At the meeting of the Humane society last evening some of the members seemed to feel quite discouraged because of the apparent lack of interest on the part of the citizens in the work of the society. Some of them suggested that the society should disband, but this idea was opposed by most of the others present. Dr. Hearty said that he noticed more cases of cruelty to animals within the past year than any year previous, and that the cruelty was most pronounced in the case of the delivery horse. The society determined to continue and to prosecute its work with greater vigor than ever.

ELKS' CARNIVAL NOTES.

The Kangaroo Court's officers have been selected, and are as follows: Presiding judges, Jas. A. Pardee, Judge Booth, Judge Kinney, Associate Judge, Geo. Silke; Frank Shiner, court clerk; Patsy Sullivan, chief of police, and a detail of assistants. The court has decided that justice shall be dealt out to those who violate the following rules of etiquette within the carnival enclosure during carnival week: For seeing, hearing, and talking, and not talking, for not being courteous enough and being too boisterous, for not being accompanied by a lady and with a lady attendant, for not spending enough money for the building fund and spending too much money for the building fund. The judges will select a good many more clauses to the above fine features for the building fund. The court is especially established for Elks and all Elks are subject to the ban of the court. It will be the center of attraction during carnival week and will be located in the most prominent place within the carnival enclosure.

The carnival enclosure is attracting wide attention. Communications, telegrams and delegations are confronting Director Gen. Stoll and the executive committee every day, but the problem has not been solved, nor will it be within the next fortnight. A wireless telegram has been sent to the carnival king asking him to sanction the name of a certain prominent lady within the boundaries of the great State of Utah. When his answer is received the name of the Carnival Queen will be announced by Director Gen. Stoll to the world. The queen will be empowered to appoint at least 200 maids of honor.

The Stock Brokers' Row will be a feature within the carnival enclosure. Twenty booths have been reserved for that business.

A communication was received today from Lodge No. 397, Reno, Nev., as follows: "We will have a delegation of 200 men to attend during Carnival week, and especially at the christening of the live elk, which takes place Sept. 20th."

The carnival visiting Elks registered at Carnival headquarters today: Gustave Hoffstad, No. 4 Chicago, Ill.; Hal H. Williams, Green Bay, Wis., No. 23; Herman Schmitt, Danville, Ill.; H. J. Gosme, No. 397 Reno, Nev.

BAD BOYS THROW ROCKS.

Youngster Strick a Baby in the Face With a Stone.

There is trouble in store for a gang of youthful hoodlums who congregated near the Salt Palace nearly every afternoon and think they are having lots of fun by throwing rocks at people who are so unfortunate as to have to pass that way. Last week four of the youngsters were arrested for the offense but were released by Judge Timmony after tearfully promising to behave in the future. It seems, however, that some of the gang were up to their old tricks again yesterday.

Mrs. Hilda Forsberg of South Cottonwood was passing there in a buggy and had her young baby with her. Just as she drew near the corner of Ninth South a shower of stones struck her buggy and the baby was hit full in the face, although not badly injured.

The lady took after the boys and succeeded in catching one of them. He gave his name as Homer McArthur, and swore it was Johnnie Powell who threw the stones. Mrs. Forsberg took McArthur to the police station, but as she did not care to swear to a complaint against him he was released.

WHEELMEN IN POLITICAL ARENA

Asked for Bread and Got a Stone but Will Do So No More.

THE COUNCIL UNFRIENDLY.

No Faith in the Present Executive or Councilmen, Though Some of the Latter Have Worked Hard.

The Wheelmen's Protective association will carry its case to the polls. Fifteen of the most ardent workers in the association, which has for its object the securing of cycle paths and better treatment for wheelmen, met last evening in Dr. Keyser's office and decided not to ask the present mayor and city council for any more improvements.

It was unanimously decided to wait until the fall election, and then to work for candidates who are known to favor cycling measures.

Among those present were President C. L. Berry, Assistant Secretary H. S. Anderson, Charles J. Higson, N. Y. Scollard, Charles Dowse, Justice Dana Smith, G. A. Tuckfield, Charles S. Wilkes, Dr. E. M. Keyser and G. Coulam. Five of the members spoke somewhat at length upon their efforts to gain recognition from the council, and at times their remarks were very bitter.

Not only was it decided to fight for rights at the next election, but to oppose with all the strength of 700 members of the association, the candidacy of any councilman who has not favored the cycle path movement urged by the wheelmen.

Charles J. Higson was the first speaker of the evening, and it was he who advanced the proposition which received such favor from the meeting. Mr. Higson was of the opinion that the association should come out in full force at the polls next fall and vote against the present councilmen.

He said that the idea of charging the wheelmen to ride upon the streets in addition to the $3 poll tax was all wrong, and that the council had been put upon the streets. After saying that it was time for the wheelmen to come out and fight the proposition and not go near the city council again, Mr. Higson moved very early in the evening to vote for Mr. Tuckfield at the next election.

