducted for private interests and that the leaders seek to make money, it scarcely needs refutation. Those who are engaged in the revolution have given liberally of money for private interests. There is so little expectation of gain by the movement that we have never chosen any except military chiefs. Our leaders are not seeking political place."

Shipping Interests Combine Talk.

New York, Jan. 27.—William J. Pirrie, the builder of the Celtic, interviewed in regard to the rumored combine of shipping interests to discuss whether there has been no conference. I have not seen Mr. Griscom and probably shall not see him before my return to England. I don't think Gifford has seen Mr. Griscom. We could not have a conference on freight rates for instance. We are not the proper persons. Surely we would not come there to discuss anything of the kind. Freight should be carried for five and six pence or ten and tuppenny. As to the future, I don't know that there will be a conference. But I am not a prophet. I am only a man of business. I said there ought to be a conference some time. Steamship lines ought to come together just as so many other interests are doing, in a great Anglo-Saxon undertaking. The newspapers have had a bad attack on the visit of half a dozen passengers on the Celtic. They have mistaken the Atlantic for the Pacific. Just at present I am investigating the hotel system of this city, their stores and methods of making the guests comfortable for that is the ideal for a first-class hotel.

beyond the grave. Dr. Parkhurst said in part: "There is nothing in Scripture or in things that encourage us to feel that a soul can be kept from dying any more than it is in America, has just returned home, says the Tribune's London representative. His mission does not appear to have been very successful except in so far as it might enable the Krupp firm to understand the requirements of the eastern markets better than hitherto."

New York, Jan. 27.—Private advice from Hamburg indicates that Krupp's representative who was specially sent to India and to other countries in the last year in the expectation of securing considerable orders for arms and steel rails, has just returned home, says the Tribune's London representative. His mission does not appear to have been very successful except in so far as it might enable the Krupp firm to understand the requirements of the eastern markets better than hitherto.
