Clifford Says He Will Quit the Game
And Play Ball in the Future—
Robinson's Mistake.

It seems that those who have complained of the police for not arresting Clifford, the boxer, for not attending to his business, are now complaining that he has quit the game and is going to play ball. Robinson, who has been in the city for some time, has been in the city for some time, and has been in the city for some time. Robinson, who has been in the city for some time, has been in the city for some time, and has been in the city for some time.

Robinson, who has been in the city for some time, has been in the city for some time, and has been in the city for some time. Robinson, who has been in the city for some time, has been in the city for some time, and has been in the city for some time.

BOXERS' GAMENESS.

Sure of Defeat, Many of Them Kept on Fighting.

What constitutes gameness?

Spending generally, the definition is simple.

A man is gameness when he continues to fight, no matter what the odds against him.

A gameness man is the opposite of a quitter, he who stops when he is hurt.

But gameness is not the same as courage.

Gameness is a quality of mind, not of body.

time that he had been hurt in the fight. He could not see to fight any more.

Ernie retained his title of lightweight champion on that occasion by his gameness. Gans was his master at every point in the play, but he did not have the white boy's heart.

SOME FORMER PITCHERS.

Many Outfielders Today Were Once Great Rubber Artists.

Many of the most prominent outfielders in baseball today in the past formerly were pitchers. Every outfielder of the Cincinnati team today was once a pitcher.

Three of them—Seymour, Doolin and Dolin—having worked on the rubber in the big league, while Doolin and Kerwin, who has been sent back to Louisville, were minor league pitchers of some note before they finally took to the outfield for regular work.

Manager Kelley is another pitcher who developed into an outfielder, and one might go down the line of other teams and find many a number of players who gave up the work on the slab for the rubber and more lasting position of guardian of the outer gardens.

This evolution from the pitcher's box to a position in the outfield is easily explained. In the Reds' daily practice, for instance, there is comparatively little work for the pitchers in their particular line. Naturally they want as much work as the other members of the team, and so they turn to the outfield for the necessary development to get them into proper condition.

Chasing fly balls and relaying throws from the other outfielders into the diamond constitute a large portion of all the pitchers' practice before they get their arms in sufficiently good shape to allow them to work properly in the pitcher's box. Naturally any good work that they may do in the outfield in practice will be noticed by the manager and later, when the season is on, he will remember the good fielding work of the spring, in case he needs an outfielder in an emergency, and the pitcher will be called upon to do utility work. If he develops into a good pitcher, he will be played in the outfield every opportunity, and eventually he will be called upon to forsake pitching entirely, because he has developed into a more valuable man as an outfielder.

RACES AT OAKLAND.

Mile Handicap Event the Chief Feature—Won by Veterano.

San Francisco, April 20.—Veterano scored an easy victory in the mile handicap, which was the feature of the card at Oakland today. Gateway was a heavily played favorite for the event, with Southsayer second choice. Veterano showed in front after passing the half mile pole, and drawing away, won from Horton and Criss cross. J. Lewis, who rode Horton, claimed Veterano would win on the back stretch, but the judges felt that Criss cross was better, and returned to allow the claim. The favorites fared badly, only one getting home in the race, and Criss cross was beaten by Ruesca, a 6 to 1 shot. Rho Shannon upset calculations by taking the third race at 12 to 1 from Mr. Dingle and Gans. Results:

First race, Futurity course, selling—Facts won, Young Morelo second, The Lieutenant third. Time—1:44.

Second race, five and a half furlongs, purse—Ruesca won, Whoo Bill second, Criss cross third. Time—1:39.

Third race, one mile and a quarter, selling—Rho Shannon won, Mr. Dingle second, Criss cross third. Time—2:15.

Fourth race, one mile, handicap—Veterano won, Horton second, Criss cross third. Time—1:44.

Fifth race, Futurity course, selling—Gans won, Suburban Queen second, Dr. Sherman third. Time—1:35.

Sixth race, one mile, selling—Byronedale won, Oro Viva second, Golden Light third. Time—1:45.

Houseman After Record.

Memphis, Tenn., April 20.—Daredell Houseman failed in his attempt to lower the mile automobile record for circular course today at the Memphis trotting track by driving his "300" to several seconds, none better than 1:06.

Nelson-Canole Fight.

San Francisco, April 20.—Alex. Grogan matched Nelson Canole and "Bull" Nelson yesterday for the May night card, and wired tickets to the two boxers. Nelson is in the city from Salt Lake and Canole is in Fall River, Mass.

Lucas Appoints Umpire.

Spokane, Wash., April 20.—President W. H. Lucas of the P. N. L., has appointed J. P. Sharp umpire for the Pacific National league for the season of 1904. This completes the staff of officials for this league, the other umpire being Jack McWhorter, the man who is making such a hit by his work with the California circuit.

Sharp comes well recommended. He had been umpiring college games in the mid-west, and the series by the Chicago team, so he had plenty of experience.

He is recommended by the Milwaukee management and by the American league officials at Chicago.

Mr. Lucas says the umpires will have an easier time of it this season than last. Last year, if the player was disciplined too soon, he would say, "I will jump to the outlaws," and that made the management do some fast thinking. This year there will be no heaven for the players who fall from grace and they will have to behave themselves or pay the penalty.

Root-Gardner Fight.

Chicago, April 20.—George Gardner, the Lowell light heavyweight, and Jack Root of Chicago, have decided that it is time for them to clash again. They have been matched to fight six rounds at catch weight on the fifth night before the Chicago Athletic association on April 22. Gardner has defeated the water bear three out of the four times they have met. Both men are top-notchers in their class and should make a rattling hard fight for the short run.