Mr. Tuckfield followed Mr. Higson, and said that he was heartily in favor with the proposition advanced by the first speaker. Mr. Tuckfield said that he had a talk with Councilman Fernstrom, who had told him that it would be useless for the council to pass the ordinance desired by the wheelmen.

He said that he had heard in an indirect way that several other members of the council had said that the Mayor would veto any ordinance favoring the wheelmen, and that the council would be of no use to the wheelmen.

Mr. Tuckfield concluded that the Mayor had said so to the councilman who quoted him, and he just returned from a trip to California, and he told the wheelmen what fine riders there were in Sacramento. Upon investigation he discovered that these paths were built by the city with no extra tax upon the wheelmen, and he didn't see why it couldn't be done in Salt Lake as well as in Sacramento.

He said that he was in favor of discussing and arguing the question with the present City Council because it had made promises which had never been kept. He said that he was in favor of the whole thing until the next election, when the wheelmen, with their friends, could fight it out to certain victory as the polls.

X. Y. Scollard was of the opinion that the association could not retain its dignity and go on asking the City Council for concessions which would never be granted. He said that he would be better to open the eyes of the councilmen at the next election.

President C. L. Berry was the last speaker. After expressing his opinion that the present administration did not care to do anything for the wheelmen, he stated it as a positive fact that when cyclists have appeared at the council meetings they have actually been insulted.

"I pay more taxes than most of the councilmen," said Mr. Berry, "but that cuts no ice in my case. If a big man happens to come in there in a general scramble to show all kinds of courtesy, but a recognized wheelman is jeered the moment he appears through the door. I have been in the council hall several times, but I have never been able to get a word from any of the councilmen."

After deciding to withdraw the association's independent vote proposition, the councilmen, which has been changed somewhat since it left the hands of the members, a committee consisting of Charles J. Higson, Dana Smith, N. Y. Scollard, Charles Wilkes and H. S. Anderson was appointed to formulate plans for the association in the coming election.

T. E. Taylor gave to Chief Deputy Eldridge the sum of $4,200. 44 in gold yesterday afternoon. This was done just in time to prevent the sale of certain property under a decree of foreclosure in favor of Anna Marks.

MORTICIANS TO GATHER.

Annual Convention of Funeral Directors in This City Next Week.

Preparations are being made for the annual convention of the Western Funeral Directors' association that will be held in this city Aug. 12, 14, 15 and 16. It is expected that it will be the largest and most profitable gathering in the history of the association. There will be delegates from Colorado, Wyoming, New Mexico, Utah, Nevada, Idaho and Montana, making the attendance about 100.

The committee having the arrangements in hand thought at first of having the meeting in the Knutsford, but being reminded that the Philippine veterans' reunion will be in progress at the same time it was decided to secure a place that would not likely be so much disturbed. It is likely that the assembly room in the High School building will be used.

The program will consist of papers and lectures on such topics as anatomy, sanitation and other subjects that are of interest to the undertakers. The full program will be published later.

BANKRUPTCY CASES.

Frank A. Mangum, a clerk of Provo, filed a petition of voluntary bankruptcy yesterday. The liabilities are given as $5,942.41, all unsecured, with assets of $475, on which exemption is claimed. The chief creditors are W. S. McCornick, $1,808.72, and H. A. Losier and Co., Cleveland, Ohio, $2,708.52. The debts were contracted as a partner in the Western Cycle company.

Isaac K. Wright, of Richfield, was yesterday declared bankrupt by Judge Marshall, and the case referred to Referee Baldwin. The claims of his two sons, Lester Wright and Knorr Wright, were withdrawn, thus clearing the estate of all mechanics.

The cases of William LaVelle and Otto Kappelle, bankrupts, were closed yesterday by Referee Baldwin and referred back to the United States court.

Sheriff Abbott Picks Up a Man He Has Long Been Looking For.

Sheriff Abbott came down from Davis county this morning on business connected with his department. The fellow is Carl Englebrecht, wanted for the burglary of the White House. Sheriff Abbott has plenty of evidence that he burglarized Hatch's store and the South Bountiful Stock yards. He stole a lot of pelts and hides and sold them in Salt Lake.

WITH THE JUSTICES.

Yesterday afternoon Justice Neilson issued a warrant for the arrest of Albert Scott on the charge of battery. It is alleged that on Sunday night last he struck Louis J. Krueger on the head with a club, and that he was charged with taking before the court and pleaded not guilty to the charge. County Attorney Christensen asked Justice Neilson to place the defendant under $1,000 bond, by attorney Ray Van Cott, counsel for the accused, argued that the amount asked by Mr. Christensen was unreasonable, and the court fixed the bond at $200, which the defendant can give. The trial was set for Thursday at 2 p. m.

Harry Wiggins, the ex-messenger boy who was held by Judge Timmony yesterday to answer to the district court on the charge of criminally kidnapping a child, a fourteen-year-old girl, furnished $200 bonds this morning and was released from the county jail.

His sureties are P. M. Evans and F. C. Ryan.
